SAYS $18,000 OF BID WAS TO PAY GRAFT ON $62,500 CITY JOB

Witness Charges ex-Senator McManus and Brother, an Alderman, Were to Get $10,000.

COLER APPROVED ESTIMATE

Engineer Says Any Technical Man Could See the Price Was About $35,000 Too Much.

WANTED TO CUT THE FIGURE

But He Alleges His Associate Handed Him List, Saying: "Here Is What We Have to Give on Graft."

An alleged "divvy list" purporting to show payments of $18,000 to be made for obtaining a contract for the installation of an oil-burning heating plant in the Kings County Hospital, on which $36,500 in profits was expected, was produced before the Meyer legislative investigating committee at City Hall yesterday and identified by Dr. Gustav Adolph New, an engineer, who said that he had been told to increase his estimate to include that amount.

The name of ex-Senator Thomas J. ("The") McManus, Tammany leader of the Fifth Assembly District, who figured earlier in the committee's inquiry in connection with alleged payments for transfers of stalls in Washington Market, and that of his brother, Alderman Charles A. McManus, and the entry, "Mc 2," on the alleged "divvy list," was said by Dr. New to refer to them. Ex-Senator McManus, it was brought out by the testimony, received 24½ per cent. of the stock of the Oil Burning Installation Company, which expected to install the plant, without paying anything for it.

No award of the contract has been made by the Board of Estimate, but, according to Leonard M. Wallstein, counsel of the committee, the project was approved by the Department of Public Welfare and referred to the Fire Department for authorization to install the oil-burning apparatus.

Both the Board of Estimate and the Board of Aldermen, upon the recommendation of Commissioner Bird S. Coler, authorized the appropriation of $62,500 to install the plant. The resolution approving the issue of special revenue bonds for that purpose was introduced by Alderman McManus and unanimously adopted.

Coler Approves Estimate.

The sum of $62,500 was the appropriation requested by Commissioner Coler and the amount of Dr. New's estimate. In the records turned over to the Oil Burning Installation Company by the Terminal Engineering Company, its predecessor, the expected contract was listed as an asset, as follows:

"Kings County Hospital, approximate contract price, $62,500; approximate cost, $26,000; approximate profit, $36,500."

The other entries of the alleged "divvy list" were said by Dr. New to include at least one Tammany politician. They read "B," $3,000; "T. S. & E. Co.," believed to be the Terminal Supply and Equipment Company, an allied company, $3,000; "K," $200; "Murphy," said by the witness to be the chief engineer of the Kings County Hospital, $300, and "S," said by Dr. New to be Staley, a representative of the Texas Oil Company, $1,500.

Frequent efforts were made by Senator Bernard Downing, a Democratic member of the committee, to break down Dr. New's testimony. Other witnesses included Commissioner Coler, Deputy Commissioner Arnold B. MacStay, who apparently handled the matter in the Department of Public Welfare after it had gained headway, and Edward A. Pierce, a majority stockholder of the Oil Burning Installation Company.

Mr. Pierce admitted that he had lied when he wrote Dr. New that the Department of Public Welfare would take drawings prepared by New and use them as original department plans. He said that his statement in another letter that he would be "preadvised" on bids was not true, and admitted that he had torn up letters and other papers after he had received a subpoena to produce all papers bearing upon the proposed contract.

Dr. New, who said that he was an Alsatian and a graduate of the University of Strasbourg, described how he became interested with Pierce and Irving H. Cohen in the hospital contract. He said that he did not believe he had been treated fairly by Pierce and had been "frozen out" by the formation of the Oil Burning Installation Company to take over the business of the Terminal Engineering Company.

First Estimate $47,500.

Dr. New said that he met Pierce and Cohen and became interested with them in the formation of the Terminal Engineering Company, and at their suggestion visited the power house of the Kings County Hospital and prepared an estimate of the cost of the oil burning installation. On May 19, 1921, he said, he prepared an estimate of $47,500, based on a cost of $28,000 or $32,000, and that he understood at that time that $9,000 was to go to Senator McManus. He said that he figured on four oil tanks and that, so far as he knew, the specifications had not been changed.

Some time later, Dr. New said, he suggested a lower bid—around $35,000 or $38,000—as being a fair figure. He said that he had accompanied Pierce and Commissioner Coler on an inspection of

Hylan Is 2 to 1 Favorite Over Curran in Brooklyn Bets

Betting on the municipal election has taken a lively turn, now that the world's series baseball games are over. Fred H. Schumm, long known as "Brooklyn's Betting Commissioner," reported yesterday that he had heard of a number of wagers, all of which favored Mayor Hylan. General betting in Brooklyn on the outcome of the election favors Mayor Hylan over his rival, Henry H. Curran, the Republican-Coalition candidate, 2 to 1. It is said that the Curran men have asked for longer odds, but the Hylan men are unwilling to give them.

Some bets which have already been recorded, according to Mr. Schumm, are: $700 to $500 that Hylan beats Curran in the greater city by 50,000 plurality; $600 to $800 that Hylan carries all five boroughs; $500 even that Hylan carries Kings County by 70,000; $900 to $500 that Hylan carries New York County by 50,000; $100 to $200 that Hylan gets 200,000 plurality in the greater city; $1,200 to $1,000 that District Attorney Harry E. Lewis of Brooklyn, candidate for the Supreme Court, is elected.

LAMONT SEES NEED OF MEXICAN PLEDGE

PRAISES OBREGON'S COURSE

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—An optimistic view of the future of relations between the United States and Mexico was expressed today by Thomas W. Lamont, here on a mission to negotiate with President Obregon in regard to Mexico's foreign debt, in an address before the American Chamber of Commerce. He declared that "whatever formal expression the Mexican Government takes to manifest this national attitude toward Americans is not a matter of so much importance to American business men, always provided that its declarations are of a character absolutely clear, explicit and capable of only one interpretation by honorable men," and added that as soon as such expression was forthcoming harmonious relations would follow.

Mr. Lamont began his talk with references to business conditions in the United States, which, he said, were steadily improving.

"In a business way," he said, "the United States has seen the worst of its troubles. I don't say that we are all over them yet, but we have been through the depths or the valley of despond and are now beginning to creep up the slope again. Clearly, it is up, not down.

"Reports from almost all parts of our country indicate this fact. Our crops are good. The steel business, an important index of general trade, is picking up, as Judge Gary told me the day I started to Mexico. Railroad earnings are improving. All these indices are favorable.

"I believe that before the end of the year we shall have gone forward far enough to be able to look back at last Spring and Summer confidently and say, 'Yes, that was the roughest part of the road.' Among our few national failings is that when times are booming we are apt to grow overconfident. We think things are always coming our way. We disregard even the most glaring signs of impending trouble.

Liquidation Near Completion.

"Thus when early in 1920 commodity prices collapsed in Japan and began to shake other parts of the world, it never occurred to most of us that our turn was coming next; so that when the storm struck business in America the most of our community, being overconfident and unprepared, was bewildered, thunderstruck and even personally aggrieved. What, they asked, have we done to deserve this cataclysm?

"But when the American business man finally realized what he was in for, then he set to work manfully to grapple with the situation. Liquidation has been drastic and painful. Nobody can even yet say it is completed, but certainly we have gone far toward completion.

"Throughout all our critical troubles our banking system has proved itself sound and helpful, and our Federal

BRONX GRAND JURY URGES THE REPEAL OF STATE DRY LAW

REPORT COMMENDS POLICE

DENOUNCES HOME RAIDS

Attacks "Bands of Men Akin to Pirates" Who Break Into Respectable Houses Seeking Rum.

Crimes of an unprecedented nature are charged against the Mullan-Gage Prohibition Enforcement act in a presentment handed up to Supreme Court Justice O'Malley yesterday by the regular Grand Jury of Bronx County. The statute is held responsible for "acts of unprecedented violence and lawlessness," for the "more general use of drugs and narcotics" and for the organization of "bands of men akin to pirates" who break into the homes of respectable citizens in their wide quest for alcoholic liquors.

Because the Mullan-Gage law is believed to have led up to all these evils, its repeal is urgently recommended to the next Legislature.

The Grand Jury reached its conclusion after considering, not only all the evidence brought before it, but also the facts presented to other Grand Juries on which some of its members had served in the last ten months.

The recommendations for the repeal of the statute, in the ordinary procedure of the courts, will not go beyond Justice O'Malley. But it is the hope of members of the Bronx County Grand Jury that some of the Assemblymen from that county will insist on taking a copy of the document to Albany early next January and lay it before the Legislature.

The presentment heartily commends the New York Police Department's activities to enforce prohibition, but says this task is an impossible one under the Mullan-Gage act, which imposed upon the State and city enforcement obligations assumed by the Federal Government under the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. So the Grand Jury holds that the State law has merely handicapped the police in their regular duties by placing unnecessary burdens on the department.

Enright and Yellowley Questioned.

It is assumed that the Grand Jury learned a great deal about the difficulties of the New York Police Department when it heard Police Commissioner Enright and E. C. Yellowley, Acting Prohibition Enforcement Director. The presentment said:

"For a period of over two months we have conducted an extended examination into the enforcement of the prohibition laws by Federal and city officials.

"We hereby express our approval of the conduct of the Police Department of the City of New York in the enforcement of these statutes. The method adopted by the police has been accompanied by as little invasion of personal rights as possible, although the law itself clearly invites public officials to annoy and harass the citizen in the conduct of his personal affairs. Under all of the circumstances, the Police Department of the City of New York has enforced the prohibition laws fairly and with a minimum of inconvenience to the public at large.

"This has been done without the aid of the Federal Administration. The members of this Grand Jury are unable to understand why the Federal Government, which inaugurated prohibition, has practically ceased to enforce it. The special squads employed by the Federal Government to do this work only have abandoned their duties in the City of New York.

Puts Police on "Wasteful Work."

"By doing so they have turned over to an already overworked Police Department this unpleasant and unpopular duty. Instead of spending its energy in the prevention and detection of crimes, in the regulation of traffic and the enforcement of other laws which mean so much for the life and welfare of our 5,000,000 people, great numbers of the uniformed force have been taken away

Col. Colt's Will Attacked in Appeal of Sons, Who Share in Part of Income From $5,000,000

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 14.—Declaring that they were aggrieved by an order of the Bristol Probate Court admitting the will of their father, the late Colonel Samuel Pomeroy Colt, to probate, Russell G. Colt and Roswell C. Colt filed today through their attorney, William B. Greenough of this city, a notice of appeal.

The notice was left with the Clerk of the court in Bristol on the thirty-eighth day of the statutory period of forty days within which such a notice must be filed. The contestants, within a further period of ten days, must hand to the Clerk of the Providence County Superior Court a statement of their grounds of appeal.

Mr. Greenough refused tonight to throw any light upon the reasons which prompted Colonel Colt's two sons to attack the will, which left to each of them the income from one-third of the bulk of an estate that amounts to between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Colonel Colt died in Bristol Aug. 12. The will provided for the payment of public bequests amounting to $410,000 and of specific private bequests amounting to $1,069,000, including legacies of $100,000 each left outright to Colonel Colt's brother, United States Senator Le Baron T. Colt, and the Colonel's two sons, Russell and Roswell.

After all specific bequests were made the residuary estate was to be divided into two equal portions. The income from one-half was to be applied to the upkeep of the Colonel's Bristol property and to other purposes, and finally to be added to the other half.

The second half was to be divided into six equal parts. Senator Colt, Russell G. Colt and Roswell C. Colt were each to receive one part. The remainder was to constitute a trust fund and the income was to be paid equally to the same beneficiaries, and upon their death to their children, the principal to be made over to their grandchildren in fee simple.

Russell Colt and his wife, Ethel Barrymore Colt, the actress, received outright the estate at Mamaroneck, N. Y., recently purchased by Colonel Colt. Ethel Barrymore Colt also received a cash bequest of $250,000. Fifty thousand dollars was bequeathed to each of Russell Colt's three children and to Roswell Colt's child.

PEOPLE IN MOSCOW SPEND MORE MONEY

Number of Shops Increases and They Are Doing Better Business.

MOCKERY OF PAPER PROFITS

Foreign Concessionnaire Can Realize on Them Only by Roundabout Policy of Exporting.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—Things are moving so fast in Russia nowadays that Moscow looks quite different after a fortnight's absence. It seems as though the number of shops open had nearly doubled in that period. Doubtless this is an exaggeration, but just the same along the Arsat, which is one of the leading business streets of old Moscow, there are now rows of shops well lighted and well stocked, doing an active trade, whereas a fortnight ago ago there were only two or three open out of every five.

One thing is certain: the people have money to spend. For instance, a few days ago there was open in the Fifth Avenue of Moscow, the Kusnetski Must, the first big department store. Hours before the opening there were thousands of people waiting, and the counters were cleared in the first two hours. Where the goods come from is a mystery, but come they do. The stores today are displaying first-class chocolates made by a house famous before the war.

I talked today with a small boy who three weeks ago was excited to the boiling point over his first toys.

"What are oranges?" he asked.

I tried to explain and asked the reason for his question.

"I used often to hear people talk about things of the old days," he replied, "and I never could understand. They mentional kalatch (a sort of breakfast biscuit), and I had never seen one. They said how good blinys (Russian pancakes) were, and I had never seen one. But now I've tasted both and know all about them. But they also said they had eaten oranges, and what that is I'd like to know."

Already, too, competition is having its natural effect. Although every one was certain that, owing to the famine, the price of bread could not fail to increase—especially as the real value of the Soviet ruble was dropping on account of the large issue of new paper money—it happens that bread is cheaper in the stores today than a fortnight ago.

As the confidence of the trading class grows the quality and variety of the goods in the stores improves. When I left Moscow a fortnight ago the open markets which had been doing business more or less during the past three years despite occasional police raids, were the best places in which to buy anything. Now the stores have put the markets off the map so far as prices are concerned, and the reduced aristocrats who used to stand miserably for hours on the chilly sidewalk to sell one woolen overcoat—they dare not expose for sale anything really valuable—are going around to the stores with silks and furs to be sold at 10 or 15 per cent. commission.

In all this it is difficult to see just where foreign concessionaires come in. Suppose a foreigner opens a shoe factory; he is forced to take Soviet money for his goods, and its value is not only fluctuating here but is not quoted on the exchange markets of the rest of the world. So, no matter what his paper profits are his ultimate real profit is uncertain. The answer seems to be that he must at the same time undertake some form of export business—for instance, buy copper ore or lumber, the products of both of which may be exported and are readily salable abroad. Then he could pay the expenses of treating copper ore with the Soviet money received in payment for his shoes and sell the copper abroad at the normal world price.

COLUMBIA GIRL DIES IN LEAP UNDER TRAIN

WORE ENGAGEMENT RING

Letter to Girl Friend Told of Trip to Washington, but Aunt Knew Nothing of Her Plans.

Miss Dorothy Wilson, 18 years old, a student of Columbia University, committed suicide at the 125th Street Station of the New York Central Railroad last night by throwing herself in front of a suburban local train that was to have taken her home to Philipse Manor, N. Y. The motive for her act could not be learned.

Miss Wilson was the daughter of Frederick B. Wilson of 42 West Ninety-fourth Street, who is in the real estate business. Mr. Wilson identified her body early this morning in the East 126th Street Police Station.

A crowd waiting for trains at the station about 6:40 o'clock noticed the pretty, well-dressed girl because of the nervous manner in which she paced up and down the platform. She carried several school books, bound together by a strap, which she shifted from arm to arm as she peered southward at intervals to see if her train was coming.

When the train drew into the station, slowing down for the stop, the other passengers withdrew from the edge of the platform, but the girl walked toward the tracks. A cry went up from the onlookers as they saw her drop the books, place her hands over both eyes, and stagger unsteadily along the edge of the platform. One foot already was in the air for the final step when the nearest spectator attempted to save her. He jumped toward the girl, but too late. With her hands still covering her eyes she toppled to the tracks, four feet below the platform.

A shriek from the girl sounded above the cries of the men and women on the platform and the screeching noise as Motorman Charles Hass applied the emergency brakes. When the train came to a stop it was found that the wheels had not passed over the girl, but that the safety fender in front of the engine had caught her up and thrown her to the side. She was wedged between the engine and the platform, being slowly crushed to death.

Form Wedged Fifteen Minutes.

Sergeant Sullivan of the East 126th Street Station, railroad employes and several passengers, including Frederick Hiort of Peekskill; Warren G. Munroe of New Rochelle and Samuel Maffeo of Mount Vernon, jumped down on the tracks and tried to extricate the girl's form. It was fifteen minutes before they were able to lift her to the platform. She was breathing then, but was dead by the time that Dr. Harder arrived in an ambulance from Harlem Hospital. The surgeon said that she had died of a fractured skull. Other injuries included three fractured ribs and a broken arm.

The body was taken to the East 126th Street Station, and Mrs. Henry P. Wall of Philipse Manor, was notified, as the police had found among the girl's effects a memorandum which read: "Miss Dorothy Wilson, Columbia University, School of Journalism. Care of Mrs. Henry Wall. Tel. 1583 Tarrytown."

Mrs. Wall arrived at the East 126th Street Station late last night in an automobile, accompanied by her family physician. She was under the impression that Miss Wilson was still alive, and sent in the physician to find out to what hospital Miss Wilson had been taken. When she learned the truth, she fainted. Mrs. Wall said later that she knew of no reason for the girl to take her life. She left Philipse Manor yesterday morning apparently in good spirits.

Miss Wilson had been living at Philipse Manor with Mrs. Wall, whose husband is advertising manager of the Chicago Opera Company, and is now in Chicago. The girl's mother had been dead since she was 3 years old, and Mrs. Wall was Miss Wilson's aunt. The girl had two married sisters, one of them being Mrs. Douglas Donald of 45 Bayview Avenue, Tompkinsville, S. I.

Mr. Wilson, the father, was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donald last night when the police notified him of his daughter's death. They were not able to notify him until Mrs. Wall gave them the address of the Donalds. When he reached the station house he said that he did not know of any reason for his daughter to kill herself and did not believe that she had done so, although the police said that it unquestionably was a case of suicide. According to Mr. Wilson, his daughter had no love affair, illness or financial trouble to worry her. He said that she was bright and

REPUBLICANS FRET AT HARDING'S DELAY IN GIVING OUT JOBS

ELKINS SEES PRESIDENT

SENATOR CHARGES BIG PLOT

Accuses Democrats of Conspiracy to Keep Their Appointees in Office to Help Come Back.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Republican politicians are complaining that the President has not been aggressive enough in removing Democratic office holders to make place for "deserving" Republicans. This criticism has been heard privately for many months. Republican Senators say that the party organization cannot be maintained unless places are found for party workers.

The greatest criticism has been leveled against Secretary Mellon. Republican Senators say that this is the most important office in the Administration because its officials and experts are called upon to aid in the formation of party economic policies. In the Treasury Department's personnel, it is asserted, no changes have been made and Democratic officeholders are aiding in the presentation of data on taxation and tariff matters, both of distinct party concern.

This situation was brought acutely to the surface today after Senator Davis Elkins of West Virginia, a golf companion of the President, called at the White House to urge the dismissal of holders of important offices.

After the White House conference Senator Elkins said:

"I told the President that Republicans in my State were expressing impatience and disappointment that so little progress had been made in the last eight months in calling to the support of the Administration men loyal to it and in full sympathy with it.

"A large majority of the 'key' positions in the Government, and a still larger number of positions under them, are held by 'deserving Democrats' appointed under the two Wilson Administrations, because of their partisan activities in the Democratic organization, rather than because of any deserving merit outside of that one consideration.

"In the campaign the Republicans charged and believed and convinced the American people to the effect that these men were inefficient and that that was the trouble. The Republican Party promised to rid the Government of these appointees. If they were inefficient then, they are inefficient now. And, yet they hold on. It is neither good policy nor good politics from the Republican Party standpoint.

"The Republican Party was voted the responsibility and to discharge it successfully its members should be called in to help with the job.

"My observations lead me to believe that there is a well-laid, thoroughly organized and adroitly handled plan by the managers of the Democratic Party to keep their appointees in power, not for the good of the house service, but for the assistance they can and do render the party in its efforts to reconstruct itself and come back. It is high time the Republican Party leaders take account of the situation."

DOG'S SILENCE WARNS OF MISTRESS'S DEATH

Neighbor, Failing to Hear His Morning Bark Finds Him and Aged Woman Asphyxiated.

Failing to hear the 7 o'clock bark yesterday morning of a dog belonging to Mrs. Catherine Goetz, 70 years old, of 104 Avenue A, Mrs. Minnie Spicrood, a next door tenant in the house, investigated and smelled gas.

Patrolman Hancher was summoned and forced an entrance to Mrs. Goetz's apartment from the fire escape. He found the door of her room triple bolted.

Mrs. Goetz was leaning against a box in her bedroom. The gas jet in the kitchen was burning. Gas was escaping from an open burner of a small stove in the next room. The woman was dead. The dog lay dead under the bed of his mistress.

In Mrs. Goetz's room jewelry and $212 were found.

For thirty years, at Avenue A and Seventh Street, Mrs. Goetz had conducted a newspaper stand. Then she bought real estate. She retired several years ago, and was known for her fondness for animals. She received a pension from the Government, her husband, Charles Goetz, having served in the Civil War. He died thirty years ago.

Washington Conference Title Covers Only Arms Limitation

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—An official name has been chosen for the coming international conference in Washington. It will be known as the "Conference on the Limitation of Armament."

There will be nothing to indicate in the official letter heads of the conference that it is to consider questions relating to the Pacific and the Far East.

The title of the gathering carries out the practice of the State Department in terming it an "armament" conference. Unofficial preference, however, appears to be for the plural form.

2 BOROUGHS PASS 1920 REGISTRATION

OTHERS NOT FAR BEHIND

Record for Entire City Expected Today—Hylan Supporters Say They're Pleased.

The heaviest day's registration this year marked the enrollment yesterday. Every borough in the city surpassed the figures of the day before and the Bronx and Richmond even bettered the totals of last year, when a Presidential election was held. The other three boroughs did not trail far behind last year's figures.

Political leaders predicted last night that with registration running all day today, the last day for enrollment this year, all previous records would be broken. Although last year's registration was not topped yesterday as a whole, many Assembly districts in all boroughs went beyond last year's figures. This was equally true of Republican and Democratic districts.

The registration for the entire city yesterday was 213,503, and for the five days this week 836,552. It was a better showing by more than 31,000 than on Thursday, the fourth day, and only 6,506 behind the fifth day of last year. So far this city is behind last year's total for five days just 74,114. Party leaders said this lead would be wiped out today, when the polls will be open all day.

Manhattan's Total for Day 71,910.

Manhattan's total for yesterday was 71,910, which was 3,704 better than the day before and only 4,705 behind last year's figures for the fifth day. The Bronx total yesterday was 32,665, just 571 better than last year and nearly 5,000 better than Thursday. Brooklyn rolled up 78,108 for the day's total, only 2,000 below last year for the fifth day and nearly 13,000 better than the day before. The total for Queens yesterday was 24,586, less than 500 below last year and 5,000 better than Thursday. Richmond surpassed last year's fifth day total of 5,432, the total for yesterday being 6,233.

For the five days this year Manhattan totaled 305,331; the Bronx, 123,907; Brooklyn, 297,288; Queens, 87,213, and Richmond, 22, 213. Yesterday's registration in Republican districts was the heaviest of the year so far. Several of both Republican and Democratic districts surpassed last year's figures. Some Tammany districts showed smaller increases than on previous days.

Women registered in large numbers yesterday, in some districts outnumbering the men and in others running a close race.

A decided increase in the number of both men and women registrants was noticeable last night throughout the upper east side, including a large part of Harlem, embracing the Twentieth Assembly District. Negro registration in Harlem was also heavier last night than on previous days during the week. Throughout Harlem reports indicate that the ratio of women to men registering was about 3 to 10.

Prepare for Big Crowds Today.

Registration boards in many parts of the city made preparation to handle the largest crowds of the week on the theory that thousands of voters who wished to avoid the crowds on the final day of enrolment would flock to the polls last night. In upper sections of the city it was reported that the men and women ran a close race and that even in a few districts the women beat the men two to one.

Bronx registration boards reported that their registration yesterday was the heaviest of the week. At nearly all the enrollment places long lines of registrants were on hand from opening until closing time.

A substantial increase over Thursday's figures was reported on the east side, especially in the Tammany districts, although the women registrants were not so numerous there as in other parts of the city. In Charles F. Murphy's district, the Twelfth Assembly, it was

NEW PAY REDUCTION, THEN A FREIGHT CUT, IS RAILROADS' PLAN

Executives Rebuff Men Protesting Previous Wage Cut, and Will Ask Another Decrease.

INSIST CRISIS DEMANDS IT

UNIONS' COURSE IN DOUBT

Their Dissatisfaction Increased by Board Decision Restoring Piecework in Shops.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—An immediate further reduction of the wages of all railroad employes and then a corresponding reduction in freight rates is the method proposed by the Railway Executives of the United States to meet the present crisis in transportation affairs.

Following an all-day session of the Association of Railway Executives here, it was announced tonight that a petition would be presented at once to the Railroad Labor Board asking that the wages of all train service employes be cut sufficiently to eliminate all the increase granted by the Railroad Board in July, 1920 (this means a further reduction of about 10 per cent.) and that the wages of all other classes of labor be cut to "the going rate for such labor in the several territories where the carriers operate."

The 1,500-word statement containing this announcement then declares that, with the concurrence of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the benefit of the wage reduction thus obtained will be "passed on to the public in the reduction of existing railroad rates." It is added:

"The railroads have decided upon this course in view of their realization of the fact that the wheels of industrial activity have been slowed down to a point which brings depression and distress to the entire public and that something must be done to start them again in operation."

Rail and Union Chiefs Confer.

Following the decision of the executives to take this course, they named a committee of five to confer with a similar committee of union labor leaders at the latter's request.

The conference began almost immediately, those participating being, for the railroads, C. H. Markham, President of the Illinois Central; W. W. Atterbury, Vice President of the Pennsylvania; J. J. Gorman, President of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; Carl R. Gray, President of the Union Pacific, and Ralph Budd, President of the Great Northern. The union chiefs were W. S. Stone, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; L. E. Sheppard, President Order of Railway Conductors; W. S. Carter, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; P. C. Cashen, President of the Switchmen's Union of America, and W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

In the conference the union leaders asked reconsideration of their request of July that a 12½ per cent. wage reduction granted by the Labor Board be not put into effect at once, that no further wage reductions be sought, and that no change be made in overtime pay rate.

The executives rejected this proposal, and then read their statement of purpose to seek a new reduction of wages as a preliminary to a reduction in freight rates. The labor leaders at once left the meeting.

Few of the union executives would comment on the new and apparently serious situation created by the decision of the executives to ask a new wage cut.

Warren S. Stone of the Locomotive Engineers remarked:

"What will happen is more than I can say."

W. G. Lee of the Railroad Trainmen was uncommunicative after the meeting. He had said previously that "the roads must be crazy to seek a new reduction when the men have just authorized a strike over an old wage cut."

It was admitted by the labor leaders that there had been a distinct lack of harmony in the conference, which lasted two hours.

Lee Would Bet on a Strike.

The summary ending of the session came as a climax of a day filled with rumors about crises in regard to railway wage cuts and changed conditions for the men.

Tonight there were some signs, though still vague, that the challenge to the unions involved in the move for a new wage cut might be accepted and that a walk-out of the men might result

When asked tonight about a possible strike, W. G. Lee said:

"I will not say definitely, but if I were a betting man I would bet there will be a strike."

The trainmen's chieftain stated that there would be meetings of the General Chairmen of some of the unions tomorrow, when final instructions would be given. The Chairmen of his organization had left the city, he added.

"I shall send them instructions from Cleveland Sunday," he went on. "Regardless of what action is taken, the final decision is only a matter of the rising and setting of a few suns."

To a renewed question about a strike he replied:

"What else is there left to do? Since the men have already voted for a walk-out, I don't see how the roads can have the nerve to suggest another cut."

The feeling of dissatisfaction among union workers was increased by a decision early this forenoon of the Railroad Labor Board authorizing the railroads

John D. Gives Girl, 5, Two Dimes for a Song; Applauds "Mother o' Mine" on Hudson Ferry

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 14.—John D. Rockefeller was so pleased with the singing of a 5-year-old girl on the Hudson River ferryboat between this town and Nyack today that he gave her two dimes, and told her that she was "the prettiest little singer" he ever had seen. He applauded loudly as she sang, and waved back to her as his automobile sped away.

Mr. Rockefeller was crossing the river after a motor ride in Rockland County, and as the ferryboat left the slip the fiddlers on the boat struck up the tune "Mammy." Five-year-old Virginia Denike was in an automobile with her parents on the way home from a Rockland County wedding, and she sang the words to the song. Applause from Mr. Rockefeller.

Seeing a chance to make a hit with a new attraction, the fiddler walked over to the Denike automobile and asked whether the young lady would sing again. She would, with pleasure, and her choice was "Mother o' Mine." Two dimes from Mr. Rockefeller this time, who told his secretary to tell the singer that she was the prettiest he had seen or heard.

"Thank you very much," chirped Miss Virginia. "I'll keep them always—until I get rich."

Virginia's father, Ralph Denike, owns a garage in Hastings, where he sells only Standard Oil products.

Reports of Virginia's success at winning dimes from Mr. Rockefeller, instead of the usual coppers, with an admonition to save them, brought many photographers to the Denike house. The first of them arrived just in time to see Virginia, who was making mud pies in the yard, swing a right hand on the nose of her playmate, James O'Grady. The blow successfully quelled any masculine desire James might have had for domination of the mud pie kitchen.

"Is she often that way?" a photographer asked Mr. Denike.

"Oh, yes," was the reply, "a regular prima donna."

Virginia said she was going to attach the dimes to a ribbon and wear them around her neck, but in late afternoon her mouth bore suspicious signs of a predilection for chocolate ice cream.

Federal Expenses to Stay in $4,034,000,000, Says Mellon; No Added Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Federal expenditures for the current fiscal year will be kept within the agreed limit of $4,034,000,000, Secretary Mellon said tonight in a statement denying reports that additional deficiency appropriations of $370,000,000 would be asked for. The program limiting expenditures to the above figure, which had the sanction of the President and the House Ways and Means Committee, is being carried out satisfactorily, according to the statement.

The original program made allowance for estimated deficiency appropriations which "it was realized would be necessary in connection with certain Government activities," Mr. Mellon explained. These included particularly the settlements with the railroads growing out of Federal control and vocational training for former service men, but Mr. Mellon added that his information indicated that the revenue requirements of the Government still would be amply provided for in the $4,034,000,000.

Congress had been advised, the Secretary said, that it could proceed with the framing of revenue laws on that basis, and there now appeared no reason to alter the plan. The tax program, therefore, was not affected.

Some deficiency appropriations will be submitted during the current fiscal year, according to the Secretary, who reiterated that they had been taken into consideration already in the estimating of actual expenditures. Mr. Mellon asserted also that so far as Treasury officials could now foresee, financial plans for the coming year would stand unchanged.

to open negotiations with the unions for the restoration of piecework, which had been barred by Rule 1 of the shop crafts national agreement, entered into under the former Railroad Administration.

This decision made railroad Presidents jubilant, but the union leaders seemed to be disturbed by the possible affect of the announcement on the men, 80 per cent. of whom have already authorized a strike rather than accept the recent 12½ per cent. reduction in wages.

There was a report current that a strike would be called on Oct. 30, beginning in one section and spreading to other sections at forty-eight hour intervals, but none of the heads of the brotherhoods would admit that such action had been indorsed at their meeting last night.

According to the reports, the roads of the country have been placed into groups for purposes of the strike, and if by Oct. 30 the rail executives make no favorable response to the brotherhood demands to open negotiations, Group 1 would be called out. Forty-eight hours would be given the rail heads to take official notice, it was said, and if negotiations were not opened, Group 2 would be called out, and so on until every one of the more than 2,000,000 rail workers would have left their posts.

Virtually every railway union of importance has polled a vote in favor of a walkout. Whether this is to take place rests now with the officers of the organizations and principally with the four brotherhood chiefs.

"Do you think this proposed pay cut will cause the workers to strike?" one of the railway Presidents was asked tonight.

"Poon!" he replied.

Many Proposals Before Executives.

The executives of practically all the big lines in the country attended the prolonged conference which ended in the vote to ask for a new reduction in employes' wages.

Many proposals were brought up. One was for an immediate reduction of freight rates on all farm products for two or three months as a test. This had many advocates, but was finally voted down, most of the roads insisting that they could not get along with any lower rates.

Another proposition discussed was to ask Congress to abolish the Railway Labor Board and relegate its powers, derived from the Esch-Cummins bill, to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Prior to the meeting Robert S. Binkerd, Secretary of the Executive Committee of the Railroad Executives' Association, said that the meeting would consider ways and means of reducing freight rates to their normal proportion of the value of commodities.

Statement of the Rail Chiefs.

The final judgment of the executives was embodied in the following statement:

"At a meeting of the Association of Railway Executives today, it was determined by the railroads of the United States to seek to bring about a reduction in rates, and as a means to that end to seek a reduction in present railroad wages, which have compelled maintenance of the present rates.

"An application will be made immediately to the United States Railroad Labor Board for a reduction in wages of train service employes sufficient to remove the remainder of the increases made by the Labor Board's decision of July 20, 1920 (which would involve a further reduction of approximately 10 per cent.), and for a reduction in the wages of all other classes of railroad labor to the going rate for such labor in the several territories where the carriers operate.

"The foregoing action is upon the understanding that concurrently with such reduction in wages the benefit of the reduction, thus obtained, shall, with the concurrence of the Interstate Commerce Commission, be passed on to the public in the reduction of existing railroad rates, except in so far as this reduction shall have been made in the meantime.

"The managements have decided upon this course in view of their realization of the fact that the wheels of industrial activity have been slowed down to a point which brings depression and distress to the entire public, and that something must be done to start them again in operation.

"The situation which confronts the railroads is extremely critical. The railroads in 1920 realized a net railway operating income of about $62,000,000, on a property investment of over $19,000,000,000, and even this amount of $2,000,000 included back mail pay for four years received from the Government of approximately $64,000,000, thus showing, when the operations of that year alone are considered, an actual deficit before making any allowance for either interest or dividends.

"The year ended in serious depression in all branches of industry, and in marked reduction of the market demand for and the prices of basic commodities, resulting in a very serious falling off in the volume of traffic.

"In this situation a policy of the most rigid economy and of postponing and cutting to the bone the upkeep of the properties was adopted by the railroads. This was at the price of neglecting and for the time deferring work which must hereafter and in the near future be done and paid for. This is illustrated by the fact that as of Sept. 15, 1921, over 16 per cent., or 374,431 in number, of the freight cars of the carriers were in bad order and needing repairs, as against a normal of bad-order cars of not more than 160,000, as is further illustrated by the deferred and inadequate maintenance of other equipment and of roadway and structures.

"Even under those conditions and with this large bill charged up against the future, which must in time be provided for and paid if the carriers are to perform successfully their transportation duties, the result of operations for the first eight months of this year, the latest available figures, has been at a rate of net railway operating income, before providing for interest or dividends, amounting to only 2.6 per cent. per annum on the valuation of the carrier properties made by the Interestate Commerce Commission in the recent rent case, an amount not sufficient to pay the interest on their outstanding bonds.

"It is manifest, from this showing, that the rate of return of 5½ or 6 per cent. for the first two years after March 1, 1920, fixed in the Transportation act as a minimum reasonable return upon railroad investment, has not been even approximated, much less reached, and that the present high rates accordingly are not due to any statutory guarantee of earnings, for there is no such guarantee.

Declare Recent Wage Cut Inadequate.

"In analyzing the expenses, which have largely brought about this situation, it becomes evident that by far the largest contributing cause is the labor cost. To-day the railroads pay out to labor approximately 60 cents on the dollar they receive for transportation services, whereas in 1916, 40 cents on the dollar went to labor.

"On the first day of January, 1917, when the Government took charge of wages through the Adamson act, the labor cost of the railroads had not exceeded the sum of about $1,468,000,000 annually. In 1920, when governmental authority made the last wage increase, the labor cost of the railroads was about $3,698,000,000 annually, or, if continued throughout the year, instead of for the eight months, during which the wage increase were in effect, the labor cost, on an annual basis, would have been largely in excess of $3,900,000,000—an increase, since the Government took charge of railroad wages in the Adamson act, of approximately $2,450,000,000 annually. In the light of these figures, it is manifest that the recent reduction of wages, authorized by the Labor Board, estimated at 10 to 12 per cent., in no sense meets or solves the problem of labor costs and in no way makes it possible for the railroads to afford a reduction in their revenues.

"Indeed, during the last year there have been between 4,000 and 5,000 individual reductions in freight rates. On some railroads the reductions in rates have amounted to more than the reduction in wages so far made, and on many other railroads the reductions in wages allowed no net return on operations, but merely provided against the further accumulation of a deficit.

"The point is often made that agriculture and other industries are also suffering the same immediate difficulties as the railroads. Why, therefore, do not the railroads take their medicine like anybody else? The answer lies in several facts:

"1. The railroads were not permitted, as were other industries, to make charges during the years of prosperity making possible the accumulation of a surplus to tide them over the present extreme adversity. According to the reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the rate of return on property investment of the railroads of the United States for the last several years has been as follows:

RATE OF RETURN EARNED BY RAILROADS OF THE UNITED STATES OF THEIR PROPERTY INVESTMENT.

Year.	Per cent.

"It will thus be noted that during the years when other industries were making very large profits, when the prices of farm products and the wages of labor were soaring to unheard-of heights, the earnings upon railroad investment in the United States were held within very narrow limits, and that they have, during the last four years, progressively declined.

"2. The railroads are responsible to the public for providing adequate transportation. Their charges are limited by public authority and they are in very large respects (notably for labor) compelled to spend money on a basis fixed by public authority. The margin within which they are permitted to earn a return upon their investment, or to offer inducements to attract new capital for extensions and betterments, is extremely limited. However much the railroads might desire, therefore, to reduce their charges in times of depression, it will be perceived that the limitations surrounding their action, do not permit them to give effect to broad and elasic policies which might very properly govern other lines of business not thus restricted.

Not Inclined to Try a Rate Cut.

"It has been urged upon the railroads that a reduction in rates will stimulate traffic and that increased traffic will protect the carriers from the loss incident to a reduction in rates. The railroad managements cannot disguise from themselves that this suggestion is merely conjectural, and that an adverse result of the experiment would be disastrous not only to the railroads but to the public, whose supreme need is adequate transportation. Consequently, the railroad managements cannot feel justified in instituting these industrialities, so essential to the public welfare, at the hazard of such an experiment, based solely upon such a conjecture.

"It is evident, however, that existing transportation charges bear in many cases a disproportionate relationship to the prices at which commodities can be sold in the market, and that existing labor and other costs of transportation thus imposed upon industry and agriculture generally a burden greater than they should bear. This is especially true of agriculture. The railroad managements are feeling sensitive to and sympathetic with this distressing situation and desire to do everything to assist in relieving it that is compatible with their duty to furnish the transportation which the public must have.

"At the moment railroads in many cases are paying 40 cents an hour for unskilled labor, when similar labor is working alongside the railroads and can easily be obtained by them at 20 cents an hour. The railroads of the country paid in 1920 a total of considerably over $1,300,000,000 to unskilled labor alone. However desirable it may be to pay this or that schedule of wages, it is obvious that it cannot be paid out of railroad earnings unless the railroads obtain such rates the railroads are capable of meeting such charges.

"The railroads, and through them the people generally, are also hampered in their efforts to economize by a schedule of working rules and conditions now in force as a heritage from the period of Federal control and upheld by the Railroad Labor Board. These conditions are expensive, uneconomic and unnecessary from the point of view of railroad operation, and extremely burdensome upon the public which pays the bill. This schedule of wages and of working conditions prevents the railroads from dealing equitably with labor costs in accordance with rapidly changing conditions and the great variety of local considerations which ought to control wages in different parts of the country. The railroads are seeking to have those rules and working conditions abrogated.

"The railroads will seek a reduction in wages now proposed, by first requesting the sanction of the Railroad Labor Board. The railroads will proceed with all possible dispatch, and as soon as the Railroad Labor Board shall have given its assent to the reduction of wages, the general reduction in rates will be put into effect."

Sees a Saving of $300,000,000.

Samuel M. Felton, President of the Chicago Great Western, said the wage reductions contemplated by the railroads would represent an estimated saving of $300,000,000 annually.

"The wage increase of July, 1920," he said, "amounted to about $750,000,000. Of course our business is not what it was then, so, while half the 1920 increase was cut by the decision of last July, the saving really amounts to not more than $300,000,000. With what we now expect the total will be $600,000,000."

It was intimated that the reduction of pay to be asked in the case of the other classes of labor, aside from the trainmen, would be 25 per cent., if not more. These classes include clerks, shopmen, freight handlers, maintenance of way men and the like.

It was said tonight that the railroads would probably give tomorrow or Monday the thirty days' notice of a contemplated wage reduction, as required by the Transportation act. Then there will be a conference between representatives of the carriers and their employes. A disagreement, which is a foregone conclusion, would raise an issue upon which the Labor Board would be asked to pass.

Railway executives repudiated a report that they thought of giving immediate effect to wage reductions without regard to the procedure prescribed by the Transportation act.

"I am not sure that we are still required to give thirty days' notice, but if we are, it will be given," said one railway chief. "We have no intention of violating the law. If the Railroad Labor Board does not expedite more than it did during the hearings of last Spring it will be months before the wage reductions and resultant rate decreases will come. However, I believe the clamor of farmers and other shippers will result in more speedy action."

DEMOCRAT IS SHOT, REPUBLICAN SOUGHT

District Worker Expected Other to Sign Up With His Party and Row Followed.

WOUNDED MAN WON'T TALK

Refuses to Say Who Fired Bullets and Wants No Arrest, Although Injuries May Be Fatal.

Frank Perez, 24 years old, a saloon keeper of 73 Jane Street, was shot and badly wounded late last night in his saloon at 41 Oak Street and taken to Volunteer Hospital in a serious condition. He had bullet wounds in the left shoulder and the right side of the abdomen, and it was said early this morning that they might prove fatal.

Police detectives began a search for Michael F. Sassi, said to be a prohibition enforcement agent and a Republican district captain in the lower part of the city, as the man who did the shooting. Louis Perez, father of the wounded man, accused Sassi in a statement to the police. The prohibition agent's automobile, according to the police, was found abandoned in front of the saloon after the shooting.

From the account told to the police by the elder Perez the shooting grew out of a bitter political argument. Frank Perez and Sassi were both Republicans. Sassi was active in district affairs, a district captain under Joseph Levinson in the Second Aldermanic District, and ran for Alderman in that district in 1919 against Michael Stapleton, Democrat, who defeated him.

Sassi has been working hard to put the district back into the Republican column and trying to get enrollments during registration. He expected Perez to enroll as a Republican, but heard last night that the saloonkeeper had enrolled as a Democrat. Sassi then drove his roadster to the saloon and began to upbraid Perez, it was said.

According to the father of Perez, Sassi first demanded to know whether the report about Perez's enrollment as a Democrat was true. Perez was said to have told the revenue agent that it was none of his business. There were more angry words, and then, according to the elder Perez, Sassi drew a pistol and fired three shots. Two of the bullets struck Perez, but the third went wild.

Other witnesses, according to the police, corroborated the story told by the elder Perez, and added that six or more men participated in the argument that preceded the shooting. Policeman Erick of the Oak Street Station heard the shots, but when he arrived Sassi had disappeared, leaving his roadster behind. Perez was lying on the floor back of the bar. About twenty men were scattering in all directions, and a crowd was gathering in the street.

Detective Kenevent to 58 Catharine Street, known as Sassi's address, but was told that Sassi had "moved to Brooklyn." The detective questioned Perez in Volunteer Hospital, but the wounded man declined to confirm his father's statement about the shooting or to discuss it at all.

"Let the thing drop," he said. "I don't want anybody arrested."

TAMARORA CLUB OUT FOR FUSION TICKET

Democratic Organization Led by Ross D. Williams, in New Revolt Against Murphy.

With the insurrection headed by James J. Hines, Tammany leader of the Eleventh Assembly District, still smouldering and liable to burst into flame again, Tammany Hall is facing another revolt.

Ross D. Williams, who forced his way into the Tammany Executive Committee fifteen years ago, although an enemy of Tammany Leader Murphy, and who held his position as leader of the Ninth Assembly District, until Murphy, during his absence when on the fighting front in France, had him deposed, yesterday led his Tamarora Club, once the regular Tammany club of the district, into the Coalition camp.

The Tamarora Club on Thursday night adopted resolutions denouncing Tammany Leader Murphy and indorsing the three Coalition candidates for city offices—Major Henry H. Curran, Senator Charles C. Lockwood and Vincent Gilroy. Yesterday a banner was stretched across the street in front of the clubhouse at 132 West Ninety-seventh Street, bearing this call to arms against the Tammany chieftain in large letters:

"Redeem New York City. Drive Murphy from the control of New York City. Elect Curran, Lockwood and Gilroy."

It was asserted last night that the revolt would spread and that other district organizations would come out for the Coalition ticket before many days. The resolutions adopted on Thursday night declared that members of the Tamarora Club were "sick and tired" of Murphy and denounced him for sacrificing any man or woman, no matter how loyal to the Democratic Party, who stood in the way of his aims or failed to bow to him as a Czar.

Embodied in the resolution was this personal attack on Murphy:

"Nobody knows what Murphy does to get all his money which enables him to maintain a big estate on Long Island and keep a fine town house in New York, where butlers serve his meals, to ride back and forth between his mansions in his limousines and buy $300 worth of pink tea tickets for the Hotel Commodore, with 55,000 ex-soldiers destitute and hungry in New York streets."

Pulling hand-picked candidates out of his deep pockets, nominating tickets in his private rooms and in telephone booths while conventions are kept waiting, and ignoring the great body of Tammany leaders in favor of a few insiders, are other things charged against the Tammany leader. The resolutions say that the only way to defeat Murphy is to defeat his candidates and that to this end the club pledges its support to the Coalition nominees.

There is no doubt that Curran will carry this district by a very large plurality," said Ross Williams last night. "The resolutions were adopted by our club after full and fair consideration. There is a strong feeling against Murphy among the rank and file of Tammany all over the city and this sentiment is shared by many of the leaders. We got a plurality of 350 for Hines in the primaries in this district without any effort on our part. There will be other interesting developments, about which I cannot ttalk now, in the very near future. You watch and see."

CURRAN LAYS WOES OF PUPILS TO HYLAN

Asks How Would the Mayor Like to Stand in Line Waiting for Seat in School.

WINTRY BLASTS A MENACE

Asserts That Figures of 170,000 on Double-Session Schedule Do Not Tell Whole Story.

Failure of Mayor Hylan to provide proper school facilities after his solemn pledge four years ago that his election then would mean "a seat for very child" of school age in the public schools was charged again last night by Major Henry H. Curran, Coalition candidate for Mayor, in a speech before the Men's Club of the Bedford Park Presbyterian Church.

Major Curran said that when critics of Mayor Hylan's school policy told of 90,000 more school children being on part time today than were on part time when he took office, and that 170,000 children were on a makeshift double session schedule, which does not afford them proper opportunity for an education, these figures did not begin to tell the story of administrative neglect with relation to the public schools.

"The teachers tell me that only those classes are reported as being on part time which cannot be kept under the supervision of a teacher in or near the school building for the full time of five hours," said Major Curran. "I am told that for every class that is recorded as a part-time class, there are usually two or more classes on double session or divided session and these divided or double session classes as a rule receive less class-room instructions than do the part-time classes. Divided session classes are spending the full day in or near the school building. By this I mean, that when one class occupies the room, the children of the other class stand in the dark, damp basement of the school building, or on the staircases, or on the sidewalks in front of the school.

Predicts Chills and Colds.

"Who is going to be responsible for the chills and colds which will strike these children when the cold blasts of Winter drive through these hallways? Why, I am even informed that in many cases the earnest teachers in their heroic efforts to give the children the attention they require, actually attempt to give instructions in the halls or basements. But even the most earnest teacher finds it difficult to instruct the children, when they are required to stand in line to wait their turn to occupy the seat which each was promised and which they now have to divide with others.

"How would Mr. Hylan like to stand in line himself? He does not even have to stand in a subway train. He rides back and forth to his office, but these thousands of little school children have to stand around waiting for their chance to get what he promised them and what they are entitled to have.

"I believe these facts alone will go a long way toward inducing any of our citizens who have failed so far to register to hurry to the polls to qualify themselves to vote this Fall. I want to drive this point home to you just as strongly as I can. Mr. Hylan cannot escape his responsibility to the children of New York City by talking about other things. Three days ago I gave him a chance to deny that of which I accuse him. Has he denied it? Can he deny it? Ask the school children. Ask their fathers and mothers. Ask the teachers."

Major Curran declaration that there was now sufficient money available to provide for all school necessities of the city was taken up yesterday by Ernest Harvier, campaign manager for Senator Charles C. Lockwood, Coalition candidate for Controller. Mr. Harvier said that, far from that being the fact, years would elapse before the number of children now on part time could be reduced to any extent, owing to delay in acquiring seats and failure to push the work of constructing new buildings. Mr. Harvier said that 122,000 were on part time now, a reduction of only 4,000 from the number when the school year began on Sept. 12.

Says Forty Buildings Are Unsafe.

Mr. Harvier quoted Howard Nudd, Director of the Public Education Association, as declaring that forty school buildings in Manhattan alone at present are in such an unsafe condition as to constitute a menace to both children and teachers.

"The responsibility for these conditions," Mr. Harvier said, "is put up to the City Administration generally, but more particularly to the Finance Department which was at loggerheads with the Board of Education during the long controversy between the two in which Controller Craig, Commissioner Prall and Superintendent Shallow took the most active part."

Vincent Gilroy, Coalition candidate for Aldermanic President, wrote a letter to the Transit Commission yesterday urging that consideration be given to a plan under which school children would be permitted to travel on transit lines in this city at a reduced rate—two or three cents—the tickets being dispensed through the school principals.

"This proposition I feel could be undertaken without affecting the financial situation of the railroads," Mr. Gilroy wrote.

The Big Four in the management of the Coalition campaign will be Henry W. Taft, Republican National Committeeman; Charles D. Hilles, United States Senator William M. Calder and Joseph M. Price, head of the original Coalition Committee. As members of the newly created Budget Committee, they will have final say with regard to every move undertaken. Congressman Ogden L. Mills has been appointed Chairman of a Finance Committee of fifty members whose task it will be to raise funds for the now empty Coalition coffers.

"The Budget Committee will meet daily and pass upon all expenditures in this campaign, the watchword of which will be economy," said Secretary of State John J. Lyons, campaign manager for Major Curran. "This campaign will be unique and history making in the small amount of funds which will be expended. An expensive campaign will not be necessary at our end."

The Coalition platform, which may be ready for publication today, will contain a recommendation for amendments to the Miller transit act, designed to restore home rule to the city in transit matters.

CRAIG HEADQUARTERS OPEN.

Makes His Base in Same Building Where Hylan Has His.

Campaign headquarters were opened for Controller Charles L. Craig at 300 Madison Avenue yesterday. Mayor Hylan has personal headquarters with the Business Men's League in the same building. Thomas D. McCarthy, United States Marshal, will manage Controller Craig's campaign.

Thomas B. Van Alstyne is Chairman of a Campaign Committee of 250 formed to help elect Controller Craig for a second term.

William E. Kelly, County Clerk of Kings, will run Controller Craig's campaign in Brooklyn from headquarters at 180 Montague Street. Headquarters for Queens have been opened at 432 Jackson Avenue. Fighting bases will be established in Bronx and Richmond, too.

FOR PACIFIC NEWS AGENCY.

Press Congress Moves for Accurate Information on Oriental Peoples.

HONOLULU, Oct. 14.—President Walter Williams of the Press Congress of the World, now in session here, appointed today a committee charged with the duty of perpetuating the Pan-Pacific Press Congress as a division of the world body and allotted to it a suggested program, of which one feature was action as an agency for interchange of accurate news concerning the Pacific peoples. This work, it is declared in the program, would serve as an instrument for making the future of the Pacific regions peaceful.

The committee is composed of representatives of newspapers in the United States, Japan, Philippine Islands, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii and Canada. The Chairman is Alexander Hume Ford, Honolulu.

HYLAN AND PRALL DEDICATE A SCHOOL

Tell Bronx Gathering What Has Been Accomplished in Building and Defend Administration.

CALL CHARGES "VICIOUS"

Critics of the Schools Are Political Critics, Prall Says—Promises Kept, Mayor Asserts.

Both Mayor Hylan and Anning S. Prall, President of the Board of Education, defended the record of the present administration in providing school facilities and criticised the Mitchel administration for the little progress made during its régime, at the dedication exercises of Public School 57, 180th Street and Crotona Avenue, the Bronx, last night. Both also attacked the newspapers because of "misleading statements" concerning the progress made in building schools.

The auditorium of the new school building, opened a month ago, was jammed and several thousand persons were turned away. After his speech in the auditorium Mayor Hylan addressed an overflow meeting in front of the school building.

The Mayor also spoke last night at Public School 97, Coney Island, and did not arrive in the Bronx until about 9:30 o'clock. Meantime, the dedicatory exercises were in progress. William A. Boylan, District Superintendent, introduced Harry B. Chambers, member of the Board of Education from the Bronx, who presided. Rose Cohn, little daughter of Samuel Cohn, presented the keys and greetings from the children to the principal, Hugh C. Laughlin.

In introducing President Prall of the Board of Education Mr. Chambers said that New York City had the "greatest school system in the entire world." Mr. Prall said that had the Gary system been continued every school in the city would be on part time now, as the system carries with it, he said, daily sessions of two schools in one building.

"The critics of the schools are political critics," he said. "You get it every four years and probably will as long as there is a political election every four years."

He declared that when the present administration came in there was not a contract for one school building under way, and there were 50,000 children on part time. He admitted that there have been more children on part time under the present administration, but pleaded the war as the principal cause for failure to construct buildings.

The present Administration, he said, appropriated $25,000,000 for school buildings, but the Federal War Board would not permit work on any buildings. Then, after the armistice, when restrictions were lifted, there was a shortage of labor and materials. Work is now progressing rapidly, he said, with buildings contracted for as follows: Manhattan, 16; Bronx, 24; Brooklyn, 30; Queens, 27; Richmond, 8, making a total of 114. He declared there had never been a city in the world that had matched this achievement.

"But to read the press," he said, "you would think this Board of Education has done absolutely nothing and that the schools are going to the dogs.

"Malicious, vicious lying charges are being lodged against us, and I am ashamed to say it, but the schools are being made the political football of office seekers."

Mayor Hylan said:

"If you read the papers and believe what you see in some of them, you won't think the Board of Education ever even thought of public schools."

Mayor Hylan said that when he came into office the city was $75,000,000 behind in school construction. He then told of the difficulties due to the war and labor troubles and said that it was the third year before school construction could be started.

The Mayor said that he had made good his promise of four years ago to do away with the Gary system and "we are on our way to give every child a place in the schools."

In conclusion he declared that as long as he is Mayor the traction, gas, electric light and telephone interests are not going to run the City of New York, and the "gambling interests and other vicious interests are not going to run the Police Department, and Rockefeller interests and Gary propagandists are not goin gto control the schools of New York."

ATTERBURY ASKS PUBLIC AID

Says There Is No Help Except in Reducing Costs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Reduction of wages for railroad employes, the saving to the roads being passed on to the public in reduced transportation rates, was urged by W. W. Atterbury, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in an address before the National Vehicle and Implement Association today. He asked that public sentiment aid the roads in their efforts to readjust rates, which he said was essential to the return of the country's prosperity.

Mr. Atterbury reviewed the growth of American railroads, decrying the regulations placed upon their operation in recent years and asking a release from such rigid supervision. He offered figures to show that after twenty years of regulation freight rates had increased 100 per cent., railroad efficiency had been reduced and railroad securities had brought decreased earnings.

"Transportation is in bad shape," Mr. Atterbury said. "Do not blame it on the war. Nobody is running the roads; nobody is responsible for them. The privately elected managers have only slight authority and slight responsibility. Government control was a failure. Nothing can take the place of individual initiative, ability and responsibility.

"There can be no hope for return of real prosperity until the world finds industrial and political peace. In the cost of production transportation charges necessarily enter, and transportation must do its share of deflation, although there is little evidence that a reduction of rates will stimulate business and give work to the unemployed."

Costs of production must come down, Mr. Atterbury said, and that could be accomplished only through wage reductions. He declared wage reductions were a matter of necessity "which unless faced now, will come with far greater force later on."

"By reduction in rates," Mr. Atterbury said, "reduction of wages, release from regulation by co-operation between the public and the public's railroads, the railroads will have been brought into harmony with the readjustment so essential to the return of prosperity."

TWO BOROUGHS PASS 1920 REGISTRATION

said that two men registered for every woman.

Tammany leaders said they were well satisfied with the registration to date. Frederick Wallis, Immigration Commissioner and campaign manager for Mayor Hylan, said the result of the first four days indicated that the supporters of the Mayor were aroused and were preparing to roll up a record vote.

Pleased by Richmond Returns.

"Special gratification," he said, "is found in the returns from Richmond, where both men and women have turned out in such large numbers as to surpass the record of last year for the fourth day of registration. Their anxiety to register and vote for the Mayor is paralleled by the efforts of the voters in the downtown districts of Manhattan. The grand total for the four days of 219,779 in the Mayor's home borough of Brooklyn is pleasing to his campaign managers. In the other boroughs, Manhattan, Queens and the Bronx, we find no cause for complaint. The showing made by the women is a happy augury for the re-election of Mayor Hylan and his associates."

Necessity for active co-operation and service on the part of women at the coming election in the interest of an honest count will be emphasized at a luncheon to be held Tuesday next at the Colony Club, through the courtesy of Mrs. John T. Pratt and Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany.

Members of the woman's committee in charge of the event, which is under the auspices of the Honest Ballot Association, will outline plans of the organization for insuring the prevention of fraud by placing watchers at polling places regarded as possible centres for suspicious election activity. Every woman whose time and duties will permit is requested to serve as a voluntary watcher on election day.

Thursday's registration by boroughs was as follows:

BRIAND NOW EXPECTS TO EXTEND HIS STAY

Premier Wants to Outline Fully France's Position at the Armament Conference.

HOME POSITION STRONGER

Lloyd George's Decision to Come Helps Briand—Jusserand Sails Today.

PARIS, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—It is the hope of Premier Briand that when he visits Washington next month for the Conference on Limitation of Armament, he will be able to remain there longer than the ten days which it has been stated he can give for his visit. If domestic politics permit he will extend his stay in the American capital.

In all events it is his desire to remain long enough to take an active part in the work of the conference and to define the attitude of the French Government on the important subjects which will be discussed.

M. Briand feels that France has a sentimental interest in her Prime Minister's going to Washington on the invitation for an international meeting issued by a country at whose birth France considers that, in a sense, she was present.

Philippe J. L. Berthelot, General Secretary of the Foreign Office, upon whom M. Briand greatly relies on questions of foreign affairs, may return home from Washington with the Premier.

The announcement in London that Prime Minister Lloyd George intends to be present at the Washington conference is regarded in political circles here as weakening the opposition to Premier Briand's absence from France on that occasion, although several members of the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies are said to be opposed to his going.

It is believed that the chances of the opposition securing a vote in the Chamber adverse to M. Briand's going are reduced to the minimum.

The debate on a dozen interpellations on the reopening of the Chamber next week is expected to take three or four days. The Washington mission is certain to be discussed and may become the issue in a vote of confidence, although most of the interpellations relate to finances and the general policy of the Government.

Jules J. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, intended to return to his post there at the same time on which Marshal Foch will sail Oct. 22, but he will leave tomorrow on the steamer La Lorraine instead. He made this change in his plans at the request of Premier Briand, so as to arrive in Washington in ample time to complete details incident to the armament conference.

In recent weeks the Ambassador has been working every morning at the National Library, making a study the results of which will be incorporated in an address before the American Historical Society in St. Louis on Dec. 28. His investigation concerning early phases of American history is understood to have yielded such abundant material that he probably will compile his conclusions in a small book after the Washington conference adjourns.

Mme. Jusserand is returning with her husband.

MAY HASTEN TRIP OF LLOYD GEORGE

Premier, It Is Said, May Sail Nov. 1—Washington Gratified—Borden's Selection Definite.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Daily Chronicle, in welcoming the news that Premier Lloyd George may be able to go to Washington, says:

"The Prime Minister has set his heart on a settlement of Ireland if good-will and ingenuity can attain it, and if that keeps him in England longer than he would wish, our American friends will put the lateness of his arrival down to a good cause. That the Prime Minister, with so many domestic problems on his hands, should be going to America is most convincing proof, if proof is needed, that we are in grave earnest about the problems that President Harding has propounded."

The Premier's departure for Washington is provisionally fixed for Nov. 5, but it is now suggested that the date may be altered to Nov. 1. Lord Riddell will be one of the party.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Earl Cavan, who commanded the British Fourteenth Army Corps during the war, will be one of the War Office representatives at the Washington conference, it was announced today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Unofficial advices reaching Washington through authoritative channels are to the effect that the Canadian representative on the British delegation to the conference on the limitation of armament will be the Right Honorable Sir Robert Laird Borden, former Premier.

Secretary Hughes has not been officially advised of the intention of Mr. Lloyd George to come to Washington as a member of the British delegation, and the British Embassy is also without official confirmation of the report. But there is every reason to believe, as a result of unofficial information received, that the British Premier is coming, and the American Government is gratified over the prospect of his attending the conference.

The American delegation to the conference will meet again not later than Friday of next week, it was learned today. Meanwhile the individual delegates are studying the data prepared for their information by experts in the State, War and Navy Departments, together with brochures on a number of subjects relating to American policies and dealing with their historical, economic and political aspects.

It is expected that at next week's meeting Secretary Hughes will outline the course which the Administration is desirous that the United States shall follow in the conference, both in regard to policy and the order in which it may be preferred that topics should be discussed. It is thought likely that by that time President Harding will have selected, with the advice of Secretary Hughes and the other members of the main delegation, the American advisory delegates, numbering about twelve.

ITALY WANTS BIG ARMS CUT.

Seeks Largest Reduction Consistent With Internal Safety.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Oct. 14.—Although the Italian delegation to the Washington conference on disarmament has not yet been officially appointed ex-Minister Schanzer and Ambassador Rolandi Ricci have been working hard at the Foreign Office in order to prepare materials necessary for the discussion of the problems which will be submitted to them at Washington.

Italy goes to the conference with the firm intention to do all in her power to bring about the greatest possible limitation of armament compatible with the internal safety of each country, condemning all kinds of imperialism, whether military, political or economic. The Italian press holds that Italy has already shown a good example in striving in every way to reduce her own military expenses, which she might have limited even more strictly, it is said, had it not been for the constant threat on the Jugoslav frontier.

The hope is also expressed that Italy, having few interests in the Far East, will be able to exercise a moderating influence between the contending parties, being on equally friendly terms with America and Japan, while her intimate relations with England insure mutual confidence between those two countries.

ROME, Oct. 14.—Signor Tovini-Livio, Vice President of the Chamber of Deputies, will replace Signor Meda on the Italian delegation to the Washington conference, says the Messaggero today. Signor Meda declined appointment to the delegation because of illness, the newspaper adds.

The delegation, it was learned today, will include Count Constantini, whose wife was formerly Mrs. Wilmerding of New York.

BELGIUM TO SEND CATTIER.

Banker to Be Arms Delegate—Everts Likely to Come Also.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 14.—Felician Cattier, a Belgian banker, will accompany Baron de Cartier de Marchienne as the second delegate from Belgium to the Washington conference.

R. Everts, Belgian Minister to Peking, will probably be the third delegate, replacing Emil Franqui, Minister of State, who will be detained in Europe by business.

TOKIO TO SEND GIFT OF BIG STONE LANTERN

Present to Washington Is 25 Feet High—Unofficial Groups to Promote Friendship.

TOKIO, Sept. 23 (Correspondence of Associated Press).—It is announced that the Japanese delegation to the conference at Washington will take with it a large stone lantern as a gift of the Tokio municipality to the Washington municipal authorities.

Several years ago, in the Mayoralty term of Yukio Ozaki, the City of Tokio presented a number of cherry trees to Washington. The lantern, which will be set up near the trees, is complementary to that gift and will bear the inscription:

"These cherry trees have been presented to the citizens of America by the citizens of Tokio as a token of American-Japanese friendship."

The lantern is twenty-five feet high.

While a large party of business men headed by Dr. Takuma Dan will sail Oct. 15 for the United States, another important group headed by Viscount El-Ichi Shibusawa is sailing Oct. 13 to return a visit made to Japan by American members of the American-Japanese Relations Committee. The visit of the former is announced to be purely industrial and commercial, but the Shibusawa party expects to address itself to furthering the friendly relations between Japan and the United States, and in a general way to promoting an understanding between the two peoples.

The Shibusawa group will include such well-known persons as M. Zumoto, former representative and editor of the English-printed Japanese weekly review, The Herald of Asia; Dr. Juichi Soyeda, former President of the Imperial Government Railways, and Dr. Saburo Yamada, Dean of the Law College of the Tokio Imperial University. The mission will visit the principal cities in the east.

WARNS ON CHINESE DISPUTES.

Lennox Simpson Says Parley Must Take Broader View.

Special to The New York Times.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14.—Lennox Simpson, political adviser to the Chinese Government delegation to the Washington conference, who has been here, left this morning for Toronto and New York. On reaching New York he will be the guest of Charles R. Crane, former Minister to China, and will go to Washington shortly before Nov. 1.

In an interview before leaving, Mr. Simpson said:

"There seems to be a good deal of misunderstanding throughout this country concerning political conditions in China. Nearly all the Chinese you have on the North American Continent are from Canton Province and it is natural for them to support their fellow provincial, Dr. Sun Yet-sen, as they do. However, as far as the international problem is concerned their advocacy of Canton does not advance the solution of the complicated external matters which must be disintangled slowly by the Central Government, which has years of practice and understanding.

"The Washington conference will give first hand knowledge gained during an opportunity to deal with a number of economic and general questions tending to do away with bad feelings existing today throughout China. To have any but representatives of the Central Government there would merely make new complications, although it must be noted that a seat was left for a Canton delegate.

"Dr. Sun Yet-sen represents but two provinces in South China, while the Peking Government represents twenty. Therefore, if Dr. Sun Yet-sen's two provinces were separately represented tonight he could claim the same rights for all the other provinces. This would bring a Chinese provincial congress to Washington, mixing up purely internal questions with the international problem of the Pacific.

"It is a local question in China and China has to solve it herself, but President Harding's conference was called for big things in the world and these it will take all the nations interested to solve."

Mr. Simpson said that he did not believe a separate invitation would be issued to the Canton Government, especially after the United States officials realized the situation. He refused to comment on a report which was current here that Japan would use the Guam-Yap cable to relay messages from the conference to that country.

SCHURMAN ASSURES CHINESE.

Says America Will Never Join in "Grab Game" in Their Country.

PEKING, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Referring to recent statements which have appeared in local newspapers that the Washington Conference merely would reach an agreement for the depredation of China, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, the American Minister, in an address before the American Chamber of Commerce at Tien-Tsin yesterday, said he would venture to assert that this prediction would be contradicted, judging from what he knew regarding the conference's history and purpose, and that he could not conceive of any statement containing more misrepresentation.

"A strong, efficient Chinese Government being the key to the whole Far Eastern situation," said the minister, "the powers should lend the Chinese people whatever help they desire in the establishment of such a Government.

"The American Government will never be a party to a 'grab game' in China. The world's conscience today tells nations and governments to 'seek peace and insure it,' and the first condition for insuring the Orient's peace is respect for China's political, territorial, administrative and economic sovereignty. It is America's honor to be a leader in this high undertaking."

Dr. Schurman spoke of the success which co-operation by Chinese and American private enterprises had brought to China's commercial and industrial development of China, and emphasized the necessity of increasing such enterprises.

BRINGS TO HOOVER RUSSIAN AID REPORT

Cousin of Dr. Hibben, Back From Famine District, Confirms Tales of Suffering.

TELLS OF CHILDREN'S WOES

Says War, Not Reds, Is to Blame for Desolation—Railroads Utterly Broken Down.

Further confirmation of the news of the deplorable conditions in the interior of Russia was brought yesterday by Paxton Hibben, a journalist and cousin of Dr. John Grier Hibben, President of Princeton University, who arrived on the Italian liner Europa. He was one of the Near East Relief workers and one of the five who penetrated into the famine districts to make a report for Mr. Hoover.

"I wake up in the night and hear the cries of the children who at the railway stations surrounded our car, crying for food," Mr. Hibben said. "At Tsaritsa, were 20,000 refugees who had left their farms, dried up by the terrific drought. These folk were bound God knows where, but they had an idea that the trains would take them somewhere. Children lay dead and dying at the railroad station and around it.

"Bolshevist Russia is not to blame for it, for it is the result of a condition that began with war. Then, there is now less farming—last year a small crop and this year no crop. Then, too, the transportation systems have broken down almost beyond help, for when General Denikin retreated toward the Caucasus every bridge was destroyed and the near-by territory laid waste.

"For a distance of 300 miles there was no highway; neither rail nor road intact. Now the Red army of Bolsheviki are trying to rebuild the former steel bridges with wooden substitutes, but it is slow work."

Mr. Hibben said the American dollar went a long way in Russia and that the cost of the thirty-day trip for his four companions and himself was only $96.95. In Moscow the members of the party were permitted to walk about as they pleased and during the rail journey they had only one Soviet soldier for protection.

The officers of the Europa said that when the vessel was 500 miles off Ambrose Channel Lightship a bo'sun bird settled in the foretop. This bird has a long spike in its tail resembling the marlinspike used by seamen in splicing ropes—hence its name. The appendage is used for spearing fish and also a rudder in sailing on a wind, and when it is lost by accident the unfortunate bird tumbles over and over in the wind until it becomes a head-fails into the sea.

The Europa had 106 cabin and 300 steerage passengers.

SOVIET NOTE TO CHINA.

Moscow Proposes to Mediate Between Her and Mongolian Republic.

PEKING, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Bolshevist Russia intends to offer its mediation between China and the Mongolian Republic in an effort to establish amicable relations, it is asserted in a statement issued by the Rosta News Agency, the official Soviet organ in Peking. The agency makes public a note addressed to the Mongolian Government by the government now controlling outer Mongolia under the military auspices of the Soviet administration in Moscow. This note from the Soviet capital follows:

"The Russian Government shares the Mongolian Republic's conviction of the necessity of establishing peaceful business inter-relations between Mongolia and China, based on the Mongolian people's right of self-determination. A Soviet commercial delegation now en route to Peking will act as mediator between Mongolia and China, with a view to establishing Chino-Mongolian relations on this basis and removing the possibility of further conflict, according to the Mongolian Government's request of Sept. 10."

Peking regards unfavorably the presence of a Soviet army at Urga, the capital of the Mongolian revolutionary Government, and Soviet influence there. It is declared not to be disposed to accept Russian mediation, but to be willing to negotiate with Mongolia on the basis of the autonomy clauses of the tripartite agreement signed in 1915.

PREDICTS 35-YEAR DROUGHT

Russian Scientist Warns World to Stimulate Crops to Avert Famine.

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The world must prepare for a thirty-five-year dry period. This statement from Professor Michelson, Russia's leading scientist, which was received by the Soviet Bureau here, refers to the weather. The Professor has completed studies and researches based on the noted Brueckner's theories which prove, it is said, that the world was due for a spell of hot weather, bad harvests and famine some time between 1920 and 1924.

According to Professor Michelson, the period began a year or two ago and he calculated. The Professor advises the farmers of the world to stimulate their crops during the coming years to prevent a famine such as Russia is experiencing.

JOFFE REPORTED LIVING.

Soviet Paper Denies Story of His Execution by Insurgents.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The report current last month that Adolph Joffe, former Russian Ambassador to Germany and Chairman of the Russian Peace Delegation at Brest-Litovsk, had been shot and killed by Ukranian insurgents, is denied by the semi-official Bolshevist organ Novy Put. The newspaper says Joffe is alive and well.

A dispatch to a Berlin newspaper from Riga on Sept. 23 said that Joffe and some companions had been taken from a train bound from Odessa to Kiev and shot to death by Ukrainian insurgents.

PERIL TO SOVIETS IN ARMS CONFERENCE

possibility of a new concerted effort to overthrow the Soviet Government. The Foreign Office announces that these statements are wholly destitute of truth.

The Daily Herald's diplomatic correspondent, however, sticks to his story that there is to be a concerted move against the Bolshevist Government, whether Earl Curzon told M. Briand about it or not. He says that the failure of the Urquhart negotiations in Moscow is the signal for an effort to secure the abrogation of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement, to break off all relations with the Soviet Government and virtually to re-establish the blockade.

But the greatest peril to Russia, according to this authority, is the Washington conference, which is going to discuss the question of Siberia.

"Siberia," he writes, "is Russian territory, and Britain, America, Japan and France are meeting at Washington next month to discuss the Siberian question, which means the allocation of the plunder of Siberia between the big business groups of those four countries."

MOSCOW, Oct. 14.—"Big industry and the application of big industry to agriculture form the whole economic basis of Socialism and the basis of successful strife by the people against capitalism," said Premier Lenin in a letter read to the Electro-Technical Congress here today. He declared that Soviet Russia was endeavoring to use electrical power in all industries, despite the present difficulties.

Leon Trotzky, Minister of War, has ordered a clean-up week for the Red army. He also takes the occasion to reprove the army for wasting supplies, saying that more care should be taken to preserve munitions, which belong to the State and are not the property of individual soldiers.

Simultaneously with the opening here of the central office of the new Russian State Bank on Nov. 5, branches will be established in Petrograd, Kazan, Kharkov, Rostov and Novo Nikolaievsk.

M. Scheinemann, who signed the Russia-German trade agreement on behalf of Russia, will be President of the bank, while its four Directors will be Ginsburg and Katzennelson, former bankers, and Krouthov and Kutler, former Zemstvo workers. Kutler was a Cabinet Minister when the first Duma was in power.

The official quotation on the dollar is now 62,000 rubles, but some speculators give as high as 92,000.

The Commissariat of Agriculture has published an appeal to Russian agrarians abroad to return to the country, offering them favorable terms to colonize agricultural communes. The Dukhobors of Canada are also invited to return. (The Dukhobors are members of a sect expelled from Russia about 1885. They are found in Western Canada).

CHERBOURG, Oct. 14.—Nikolai Avskentieff, President of the Russian Constituent Assembly in Paris, representing virtually all the groups opposed to the Bolshevist elements in Europe, sailed for Koff, member of the Assembly and editor of the official organ of the anti-Bolshevik elements in Europe, sailed for New York today on board the steamer America as delegates of the Executive Committee of the Assembly. They are going to the United States to acquaint Americans with the present situation in Russia.

EXPECT TOKIO TO IGNORE CHINA'S SHANTUNG NOTE

Japan Said to Count on Support of Versailles Treaty Signatories at Washington.

PEKING, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Japan is inclined to ignore the Chinese note rejecting her proposals relative to negotiations involving the Shantung question, according to most reliable information here. This would leave the position of Japan as it was following the presentation of the Tokio memorandum by M. Obata, Japanese Minister here, in September.

It is declared that Japan expects China will attempt to bring the Shantung problem before the Washington conference, but Tokio is relying upon the solid support of the signatories to the Versailles Treaty in opposing such a move, because if China's claims were recognized, it is asserted, other non-signatory nations would be encouraged to protest against clauses distasteful to them, and thus the treaty might be invalidated. Japan expects that her stand in this matter will leave Shantung open to future negotiations with China.

While ignoring the Peking note Japan is likely, however, to publish all Chinese and Japanese documents regarding Shantung, provided China's consent can be obtained. If this should be impossible, she is expected to issue an official résumé, including probably a statement that Chinese officials had definitely assured her that China would negotiate, provided Japan would make the first move.

LABOR IN STATE DRIVE FOR DISARMAMENT

A. F. of L. Completes Plans for Armistice Day Demonstrations—Largest One Here.

Plans for big demonstrations for disarmament in cities and towns throughout the State, including New York City, on the night of Armistice Day, Friday, Nov. 11, have been completed by the American Federation of Labor.

Hugh Frayne, international organizer for the federation, announced last night that organized labor was receiving the hearty co-operation of civic, educational, patriotic and business men's organizations, and the indications were that New York State would lead all others in the series of disarmament demonstrations to be staged throughout the country by labor on Armistice Day.

The largest demonstration will be held in Madison Square Garden under the auspices of the Central Trades and Labor Council of New York and vicinity. Other meetings will be held in Utica, Buffalo, Lockport, Rochester and in many other cities and towns.

The Central Trades and Labor Council in a statement last night said that more than 300 local organizations would participate in the Madison Square Garden meeting. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be William F. Deegan, State Commander of the American Legion; the Right Rev. William T. Manning of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York; Dr. Stephen S. Wise and former Governor Alfred E. Smith. Several other nationally known men and women will also address the meeting, these names to be announced later.

WOMEN STUDENTS TO CONFER.

Nineteen Colleges to Join in Armament Discussion at Vassar.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Oct. 14.—Nineteen of the twenty-one Eastern women's colleges have accepted an invitation from Vassar to attend a conference at the college here on Oct. 22, when the students' opinions will be expressed on the subject of disarmament. The invitation was extended by the Students Association and the Political Association of Vassar.

A final summing up of the problem of disarmament will be made after all the views have been ascertained.

Among the colleges to be represented are Wellesley, Smith, Mount Holyoke, Barnard, Radcliffe, Bryn Mawr, Syracuse, Skidmore, Rutgers, Elmira, Wheaton and the Connecticut College for Women. Each will send two students and the conference will be in session for two days.

WARSHIP COST LIKE COLLEGE'S

Governor Sproul Denounces Armament Cost as Sinful.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 14.—Governor William C. Sproul, in an address at a dinner tonight, made a plea for disarmament, declaring that a single shot at the Aberdeen proving grounds would send a Pennsylvania boy and girl through the State's free educational system from the primary grade to a collegiate degree. The dinner was held in connection with the inauguration of John M. Thomas as President of Pennsylvania State College.

"Isn't it time that we stop such sinful, criminal waste?" said the Governor. "On the eve of the disarmament conference let us all unite to uphold the policy that will relieve us of this awful extravagance. Let us stop it and turn over a new leaf.

"Let us make our fortifications in the hearts and souls of our people, not in wasteful armament. The $40,000,000 cost of a single battleship would provide a free State university and leave $20,000,000 for its endowment."

Hangs Himself in Cell.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Oct. 14.—Charles Bensfield, who had been held for the Grand Jury on a grand larceny charge, was found dead early today, hanging by a belt from the top of his cell in the Municipal building. Bensfield was charged with robbing the Southampton Hospital.

HARDING ACCEPTS LOAN BILL CHANGES

Willing That Commission of Five, Rather Than Mellon Alone, Shall Negotiate.

WIDE POWER STILL SOUGHT

Administration Wants Measure Passed Before the Arms Conference Meets.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The Administration is satisfied that the so-called Mellon bill for the refunding of the allied debt to the United States will be enacted by Congress in modified form very soon. It is the hope that this result will be accomplished before the assembling of the conference on the limitation of armament.

Opponents of the measure in Congress have refused to accept it because, in its original form, the bill gave unlimited authority to the Secretary of the Treasury in making the refunding arrangements. The Administration has now consented to accept an amendment providing that the refunding shall be accomplished by a commission of five to be known as the World War Foreign Loan Commission.

The Secretary of the Treasury and four others, to be named by the President, would compose this commission, and if any of the four is not a member of his Cabinet his nomination is to be submitted to the Senate for its consent. The Administration believes that this form of legislation will be acceptable to members of Congress who raised objection to the original bill, and the proposal will be made to Congress in a communication from Secretary Mellon.

The modified bill would give to the commission of five the same sweeping powers which it was intended to give to the Secretary of the Treasury in the original bill. Some of the members of Congress who opposed the first bill raised the point that it was improper to vest such authority in any person, unless he was compelled to obtain Congressional sanction of the arrangements made. The Administration appears to be satisfied that this objection as to unlimited authority will be overcome, however, by giving this authority to a commission of five, part of the membership of which must be confirmed by the Senate, instead of to the Secretary of the Treasury alone.

The President has conferred with congressional leaders about the proposed modification of the bill, but a certain measure of doubt will remain until the proposal is formally transmitted to the Senate and House and the reaction is recorded.

An intimation was given at the White House today that the President intended to have at least one Cabinet officer, in addition to Secretary Mellon, on the commission, in the event of favorable action on the bill. The belief prevails that he would appoint Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who has an intimate knowledge of the foreign financial situation.

The Administration believes that through the refunding law it will be able to relieve the financial situation in Europe, which uncertainty as to the purposes of the United States in connection with the collection of the foreign war debt has had a bad effect. In addition it is likely that the gathering of important European statesmen in Washington at the time of the armament conference may result in informal discussions of the allied debt to this Government, with the possibility that an international financial and economic conference may follow the armament conference. The Administration feels that it would be in a better position to discuss these problems if it were backed by the authority contained in the refunding bill.

1,400 IN SWIFT EXIT FROM SCHOOL FIRE

St. Anthony's Pupils, Directed by Sisters, Reach Safety Before Firemen Arrive.

Fire was discovered in the basement of the five-story school building of St. Anthony's parochial school in Macdougal Street yesterday morning shortly after the 1,400 pupils had assembled for the day's session. A sister in charge of the kindergarten on the first floor rang the school fire drill bell and in less than five minutes before either the police or the firemen arrived every one of the 1,400 pupils, with their teachers, were safely out of the building. Mother Louise, principal of the school, directed the exit of the children and at the top and bottom of each flight of stairs a sister stood keeping the lines straight and quieting the little ones frightened by the smoke-filled hallways.

The sisters were assisted by the boys and girls of the upper grades who waited with their teachers until all the younger children were out. "I never saw 13-year-old boys show such presence of mind and coolness," one of the sisters said after it was over. "They knew just what to do and acted the part of men. Without them and in spite of the fire drills we have always felt that the younger children might have become panic-stricken."

L. Sparks from a bonfire in an adjoining backyard are thought to have ignited packing boxes in the basement of the school. These boxes, the teachers say, were empty and were used to pack books in.

When the neighborhood learned there was a fire in the school the street was once filled up with frantic women crying for their children and trying to get into the school house. The police reserves from the Mercer Street station were hurried to the scene and quickly restored order. Within an hour the session began again with practically every child in place.

AIRPLANE TO SEEK TROPHY.

Passenger Craft to Fly to Providence and Return Today.

The Fokker passenger airplane Half Moon will fly from New York to Providence, R. I., and return today, in an attempt to capture the aerial transportation trophy offered by the Aero Club of America for the best demonstration of a practical commercial aerial route. The flight is also being made in connection with an aerial regatta which the American Legion is holding at Providence under the patronage of Governor Beeckman.

According to the latest time tables, the fastest possible railroad round trip between New York and Providence consumes 8 hours and 14 minutes of actual traveling time. The Half Moon will attempt to negotiate the same distance in not more than three and a half hours. L. D. De Wald, representing the Contest Committee of the Aero Club of America, and five other invited guests will make the trip.

King Albert Flying to Paris.

TOULOUSE, France, Oct. 14.—King Albert of Belgium reached Toulouse this afternoon in an airplane flight from Barcelona, Spain. He resumed his flight this evening, bound for Paris, whence he will go to Brussels.

$100,000 TO HOSPITAL, GIFT OF MANVILLES

Two Brothers Contribute $400,000 to Complete Fifth Avenue Structure—Seek $750,000.

A gift of $100,000 by T. F. and H. E. Manville toward the completion of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital was the feature of a dinner of volunteer workers who met at the Biltmore Hotel last night to discuss the drive for $750,000 needed for the project. This campaign, which will last for one week beginning next Monday, will be to raise the remainder of the $3,000,000, of which $2,250,000 has already been obtained. The Manville brothers had already given $300,000 toward this initial sum.

More than 200 persons were present, members of the twenty-five teams which will canvass the city in behalf of this structure, which will be the first wardless hospital in the world. It represents a combination of the Hahnemann Hospital and the Laura Franklin Free Hospital for Children, and will supplant these when it is made ready for use within a few months. The building stands on Fifth Avenue, between 105th and 106th Streets. Already $1,150,000 has been raised by popular subscription, and the sale of the Hahnemann Hospital property brought $1,100,000. The new site on Fifth Avenue was procured for $326,000.

Fred B. Smith, Chairman of the campaign, expressed the thought that the workers in this campaign were setting a standard higher than anything done before in hospital work, and would soon make wards a thing of the past. Only one in three can get hospital attention at present, he said, and in the past five years no additional hospital space in this city has been created. When New York can spend a million and a half dollars on a prize fight and $900,000 on the World's Series, can it fail to grant $750,000 to a need which is so urgent? he asks.

F. H. Wells, manager of the campaign, gave the plans to be followed in canvassing the city, and expressed his confidence in attaining the amount. Dr. W. F. Honan, Chairman of the Ladies' Division and Dr. W. H. Bishop, Chairman of the Doctors' Division, were the other speakers.

SABOTAGE IN BERLIN HOTELS

Striking Waiters Are Employing Various Methods of Terrorism.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The first round-the-world Cook's tourists since the outbreak of the war reached Berlin today. A party of Japanese captains of industry and economists here for a week's study of conditions ran into the waiters' strike, which is taking a more vicious turn.

The strikers have begun practicing secret sabotage by breaking into the hotels at night and committing acts of terrorism and leave "Black Hand" notes behind signed "Strike Leadership." A typical case occurred last night at a hotel where members of the Japanese mission are quartered, for whom the management is compelled by the Government to furnish service with strike-breakers. A squad of security police quartered at the same hotel during the night stopped up the water pipes, turned water on in the bathrooms and sinks, flooding the rooms and corridors. Another favorite form of nocturnal sabotage is the smashing of plate glass windows in hotels and restaurants.

GERMANY'S NEXT BILLION.

Preparations to Raise Reparation Instalment Proceed Steadily.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—While Germany is protesting her inability to fulfill her reparation obligations after the loss of most of Upper Silesia, preparations are going ahead quietly for producing the next billion gold marks when payment is due. Negotiations for raising a joint gold reparation credit by German industry, agriculture, banking and the business world in general are making satisfactory progress. The so-called "big committee" of industrial representatives of the industries and agrarian representatives met today. The reproduction will hold a joint meeting early next week. A draft of the new law for the organization of the proposed "credit association" came before the National Economic Council today for its expert approval before being passed on to the Reichstag.

TO BAR MUNITIONS EXPORTS

Lodge Introduces Bill to Halt Aid to Foreign Revolutionists.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A bill which would prevent exports of munitions to revolutionists in China and in other foreign countries was introduced today by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader. The bill embodies an agreement reached by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the legislation.

Former laws authorized the President to proclaim munitions embargoes against any American country. The Lodge bill would provide for an embargo against any country in which the United States has extra-territorial rights. It follows the policy of the principal powers to prohibit arms and munitions going into China.

Reserve system has been a bulwark of strength.

"Now we must begin to climb again the hill of prosperity. As to our final ability to reach the top, I have no question, always provided we are careful to creep before we walk. Most of us want to leap off this bed of pain whereon we have been languishing and start to run. That we cannot do. If we can remember that and can only bear in mind a small part of the lessons we have learned, we shall have accomplished more than most poor mortals are able to achieve in this perplexing world of ours.

"I wish I could comply with the suggestion of Mr. Saunders, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, that I say something about my mission here, but it would be obviously improper for me at this stage to discuss the matter. I am glad to testify that the members of this Government show me that they have a realization of the importance of these pending financial matters. They have approached our discussion with great courtesy in the spirit, candor and goodwill.

"In turn, I may be permitted to say that the interests that I represent are animated with the liveliest desire to be of genuine service to Mexico. It is with that object always in view that we have come down these three thousand miles to this wonderful city in order, first, to make plain that the interests we represent and those of this Government are in effect identical; next, to offer President Obregon and his associates such counsel and aid as we may possess. Whatever may be the outcome of our conferences, whether favorable or not, I shall carry away with me from Mexico City the most pleasant personal impressions.

"What the views of American business men, manufacturers, merchants and bankers are toward Mexico, you are already aware. First, they earnestly desire to see the relations between the two countries close and friendly. They believe that the only way to establish them permanently upon such a basis is to have such a clear understanding of each other's viewpoints that no future question can arise between us that will not yield readily to settlement. There is bound to exist in the situation continued discomfort and even danger if the understanding that we have each with the other is only a half understanding or is ambiguous and susceptible of varying interpretation.

"Our American business men in Mexico must not attempt to exploit the country. They must have a scrupulous regard for private and for public rights, but they must know at all times just where they stand. On such important points the informal public declarations of the present Government Administration here are most satisfactory. I am confident that their earnest intent is to strongly oppose injustice of any kind and to accord fully that protection and encouragement that are so vital to continued and successful business enterprise.

"What business men in the United States interested in helping to upbuild the prosperity of Mexico are anxious to see is the widespread and hearty approval by the Mexican people generally of the wise and honorable declarations of President Obregon's Government that it intends to see to it that just and generous treatment is accorded to every foreign subject doing business in Mexico, whether he be of American, British, French or other nationality. In the same way it is natural for us to expect the separate States in the execution of their local laws to follow this liberal policy as declared by President Obregon.

"Whatever former expression the Mexican Government takes to manifest this national attitude toward Americans and other foreigners is not a matter of so much importance to American business men, always provided that its declarations are of a character absolutely clear, explicit and capable of only one interpretation by honorable men. If such should prove to be the case, then indeed the clouds which I can already see breaking away on both sides will be completely dissipated. All cause for misunderstanding between these two sister Republics will have been removed once for all. Indeed, as neighbors and as friends, with our boundaries marching together for almost 2,000 miles with every inducement for the increase of trade intercourse, we can count for generations to come upon undisturbed harmony and good will, upon the growing and abundant prosperity in both our lands, and, finally, what is of the greatest importance, upon that increasing understanding and mutual sympathy that will render as an ideal for the rest of the world the close friendship and solidarity existing between America and Mexico."

TWO TO FOUR YEARS FOR TIGHE, CLUBBER

Judge Crain Says Sentence of Detective Sergeant Should Be a Warning to the Force.

NO PITY FROM HIS VICTIM

Woman "Sorry for Him in a Way, but He Treated Me Awfully and Said Awful Things."

Detective Sergeant Charles Tighe was sentenced yesterday by Judge Crain in General Sessions to not less than two years and not more than four years at hard labor in State Prison for abusing and beating Mrs. Emma Lennon of 561 West Fiftieth Street on the night of July 28, when Tighe "ran amuck," in the Court's language, at Coen's saloon, 600 Ninth Avenue, and beat a number of men, women and children. The maximum penalty under the law was five years.

Judge Crain said that he wished the sentence to be taken as a warning that similar punishment would be meted out to similar offenders. Before passing sentence he listened to a plea in behalf of Tighe by his lawyer, Samuel Furstenberg, and to several character witnesses. Judge Crain then called on Mrs. Lennon, who was in court, to tell how she felt toward the defendant.

"I am sorry for him in a way," she said, "on account of his family, but he treated me awfully and said some awful things to me."

Judge Crain turned to Tighe, who had been free on bail of $2,000 and who seemed to be confident of a light sentence.

"The complaining witness, a reputable married woman, was returning from the bank," said the Judge. "She had a right to be where she was. You took hold of her, as you had no right to do. You spoke to her as you had no right to do, and you forced her into a room, as you had no right to do. Your conduct was ungentlemanly, unbecoming a police officer and contrary to the law.

"You ill-treated several other persons, at least one other of them being a woman. In all likelihood you were under the influence of liquor. That is the most charitable interpretation of your conduct. You were mentally unbalanced from drink, and, to use a colloquialism, you ran amuck.

"Your record on the police force is a bad one, and it is rather surprising to me that you have remained on the force. I realize that you automatically lose your position on the police force. I also recognize the regrettable circumstance that policemen are sometimes accused of brutality and lawlessness calculated to bring the police force into disrepute. The majority of the members of the force are faithful and brave, and our citizens justly rely on them for protection. There was apparently no malice in your assault upon Mrs. Lennon, because you had never seen her before, so that your conduct is attributable to your being mentally unbalanced through drink, and a desire to show your authority.

"Your punishment is in part a warning to members of the Police Department that if they overstep the law and act brutally toward citizens they will be punished in a manner that is commensurate with the gravity of the offense."

Tighe, who is 32 years old, had been in the Police Department between nine and ten years. He is married and has one child. At the time of the beating and blackjacking in front of Coen's saloon when Mrs. Lennon was beaten, he was a member of the staff of Chief Inspector William J. Lahey. Tighe had been repeatedly on trial on charges of brutality at Police Headquarters.

POLICEMAN SHOOTS CHINESE

Fires When Frenzied Man Slashes His Coat With Cleaver.

Ching Yee, 38 years old, a Chinese seaman, living on the second floor of 11 Pell Street, in Chinatown, shortly before last midnight was shot in the head and probably fatally wounded by Policeman Louis Blackmore, of the Elizabeth Street Station, after the Chinese had slashed the policeman's uniform coat from the neck to the waist with a cleaver.

The policeman was standing at Pell Street and the Bowery when a Chinese who said he was Waterbury King ran up to him and told him that Ching Yee had become suddenly crazed in their room at the Pell Street address, and had chased him to the street with a cleaver and a razor.

The policeman hurried to the room, and as he entered Ching Yee made a lunge at him with the weapons. After the policeman had knocked the cleaver out of the crazed man's hand, Ching Yee attempted to slash him with the razor. The policeman then drew his pistol and shot the Chinese over the right eye.

While the wounded man was being hurried to Bellevue Hospital he told Dr. Kasnetz, of Volunteer Hospital, that he had drunk some Chinese wine a short time before the shooting and he believed he became temporarily crazed. Dr. Kasnetz said there was little hope of the man's recovery.

NINE WOMEN TO STAND FOR BRITISH COMMONS

Two Who Are Now Members Are There Because of Their Husbands, Says Mrs. Hale.

Nine women will stand for Parliament in England at the next general election, in order to bring about action on some of the women's bills which have been overlooked, according to Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale, who is in this country on a lecture tour.

GIRL FIGHTS ROBBER FOR $1,138 PAYROLL

Caping Men Ignore Her Pleas for Aid as Thief Chokes and Beats Her on Street.

HE GRABS CASH AND FLEES

Then Bystanders' Cries Attract Police and Hold-Up Man Is Caught After Chase.

For five minutes yesterday Miss Sylvia Cohen, 19 years old, private secretary for Greenstein & Pelz, who are in the mail order business at 130 Irving Place, struggled with an armed robber in the street near her place of employment to save the firm's payroll, $1,138. It was not until the thief knocked her down with a blow in the face that he wrenched from the girl the envelope containing the money.

The attack took place when Irving Place at Eighteenth Street was crowded with pedestrians and vehicles. Many passersby stood spellbound as the girl fought her assailant, who rained blows upon her with both fists. But it was not until she arose and started to pursue the robber east through Eighteenth Street that any one ventured to her aid.

Then more than 200 men and women joined Miss Cohen in cries of "Stop thief!" The cries brought Sergeant Thomas O'Brien and Policeman James Fitzpatrick, who pursued the robber into the subcellar of a building at Third Avenue and Eighteenth Street, where, after he had threatened to shoot the policemen, he was soundly thrashed and the envelope containing the $1,138 taken from his pocket.

Crowd Menaces Prisoner.

When the two policemen brought their prisoner to the sidewalk they found the crowd had increased to about 500, and was so menacing that they had to commandeer an automobile and take the robber and his victim to the East Fifth Street Station. There he said he was Joseph Stein, 29 years old, of 108 East 114th Street. He said he attempted the robbery because he needed money with which to pay a bonding company for having furnished $20,000 in the Jefferson Market Court when he was arrested early in September on a charge of participating in four burglaries.

Miss Cohen, whose address was withheld by the police in the belief that confederates of the robber would try to intimidate her, told Sergeant O'Brien that about half an hour before the hold-up she started for the Garfield National Bank, 200 Fifth Avenue, where she drew the money. She said she placed it in a large manila envelope and walked at a leisurely pace toward the establishment of her employers.

When she was within a few feet of her destination Stein jumped from a doorway and, clutching her by the throat with one hand, attempted to wrest the money from her with the other. She held the money out of his reach as she struggled to free herself from his grasp, she said, but the bandit increased the pressure on her throat and caused her to sink half way to the sidewalk.

Bystanders Ignore Girl's Appeals.

Then the robber made another attempt to grab the money, but in doing so released his hold on her throat. She jumped away from him and struck him in the face. Her blow merely angered the bandit, who then began to strike her with both fists.

Miss Cohen said she kicked and screamed and appealed to several men to seize Stein. But they seemed afraid to come near the robber because he made several threatening movements with his hand toward his hip pocket.

The robber then seized her with one hand at the back of the neck and, drawing her head toward him, she said, struck her a heavy blow in the face. She fell. He grabbed the money and started to run east through Eighteenth Street.

Sergeant O'Brien said that when he and Fitzpatrick ran into the subcellar of the building at Third Avenue and Eighteenth Street there was no sign of the robber. They groped around in the dark for several minutes before Fitzpatrick heard heavy breathing coming from a barrel over which several pieces of carpet had been drawn.

As Fitzpatrick started to drag the carpet off the barrel, he said, Stein suddenly jumped up and leveled his pistol at them. O'Brien struck the robber a blow on the arm. The pistol dropped, and the fugitive was alleged to have begun a struggle with Fitzpatrick for the policeman's pistol. Sergeant O'Brien then struck Stein several times on the head with his pistol, and in a few more seconds the robber was beaten into submission.

Six Men Rob Two Women.

When Stein was searched at the station the policemen found $200 and a square, old-fashioned silver watch in his underclothing. Asked if $200 would not have paid for his Police Court bond, he replied:

"I should say not. It costs much more than that."

Miss Cohen, who was hysterical as a result of her encounter, was taken home in an automobile by a detective. Stein will be arraigned in the Yorkville Court this morning.

Edward Shinnock, 23 years old, of 44 Jane Street, was held in $5,000 bail for a hearing next Monday when arraigned before Magistrate Jesse Silbermann in Jefferson Market Court on suspicion of participating in the hold-up of two young women Thursday night at Hudson and Leroy Streets.

Miss Josephine Sullivan and Miss Irene Irwin, both of 143 Amsterdam Avenue, told the Magistrate they were walking through Greenwich Village when attacked by six young men, who dragged them into a hallway and robbed them of $50.

Policeman Lavin of the Charles Street Station said he heard the cries of the young women and saw Shinnock running from the scene. He chased him for several blocks and captured him. Shinnock told the Magistrate he knew nothing about the holdup.

Robbery Imperils a Wedding.

When Barnett Michaelson, who rents full dress suits and evening gowns to the elite of the east side, appeared in the Essex Market Court as complainant against two youths arrested in connection with a burglary a few hours before in Michaelson's establishment at 77 Forsyth Street, he said that unless the police returned to him immediately thirty-four full dress suits and forty-three wedding gowns, held as evidence, a wedding—one of the biggest social events on the lower east side—would be stripped of its air of refinement.

"Do not keep those garments as evidence, your honor," pleaded Michaelson to Magistrate Charles E. Simms. "I am willing that the prisoners be discharged rather than have those suits and gowns kept from me by the police.

"I've got the biggest wedding on the east side this year to fix up," he explained. "If those people don't get my suits and gowns for the wedding, it will be ruined, and I'll be lynched. Even the bride and bridegroom's clothes for the wedding are among the loot."

Assistant District Attorney Guetchen advised Michaelson to go to the District Attorney's office and obtain an order on which he could reclaim the evidence. Then Salvatore Capobianco, 24 years old, of 1,425 New Utrecht Avenue, Brooklyn, and Joseph De Falco, 27 years old, of 177 Hester Street, were held in $5,000 bail each in connection with the burglary for examination next Monday. A policeman said he caught the men five blocks from Michaelson's store soon after he discovered the place had been robbed and the suits and gowns in the hallway of an adjoining building.

Eleven Years for Palmer Burglary.

Judge Humphrey in the Queens County Court sentenced Robert H. Allen, 20 years old, who said he lived at 329 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, to eleven years in Sing Sing when he pleaded guilty to robbing the home of Mrs. Lillian Palmer at 9,326 Hollis Court Boulevard in July last.

"You have a good family, and your parents have done everything in their power to reform you," said Judge Humphrey to the prisoner in passing sentence, "but you have a passion for taking things that belong to others. You were sent to Elmira Reformatory some time ago, after you had committed sixteen burglaries. You returned to your old ways on your release, and now you plead guilty to having committed eight robberies. I am giving you a long term for the protection of society."

CALEDONIANS DINE SIR HARRY LAUDER

British Consul General Calls Him Great Ambassador to This Country.

Sir Harry Lauder was at home "with his own kind," as he put it, at the Waldorf-Astoria last evening, where the Caledonian Club of New York gathered 300 strong to do him honor for his minstrelsy and his wartime use of it in cheering the men of the trenches. Captain Gloster Armstrong, the British Consul General, conveyed the regrets of Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador at Washington.

"Europe owes a debt of gratitude to Sir Harry that it can never repay," he said, "to this grea tambassador who has joined together and cemented the ties that exist between this great and glorious country and the British Empire."

Other tributes were paid to the guest of honor by James R. Donaldson, Chief of the Caledonian Club; Colonel Walter Scott, head of the New York Scottish Highlanders; the Rev. John McNeill, pastor of the Fort Washington Presbyterian Church; the Rev. John Williams, President of the British Schools and Universities Club; Sir Alfred Oliver, President of the Canadian Club of New York, and Duncan MacInnes, Chief Accountant in the City Controller's office. A message from Vice President Calvin Coolidge was read by Colonel Scott.

"The world's a bonnie place, and its up to you and me to keep it bonnie," said Sir Harry Lauder in his response. "If there's one thing to help us do it its sining a song and crackin' a joke. The dinner broke up with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

BAR WORKERS' CANDIDATES.

Board Refuses Place to Gitlow and Winitsky, Now in Sing Sing.

The attempt by friends of Benjamin Gitlow and Henry Winitsky, Workers' League candidates for Mayor and President of the Board of Aldermen, respectively, and who are serving prison terms in Sing Sing, to have their addresses changed resulted in failure yesterday, when the Board of Elections became deadlocked on the matter. Both candidates had been refused a place on the ballot on the grounds that they had lost their citizenship and also that they were no longer residents of New York City.

The Committee on Vacancies, in a petition to the board, asked that Gitlow's address be changed to 45 Greenwich Avenue and Winitsky's to Simpson Street, the Bronx. Commissioners Charles Heydt and Jacob A. Livingston voted to allow the change, but Commissioners Kane and Voorhis voted against it. Under the law, when a vote results in a deadlock the petition is lost.

SUMMON I. R. T. DIRECTORS.

Bronx Grand Jury Inquires About Jerome Avenue Congestion.

The regular Grand Jury of Bronx County instructed District Attorney Edward J. Glennon yesterday to issue subpoenas for the Directors of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to appear before that body on Oct. 21 to explain the causes of the present congestion on the Jerome Avenue extension of the Lexington Avenue Subway, and what remedy, if any, they could offer. President Frank Hedley of the Interborough appeared before the Grand Jury several days ago and explained that the financial condition of the company did not permit of any extensions of its service at the present time.

Major General John F. O'Ryan, a member of the Transit Commission, was heard by the Grand Jury at the same time and it is understood that he suggested changes in the schedule which he thought would improve conditions.

Rhine Army Private Killed.

COBLENZ, Oct. 14.—Private Charles Stowe, of a mounted detachment, was pushed from a cliff at Fort Asterstein by unidentified persons last night and died in a hospital today. His home was at 117 East Mechanic Street, Titusville, Pa.

SEES MOTHERHOOD COLLEGE GIRLS' AIM

Vassar Sends Out Women to Become Great Mothers, Not Great Lawyers, Says Dr. Abbott

DRIVE FOR $3,000,000 GAINS

Harding Writes Alumnae Praising Salary Endowment Fund Plan—$385,943 Already Raised Here.

The Vassar College Salary Endowment Fund campaign for $3,000,000, which began on Columbus Day, was carried forward at a luncheon of several hundred Vassar alumnae in the Hotel Astor yesterday. It had been decided that Vassar graduates would attempt to collect only half of the amount, but the Alumnae Association has agreed to assume the full responsibility. The campaign is expected to end on Nov. 12.

A letter from President Harding to Arthur Lesher, Chairman of the Endowment Fund, said:

"My sister, a former Vassar student, has called my attention to your Salary Endowment Fund campaign, and I want to express my interest and hopes for its success. The assurance of adequate compensation to teachers is an important contribution to the development of our educational system, peculiarly necessary at present."

Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of The Outlook and a member of the National Advisory Committee, compared men's and women's colleges.

"When a man's college needs help," Dr. Abbott said, "the graduate is told that his alma mater needs his aid. I am sorry for the man who does not answer to the appeal of his mother at the time of her distress.

"Vassar does not send out women to become great lawyers, doctors, scientists, business administrators or money makers. It has been doing something much better than that. It has been educating women to be great mothers. We can estimate in dollars and cents the worth of a lawyer or a financier, but it is impossible to estimate the worth of a mother.

"It is Vassar's problem to send out into life mothers and teachers who are noble, heroic and intelligent. I don't know how to raise money; I have never succeeded in it. But if I were working in this campaign I would say, 'Do you want a country of brave, courageous, sensible, intelligent mothers and teachers who know how to think? Vassar is turning them out. Help her.'"

It was announced that the metropolitan district had answered the appeal with 40 per cent. of its quota of $963,000. Its contributions thus far amount to $385,943. The district includes Greater New York, Long Island, Westchester and Rockland Counties and Northern New Jersey. Mrs. Elon H. Hooker is Chairman of the metropolitan district and Dr. Katherine B. Davis the Honorary Chairman.

Other speakers yesterday included Margaret Jackson Allen, Elizabeth Kemper Adams, Professor Burges Johnson and Dr. John H. Finley.

LOOT SAN FRANCISCO MAIL.

Masked Bandits Rob Post Office Near Financial District.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Four armed and masked bandits this evening held up three clerks in the Rialto Branch Post Office in the downtown district and escaped in an automobile with one sack of mail. The value of the loot is not known. Postal officials said the pouch contained about 200 registered parcels.

The branch post office is at Mission and New Montgomery Streets, two blocks from Market Street. The office is near the banking and financial districts and has a large volume of registered business. As a result the amount involved in the robbery is expected to be high.

87-YEAR-OLD BILL VOID.

City Loses Suit to Collect $83.39 With Interest From 1834.

A suit by the City of New York to collect $83.89 with interest since 1834 on an assessment against the property at 216 Sixth Avenue for a sewer constructed in that year was dismissed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel. Suit was brought against Charles A. Mitchell as part owner of the property, after the Bureau of Assessments and Arrears discovered last year that the assessment had not been paid.

The Court ruled that the city had waited too long to collect and that the law passed in 1871 making such assessments a lien upon the property was not retroactive in its effect on a sewer laid thirty-seven years before.

TO SUE AMERICAN WIFE.

Graham Scott to Ask Divorce From Late Judge Russel's Daughter.

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Graham Scott, formerly in the British Diplomatic Service, announces that he is about to sue for a divorce from his wife, Elinor, a daughter of the late Judge Horace Russel of New York and a granddaughter of Judge Hilton, also of New York.

The Scotts were married in New York in 1908, but they have failed to agree, and Mr. Scott says he has not seen his wife for eight years.

PLUMAGE SMUGGLING INVOLVES IMPORTER

New York Man Held to Answer for Illegal Entry of Birds of Paradise.

Louis Lipton, an importer, was held in $5,000 bail yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock to answer a complaint of being concerned in the illegal entry into this port of several lots of plumage of wild birds. Joseph Taylor, a steward, and William Campbell, a petty officer, both belonging to the crew of the liner Celtic, are under arrest and will be arraigned to answer a charge of being concerned with Lipton in the case.

John Holly Clark, Assistant U. S. District Attorney, said Taylor and Campbell brought the plumage over and surreptitiously delivered it to Lipton, a large quantity having changed hands, he said, in a Forty-second Street restaurant, last Sunday night. Campbell was arrested as he came off the Celtic the next day. Examination, Mr. Clark said, disclosed several pads containing bird of paradise plumes plastered on his legs. It was said the value of the feathers brought here in violation of the Customs law was $30,000.

David Schratter, President, and Nathaniel Kramer, Vice President of the Hanciaire Trading Company, were held in $10,000 and $2,500 bail, respectively, by Commissioner Hitchcock on a complaint by Edward R. Norwood, a Customs agent, charging them with having entered a quantity of artificial hat braid at one-third of its value.

DUCK SEASON HERE.

Opens on Long Island Tomorrow, Not Today, Albany Announces.

The Long Island duck season officially begins tomorrow and not today, says an announcement from the office of the Conservation Commission at Albany. The duck shooting season on Long Island is from Oct. 16 to Jan. 31.

Prior to 1920 the Conservation law in its definition of "open season" said that where the open season commences or ends on Sunday it shall be deemed to commence or end on the Saturday immediately preceding such Sunday. In the amendments made to the Conservation law by the Legislature of 1920 this provision was stricken out.

As Oct. 16 falls on Sunday this year, many duck hunters who have not noted the change in the law have been inquiring if it will be lawful to shoot ducks on Saturday, Oct. 15.

TRUCK HIT CAR, MAN KILLED.

Victim Was Ex-Saloonkeeper—Chauffeur Held.

Michael T. Brown, 40 years old, of 344 West Eleventh Street, a former saloonkeeper, was killed early yesterday when an automobile truck on which he was riding hit a trolley car in Broadway near 176th Street. Brown was thrown to the pavement. He died before he could be taken to Columbus Hospital. His skull had been fractured.

Twenty passengers in the trolley car were shaken up somewhat, but none was injured.

Robert Rolseing, of 435 West 13th Street entered the Charles Street station later in the day and told the desk Lieutenant that he was the driver of the auto truck on which Brown had been riding. He was ordered to appear in the Washington Heights Court and give his version of the accident. Later he was arrested on a technical charge of homicide, and held in $2,500 bail for examination Oct. 17.

Miss Mary Harold, 40 years old, for the last three years Superintendent of Nurses at Lincoln Hospital, 141st Street and Concord Avenue, died in that institution late last night from a fractured skull and other injuries she received when struck by a motor car at Southern Boulevard and St. Mary's Street. Benjamin Benjamin of 828 Ritter Place, driver of the car that hit Miss Harold, took her to Lincoln Hospital.

TURKISH MERCHANT BARRED

Ally Joury Rhalaf, Who Has Lived Here Since 1909, Held to Be Ottoman.

Natives of Palestine who leave their country for abroad have passports stating that they are Ottoman subjects, although their country is under a British mandate. Because of this, Ally Joury Rhalaf, head of the Palestine Trading Company of 85 Washington Street, was held yesterday when he returned on the Royal Mail steam packet Orduna.

The fact that he had been a resident of New York since 1909 did not make any difference to the immigration authorities, because, according to his passport, Khalaf was a Turk and the October quota for that country was exhausted. He told the inspectors that he had taken out his first papers and intended to become a citizen. He had been away nearly two years.

MACHINE GUNS SPIT AND SCARE TIMES SQ.

Seventy-first Regiment Squad Gathers In Recruits From Startled Crowds.

VOLLEYS IN BRYANT PARK

National Guard Officers Want Marshal Foch to Review the New Men.

Times Square had a fire-baptism last night such as it has not experienced since the four gunmen killed Herman Rosenthal in front of the old Metropole Hotel in Forty-third Street, just off the square, in the Summer of 1912.

Machine guns thundered and spouted fire in Times Square, in Bryant Park, and on Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Avenues near Forty-second Street. The first reel of shots crashed in Bryant Park. Hundreds ran out of the vicinity. After a minute of quiet thousands came running back. It was reported at first that the police had carried their method of solving the unemployment problem a step further than clubbing, but no dead or wounded could be found.

It soon became known, however, that a body of men in uniform had mounted a machine gun in the park and let off a blast of blank cartridges. They quickly moved off into Fifth Avenue.

A few minutes later, men in uniform invaded Times Square, swept clear a space between Forty-sixth Street and Forty-seventh Street and blazed away with another round of blanks. The hardened Times Square crowd, used to automobile explosions and heavy firing in mystery dramas, paid little attention. Blast followed blast and finally brought a good-sized crowd, noping to see a crime that amounted to something. The repeated firing even brought out audiences from some of the near-by musical comedies.

As soon as a few hundred had surrounded the machine guns, uniformed men ran among them with printed forms asking for heir signature as members of the Seventy-first Regiment. "We have got about three hundred recruits already to-night," said Lieutenant H. F. Savoye who was in charge of one of the recruiting parties. "This has been one of the most successful things we have ever done. It is true that it may have frightened a few thousand people, but not badly."

Immediately after we stopped shooting, half a dozen policemen and firemen ran up and asked us to stop, because the shooting had been misinterpreted by timid people. We obeyed them before they make the request. Then we moved on to some other place and opened up again, and then stopped again before the requests to stop began to pour in. Our regiment, the Seventy-first, is practically full now, and all the Guard units in the campaign have rounded up a total of several thousand recruits in the last few weeks."

One of the features of the campaign was the super-Marathon of Nicholas Soumakis, a private of Company B, who started at 12:30 P. M. on Thursday from Albany on a 142-mile run to this city with a letter from Adjt. Gen. Kincaid to Mayor Hylan. He passed Peekskill yesterday at 2 P. M. and arrived at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory at 168th Street and Fort Washington Avenue at 1:45 o'clock this morning.

Officers of the National Guard are trying to make arrangements to have Marshal Foch review the new recruits and speak to them in the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory on the second day of his visit to New York. Marshal Foch will be the guest of the State at some time during his stay in this country, and Adt. Gen. J. Leslie Kincaid has been in Washington to complete arrangements for the review of the allied commander comes to this city.

Dixie Sherman, who has been speaking in City Hall Park, has brought in forty recruits. Yesterday she was heckled a good deal by her out-of-work audience until guard officers went to her aid.

Among the labor men who have protested against the circular sent out by Major C. G. Webster of the 258th Artillery emphasizing the need of a strong guard because of labor difficulties, was the head of a stevedore union, who was told that the circular did not reflect the attitude of the guard.

HOUSE FOR EX-SERVICE MEN.

Mayor's Committee Leases Building in West 26th Street.

A building to be used as a lodging house for ex-service men exclusively will be opened at 507 West Twenty-sixth Street on Nov. 1 by the Mayor's Committee on Housing and Relief. The Salvation Army is to have supervision of the building, which has been leased for the Winter.

It is a seven-story fireproof structure with a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of eighty feet and will accommodate 1,000 men. Four floors are to be used as dormitories and there will be a large sitting room, kitchen, dining room and executive offices and workrooms in the

KEEP TRAFFIC RULES FOR THEATRE ZONE

30-Day Test Wins Approval of Business Men, Hotels and Theatres—Henkel Praises Police.

The tentative traffic regulations which recently were enforced in Times Square and the theatre zone during the evenings have now been subjected to the thirty-day test contemplated and have proved so effective that they will be continued for the present, THE TIMES was informed last night. It is probable that further privileges of parking in side streets will be extended.

The results of the new arrangement have been most gratifying to the business men of the district, who complained that the old anti-parking rules for which the present modifications were substituted caused business houses an annual loss of $15,000,000 by forcing cutomers to go to other districts where they were able to park their cars while making purchases.

The new regulations have won the warm approval of the Heart of New York Business Men's Association, which led the fight for the modification of the old rules. Paul Henkel, Vice President of that organization, following a canvass of business men whose interests were most directly affected, had this to say of the substitute arrangement:

"The thirty-day trial of present traffic regulations, which went into effect on Sept. 15 last, has proved more advantageous to merchants and the public of the heart of New York section than the previous regulation, as traffic moves in better time and a reasonable time is allowed for parking, enabling persons to do their shopping and dining.

"The police are to be complimented in the handling of the same, and it is understood that a few changes will be made that will make the present regulations still more effective. The main obstacle at present is the taxicab drivers. Were the taxi drivers as ready to live up to the regulations as the Police Department is to give service, there would be absolutely no congestion.

"A majority of the taxi drivers deliberately turn in the middle of a street and ignore the signals. This association sees only one means of controlling the situation, and that is to have the taxis under the supervision of the Police Department.

"The Heart of New York Business Men's Association has taken a canvass of the leading theatres, hotels, restaurants, merchants, &c., and all say they are in favor of present regulations and are willing to leave future improvements, if any, to the discretion of Special Deputy Police Commissioner John Harriss and Inspector O'Brien."

HOLD JAPANESE IN TRAGEDY.

Ship Fireman Is Charged With Killing Another Japanese.

Faito Taizo, 23 years old, a Japanese, who said he was a fireman on the steamship Aden Maru of the Suzuki Steamship Company, was locked up last night at Police Headquarters on a charge of homicide in connection with the death of Nitaro Yasuhara, another Japanese, whose body, with a strip of cloth bound around the neck, was found under a bed in the Hotel Empire, Broadway and Sixty-third Street, on Oct. 5. Taizo was arrested by Detectives Donahue and Martin of the Homicide Squad. The prisoner was identified by Harry Hoppen, a cleaner, and Barbara Mitzen, a chambermaid, both of the Hotel Empire, as the Japanese who had occupied the room in which the body of Yasuhara was found.

The hotel register shows that the occupant of the room gave his name as Tan Kobin. Kobin or Taizo was traced by the police largely through the medium of a striped brown suit and a fedora hat he wore when last seen at the hotel. They say they have established that the motive in Yasuhara's death was robbery. The detectives also said that Taizo admitted having struck Yasuhara in the stomach while the two were in the room at the hotel.

HAS CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED.

Mrs. Schlemmer, Suing for Separation, Says Motor Car Is Hers.

Arthur Lindberg, a chauffeur for William F. Schlemmer, millionaire hardware merchant, was arrested yesterday on complaint of Mrs. Schlemmer, who charges him with the theft of a Packard automobile valued at $5,000.

The prisoner was taken before Justice of the Peace Egbert E. Lecluse, on Middle Neck Road, Great Neck, and held in $1,000 bail for examination next Tuesday afternoon. "I merely followed the instructions of my employer," declared Lindberg. "Mr. Schlemmer pays me my salary, and I have always understood that I was employed by him, although I have been taking orders from Mrs. Schlemmer."

Mrs. Schlemmer, who is suing for a separation, let it be inferred that the arrest of the chauffeur is another chapter in her differences with Mr. Schlemmer. She insists that the car is her property and was a gift from her husband. Lindberg says that on orders from Mr. Schlemmer he took the car to Manhattan and left it at a garage.

The SHOPS FOR MEN at Wanamaker's

Chiseled on the Stone of Oliver Goldsmith's Monument

in Latin are the words:

100 New Overcoats at $35. For Men to wear away—Today

We find that there is a demand for overcoats at $35. And that this demand is not being very well filled. So we set out to fill it RIGHT—although the price is low for Burlington Arcade clothing. We can fill the needs of 100 men for good overcoats at $35, today.

These overcoats will please you even more than the price. Some are single-breasted box overcoats in heather, gray and brown shades, quarter-lined with good silk serge. Some are double-breasted ulsters, made of a fine oxford overcoating.

Young Men's Overcoats, $35 to $85

Town ulsters of light colored tweeds and herringbones with fancy backs. Big, roomy raglans of soft, fleecy English fabrics with large overplaids, belted all around, buttoned with big leather buttons. Box coats in dark browns and grays, just right for October in New York. Sizes 33 to 40.

Young Men's Suits at $35

Don't think of these suits in terms of the usual suit at $35. Just as a golfer sometimes makes a "birdie" at golf by doing a hole at better than par, so we have, in these suits, done a little better than our best at $35.

There are four single-breasted models, and one double-breasted. All the new Fall shades of brown and gray herringbone cheviots (very smart), blue, gray and black hair line striped cassimeres, fancy mixtures in many shades and patterns. Sizes 33 to 40; full and half alpaca lined.

SPECIAL—1-pair and 2-pair trousers suits at $43.50.

3,000 Men's Shirts at $1.35

If we marked them $2.50—or even $3—you would buy them. The very, very good taste designs will hold you on sight. Then, if you will feel the woven madras and the fine percale, and note the excellent workmanship and finish, and the good buttons (which one manufacturer said he wouldn't put on any shirt to sell under $5)—you will wonder how it is done. And you'll pick out a dozen to take home.

French Soft Hats, small shapes, $7

Small shapes, to be worn with crown crushed in or with the Alpine divide. Very excellent hats, in brown, green and graphite—a shade between black and oxford gray.

Blanket Bathrobes are only $5

Fine feeling, on a cold morning, to wrap one's self inside a good Beacon cloth bathrobe. These button to the neck, and have girdle at waist. Small, medium and large sizes; in gray, blue and brown designs.

Men's Sweaters, $10—(last year $16.50)

100; all wool worsted coat and V neck sweaters. In heather, navy blue, maroon and brown. Some coat sweaters with collar, $10.50. And, at $17.50, some Jumbo knit heavy weight coat sweaters which sold a year ago for $27.50. Burlington Arcade floor, New Building.

Letter Told of Vacation.

The effects of the dead girl, collected by the police, consisted of school books and clothing. Among the books were "Essentials of English," a small volume containing selections from Thackeray, and a treatise on stenography. Between the leaves of the books were many lesson papers containing questions and answers for English classes, stenographic notes, with several memoranda, a letter and the notation, "Room 506 Journalism, Columbia."

The letter, unsigned, was written in pencil on a piece of pad paper. It read as follows:

"Dear Betty—I can see your eyes with cheer, but I don't understand it at all. Look when you read the part marked. I am on my way to Washington for a month's vacation with the Donalds. Of course, I am very sorry I shall miss your tea on Friday. But, thank heaven, I don't have to be a hypocrite with you. I'd much rather be in Washington, and I have a strong suspicion you'd like to be there with me.

"We'll have such a lovely time giggling together—Mr. Donald, with his broad Scotch accent, and those "Pen" Dutch farmers make a real combination. Their conversation is very amusing and neither has any idea what the other is saying. I am—"

The letter closed abruptly and bore no address.

Mrs. Wall told the police that Miss Wilson had a friend named Betty, but that she did understand what the letter was about. According to Mrs. Wall, she knew nothing of the proposed trip to Washington, either on the part of Miss Wilson or the Donalds, who were understood to be the girl's sister and brother-in-law.

Miss Wilson's clothing included a brown coat, tan cloth hat, blue silk dress, tan oxford ties, and black silk stockings. She wore a gold ring with a small diamond and a gold wrist watch. The police, who removed the ring, said that it had been on the engagement ring finger. The girl was about 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighed about 125 pounds, had chestnut hair, blue eyes and small, attractive features. According to the police, they found only $2 in her possession.

At the Registrar's office, Columbia University, it was said Miss Wilson had been a student in the Extension Teaching Department for more than a year. She recently began her second year's study for a secretarial position. Her courses were English, bookkeeping and stenography. It was said that she was not a student in the School of Journalism, the references to journalism among her effects being explained by the fact that extension teaching classes were held in the Journalism building. The Columbia authorities said that they had no address for the girl except Philipse Manor, and that they knew nothing about her parents or her past life.

The police put the case down on the blotter at the East 126th Street Station as a suicide, after an investigation which included interviews with witnesses of the girl's death.

One of the witnesses was Frederick Hiort, 689 Highland Avenue, Peekskill. Mr. Hiort said that he had observed the strange actions of the girl as he was waiting for a train, and had seen her cover her eyes and deliberately walk off the platform in front of the train. He said that he was the man who ran toward her in an attempt to drag her back, but failed to reach her in time.

After a delay of fifteen minutes, during which northbound traffic between Grand Central station and 125th Street was restricted to one track, the train under which Miss Wilson was killed proceeded on its way up the Hudson River division.

JURY URGES REPEAL OF STATE DRY LAW

from important and much needed police activities and have been assigned to the work of visiting saloons and searching for citizens carrying liquor upon their persons.

"We deplore the necessity for the assignment of trained police officers to this wasteful work. The Federal Government or the State Government should assume the burdens that they have now turned over to the police of the City of New York. Under all of the circumstances, this Grand Jury is satisfied that the Police Department of the City of New York has wisely and skillfully administered its duties under this harsh and undesirable statute.

"From the evidence presented to this body we are brought to the conclusion that the repeal of the Prohibition Act by the State Legislature would be of benefit to the community. Its passage has led to acts of unprecedented violence and lawlessness and the more general use of drugs and narcotics. Bands of men akin to pirates are robbing each other and breaking into the homes of respectable citizens to carry away what liquor they can confiscate. Poisonous beverages secretly manufactured at points outside of the city have been smuggled in and spread among our citizenry at enormous profits to illicit traders.

Failure Not Due to Police.

"The effort to control by law the personal habits of the great cosmopolitan population of New York City has been attended by failure in nowise attributable to the police administration of New York. Because the law has been forced upon the people of the city without opportunity for the expression of their opinion on either its wisdom or the method of its enforcement this Grand Jury asks that the Legislature at its next session repeal the present act.

"The Federal Government can then reassume the duties it originally chose for itself and permit the release of the police of this city to the discharge of duties demanded by and consented to by our populace."

The foreman of the Grand Jury is John Stratton O'Leary, a retired policeman, of 2,218 University Avenue, the Bronx. Six indictments for alleged violations of the Prohibition Laws have been returned by this Grand Jury which has heard evidence in 26 cases. When Commissioner Enright appeared as a witness he was questioned about alleged illegal acts on the part of Bronx policemen in making searches and seizures. It is understood that Commissioner Enright maintained that the police were merely trying to enforce the law for which he held Governor Miller responsible.

Gets Six Months and $500 Fine.

It took a jury in the United States Court in Brooklyn yesterday just two minutes to find Joseph Laski, owner of a saloon at 650 Third Avenue, guilty of selling liquor to Izzy Einstein, Moe Smith and Peter Reager, Federal prohibition agents, on June 23 last. The trial had been in progress for two days. Judge Edwin L. Garvin sentenced the defendant to serve six months in the Essex County penitentiary and fined him $500. The sentence is one of the most severe meted out here under the Volstead act.

Dressed as fish vendors, Einstein, Smith and Reager visited several saloons yesterday. As a result James Duffy, 518 Canal Street; William Markowitz, Fourteenth Street and Avenue C; Joseph Matale, 59 Greenwich Street; Jerry Morrano, 63 Catharine Street; Andrew Monahan, 107 East Ninetieth Street, and Daniel Monahan, 720 Washington Street, were summoned to appear before United States Commissioner Hitchcock Monday.

Dealers in malts and hops and "home brew" apparatus did a brisk business, following the announcement from Washington that Prohibition Commissioner Haynes had ordered the seizure of all "home brew" ingredients and appliances found in stores. At least one dealer got so frightened that he dismantled his model "home brew" outfit which had been conspicuously on display in his lone show window.

However, Mr. Yellowley said he had received no orders from Washington with regard to "home brew" outfits and that until he did no steps would be taken against the dealers.

HAYNES TO WEED OUT PROHIBITION FORCES

He Announces He Will 'Correct Weaknesses' in the Various State Enforcement Corps.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, in a statement tonight, announced his determination to "correct weaknesses" in the various State prohibition enforcement corps. The department, he said, would use every effort to weed out enforcement officials, whether high or low, who did not appear to be in sympathy with his law enforcement policy.

The Commissioner's statement was made after he had reached a decision to have a "thorough housecleaning" in the Pennsylvania organization.

Mr. Haynes earlier in the day announced he had transferred John Exnicios, a general agent, from the Pacific department to the Pittsburgh district. Mr. Exnicos supplants Samuel B. Wolfe, whose future status was not made clear in the official statement, although it was reported his connection with the bureau would cease at an early date.

S. C. Rutter of the Washington headquarters has already been sent to Pennsylvania as Associate Director with State Director McConnell.

Mr. McConnell conferred with Mr. Haynes today, but the only information which came from the meeting was that the State Director was "in thorough accord" with the Commissioner's program. Reports that Mr. McConnell would resign were again denied.

RUM IN ARMY PLANE DENIED.

No Smuggling, Says Officer Who Investigated Crash in Canada.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 14.—Denial that United States Army airplanes had been used for smuggling liquor across the Canadian border was made here tonight by Captain C. H. Kells, Intelligence Officer at Fort Wayne, who recently investigated the destruction of an army plane on Canadian soil.

The airplane, Captain Kells reported, made a forced landing near Sunnyside, Ontario, on Aug. 20, and the pilot, Lieutenant James Hutchinson, was injured. Later the motor was stolen from the machine and the inflammable parts burned.

Captain Kells, whose report was of a preliminary nature, recommended that the investigation be carried further by an inspector with competent authority to bring about the arrest of persons who stole the motor.

The plane landed in a district where rum runners operated extensively some months ago. Following the accident, residents declared, frequent landings of airplanes from the United States had aroused their suspicions that the machines were engaged in smuggling whisky.

These reports never have been confirmed and Captain Kells tonight said his investigation had disclosed no connection between the mishap to the army plane and the illicit liquor traffic.

BRIBERY HINT NOW IN GRISWOLD CASE

Witness Is Asked About Suggestion That $1,000 Was Offered for Woman's Testimony.

LEGATEE AGAIN ON STAND

Mrs. Dischman Calls All Disparaging Testimony of Her Relations With Dead Woman Lies.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 14.—A hint at bribery of a witness brought a climax today to the hearing on the appeal from the probate of the will of Mrs. Alice Gerry Griswold. The contest has been instituted by the Countess Anna St. Clair da Countubia, her daughter, who was cut off with $500.

This unexpected turn came in the cross-examination of Thomas Landis, an electrician who lives in Northfield, near here, where, it is charged, Mrs. Griswold had been kept virtually a prisoner the last three years of her life. Landis in former testimony for the defense had said he had regarded Mrs. Griswold as being "an exceptionally brilliant woman."

Landis admitted having talked about the case to a Miss Hartnett, a hairdresser in this city.

"On one occasion," asked Clarence L. Cole, chief counsel for the Countess da Countubia, "did you say you were paid?"

"That's a lie," interrupted the witness.

"Did you say that she would be paid for giving certain testimony?"

"I don't recall it."

"Do you deny that you suggested that she might be paid?"

"I won't deny or affirm it."

"Do you deny that $1,000 was mentioned as a consideration for this testimony?"

"No, sir."

"What do you mean by 'No, sir'—do you deny it?"

"No, sir. I do not. I don't remember," the witness replied.

Mrs. Mary M. Drischman, chief beneficiary under the disputed will, was on the stand again today.

"Mrs. Griswold did not know anything about money," Mrs. Drischman said on cross-examination. "She had no idea of its value. She would have spent a thousand dollars a day if I had given her the money. She often asked me for money she did not need."

When this statement was challenged by counsel Mrs. Drischman admitted that it might be exaggerated, but insisted that there was virtually no limit to her spending money.

The name of Carleton Godfrey, once Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, and now one of the counsel for Mrs. Drischman, again figured in the testimony.

In one of Mrs. Griswold's letter to Mrs. Drischman she said Mrs. Drischman had told her Godfrey had agreed to serve as legal adviser to the estate for $25 a month, and that Mrs. Drischman already had paid him $1,500, or, as the letter said, "more than we will owe him for four years."

Mrs. Drischman said she could not remember telling Mrs. Griswold of such agreement. Testimony given last week showed that Godfrey was allowed a fee of $20,000 for selling for $90,000 the Griswold interest in a property in Maine.

Mrs. Drischman earlier in the day, branded as liars every witness for the Countess who had testified disparagingly about the relations between the dead woman and Mrs. Drischman.

"I never heard such lies in my life," Mrs. Drischman said. "I am ashamed of the people talking about that poor woman like that—the poor soul."

"Did you ever make an effort to have Mrs. Griswold make a will in your favor?" asked her counsel.

"Oh, my, no; I wouldn't think of such a thing," replied Mrs. Drischman.

The witness insisted that Mrs. Griswold always had plenty of clothing, saying that she paid $20 apiece for her nightgowns.

ALFONSO RECEIVES WOODS.

New Ambassador to Spain Presents Credentials in Royal Palace.

MADRID, Oct. 14.—Cyrus E. Woods, recently appointed United States Ambassador to Spain, presented his credentials to King Alfonso in the Royal Palace at noon today.

The Chief of the Protocol arrived at the new American Embassy shortly before noon with four gorgeous State coaches, each drawn by six horses, and accompanied by footmen dressed in red livery. In these coaches Mr. Woods, accompanied by Jefferson Caffery, counselor of the American Embassy; James Clement Dunn, Third Secretary, and Charles H. Cunningham, commercial attaché, was conducted to the palace.

The quaint Old World ceremony of introduction ensued, after which Mr. Woods read his speech of presentation to King Alfonso. Mr. Woods, after explaining that he had been directed by President Harding to deliver letters of recall to Joseph E. Willard, the retiring Ambassador, and to announce his own nomination to fill the post, continued:

"The President personally requested me to express to your Majesty his most cordial sentiments of esteem and friendship. I personally take great pride in being accredited to your Majesty's court, Spain has established a world's record in achievements. She has been a nation of great discoveries. Her people have gone forth conquering, colonizing and civilizing. The Western Hemisphere owes its discovery to your Majesty's ancestors, and the language you speak is the dominating language of the western World."

In concluding his address of presentation Mr. Woods said:

"It will be my earnest endeavor to do everything in my power to maintain and increase the cordial and f[illegible] lations existing between our Governm[illegible]."

King Alfonso, replying in English, said:

"With especial gratitude and sentiments of friendship I esteem the President of the United States. The high appreciation you hold for Spain, which discovered the hemisphere of which the United States form a part, increases my satisfaction that you have been chosen for the Ambassadorship. You may be assured of every help by my Government in the task of preserving and increasing the cordial relations between our two Governments. Please inform President Harding of my sincerity in my expressions of amity."

All the members of the Cabinet were present at the ceremony, during which a squadron of the Royal Guards in gala uniforms was on duty.

ADMITS PHONE CALL TO LEARN OF KILLING

SECOND VICTIM IS CLEARED

Police Satisfied He Was Merely a Bystander—Chauffeur Tells How Bootlegger Lived in Style.

Annibale Stilo, ex-convict and alleged bootlegger, was held without bail in the Tombs Court yesterday on suspicion that he was implicated in the plot behind the killing of Joseph Viserte, alias "Diamond Joe" Peppe, and Louis Rango in a coffee house at 365 Broome Street on Thursday afternoon.

Detective Michael Fiaschetti, in charge of the Italian Squad, said he had learned that Stilo had been associated with Peppe in bootlegging. In Stilo's safe deposit vault, at 131 Union Street, Flaschetti found three permits for the withdrawal of five barrels of alcohol from a West Street warehouse on March 22, 23 and 25 last, signed by Charles R. O'Connor, then Prohibition Director.

According to the police, Stilo admitted that he was the man who called up the coffee house a short time after the murder and asked if "that guy" was dead, but said that he did so because he had heard a rumor of the shooting.

Assistant District Attorney John R. Hennis of the Homicide Bureau said he was satisfied that Rango, a jewelry salesman, had nothing to do with the quarrel between Peppe and other bootleggers, but was accidentally shot.

Peppe's chauffeur gave an interesting sidelight on the life of a rich bootlegger. He said that he had been engaged by Peppe a week ago and that his time was chiefly occupied in taking the bootlegger's wife on shopping trips to Fifth Avenue and in driving her children to and from school. The chauffeur said that Peppe had two cars, in one of which he drove to Mott and Broome Streets shortly before the murder and he met his employer there with the other car. Peppe told him to take the first to a place in East Third Street, and the chauffeur said then he left the scene before the shooting began.

BECKETT GIRL DECLINED AID

Motorcyclist Found Her Lying Helpless in Woods Near London.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Mystery still surrounds the case of Miss Pamela Beckett, a young society woman of this city, who was discovered yesterday almost helpless in Cuffley Woods, after she had been missing for three days. It seems that she wandered for nearly twenty miles before being found, and it appears that she was trying to reach a house in Barnet, where until about a year ago her family lived. She was within four miles of Barnet when discovered.

A motorcyclist named Hughes had dismounted from his machine and was walking through Cuffley Woods in search of berries when he saw the girl lying on the ground shivering. He had not seen late newspapers, and was unaware of the girl's identity, but, it being evident that she was very ill, he offered assistance. She replied she was "all right," and said she wished only to be left alone. A local resident happened along, and he and Hughes renewed the proffer of help, declaring they must tell the police if it were refused, as it was obvious she was unfit to be left alone. She seemed unconcerned, and repeated her wish not to be disturbed. After twenty minutes they succeeded in persuading her to take a seat in Hughes's side car, and she was taken to a local inn, where she was placed in charge of the landlady.

When questioned further, the girl said she had eaten nothing since she had left home Monday afternoon, and had been walking about ever since she had vanished. She refused to tell where she had been, and, although she said her name was Beckett, she declined to say where she lived or to allow word to be sent to friends. Later Hughes learned of the girl's disappearance from an afternoon newspaper, and communicated with the police. Relatives of Miss Beckett went to the inn where she had been taken and brought her to her home in this city.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE VICTORY

Swiss Supreme Court Upsets Conviction for Illegal Practice of Healing

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, Oct. 14.—A Swiss court recently condemned a woman who was a Christian Scientist for infringement of the laws regulating medical practitioners. She appealed to the Supreme Court, which has reversed the lower court's decision, the Procurator General arguing that Christian Scientists do not break such laws, since they try to heal the spirit only and not the body. The condemnation, therefore, he held to be in violation of the principle of freedom of conscience guaranteed by the Swiss Constitution.

Christian Science was introduced into Switzerland by American missionaries, who now have reading rooms in all the chief Swiss towns and disseminate their literature throughout the country.

BIG REWARD IN WHITE THEFT

Former Ambassador Offers $10,000 for Arrest of Lenox Robbers.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 14.—A reward of $10,000 was offered today by former Ambassador Henry White of Lenox for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the porch climbers who broke into his villa on Monday night and stole $25,000 worth of jewels and valuable papers. The papers were returned the following night.

Pittsfield and State detectives working on the case say the robbery was committed by amateurs.

DENY LOAN TO ARGENTINA.

Morgans Assert Report Published There Is Without Foundation.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 14.—Reports that the Argentine Government had concluded arrangements for another loan of $50,000,000 with J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York were published by newspapers here today.

J. P. Morgan & Co. denied yesterday reports that the Argentine Government had arranged another loan with the firm. No negotiations were in progress, it was said.

RATIFY COLOMBIA PAYMENT.

$25,000,000 From United States Accepted by Bogota Senate.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Oct. 13 (Associated Press).—The Colombian Senate, after three sessions during which there was much discussion, today ratified the treaty with the United States by which Colombia is to receive $25,000,000.

The treaty, which was ratified by the United States Senate last April, is an outgrowth of difficulties between the United States and Colombia in connection with the acquisition of the Panama Canal route.

ERASES INSCRIPTION ON 'SUFFRAGE GROUP'

Action by Senate Committee in Placing Marble in Capitol Crypt Arouses Suffragists.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Woman suffrage leaders are very much aroused over the action of the Senate Library Committee in erasing an inscription from the "Suffrage Group," representing Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, now in the crypt of the Capitol.

Before the committee would allow the marble group to be placed permanently in the Capitol the following inscription was erased:

> The Three Great Destiny Characters Of the World Whose Spiritual Import and Historical Significance transcend That of all others of any country or any age.
> Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton, in the call of the first woman rights convention of 1848, and Susan B. Anthony, marshalling the latent forces through three generations down more than half a century of time, guided the only fundamental universal uprising on our planet, the women's revolution.

This inscription was placed on the back of the group in gold letters. It has been entirely painted over with cream paint.

HARVARD COURSE IN CHINESE

Dr. Yuen Ren Chao to Teach Philosophy Second Semester.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 14.—For the first time in forty years Harvard University will offer a course in the Chinese language during the second semester, starting in February. Dr. Yuen Ren Chao, who has been teaching physics at Cornell University, has accepted an appointment at Harvard as instructor in philosophy.

Dr. Chao, a native of Shanghai, was graduated from Cornell in 1914 and took his doctor's degree in logic at Harvard two years later. The course which he will give in philosophy will be in the Chinese language. No such course has been given at Harvard since the days of Ko Kun-hua, who taught Chinese from 1879 to 1882 through the generosity of Francis P. Knight of Boston, who raised a subscription in 1877 to maintain a teacher of mandarin Chinese.

Another Cornell instructor who is to join the Harvard staff is Dr. Oscar M. Schloss, who will serve as Professor of Pediatrics at the Medical School. In addition to teaching at the Cornell Medical School, Dr. Schloss has been attending physician at the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital and the Babies' Hospital.

SCHUTTE DENIES KILLING 3.

Says on Stand in Ball Murder Case Son Threatened "Frame-Up."

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 14.—Emil Schutte, the Shallerville storekeeper who is charged with the murder of three members of the Ball family on Dec. 10, 1915, today on the witness stand contradicted the testimony of his son Julius, which had been that he, Schutte, had set fire to the Balls' shack and then shot Joseph, Mary and Jacob as they tried to escape.

Schutte in giving testimony first told of quarrels which he said he had had with his son Julius, and swore that when he had refused to give the son $2,000 for capital in starting in the "moonshine" traffic the son had said: "I'll frame you up so you'll never get out of it."

Asked by Judge Carlson, his counsel, if he remembered the fire at the Ball place, he said he did, and that the first knowledge he had had of it was when told of it the next morning. Schutte said he had "no clear recollection of what had happened or what he did on the night of the fire." He said his relations with Joseph Ball had been friendly, that he had never fired a shot at the Balls and that they had never fired at him.

Schutte said that so far as he could remember he was at home the night of the fire. Schutte denied he had had at any time any quarrel with Ball over property.

SOUTH AFRICAN FARMERS HIT

Government Urged to Help Them in Period of Depression.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 14.—Many farmers in South Africa have become seriously involved, owing to the financial depression, the fall in the value of agricultural products and the failure of cereal crops as a result of the drought during the last Summer. It is feared that a large number may be compelled to discontinue further operations.

The Government of the Union of South Africa has been strongly urged to render assistance, but has been unable to accept the suggestions presented for remedying the situation. It is possible, however, that, with the approval of banks, magistrates in affected districts may appoint committees which will try to persuade creditors to grant debtor farmers extensions of time in which to discharge their liabilities.

These committees would intervene only in cases where payment or judicial execution would inflict irremediable loss. Should such intervention fail, the cases involved would be referred to the Government for action.

WON'T OPPOSE CUBAN LOAN

But This Government Will Exert a Certain Sponsorship.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The State Department is co-operating with the Government of Cuba in an effort to straighten out Cuba's financial affairs and to make conditions possible for a loan from American bankers, this Government's good offices having been employed to that end, it was stated on high authority today.

This Government, it was said, would not frown on a private American loan to the Cuban Government, but because of America's special relationship to Cuba, defined by the Platt Amendment, a certain sponsorship for Cuba devolves upon the United States.

The loan to Cuba does not come under the category of private American loans to foreign Governments within the recently announced policy of the United States Government to withhold approval of them under certain conditions.

FORD REVISING OFFER.

Will Submit New Figures on Muscle Shoals Next Week.

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—Revised data concerning Henry Ford's offer to take over and operate the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant will be ready for submission to Secretary Weeks the latter part of next week, it was stated here today.

The new data will not be made public until after it has been discussed with him, it was said.

Hangs Himself With Bell Rope.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 14.—John Catherum, sexton of the South Congregational Church, committed suicide by hanging from the bell rope today. He left a note for his wife saying that his body would be found in the church, but gave no reason for his act.

PONTOON BRIDGE SCHEME IS DROPPED

Promoters of Hudson River Project Unwilling to Buy Necessary Wooden Ships Now.

SHIPPING BOARD DEMAND

Backers Will Now Aid Plan for Great Structure Over the River at Fifty-Ninth Street.

The plan to build a pontoon bridge across the Hudson River near Yonkers, utilizing fifty obsolete wooden ships of the United States Shipping Board, has collapsed, according to announcement yesterday at the office of Colonel Edward Burr, District Engineer for the United States Army, and confirmed last night by George A. Post, spokesman for the backers of the project. Mr. Post explained that the proposal fell through when the Shipping Board advised the bridge promoters that they must consummate immediately the purchase of the wooden ships allocated to them by the board. The promoters were informed that they would have to put up the cash within the next twenty-four hours.

This they were unwilling to do before receiving positive assurance that Congress would pass an act authorizing the construction of the pontoon bridge. The bill incorporating the bridge company had been referred to the War Department, and hearings were held by Colonel Burr. The erection of the bridge was opposed at this hearing by steamboat, barge and other river shipping interests on the ground that it would be an obstruction and menace to navigation.

Mr. Post said last night that since it was impossible to erect this structure, the interests behind it would now aim for materialization of the giant bridge which it is proposed to throw across the Hudson River between Fifty-ninth Street, Manhattan, and Weehawken.

Mr. Post said that when serious opposition to the pontoon bridge developed at the hearing before the army engineer last August, Colonel Burr granted both sides additional time.

"Meanwhile," Mr. Post said, "the Chairman of the United States Shipping Board began to press us to take immediately the ships that had been allocated to us. I called a meeting of the backers of the pontoon bridge project, and the advisability of paying $120,000 cash for boats that then were lying in the James River was discussed.

"On Sept. 15 I received a long-distance call from Mr. Lasker saying he would give us twenty-four hours in which we could answer his offer for us to take the boats with the immediate payment of $2,400 for each of the fifty ships. Of course, the promoters of the bridge were unwilling to make such an outlay until they were sure that Congress would authorize them to erect the bridge for which the purchase of the wooden vessels was contemplated."

SHIP BOARD TO HAVE PIER 1 AT HOBOKEN

Lasker Accepts Gen. Connor's Offer of Former North German Lloyd Property.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Plans are well under way for turning over to the United States Shipping Board the possession and control of another of the former German piers at Hoboken for the use of steamers flying the American flag.

Subject to approval by Secretary of War Weeks, an offer has been made by the War Department, through Brig. Gen. W. D. Conner, of the use of Pier 1 at Hoboken, formerly the property of the North German Lloyd, to the Shipping Board, and Chairman Lasker has accepted the offer. An executive order by the President will be necessary for the transfer of the pier to the board from the War Department.

When this pier has been acquired, the Shipping Board will have control over five of the six piers at Hoboken which belonged before the war to the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American lines and which were seized by the Government on the outbreak of war between this country and Germany. The War Department has already surrendered Piers 2, 3, 5 and 6, of this group, to the Shipping Board. Piers 5 and 6 were recently burned. Pier 4 is still in the possession of the War Department.

The Shipping Board is very anxious to have control over the use of Pier 1 at Hoboken. Because it is at the New Jersey end of the tube, it is a very desirable pier for passenger service, and it is understood to be the intention to use it for passenger vessels flying the American flag and probably for the vessels of the United States lines.

The vessels of the Panama Steamship Company now dock at Pier 1, and in agreeing to surrender the pier to the Shipping Board, the War Department will want the use of it for the docking of the Panama steamers. Officials of the Shipping Board have informed General Conner that they are willing to grant such berthing space.

Pier 1 was used as an embarkation place for the Army Transport Service during the war, and at the close of hostilities it was leased to the Panama Railroad Steamship Line for $15,000 a month. Under the Merchant Marine act of 1920, this pier may be transferred to the Shipping Board by Presidential order. It will accommodate four ships and is 950 feet long.

Women's Coats Achieve Equal Distinction With or Without Fur

Sketched are only two of a vastly interesting collection of women's coats. Many recognize the important becomingness of fur about the face. These have the softest natural beaver and squirrel collars.

Other models depend entirely upon exquisite fabric, becoming shadings and smart silhouettes to lend them distinction.

Wide sleeves, accented by stiching; waist-deep armholes, tassel weighted; scarf-collars, generous fur collars, the fashionable skirt flare, are all-absorbing vogue points.

Workmanship — We believe every woman is interested in careful and enduring workmanship, particularly in a winter coat. The workmanship is evident in all the little tell-tale details of collar attachment, lining insertion, seam stitching, decorative stitching.

The Material is Normandy.
The Colors: Sorrento, Malay, navy and black.
The Linings: Silk crepe and peau de cygne.

LET GIRLS SMOKE, MRS. DUPUY'S PLEA

Penwomen's President Rises in Defense of Young Thing Who 'Parks Corsets' Before Dance.

MRS. GLYN WRONG, SHE SAYS

Declares Short-Skirt Girl of Today Who Goes to "Petting Parties" Is All She Should Be.

Mrs. William Atherton Du Puy, National President of the League of American Pen Women, which has 5,000 members, is in New York this week to talk to the New York branch of the league and also to tell New York what a mistake it makes when it runs down the present-day American girl. This last is a little private mission of Mrs. Du Puy and she is making a nation-wide appeal for justice for the young thing who wears not much of anything in the way of clothes, paints her cheeks, powders her nose and plays her share in petting parties.

Mrs. Du Puy's ire has been aroused by an article by Elinor Glyn in the Cosmopolitan on the American girl. Mrs. Du Puy says Mrs. Glyn hasn't a fact to go on, that the trouble with her is that she is getting too old to understand. She even calls her "Miss" Glyn, and reads into the article the wailings of a blighted old maid.

"The trouble with the American girl," says Mrs. Du Puy, "is too much criticism. Miss Glyn's article is what I call a vicious attack. She says no man will marry the 'cigarette smoking, senseless American girl of today.' Now, if she would only mention some individual girl or if we could only take action in the name of the American girl, we could sue her and take away from her some of those good American dollars she is taking from this country for writing that article.

"It is not true that the American girl is not marrying. The Government statistics show that there were more marriages last year than for a long time and they expect to have a million and a half marriages this coming year. One of the troubles with people generally is that they have the habit of talking about woman. She has been damned from the days of Eve and people don't know how to stop it. Then the older people hold to the ways of their own generations. Every generation complains of the next. 'Girls don't hold anything sacred,' they say. A Washington woman I know says that her grandmother made that very remark to her and her sister when they were girls because they laughed at her old-fashioned what-not with great big sea shells on it.

"I tell the Pen Women wherever I speak that they must be just to the American girl. You would not believe it, perhaps, but my remarks are not favorably received. If you only knew how many times I have been asked triumphantly: 'Well, how about the girls who park their corsets in the dressing rooms when they go to balls?' From every part of the country I hear that. I always say in answer:

"'Did you ever see corsets parked in dressing rooms?'

"And I also say, 'What if they did do it?' I don't want my daughters to wear corsets. Miss Glyn says that the girls are trying to appeal to the senses of men when they wear so few clothes. Well they would have been in her day, but not now. She says girls are lazy and idle, and do nothing but kill time. There never was a time when they did so many things. They are athletic, they swim and take part in all sorts of athletic sports, and they can't see that it makes any difference if they wear short skirts on the street after they have been wearing them on the beach. It is only the froth and the dregs of our girls who are not worth while; the rest of them are everything that they should be.

"Yes, I'll admit they do have some petting parties, but they only do in public now what they used to do in private and then they deceived and cheated, and that was the worst of all for it affected their characters. And think of all the kissing games there used to be for the young people!

"Elinor Glyn says the girls won't study, and they have no religion. Now, that is all wrong again. I know that at the George Washington College in Washington their biggest sessions are those that begin at 5:30 in the afternoon for the girls in the Government offices. The girls are wild to learn and they are taking up domestic science with their other studies.

"The statistics show that there is more studying than there ever was before. And think of the hundreds of girls who belong to the Young Women's Christian Association and to the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. And in the newer religions there are more young people in the Sunday schools of the Christian Science Church than there are in the congregations. Yes, I am a Christian Scientist, and I know. And the young people don't like to leave the Sunday school when they are 21. When the Women's Party met in Washington we were surprised to see how young the girls were who came to attend it from all parts of the country. They had wonderful poise and they could speak and had the manner of middle-aged women. These young women who are coming up are going to have the vote and they are preparing themselves for it.

"Yes, girls do smoke, and there is no harm if they don't go to excess. It is not like the rush of girls to the cafés to drink which happened twenty years ago. It was that which brought about prohibition.

"It's the psychology of running women down since the days when Eve put on her first single scanty garment that causes all the talk. This article of Elinor Glyn's is the culmination of everything that has been written, and none of us in America would have done anything as bad. If we could bring the suit of the American girl against her it would be won in every court in the country."

JERSEY FIGHTS 8-CENT FARE

Will Appeal to United States Supreme Court to Review Order.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 14.—New Jersey, through Attorney General McCran, will appeal to the United States Supreme Court for review of the order issued by Federal Judges Wooley and Rellstab granting the Public Service Railway Company an eight-cent fare with penny transfers pending the outcome of the company's litigation for a ten-cent fare.

The State also will seek to have the United States Supreme Court stay collection of the eight-cent fare. The decree to put the Federal Judges' order into effect will be signed here next Monday.

SUPPORT OF PLURAL WIVES.

Utah Judge Says Mormons Should Be Compelled to Provide for Them.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 14.—Any members of the Mormon Church who have plural wives still living should be compelled to support them, declared Judge Page Morris, Minnesota Federal Judge, who is presiding temporarily in the Federal Court here, during arguments in a case involving the plural wives of the late John Beck.

Mormon history, the former and present extent of the practice of polygamy and the testimony of high church officials and Utah capitalists are of chief interest at the hearings.

BOUCK WHITE SEEKS IDEAL WIFE IN BOSTON

He Says She Must Work With Her Hands and Her Brains for Their Mutual Happiness.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Bouck White, now conducting a small pottery shop in Malden, declared today that he was in hopes that "some Boston girl might makes him the perfect wife." He declared himself to be undaunted by his previous matrimonial adventures.

He said he is "in pursuit of a congenial mate," who will work with her hands and her brain for their mutual happiness.

"I want my wife to work in the garden and on the work bench," he said. "I want her to raise her food and cook it, to make her own clothes, to get back into the simple, primitive days. No mechanical labor for my wife, if I know it. No vacuum cleaners or washing machines. These things spring from a perverted civilization. I want my wife to be a craftswoman as well as an intellectual equal.

"I want my wife to put as much skill and intelligence into the wielding of a broom and the whisk of a duster as an artist puts into his canvas. I want her to simplify, beautify and ennoble her home.

"Perhaps this ideal wife of mine doesn't exist. I haven't found her yet among modern women, but I still preserve the illusions.

"I am glad to turn my back on New York," he added. "There's nothing there but jazz and futile café parties and women running around out of their proper environment, which is their home."

TO JAIL FOR BEATING CHILD.

Father of Adopted Infant Put Iodine on Tongue "To Keep Him Quiet."

Convicted of beating an adopted infant and putting iodine on the child's tongue "to keep him quiet," Gordon Sias of 459 West Twenty-third Street was sentenced to not less than six months and not more than three years in the penitentiary yesterday by Justices Voorhees, Murphy and McInerney in Special Sessions. He was prosecuted by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, on information from Arthur Avis, a neighbor of Sias. The victim was George Kenneth Gastorf, 2 years old.

Thomas B. Watson, an agent of the society, told the court that the infant would be cared for by the organization, pending a further investigation of his adoption and search for his parents.

Avis said that he had seen Sias hit the boy with his hand and a stick and then knock the infant's head against a table. This was followed, Avis testified, by iodine forced into the boy's mouth, after which a towel was folded across the child's mouth to stifle his cries. Sias denied the beating, but admitted he "brushed" the boy's tongue with iodine "to keep him quiet."

Dr. B. T. Gibb of the society reported that his examination showed twenty contusions on the boy's forehead, arm, face and chin and numerous contusions on his leg.

STEEL CORSET FOR POLICE.

Ten Bullet-Proof Garments Purchased for Detective Squads.

Steel corsets for policemen have been tested by police officials and may become a part of the detectives' regular equipment, it was learned yesterday. The tests, it was said, have shown the corset to be absolutely bullet-proof.

Ten of the armor-plate undergarments have been purchased for distribution among members of the bomb squad, the Italian squad and the safe and loft squad of the department. They will be especially valuable, the police believe, in the event it becomes necessary to go after a prisoner who has barricaded himself and is ready to fire at his captors.

The inventor of the armor is said to be Albert Schwartz of 197 William Street. The corset is not very heavy and not expensive, it is said. It weighs six pounds and is made up of silk, canvas and Norwegian steel. Whether New York's army of "blue coats" will become wholly an army of "steel coats" is a matter for future decision, police officials said.

LOGAN MINERS GET BAIL.

Trial on West Virginia Disorder Indictments Postponed for a Month.

LOGAN, W. Va., Oct. 14.—Eight members of the United Mine Workers of America, indicted for conspiracy and murder in the disorders on the Boone-Logan County border in August and September last, were admitted to bail in $1,000 each by Judge Bland in the Circuit Court here today. Bail was refused for twelve others.

The announcement was made after it had been decided to postpone trial of the cases until next Jan. 16. Each of the defendants entered a general denial that he had voluntarily taken part in the movement.

The regular Grand Jury has added a number of indictments to those returned several weeks ago by a special Grand Jury, and the total now exceeds six hundred. The charges range from murder to gun "toting."

FIRE ALARM TO AID WOMEN.

Every Man in Cedar Grove Department Armed to Prevent Attacks.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Oct. 14.—Arrangements have been made for the Cedar Grove Fire Deparement to ring the fire bell as a general alarm in case of more attacks on women within the township limits. Any such signal will be responded to by every able-bodied man in the department, about forty in all. Each man will be armed.

Residents of Cedar Grove are in terror and women are afraid to be out alone at night. The families of young women who work in New York send escorts to meet them as they come in on the evening trains. A search is still being made for the man who made the recent attacks on women in the township.

MRS. SOUTHARD LOSES POINT

Judge Allows Evidence on Deaths of Her Three Previous Husbands

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 14.—Following the court's ruling today admitting in evidence testimony as to the deaths of three previous husbands and a brother-in-law, it was indicated that the prosecution would consume another week in the case of Lydia Meyer Southard, charged with the murder of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer.

Lawyers for the prosecution signalized their victory with a complete history of the final illness of Harlan C. Lewis, who was married to the defendant at Billings, Mont., March 10, 1919, and who died at Billings on July 6 of the same year, under circumstances, the State alleges, similar to those connected with Meyer's death.

Fear Kubal is Insane; Tried to Die.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, Oct. 14.—Lawrence Kubal, who on Tuesday attempted suicide in Sing Sing death house, where he is awaiting execution for the murder of Mrs. Minnie S. Bartlett, a wealthy widow at West Hempstead, L. I., was taken from his cell today and placed under observation. Prison attendants reported that Kubal was showing signs of insanity.

RUTH'S ARM IS IMPROVED

Reopening of Wound in Final Game of Series Has No Ill Effects—Exhibition Games a Problem.

With the smoke of world's series battle cleared away, New York yesterday returned to normal, as did the players who have been engaged in the hectic struggle for coin and glory. For some fans it was a day steeped in gloom, since there was no ball game on the calendar and it marked the beginning of the long dull season. For most fans, however, there was a feeling of satisfaction. They had been following the doings of Giants and Yankees since the players departed last February for San Antonio, Tex., and Shreveport, La., respectively, and needed a rest from baseball.

As annually happens on the day following the conclusion of a world's series the players of the contending clubs turned their thoughts from base hits to finance. The melon-cutting takes considerable thought and much discussion and it is seldom that the final division finds everybody satisfied. The system of giving half shares to some and certain sums of money to persons outside the playing ranks naturally brings about differences of opinion.

The exact results of the two meetings which were held yesterday in the clubhouses of the Giants and Yankees were not announced. It is understood, however, that most of the Giants will draw down close to $5,200, but the list of players getting less than the full share was not made public. The Yankees received a little less than $3,400 each for their losing fight.

All the Yankee players, as well as the club scouts and other employes, were guests last night of the club owners, Colonels Jacob Ruppert and T. L. Huston, at a dinner at the Hotel Commodore. The affair was described as a farewell party for the players who had brought the first American League pennant to New York.

Ruth's Arm Is Better.

It became known yesterday that Babe Ruth had reopened the wound in his left elbow when he made his swing at the first ball pitched to him in the ninth inning of Thursday's game. Babe suffered no ill-effects, however, from the effort, and last night his arm was in better condition than at any time since it was lanced. Ruth expects that it will be entirely healed within a few days and then he hopes to take part in some exhibition games.

The question of exhibition games is causing some concern among the Yankees. There is a rule relating to world's series players which forbids their taking part in these contests after the series ends. Judge Kenesaw M. Landis was approached during his visit here by some of the players who asked for permission to play in these games. The High Commissioner of Baseball told the players that it was against the rule, and that as long as the rule was in the books it should be observed.

Some of the players have received big offers to play exhibition games and are still keeping mind by them. It is said that the owners of the Yankees are perfectly agreeable if the higher powers consent, and Manager Huggins is not inclined to place any obstacles in the way of the players. But the rule is regarded as the big hurdle.

As for Ruth, he probably will do some playing. The fine for disregarding the law against exhibition games is no more than the player's share for his world's series work and Ruth can make as much in two days as he drew down from the series. The home-run king can make far more in two or three weeks of exhibition games than the average player makes in a season.

On Nov. 4 Babe will open in vaudeville, and his contract calls for something like fifteen weeks. The stage work will keep the home-run king busy until it is time for him to join the Yankees at their training camp in the South. Babe will have another big contract to sign before that time, as the one he has been working under as a ball player has expired.

Giants Get Pictures Taken.

At about noon of yesterday in the shade of the grandstand on the bank of the Harlem a group of men posed before a camera's lens and obeyed without apparent difficulty the photographer's injunction to "look pleasant." They felt pleasant, and looking that way came naturally. The Giants were getting their first picture taken as champions of the world.

Until yesterday McGraw's men had steadily declined without thanks all proffers of camera bearers since their final and successful rush toward the highest honors in the older major league race and in the world's series. They had in mind the sad fate that overtook the Pittsburgh Pirates just after they had faced a camera as prospective National League champions. The snap of that lens shutter almost coincided with the beginning of the Pirates' debacle. Therefore, on that last Western trip and after their return to Eastern diamonds for the final games photographers who pursued the New Yorkers in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia encountered emphatic negatives of a different variety from the negatives they were seeking. This attitude continued until the close of the world's series, but yesterday, with Manager McGraw, Hughey Jennings, Jesse Burkett and Cozy Dolan in their midst, the newly crowned champions lifted the ban.

Most of the members of the two contending teams in the world's series are in a hurry to get to their widely scattered homes, and sweaters and toilet articles were being hurled at many a suitcase last evening by arms accustomed to longer throws. The Giants' three San Antonians, Ross Young, Frank Snyder and Eddie Brown, plan to break away from the big city within a day or so, but Snyder will go northward before he sets out for Texas, for he has his eye on a happy hunting ground upstate. Frank is an enthusiastic Nimrod. Captain David Bancroft and George Burns, who have homes in this city, will be in no haste to migrate, and Frank Frisch is a twelve-months-in-the-year New Yorker. Arthur Nehf is on his way, however. He wants to get back to Terre Haute.

Meusel Going to Coast.

Irish Meusel hears the call of dear old Los Angeles and expects to cast his eyes on the Pacific Ocean before the frost has a chance to nip New York. George Kelly will start westward within a few days, too, while Phil Douglas and Fred Toney will make tracks for Alabama and Tennessee respectively. Jesse Barnes will return to his home in Circleville, Kan., where there is an ardent desire that he shall be the next Mayor. Pat Shea is going to his home in Holyoke, Mass., and Bill Ryan to Worcester. Mike Gonzales, who feels the nipping approach of Winter, is longing already for Havana. Earl Smith and Alec Gaston will remain in New York for a while.

The Yankee players will start leaving for their homes today. Bob Meusel will be among the first to depart, as the big right fielder is to wed Miss Edith Cowan in Los Angeles next week. Captain Roger Peckinpaugh will return at once to his home in Cleveland and Walter Pipp will hurry to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he owns a billiard parlor which takes up his attention during the off season. Ward spends the off season in Little Rock, Ark.; Baker in Trappe, Md.; McNally in Scranton, Pa.; Schang and Shawkey in Philadelphia. Hofmann in St. Louis, Fewster in Baltimore, Mays in Mansfield, Mo.; Roth and Quinn in Chicago, and Ferguson at Bloomfield, N. J. Piercy, Devormer, Hawks and Mitchell spend the off season in California and Rip Collins in Texas. Waite Hoyt is the only member of the club besides Ruth who resides in the metropolitan district.

Hiawatha Indians to Hold Pow-Wow in Speaker's Honor

TORONTO, Ontario, Oct. 14.—The Hiawatha tribe of Indians, which made Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians a chief last year, will hold a pow-wow in his honor next Saturday at Idyle Wilde on Rice Lake. Speaker and Leslie Nunamaker of the Cleveland team are hunting and fishing there.

HEYDLER DISSENTS FROM LANDIS VIEWS

National League President Opposes a Return to Seven-Game World's Series.

John A. Heydler, President of the National League, yesterday expressed dissent from the conclusion of Judge Landis, High Commissioner of Organized Baseball, that events had shown a nine-game schedule for the world's series to be too long. Commissioner Landis in a statement made after the final game on Thursday had announced his intention of advocating at the joint session of the major leagues in the coming Winter the reduction of the number of games to a possible seven, the winner of four contests to be declared the victor. "This will be done," said Judge Landis, "in the belief that it is very generally accepted that the ideal world's championship is decided by the winning of four games, as was the rule prior to 1919. The present lengthy series overtaxes the patience of the public."

Commenting upon the words of the Judge, Mr. Heydler said: "As a member of the Advisory Council I don't care to take issue this early with Commissioner Landis. Yet I cannot help recalling clearly the unsatisfactory nature of a seven-game series, and that it was chiefly, almost entirely, in response to public sentiment in the matter that we were constrained nearly three years ago to extend the series to nine games. It was for the sake of the game itself that the action was taken, it having become evident that the all-around strength and class of a team sometimes failed to be brought out and to tell its story in a seven-game series.

"Instances have arisen—and will readily be recalled by followers of baseball—in which one remarkable pitcher was able single-handed to decide the issue when the series called for best four out of seven games. A condition which permits this is, of course, far from desirable, for it is team strength that should prevail."

Regarding Judge Landis's statement that "there is a real menace to professional baseball from public reaction against financial returns running into the figures expressed by the receipts of the series just closed," Mr. Heydler remarked that prices in this field of entertainment, as well as in all others, would inevitable fluctuate in accord with prevailing conditions.

Mr. Heydler expressed the highest gratification over the way in which the series of 1921 had been conducted, saying that a new high standard had been set. He said that the comparatively light attendance on the opening day had been caused by the attempt to protect the public against the scalpers. The choice seats of the entire upper deck of the grand stand were disposed of at the grounds on the day of each game with the purpose of insuring good locations to those who were not disposed to fall victims to the speculators. The public didn't quite catch the idea on the first day, and, consequently, there were lots of empty seats in the upper stand.

LAST STRAW FIRST AT JAMAICA TRACK

G. D. Widener's Filly Wins Cosmopolitan Handicap—Army Officers' Race a Feature.

Though the card at Jamaica yesterday was below the average for local racing, the Cosmopolitan Handicap for fillies and mares at six furlongs provided enough thrills to make up for some of the deficiencies. This resulted in a fine struggle through the stretch in which G. D. Widener's filly Last Straw outgamed her rivals and gained the decision by a head from Elected II. Ten Buttons was third among the four starters.

Last Straw has been a consistent filly all season, but she had to be much the best to win yesterday. She was carried so wide entering the stretch that it seemed she could not get up in time to win, but she proved her gameness in the last fifty yards of the race and received cheers from the crowd when she came back to the scales.

Elected II., which but a short time ago defeated Thunderclap and Ten Lec, two of the best sprinters in the East, went to the front with her usual rush and set a fast pace. She was closely attended by Ten Buttons, while Last Straw was in third position two lengths back all through the first three furlongs. It was not until she was making the turn that Last Straw began to rush up on the leaders and then she had to go to the outside. As she reached the turn into the stretch she was lapped on Ten Buttons and the latter carried her very wide. This enabled Elected II. to save some ground.

Last Straw was put to a hard drive a furlong from home and gradually cut down the lead until she had disposed of Ten Buttons altogether and was head and head with the leader. The two fought it out to the wire, and, in the last few strides, Last Straw got her head in front and won. Lady Gertrude ran a good race, but was never able to too much speed and was never able to become a serious contender.

Katie Canal in Front.

An additional feature on the card was the handicap for army officers at a mile and a sixteenth. These races have been run at nearly all of the metropolitan tracks this season in the interest of the Remount Service. Yesterday's event resulted in an easy victory for Katie Canal, ridden by her owner, Captain Temple. She won by ten lengths from Birdman, on which Captain Long had the mount. Easter Day, with Lieutenant McComb up, was third. Captain Temple handled the winner with great skill. He rated his horse off the early pace while Birdman and Jesse were racing each other to pieces.

Half way around the turn Captain Temple moved up with Katie Canal and, catching the tired pacemakers, easily took command and drew away to win as she pleased. Birdman had disposed of Jesse at the last turn and was easily second best. Easter Day got up for third when Jessie retired to the rear as the result of the early efforts at pacemaking. Madelle, which had been well supported by the followers of the various riders, had scant speed at any stage of the race and was not a contender. Ingilda propped at the start and was away too badly to have much chance.

The colors of the Glen Riddle Farm, seldom seen now since the retirement of Man o' War, were carried to victory in the fifth race at a mile and seventy yards by Mademiselle Cadeau. It was a very soft spot for the filly, for she had three of the cheapest performers in racing to beat and she would never have been worth her feed had she failed to get the decision. That she stood out was made clear by the betting odds which showed her a 1 to 8 favorite. She finished three lengths in front of Domingo, with St. Patrick third, eight lengths further back. Royal Jester, which was a high priced yearling and with which Commander Ross once thought he might win the Derby, came in a very bad last. He is now badly crippled and seems useless as a race horse.

Sagacity a Winner.

Sagacity, with Turner up, defeated a field of platers at a mile and a sixteenth, but had to be ridden out to finish a length in front of Scottish Chief. Orderly was third. Orderly has raced with better horses and he showed enough speed in his race to indicate he will get down in front soon. He was used up racing with Smarty and was tired at the end. Sagacity got to the front readily, but hung badly near the finish.

Max Hirsch's two-year-old filly, Griselda, defeated a field of maiden fillies in the third event at five and a half furlongs, but was doing her best at the end to win by a length from Pretty Lady. Spinning was third. Pretty Lady and Flying Jib set a very fast early pace, to which the latter finally succumbed. Pretty Lady got into a lead of four lengths but tired so badly in the last sixteenth that the winner was able to get up to her.

The final dash for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs went to the stable of J. E. Widener though he had scratched the crack youngster, Runantell. Comic Song, a stable companion, proved able to take the measure of the youngsters opposed to him and won by two lengths from Phantom Blue. Tangerine was third. Comic Song had all the speed, and forcing a fast pace, raced Rib Grass into defeat and then took command in the stretch to win easily. Phantom Blue closed with good speed and was much the best of the others, five lengths separating her from Tangerine.

MINUTE MAN WINS UNDER GOOD RIDE

Defeats Bastille and Slippery Elm in Laurel Feature—Favorite Disappoints.

Special to The New York Times.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 14.—Favored by an impost of but 100 pounds, Minute Man ran a good race at Laurel Park today and won the Arundel Handicap at a mile.

Making all the pace, he won by half a length from Bastille, while Slippery Elm took third by a nose from Bridesman. Minute Man rushed into a long lead at the start and appeared to be making a show of his company, but Mooney took him under restraint, rated him along and had plenty left to withstand the rush of Bastille, which made a strong bid for the race in the final furlong. Bridesman, which had recently displayed his best form, ran a disappointing race. He was taken wide all the way and showed little speed until well into the stretch, when he had no chance to catch the leader. He had been made favorite.

The Eutaw Highweight Handicap at six furlongs went easily to Charlie Summy, which caught Cock o' the Roost at the furlong pole and won by two lengths. Cock o' the Roost had set a fast pace and tired badly. He just lasted to save second place from Trantula by a nose.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For maiden two-year-olds; purse $1,800; six furlongs. Alex H., 112 pounds (Morris), $16.40, $6.40, $4.70, first; Manheim 112 (McCabe), $25.90, $9.90, second; Spanish Maize 112 (Erickson), $6.10, third. Time—1:14. Maryland Belle, All Over and Grace Foster also ran.

TO RESUME GAMES TODAY.

Birds and Colonels Meet in Baltimore in Little World's Series.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.—There was no game today in the post-season series between the Baltimore Internationals and the Louisville team of the American Association. The players made it a holiday, most of them taking in the races at Laurel. The series will be resumed tomorrow, with the count standing Baltimore 3, Louisville 2, and there will be a game daily until the winner is decided.

Marshal Field's Golden Corn Captures Big English Stake

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Middle Park Stakes of 1,000 sovereigns, for two-year-olds, run over the six-furlong Bretby Stakes Course at Newmarket, was won today by Marshal Field's filly Golden Corn. Sol Joel's Polyhistor finished second, three-quarters of a length behind the winner. Kennedy Jones's Flying Orb was third. Five horses started.

MARJORIE HYNES IS LOUISVILLE WINNER

Shows Best Form and Takes Seelbach Hotel Handicap at Churchill Downs.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 14.—Marjorie Hynes ran in her best form at Churchill Downs today and captured the Seelbach Hotel Handicap at a mile in a small field of four starters. She won by a length from Dr. Clark, while Rouleau was third, two lengths further back. Dr. Clark had all the early speed as usual, and made the pace until well into the stretch, but was done for before the sixteenth pole was reached. Marjorie Hynes moved up stoutly when Barnes let her down and went on to win. Rouleau and Advocate could not keep up with the front runners and were well beaten a furlong from home.

Abadane came back with another good effort in the third race and defeated some good sprinters at seven furlongs. Leading all the way he raced White Star down and drew out at the end to win by a length. Jim Daisy was third, two lengths back of White Star.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—Purse $1,200; claiming; for three-year-olds; six furlongs. John S. Reardon, 104 pounds (Scoble), $8.10, $5, $3.80, first; Calulan, 102 (Parke), $14.10, $6.10, second; Last One, 102 (Gregory), $4.10, third. Time—1:12 2-5. Tharon, Castelreagh, North Elkhorn, Dernlere Sou, Dartmoor, All Right Sir, Ben Valet, Ben Bolt also ran.

SECOND RACE—Purse $1,200; claiming; for three-year-olds and up; maidens; one and three-sixteenths miles. 2:05 TROT IS WON BY JANE THE GREAT Driver Cox Pilots Mare to Victory in Feature of Closing Day of Kentucky Meeting.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 14.—The forty-ninth annual meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association came to a close this afternoon with the 2:05 trot and the 2:01 pace as features. Each proved a good contest, Jane the Great winning the trot after losing the first heat to Kilo Watts and Sanardo capturing the pace after finishing third in the second heat, won by Hal Mahone.

The final heat of the meeting was marred by a bad spill when Sir Roch and Senator Wilkes went down while rounding the first turn. Charles Dean Jr. and Harry Gray were handling the reins on the two horses. Neither horses nor drivers sustained serious injuries.

In the opening heat of the 2:05 trot Driver Childs took Kilo Watts to the front and kept her there despite a determined stretch drive by Cox, who was handling Jane the Great. In the second heat Kilo Watts again went into the lead, but the Cox mare overhauled her in the stretch to win going away and won the third heat easily.

The 2:01 pace was a desperately fought race. Sanardo went to the front at the first quarter pole in the opening heat and led all the way, winning in 2:01 1-4.

In the second heat Sanardo again went into the lead, but Hal Mahone passed the little son of San Francisco half way down the stretch, and Sir Roch also collared the winner of the first heat before the field reached the wire. In the third heat, Sanardo outfinished Hal Mahone by a nose in a thrilling stretch drive.

Escotillo had little trouble in annexing the 2:1 0trot, while the three-year-old trot went to Hillandale Farm's Sakura in straight heats.

METROPOLITAN STAR ADVANCES TO FINAL

Mrs. W. A. Gavin Scores 7 and 5 Victory Over Mrs. Vanderbeck in Berthellyn Tourney.

TO MEET MISS COLLETT

Providence Girl Defeats Miss Cummings, 5 and 3—District Champion Out in 37.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 14.—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence and Mrs. W. A. Gavin of New York will meet tomorrow morning in the final round of the Berthellyn Cup tournament at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club. Playing a brand of golf that would have beaten any other woman golfer in this country, Mrs. Gavin, who is the New York Metropolitan champion, eliminated Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, the local champion, by the remarkable margin of 7 up and 5 to play, in one of the semi-final rounds matches today. Miss Collett, winner of the qualifying round in the national championship and victor over Miss Cecil Leitch, the British champion, in the first round of the Berthellyn tournament, put out Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago by another splendid bit of golf, the margin being 5 and 3.

While the gallery elected to follow Miss Collett, those who were fortunate enough to watch the Gavin-Vanderbeck match saw some remarkable golf, for Mrs. Gavin played the first nine holes in the astounding total of 37 strokes, the best ever made over that route, and while Mrs. Vanderbeck put up a hard fight and played golf of no mean calibre, the former national champion was four down to her opponent, Mrs. Gavin kept up her fine work and so well did she play that the match ended on the 13th green.

Miss Collett in Form.

The match between Miss Collett and Miss Cummings was very even for the first nine holes, neither having any advantage. But from the tenth on until the match ended on the fifteenth, Miss Collett played in even fours, and against this the Chicago girl never had a chance.

Mrs. Gavin opened her match by taking the first hole in par figures, being on in two and down in two putts. Mrs. Vanderbeck overran the green on her second, and took three more to hole out. Mrs. Gavin holed a fine eight-foot putt for a birdie three on the second for a win, and Mrs. Vanderbeck cut it to one by holing a five-foot putt on the third. Mrs. Gavin missing a seven-footer for a half. Mrs. Gavin won the long fourth in par figures, and, after a half, Mrs. Gavin increased her lead to three by driving within six feet of the sixth cup and sinking the putt for a birdie. The difficult seventh hole was halved in two fine fours, and on the eighth Mrs. Vanderbeck missed an eighteen-inch putt for a half. The ninth was halved. During the out journey both women were driving well but Mrs. Gavin was deadly on approaches, and her putting at times was most uncanny.

A fine niblick shot dead to the hole on the tenth gave Mrs. Gavin a half when it looked like a win for the local champion. Both drove into the brook in front of the eleventh green, but Mrs. Gavin laid her niblick dead, while Mrs. Vanderbeck was a bit weak, the ball hitting the top of the green and rolling down. After one putt Mrs. Vanderbeck conceded the hole. The end came two holes later, Mrs. Gavin getting a wip on the twelfth, when Mrs. Vanderbeck got into trouble on her third shot. The match ended on the thirteenth, after Mrs. Vanderbeck had failed to sink a putt for a possible half, the local champion conceding the hole.

The cards:

Out—
Mrs. Gavin.....	4	3	5	5	2	4	4	5	—37
Mrs. Vanderbeck..	5	4	4	7	3	4	5	5	—42
In—
Mrs. Gavin.....	5	5	5	5
Mrs. Vanderbeck..	5	6	6	6

Both Miss Collett and Miss Cummings found trouble at the very first hole, Miss Collett finding the bunker on her second shot, while Miss Cummings sliced her second into the deep pit to the right of the green and took three more to get out. Miss Collett needed three putts and won. The second hole was halved in two fine fours, Miss Collett making a fine approach shot to gain the half. After halving the third, Miss Collett won the fourth by holing a long putt for a birdie 4. The fifth went to Miss Cummings in par figures, Miss Collett finding two traps. Halves in par marked the sixth, and on the seventh Miss Cummings squared the match. The next two holes were halved, and the players stood all square at the turn.

Tenth Troubles Miss Cummings.

Miss Cummings found trouble on the tenth, and the hole went to Miss Collett with a 4. Miss Collett drove the eleventh green while Miss Cummings was trapped twice, and the hole went to the Providence girl, who took three putts. Miss Collett sank a long putt on the long twelfth for a par 5, while Miss Cummings, who was home in four shots, needed two putts. The youthful star from Providence had won three holes in a row, and she proceeded to take the thirteenth hole when her opponent missed a fairly easy putt for a half. Miss Cummings was playing pluckily, and she showed her fighting spirit on the punchbowl fourteenth, when, after being trapped on her drive, she gained a fine half.

Dormie 4, Miss Collett hit a very long tee shot on the fifteenth, while Miss Cummings was trapped from the tee. The ball was rather close to the face of the bunker, and Miss Cummings tried hard for distance, but the ball hit the top and rolled a very short distance, and after getting on in 4 Miss Cummings conceded the hole.

The score;

Out—
Miss Collett.....	6	4	5	4	6	3	6	4	5—43
Miss Cummings....	7	4	5	6	4	3	5	4	5—43
In—
Miss Collett.....	4	5	5	4	3	4
Miss Cummings....	5	6	6	5	3	6

The finalists in the second sixteen are: Mrs. E. G. Glenn, Plymouth, who won from Mrs. David Gaut, Memphis, by default, and Mrs. William Chapin, North Hills, who defeated Miss Margaretta Dixon, Cricket Club, 8 and 7.

In the third sixteen, Mrs. Thurston Wright, Pittsburgh, will meet Countess von Holstein in the final round. The latter won a nineteen-hole match from Mrs. E. G. Bets, Country Club, holding a birdie 3 on the extra hole.

Mrs. C. S. Maccain, Cricket Club, will play Mrs. William West, Huntingdon Valley, in the final round.

The summaries:

Berthellyn Cup, Semifinal Round—Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, defeated Miss Edith Cummings, Chicago, 5 and 3; Mrs. W. A. Gavin, New York, defeated Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck, Cricket Club, 7 and 5.

Second Sixteen, Semifinal Round—Mrs. E. G. Glenn, Plymouth, won from Mrs. D. Gaut, Memphis, by default; Mrs. William Chapin, North Hills, defeated Miss Margaretta Dixon, Cricket Club, 8 and 6.

Third Sixteen, Semifinal Round—Mrs. Thurston Wright, Pittsburgh, defeated Miss Mary Griffith Marion, 7 and 6; Countess von Holstein, Huntingdon Valley, defeated Mrs. E. G. Bets, Country Club, 1 up (19 holes).

Fourth Sixteen, Semifinal Round—Mrs. C. S. MacCain, Cricket Club, defeated Miss Maud Hoffman, Whitemarsh, 5 and 4; Mrs. William West, Huntingdon Valley, won from Mrs. Linn, Chicago, by default.

Morningstar Beats Cutler.

Ora Morningstar last night defeated Albert Cutler in a continuation of their series of 18.2 balkline billiard exhibitions at Maurice Daly's Academy by a score of 400 to 153. The winner had a high run of 109 and averaged 57 1-7. Cutler's best cluster was 73 and he averaged 25 3-6.

Reed Gets Decision.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Pal Reed of Natick won the decision from Louis Bogash of Bridgeport, Conn., in a ten-round boxing match here tonight. Both boys are middleweights.

Duncan and Mitchell End American Tour; Sail Today

Having completed one of the most successful golf tours ever made in this country, George Duncan, former British open champion, and rated by many as the logical successor to the brilliant Harry Vardon, and his hard-hitting partner, Abe Mitchell, will sail from New York today on their return voyage to England. During their sojourn in this country the British pair have played practically all of the well known professionals and amateurs, and their list of victories is even more imposing than that which was run up by Vardon and Ray last year.

SHAWNEE GOLFERS REACH SEMI-FINALS

Hunter, Standish, Kendall and Coles Victors in First and Second Round Matches.

Special to The New York Times.

SHAWNEE - ON - DELAWARE, Pa., Oct. 14.—Favored by ideal conditions over head and under foot, golfers outdid themselves in the first and second round matches of the Shawnee Country Club invitation tournament today. The golf of Willie Hunter, amateur champion of Great Britain, was impressive, especially in the afternoon, when he made the circuit in 75 to defeat Pierre A. Proal of Deal.

Earlier in the day Proal had traveled even faster at the expense of Harry Holbrook, one of the home guard, the first named getting 37 each way for a 74.

As the situation now stands, Hunter will meet James D. Standish Jr. of Detroit in the upper semi-final bracket tomorrow, while on the lower side the contestants will be Percy W. Kendall, the Deal titleholder, and Alex Coles of Shawnee.

Standish had a 77 in the morning against D. R. Meigs of Merion, and later on took an 80, just good enough to down H. A. Jackson of Greenwich, the match being carried to the home green. Standish is showing a trace of the form that placed him among the leading amateurs a few years ago.

In winning today Coles always had his exceptional long game working, and this afternoon he downed Eugene Grace, the President of the home club. Prior to that Grace had won a sensational match from H. R. Louden of Glen Ridge, the first named squaring with a 3 at the home hole and then winning with another 3 at the extra hole.

Kendall, traveling at an 80 pace, had his troubles in the first round. He stood dormie 2 over Charles Eypper of Upper Montclair, only to have his opponent draw level at the eighteenth. Kendall then won at the extra hole. In the afternoon he defeated R. J. Narelle of Siwanoy.

The summaries:

First Sixteen—First Round—Pierre A. Proal, Deal, defeated Harry Holbrook, Shawnee, 5 up and 7 to play; Willie Hunter, England, defeated Donald Parsons, Youngstown, 7 up and 6 to play; James D. Standish Jr., Detroit, defeated D. R. Meigs, Merion, 6 up and 4 to play; H. A. Jackson, Greenwich, defeated Ray Thompson, Engineers, 8 up and 6 to play; Alex Coles, Shawnee, defeated H. Tyler, unattached, 5 up and 4 to play; Eugene Grace, Shawnee, defeated H. R. Lowden, Glen Ridge, 1 up (19 holes); Percy Kendall, Deal, defeated Charles Eypper, Upper Montclair, 1 up (19 holes); H. R. Narelle, Siwanoy, defeated J. S. Worthington, Shawnee, 2 up.

Second Round—Hunter defeated Proal, 5 up and 4 to play; Standish defeated Jackson; 1 up; Coles defeated Grace, 3 up and 2 to play; Kendall defeated Narelle, 2 up and 1 to play.

Second Sixteen—First Round—Samuel Allison, Midland, defeated W. D. Fowler, Colonia, 3 up and 2 to play; F. H. Gates, Montclair, defeated R. H. McAdams, Elizabeth, 6 up and 4 to play; Dr. Jefferson, Johnstown, defeated D. H. Smith, Upper Montclair, 2 up and 1 to play; James Herbert, St. Albans, defeated J. K. Greenwood, unattached, 2 up; H. B. Salmon, Glen Ridge, defeated H. R. Newton, White Marsh, 4 up and 3 to play; W. G. McLaughlin, Upper Montclair, defeated George Rodenbough, Siwanee, 5 up and 3 to play; Howard Kritler, North Hills, defeated Dr. Walter Angle, Shawnee, 1 up (19 holes); Paul Mackall, Shawnee, defeated Frank Harper, Trenton, 3 up and 2 to play.

Second Round—Gates defeated Allison, 5 up and 4 to play; Jefferson defeated Herbert, 5 up and 4 to play; Salmon defeated McLaughlin, 4 up and 3 to play; Kritler defeated Mackall, 2 up and 1 to play.

BROWN AND JOHNSON WIN.

Defeat Scottish-American Pair in Thompson Cup Golf Play.

Harry Scharff and William Gotelli, members of the Scottish-American Golf Club, who were the medalists in the opening day's competition for the William Boyce Thompson Cup, fell by the wayside in the first round of play in the four-ball tournament for club pairs at the Hudson River Country Club, Yonkers, yesterday.

After their rather easy victory in the qualifying round it looked as if the Scottish-American pair would go through to the final round, but a different light was shed on the situation when they tackled C. H. Brown and Alex Johnson of the Hudson River Club. The match was nip-and-tuck throughout the entire journey, but by the time the last tee was reached, the local pair had managed to gain a victory of one hole.

The eighteenth is a water hole and both Johnson and Scharff had putts for birdie 2's. The former was away but managed to hole out an eighteen-footer and, although Scharff sank his try also, it was of no avail, for the match was over.

The winners, however, met with difficulty in the afternoon match, for they were defeated by F. V. D. Longacre and L. Oakley of St. Andrew's, in the semi-final round, 3 and 2. The latter had gone to the semi-finals by defeating D. H. McAlpin 2d, and Fred Richardson of Morris County, in the morning by 2 and 1.

In the lower bracket, A. M. Reid and C. V. Benton of St. Andrews, won their match from Mark O'Reilly and Floyd Haugh of the Scottish-American, by default, and C. H. Paul and R. A. Jones of Westchester Hills defeated F. S. Keeper and D. C. Collins of Hudson River, 7 and 5. The Westchester Hills pair was later defeated by Reed and Benton in the afternoon, 3 and 2, and as a result, the final, which will be played at thirty-six holes today, will be strictly a St. Andrew's affair.

BARNES LEADS FIELD.

Champion Tops Forty-five Golfers in Missouri Tournament.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 14.—Jim Barnes, national open golf champion, led the field of forty-five players the first day of the St. Joseph open golf tournament which is being played today and Saturday at the St. Joseph Country Club. Barnes had 74, 74—148. Jock Hutchison of Chicago, holder of the British open championship, was second with 76, 71—147. Next came Leo Diegel of Detroit, 79, 72—151.

The scores were high as a result of a stiff wind and fast putting green. Par for the course is 75.

Other leading scores follow:

Robert Cruikshank, New York, 152; Frank Adams, Gulfport, Miss., 157.

The prizes total $2,500, with a first prize of $1,000 and a $100 prize for the best score for eighteen holes. Barnes and Hutchison are tied thus far for the latter award, with a 71 each to their credit.

SHADE IS WINNER OVER FAY KEISER

Pacific Coast Light Heavyweight Gains Decision in 15-Round Bout at Garden.

Billy Shade, Can Francisco light heavyweight, gained the decision over Fay Keiser of Cumberland, Md., last night in a spectacular fifteen-round bout before a crowd of about 8,000 in Madison Square Garden. The lad from the Golden Gate, living up in almost every essential to the glowing accounts of his prowess which preceded him here, battered Keiser through the fifteen rounds and scored a popular victory.

Shade carried off ten of the fifteen rounds beyond question. He led in every round from the second to the eleventh. In the first and the closing four rounds Keiser held his own. The Cumberland boxer, though battered and battle-scarred, held his rival even in the closing four rounds mainly because Shade himself tired under the terrific pace of the bout.

The contest was one of the fastest and most interesting between light heavyweights ever staged in this city. Shade was as fast as a featherweight on his feet and with his hands, and he possessed remarkable cleverness. Through his speed of hand and foot and his unrelenting offensive he had Keiser weary and blinded with a perfect hail of punches from the second round to the eleventh, when the San Francisco lad himself began to show signs of the pace and weakened under Keiser's sporadic body attack. Repeatedly through the contest, Shade crashed over both right and left hand blows to his rival's jaw, but these punches only served to uncover Shade's one great weakness. He lacks a finishing punch, Keiser took the blows without even blinking and, as the battle progressed, became absolutely indifferent to his opponent's punches.

Keiser a Hard Hitter.

Keiser appeared the harder hitter, but his blows lacked the direction and perfection of distance which were characteristics of Shade. The Cumberland boxer, blinded by his rival's speedy assault, bent his efforts toward landing one crushing punch. In this, however, Keiser's plans experienced an upset. Shade's steady, unvaried assault bewildered Keiser's offensive so that the Cumberland boxer's punches lacked the required steam when driven home. When Keiser did land with a solid, cleanly delivered smash to the jaw, which was infrequently, Shade demonstrated that he is capable of taking a punch without flinching. The 'Frisco lad never relented. He continued his aggressive, carrying the fighting all the way, without let-up.

Keiser showed the marks of battle as he left the ring, beaten but not disgraced. His right eye was puffed up and discolored and his nose was battered. Shade had a cut over his right eye but showed no other signs of the conflict save what ordinarily might have been expected after such a fast encounter.

The bout was witnessed by Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, who unostentatiously occupied a ringside seat.

The weights were: Shade 178 pounds and Keiser 166 pounds.

A crowd of about 8,000 witnessed the bouts. This was below the average of Garden gatherings and was a disappointing turnout in view of the popular prices and the strength of the attractions.

Gene Tunney, Greenwich Village light heavyweight, stopped Jack Burke of Pittsburgh, former amateur champion, in the second round of their scheduled eight-round battle, which served as the semifinal. Tunney opened an ugly gash over Burke's left eye in the second round with a powerful right drive, and while Burke fought through the round to the bell, his manager, Jake Schwinger, refused to permit him to start the third round.

The decision was wise, for the flow of blood affected Burke's vision and he was confronted with the danger of a possible permanent injury if he continued. At the time the bout ended there was little to choose between the pair. Burke showed great promise in the first round and through the second round until he sustained his injury. The weights were Tunney 178, Burke 184½.

McHugh and Farese Draw.

Terry McHugh, the elongated Allentown featherweight, and Harold Farese, East Sider, clashed in the curtain-raiser. At the end of eight rounds, the decision was announced as a draw. McHugh weighed 123½ and Farese 119¾ pounds.

In the second eight-round bout, Abe Goldstein, Harlem flyweight, and Eddie O'Dowd, Columbia wop, the contestants, Goldstein weighed 113 pounds and O'Dowd 108½. The decision was a draw. It was no more than an ordinary bout, in which O'Dowd was extremely cautious, landing only in infrequent flashes of aggressiveness. Goldstein, for the most part, was ineffective in his efforts at attack. The crowd greeted the decision with a mingled demonstration.

TO FIGHT AS SCHEDULED.

Gibbons and O'Dowd Defy Kansas Attorney General's Orders.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 14.—The Western Athletic Association today announced that the fifteen-round boxing contest between Mike Gibbons and Mike O'Dowd, middle-weights, would take place Tuesday night as scheduled, regardless of the ruling of Attorney General Richard J. Hopkins, who said the fight would be a violation of the State law.

"Until we are enjoined by a court of competent jurisdiction from allowing the fight to take place," the announcement said, "we can promise the public that they will see the bout as advertised. We are ready to go into court if necessary and feel that we can convince the court that we are violating no law."

Mr. Hopkins today reiterated his declaration of yesterday that the bout will not be allowed to take place. He said: "The Gibbons-O'Dowd fight will not be allowed to take place. It is a flagrant violation of the Kansas boxing law. If necessary I will have officers on hand to stop it."

SISTERS TIE FOR PRIZE.

Misses E. and G. Selick Each Score 94 in One-Day Golf Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

TENAFLY, N. J., Oct. 14.—It was sister against sister in the regular one-day tournament of the Metropolitan Women's Golf Association at the Knickerbocker Country Club here today when the Misses E. and G. Selick of Glen Ridge found themselves in a tie, together with Mrs. J. W. Escher of Knickerbocker, for the second low net prize. Mrs. Escher had a score of 114, 20-94. Miss G. Selick, 109, 15-94, and Miss E. Selick, 101, 7-91. In the play-off, however, Miss E. Selick was the winner. The day's low net honors went to Mrs. Ward Clay of Knickerbocker, who had a card of 112, 20-92.

An added prize was donated by the Knickerbocker Club for low gross, and it was won by Mrs. Albert Taylor of Pomonok with a round of 99.

Mrs. Irving Brown of Knickerbocker was fifth in the list with 101, 6-95, and the other scores were: Mrs. F. Ogden of Yountakah 110, 14-96; Mrs. J. H. Drake of Morristown 104, 8-96; Mrs. F. H. Morrison, St. Albans, 111, 14-96; Mrs. H. F. Wilson, Montclair, 111, 14-97; Mrs. B. F. Reinmund, Knickerbocker, 116, 17-99, and Mrs. N. F. Neff, Montclair, 105, 6-99.

Ninety-two players took part in the tournament, but with the exception of those mentioned they found the course a rather difficult one for low scoring.

Kid Lewis Defeats Basham in 12th Round in London Ring

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Ted (Kid) Lewis, middleweight champion of England, tonight defeated Johnny Basham in the twelfth round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout.

Lewis has knocked Basham out on two previous occasions. In both the other bouts the men fought as welterweights. After these defeats Basham entered the middleweight class and won the English title. Lewis first knocked out Basham in eleven rounds and again in fourteen. Lewis formerly held the world's welterweight title, but lost the championship in a bout with Jack Britton at Canton, Ohio, in 1919, when he was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Lewis left the United States about two weeks ago.

MRS. MALLORY WINS WEST SIDE TITLES

Defeats Mrs. W. H. Brown Jr. at Singles and, Paired With Mrs. Weaver, Captures Doubles.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, women's national tennis champion, added the women's championship of the West Side Tennis Club to her many titles yesterday afternoon, defeating Mrs. W. H. Brown Jr. in the final of the singles with ease, and taking the club's doubles championship in partnership with Mrs. S. Fullerton Weaver. Playing against Miss Gertrude Della Torre and Mrs. L. M. Burtt in the doubles final, Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Weaver were extended to their best efforts to win at 7–5, 6–2. The first set in particular was keenly contested and productive of many long rallies, in which all four women did some accurate placing.

The summaries:

West Side Tennis Club Championship, Women's Singles—Semi-final Round—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory defeated Miss Vandy Cape, 6–2, 6–0; Mrs. W. H. Brown Jr. won from Miss Florence Ballin by default.

Final Round—Mrs. Mallory defeated Mrs. Brown, 6–1, 6–1.

Doubles—Semifinal Round—Miss Gertrude Della Torre and Mrs. L. M. Burtt defeated Mrs. J. C. Brush and Mrs. Edward K. Van Winkle, 6–0, 6–6; Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and Mrs. S. Fullerton Weaver defeated Miss Jessie Gott and Miss Vandy Cape, 6–1, 6–0.

Final Round—Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Weaver defeated Miss Gott and Mrs. Burtt, 7–5, 6–2.

DARK HORSES TO PLAY.

Church and Kovach Entered in Pocket Billiard Tourney.

When the national championship pocket billiard tournament starts in Philadelphia on Monday two strangers to titular competition will be among the contestants. Arthur Church, who claims the championship of New York State by virtue of the victory he scored in the tournament held at Lawlor Brothers' Academy in Brooklyn last season, and Michael Kovach, who defeated Edward I. Ralph for the New Jersey State title last February, will be the dark horses. Their playing will be watched with particular interest by the army of fans.

While they are newcomers so far as championship tournament play is concerned, both are known to be strong players. The fact that Kovach was able to defeat Edward Ralph is sufficient evidence of his strength, for Ralph at one time held the national professional championship and is conceded to be one of the strongest players in the country. Church met some very strong opposition in the New York State tournament, and the fact that he was able to overcome it all and emerge with the crown stamps him as a player of real ability.

The acceptance of the entries of these players is generally approved in local billiard circles, as it means the injection of new blood. Furthermore, it will serve to stimulate interest, for the reason that it adds uncertainty to the event. Ralph Greenleaf, the playing-through champion, will undoubtedly have to be at his best to win the title for the third time in succession. Jerome Keogh, Tom Hueston and Bennie Allen all formerly held the title and are entered in the tourney. James Maturo several times has been within the proverbial ace of winning the title and will be another contestant. The remaining two players will be Walter Franklin of Kansas City and William F. De Langh of Philadelphia.

SPEAR DEFEATS JOHANN.

Winner Has High Average in Interborough Class C Tournament.

George W. Spear defeated J. R. Johann last night in the interborough Class C 18.2 championship balkline billiard tournament at the Rational Recreation Academy in Brooklyn by the score of 150 to 80. The victor played a remarkable game, finishing his string in eighteen innings. Spear averaged 8 6-18. He had a high run of 39. Johann's high run was 18 and he averaged 4 4-19.

This evening J. M. Lewis Jr. will oppose Emmett Crosier.

TENDLER TO BOX HERE.

Will Make Garden Debut in Fifteen-Round Clash With Rocky Kansas.

Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, will make his first appearance at Madison Square Garden next Friday night, when Tex Rickard will conduct his next show. The Philadelphia southpaw has been matched for a fifteen-round battle against Rocky Kansas, rugged Buffalo lightweight. The contest will be the second meeting between Tendler and Kansas. The men have agreed to weigh at the recognized lightweight limit, 135 pounds, at 3 o'clock on the day of the bout.

Three eight-round contests will precede the Tendler-Kansas encounter. Carl Tremaine of Cleveland will engage Marty Collins, local bantamweight; Joe Tiplits of Philadelphia will box Johnny Darcy, another local product, and Tony Caponi of the east side will exchange blows with Red Cap Wilson of the west side.

BOXING BOUTS TONIGHT.

Queensboro A. C., Long Island City—Afternoon—Joe Lynch vs. Artie Edwards, fifteen rounds; Jack Ruskin vs. Sammy Cohen, ten rounds. Evening—Jay Lanihan vs. Harold Abbott, twelve rounds; Jack Redmond vs. Pete Williams, ten rounds.

RICHARDS IN TIE WITH WASHBURN

Darkness Halts Semifinal of Interclub Net Tourney—Scores Are 6-8, 10-8.

Vincent Richards and Watson M. Washburn broke even in two marvelously keen sets of tennis yesterday afternoon played in the interclub tournament of the Metropolitan League. Richards represented the New York Tennis Club and Washburn the West Side Tennis Club, and they played on the courts of the former organization. The match was staged yesterday to permit Richards to play today in Hartford, Conn., in the series of exhibition matches for the American Committee for Devastated France. The other matches between the New York and West Side clubs are scheduled for this afternoon. This is in the semifinal round of the tournament and the winning club will meet the Montclair Athletic Club in the final for the team championship. Montclair has already won its semifinal round match from the Terrace-Kings County Club of Brooklyn.

Washburn and Richards were the No. 1 players for their respective organizations. Washburn won the first set by a score of 8–6, and Richards took the second at 10–8. These two sets consumed an hour and three-quarters, and at their conclusion it had become too dark to continue. The match will not be carried through to a decision unless the two clubs should be tied today after playing five matches in singles and three in doubles.

Washburn played his customary steady game and applied great pace to his shots, hammering Richards's backhand for a large number of his points. Richards's backhand drives were defensive shots, for the most part, but he, too, was steady and his crisp volleying enabled him to hold his own at all times. After Washburn had captured the opening session by a hairline margin he was three times within a point of taking the second set and the match. This was when he was leading at 5–3, 5–4 and 8–7. Richards rallied on each occasion, taking daring chances and placing brilliantly. He played his fastest tennis of the match to take three games in succession at the close of the second set.

RUSTEM BEY FIRST IN ENDURANCE TEST

Arab Horse Leads Field in 300-Mile Race From Camp Vail to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Rustem Bey, an Arab standard bred, ridden by Captain W. R. Allen, finished first here tonight in the 300-mile army endurance test ride, which started from Camp Alfred Vail, New Jersey, last Monday. The others who finished of the field of seventeen which made the start, were Cragmore, a thoroughbred and standard horse; Crabbit, Castor, Vagrant and Pathfinder. The judges will determine weight, general conditions and appearances tomorrow and make the awards.

The race was held in connection with the Army's program of determining the type of horse best adapted for cavalry uses.

Veterinaries who accompanied the horses on the test declared that all those who finished came out of the race in splendid shape. Most of those who fell out, they added, had tendon trouble.

COBURN TO START IN RACE.

Signs to Ride With Thomas at 71st Regiment Armory Oct. 23-24.

Willie Coburn, who shared in the victory spoils of the last six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden, will be a contender for premier prize in the twenty-four-hour race which will be conducted by Bill Wellman at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory Oct. 23 and 24. Coburn signed yesterday to ride with Lloyd Thomas of San Francisco in the forthcoming speed and endurance test. In order to secure Coburn as a partner, it was necessary for Thomas to agree to divide the team's winnings, 60 per cent. to Coburn and 40 per cent. to himself. Coburn has been in demand since his victory last Spring, and his agreement to ride with Thomas has caused the pair to be installed favorites in the coming race.

Dave Lands and Gus Lang will be the "baby team" in the test. Other teams entered include Tom Bello and Frank Gaffney and Cliff Papworth and Speed Erskine of Australia.

BROWN SWIMMERS STRONG.

Prospects for Winning Aquatic Team Bright at Providence.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 14.—The prospects for a strong swimming team at Brown University this year are excellent. Only one man from last year's team, Fitzgibbons, has been lost to the squad. Davy Jones, who last year shattered the intercollegiate record for 100 yards by covering the distance in 0:55 3-5 in the Yale meet, and Gordon Smith, holder of the New England title at 220 yards, are expected to prove consistent point winners for the Brunonians this year.

Captain Dawson, Whitehouse and Adams will again carry the burden in the diving. Unless some new man develops the coach fears that the team will continue weak in the plunge, but with this exception Brown will have little to fear from her aquatic rivals this year.

WILLIAMS TO MEET YALE.

Purple Prepared to Present Full Strength for First Time.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Oct. 14.—The Williams football squad left today for New Haven prepared to present its full strength for the first time this year against Yale tomorrow. Bill Burger, who has been out of the game with a bad knee since early in the season, has been shifted to quarterback from fullback, which position he played a year ago.

CHANGES W. VA. LINE-UP.

Coash Spears Makes Sudden Shift in Mountaineer Eleven.

Special to The New York Times.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 14.—Spears disrupted all predictions again today when he picked his eleven for the final signal drill preceding the Ohio University game here tomorrow.

Lyall was in at right tackle, replacing Harrick, Howard and Tallman, all of whom had been mention for the post. Bartell was at left halfback in Martin's regular place, where it had been thought Bowers would play, and Graham was at left end in place of Hawkins. Otherwise the line-up will be the same as that which started against Pitt a week ago at Forbes Field.

ABE MITCHELL

GEO. DUNCAN

Bon Voyage!

DUNCAN AND MITCHELL

You are sailing home today on the Olympic after playing 105 rounds of golf in matches against the best professional and amateur golfers in America, winning 51 matches, losing 17 and tying 4.

You made 51 rounds with individual scores of 70 or better.

Your best ball in all the matches averaged 65.6. Duncan's average was 72.17, and he made three 66s. Mitchell's average was 72.19, and he made two 65s.

You broke eight course records—at Edgewater; Yahnundasis; Lake Placid; Brantford, Canada; Winnipeg, Canada; White Bear Club, Minneapolis; Woodmere Country Club; Westchester Hills—tying a dozen others.

From a statistical viewpoint you made an amazing record that is without parallel, we believe, on either side of the Atlantic.

But your greatest glory is the record you made as clean sportsmen, artists and stylists in golf, and as examples for all golfers—old and young.

You will be welcomed back again next year at all the courses you have played and at many others whose clubs could not have you with them this year because your schedule was filled.

What They Think of American Golf

George Duncan, who made a tour of America in 1911, says that he notices a tremendous advance in American golf both in playing skill and in course architecture. He is really amazed at the number of new courses, particularly of the municipal courses, which are the backbone of America's golfing future. He finds that American courses are now closer to the old courses of England and Scotland in their fair-ways and greens, but they need to be a little more trapped.

Abe Mitchell, who made his first visit to us this year, concurs in Duncan's judgment, and says he is surely coming back again.

This pair of royal golfers—probably the best team players in the world—have been royally welcomed at all the courses they visited in America, and they ask us to send their appreciation to every American golfer who came to see them play. They regret that they were not able to visit the Pacific Coast, but hope to add these courses to their next itinerary.

NAVY-TIGER CLASH TOPS GRIDIRON CARD

Princeton, Minus Services of Stars, Expects Keen Tussle From Powerful Middies.

COLUMBIA TO MEET N. Y. U.

Local Teams Will Battle at South Field—Harvard Tackles Georgia and Yale Plays Williams.

The game of games on today's football card, is, without exception, the clash scheduled for Annapolis between the United States Naval Academy and Princeton. This will be the second game under the reciprocal arrangement entered into last year when the Middies steamed up to Tigertown to play their first off-campus game with any team other than the Army. On that occasion Princeton won by the score of 14 to 0, smaller by six points than the count which the Tiger subsequently rolled up against Yale.

In today's battle the two elevens will be very evenly matched—more evenly matched than is usual when one is a service team and the other the outfit representing Harvard, Princeton or Yale. And in making this statement it is not forgotten that the Army has, years past, defeated both the Crimson and the Blue. But it is not in the nature of things that the service elevens, with far less time to devote to the gridiron sport, should, as a rule, be on a parity with the highly coached teams of the universities in question.

Today, however, the Navy will put on the field almost a veteran aggregation, and Princeton will be obliged to go into action lacking the services of its great quarterback, Don Lourie. Garrity also will be out of the Tiger backfield, and Snively probably will be unable to go in at end. All three men are on the hospital list. MacPhee is likely to start the game at quarterback, with Euwer, who succeeded Lourie in the Colgate game, ready to step into his shoes. Cleaves, Gilroy, Newby and Van Gerbig, with, possibly, Thompson, will probably carry the burden of the other backfield positions. The Navy has practically three complete sets of backs.

Navy Is Powerful.

Head Coach Roper foresees no easy task ahead of his Tiger charges. "The Navy," said Roper recently, "has one of the best teams in the East—a veteran line and a good backfield, and lots of gaining power on straight plays. The combination is hard to beat."

Harvard, which vanquished Indiana last week, plays another intersectional game today, meeting the University of Georgia in the Stadium. Georgia's strength is difficult to judge, because such opponents as the Cracker eleven has met this year are little known in the North.

Yale should have little trouble defeating Williams. Contrary to the plan pursued by Coaches Roper and Fisher, Coach Jones seems to have arranged as easy a schedule as possible for his Eli protégés, with the possible exception of the Army game next week.

Two New York institutions, namely Columbia and New York University, will battle today at South Field. The two colleges have engaged in this merry pastime on six occasions in the past, with the score standing at three games each. O'Neill has re-aligned his forwards lately, and the Blue and White followers believe that they have a combination strong enough to win.

Fordham will clash with Villanova at Fordham Field and Stevens has on hand a little affair with Springfield College. Springfield has a strong team, one especially adept at the forward passing game, and as the Engineers have not scored points thus far this season, the outlook for a victory over in Hoboken is not bright.

Upstate, Syracuse will battle Brown. The Salt City eleven showed considerable scoring power against Maryland last week, and is generally regarded as a favorite over the Brunonians. While this affair is in progress Rochester will clash with St. Lawrence at Rochester, Hobart will meet Clarkson Tech at Geneva and Colgate will stage an interstate scrap with Susquehanna at Hamilton.

At Ithaca, Cornell will take on Western Reserve, which last week served to make a Roman holiday for the Navy. Judging from the rough treatment the Big Red team has handed out to St. Bonaventure and Rochester this year Western Reserve will find today's holiday even more Roman than a week ago. On the Plains at West Point the Army will eschew its passion for doubleheaders for a single battle with Wabash.

Crossing into Pennsylvania the fan will find Lafayette, which has yet to be beaten, playing Bucknell at Lewisburg. At Philadelphia Penn will mix it up with Swarthmore. The Little Quakers, who scored on Princeton—a feat Colgate could not accomplish—and who defeated Albright, 28 to 0, are rated as worthy early season opponents for the Red and Blue. Penn has played erratically thus far this season, defeating Gettysburg last week by a bare 7 to 0 count, after winning the week before from Franklin and Marshall, 20 to 0.

Teams Evenly Matched.

At State College Penn State will clash with Lehigh. The teams appear to be very evenly matched, and one of the best contests of the day is certain. Last year they played a 7 to 7 tie.

The Panthers should have an easy opponent in Cincinnati. West Virginia, which last week threw a scare into the Pittsburgh camp, will play Ohio University. Washington and Lee will trek north to play Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J. Sanford's team has shown ability between the 20-yard marks, but has lacked the punch to score, losing to Maryland, 3 to 0, and to Lehigh, 7 to 0. Sanford, however, has worked hard with his men this last week, and the Generals may not find the road easy. In any event it should be one of the best games of the day within a comfortable radius of New York to watch.

Up near the Canadian border Dartmouth, playing its last game before entertaining Columbia a week hence, will meet the eleven up from Tennessee in another of the intersectional games which have assumed such prominence in this year's schedules. Tennessee last week defeated Chattanooga by a sizable score, but it would be a surprise could the Southerners turn the trick against the hardy Northern mountaineers.

Among other principal games in various parts of the country today will be: Washington and Jefferson-Carnegie Tech; Haverford-Franklin and Marshall; Trinity-Bowdoin; Georgetown-Westminster; Centre-St. Xavier; Purdue-Notre Dame, and Ohio State-Minnesota.

Phillips Andover and Phillips Exeter will play Harvard freshmen and Yale freshmen, respectively.

N. Y. U. IN FINAL DRILL.

Violet Has Light Workout for Columbia Contest Today.

Final practice for today's game with Columbia was held yesterday afternoon on Ohio Field by the New York University football team. Nothing but a light workout was attempted by the Violet pigskin chasers in order that the men might have sufficient rest before the clash between these two colleges. Coach Gargan ran his charges through a snappy signal drill, followed by finishing touches on both the offensive and the defensive individual playing.

The coaching staff, composed of Gargan, Youngstrom, Dussesoit, MacDonald and Wall have been experimenting with their men all week and have not as yet finally hit upon a combination which will take the field against the Blue and White. However, it is probable that they will start the same team that faced Brown last week, with the exception of Herrigan taking Macomber's place.

CITY RIVALS WILL RENEW FEUD TODAY

Columbia and N. Y. U. Elevens to Clash on South Field at 2:30.

Formation plays and punting practice took up most of the Columbia elevens' time during yesterday's workout on South Field, where the Blue and White will meet N. Y. U. this afternoon at 2:30. Added interest is attached to this intra-city contest, due to the fact that the winner may have a claim to the football laurels of the metropolitan district for the year. Columbia has already made some headway toward the title, having defeated Fordham in a practice game and beaten Wesleyan, the conqueror of Stevens.

The two teams will take the field with the season's records even, each having won and lost a game. N. Y. U. took its opener from Hobart, 26—0, only to bow to Brown last week, 13—0. Columbia, on the other hand, lost its initial game to Amherst 9—7 and took the second from Wesleyan, 10—0.

In Captain Weinheimer the Violet has a speedy back that managed to dodge through the whole Columbia backfield in last season's contest for a touchdown, although the University Heights lads met defeat in that game. Columbia pins her hopes on her two speedy backs, Koppisch and Moszczenski and the punting of Anderson at quarter.

Coach O'Neill had Gibb in at right tackle in yesterday's line-up, in place of Modarelli, but the change will probably not be permanent and the latter player will most likely start today. Burtt will most likely take the halfback position left open by Thornton, who was injured after the first game, with W. B. Johnson and De Stefano being held in reserve.

The Violet line is an uncertain factor with Macomber out of the game because of injuries. It is probable that Rosenberg or Horrigan will start the game in his place.

The probable line-up:

COLUMBIA.		N. Y. U.
Forsyth	L. E.	S. Adams
Myer	L. E.	Burkewitt
Walder	L. G.	Guiney
Scovil	C.	Adelstein
Calloway	R. G.	Horrigan
Modarelli	R. T.	Weatherdon
Brodil	R. E.	Bacile
Anderson	Q. B.	Schares
Koppisch	L. H. B.	Mayer
Burtt	R. H. B.	Weinheimer
Moszczenski	F. B.	Ryan

Referee—F. S. Bergen, Princeton. Umpire—J. J. Hennessy, Brown. Head linesman—C. Thurber, Colgate.

YALE OFFENSIVE IMPROVES.

Coaches Believe Blue Will Show Powerful Attack in Game Today.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—Yale will continue practically the same football line-up against Williams tomorrow which the team has used in its preliminary games since the season opened.

It is understood, however, that after the West Point match next week there will be a reorganization of the eleven for such prominent players as Cross, O'Hearn, Cutler, Neidlinger, Quaile and Batty, who have not been placed. Only during the past week has Blair, who was a month on the hospital list, been placed regularly at end.

Novices who will be given another tryout in their new places tomorrow are Becket, at quarterback; Guernsey, at guard; Deaver, at end, and Landis, at centre. It is probable that O'Hearn and Cross will be used in the second half tomorrow. Into is not in the best of condition, and Hidden will be used part of tomorrow's game.

Yale's offensive game has shown steady improvement this week, and the coaches believe that it will display against Williams the most varied use of the open running and aerial game displayed by any recent Yale team. Defensively the eleven has allowed such rivals as Vermont, Bates and North Carolina only one first down in three games, and its goal has yet to be threatened this Fall. Tomorrow's game will be the first between the two New England institutions in twenty-three years.

The officials will be: Referee, E. J. O'Brien, Tufts; umpire, F. L. Giltinger, Philadelphia; field judge, Edward J. Thorpe, De La Salle; head linesman, D. H. Watkeeys, Syracuse.

ILLINOIS AND IOWA ELEVENS TO CLASH

Will Meet in Leading Game of Today's Schedule for Conference Gridirons.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Western Conference football teams tomorrow will exchange thuds in a series of games of championship importance, the results of which will leave Middle Western gridiron followers fairly well informed as to what elevens are likely to be found near the top when the season ends.

Foremost among the contests is that between Illinois and Iowa at Iowa City. It will be the first Conference test for either eleven, and both are looked upon as championship contenders.

Iowa, with a 10-7 victory over Notre Dame last Saturday, is convinced that the time has come for the Hawkeyes to end the three-year string of Illinois victories, but will face the test with a crippled eleven. Locke, star fullback, is not expected to play tomorrow, and A. Devine, one of the best backs in the Conference, will go into the game with his jaw in a brace.

Illinois, facing its first important game, will enter the contest with its supporters insisting that the team has been too greatly handicapped by the loss of stars to be a favorite.

Next in importance will be the game at Columbus, Ohio, between Ohio State, last year's champions, and Minnesota. Ohio State, defeated by a minor college last week, is not expected to retain its title this year, and tomorrow's game will go a long way toward deciding whether the Buckeyes have any chance of being a contender. Minnesota will become a strong possibility in the championship race if it can beat Ohio by a comfortable score.

Wisconsin is expected to have an easy time with Northwestern, which already has been overwhelmed by Chicago and Minnesota, while Michigan should prove too strong for the non-Conference Michigan Aggies in the contest at Ann Arbor.

Purdue, which made a great showing while losing to Chicago, after sustaining a defeat the week previous by a minor college, will clash with Notre Dame in a contest which should definitely determine the strength of both.

Chicago has no game, but the squad will go through a stiff scrimmage in preparation for the game a week from Saturday with Princeton. Indiana also is idle.

HARVARD TO PLAY GEORGIA.

Crimson and Southerners Meet in Stadium Today.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 14.—Both the Harvard and University of Georgia football elevens worked out on Soldiers' Field this afternoon. The Crimson drill was long, but included only kicking and the smoothing out of play. The Southern team, which will match Harvard in weight, put on a fast afternoon's work and appeared to be well prepared for tomorrow's test in the Stadium.

The Harvard coaches will be unable to present their strongest front, although during the drill this afternoon Fisher put Tierney back at right tackle and he will play for at least a part of the game. Crocker will not be available for end, so that Fitts will have his first try-out on the wing and probably will do some of the kicking besides. Macomber, on the other wing, also will start the game, and this means that not a little overhead play will be used by the Crimson.

George Owen is not in the best of trim, but he will be in the first backfield with Jenkins and Rouillard, neither Gehrke nor Chapin just now being considered fit. Harvard had one really hard day's work this week and also no end of individual coaching. The eleven is expected to be stronger offensively than against Indiana last week, but minor injuries have held back many players who very much need the work and the coaching.

Georgia looked like one of Glenn Warner's teams today, having a heavy, shifty line and backs who work well together. Last week the Southerners were weak on defense against forward passes, but will have to be keen tomorrow, as the Crimson overhead play just now is smoother than its centre line and off tackle attack.

The Harvard line-up will be:

NEALE A DEVOUT COACH.

Tells W. and J. Football Supporters He Prays for Success Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 14.—"I am just an ordinary man, but I have never sent a team into a game without praying that my men would win and that they would not be hurt." This was one sentence of a remarkable speech made to the Washington and Jefferson undergraduates and football players at a big mass meeting tonight by Coach Earle Neale on the eve of the big game tomorrow afternoon with Carnegie Tech.

The Red and Black mentor appeared in a new role before the undergraduates. "Anything that is not worth praying for is not worth having," he told the biggest gathering of W. and J. students ever assembled, "and I am praying devoutly," he continued, "that Washington and Jefferson will win tomorrow. Maybe my prayers have not been backed up by the effort that is necessary, but I believe that this Washington and Jefferson team will redeem itself." Neale's speech, which was one of several made by prominent W. & J. men to the students, had a wonderful effect.

The coach was given the greatest ovation ever tendered a Red and Black mentor and when he finished his serious talk tears were streaming down his face.

Neale and Kellison gave the Presidents a final polishing off today for the Carnegie Tech battle. Every man was able to participate and the workout consisted in a rehearsal of all plays and a final drill in forming interference for men catching punts and kickoffs. No W. and J. team ever went into a game with greater determination than that which characterizes the Red and Black outfit tonight.

FORDHAM TO GET TEST.

Maroon Meets Strong Eleven Today In Villanova.

A line on the real merit of the Fordham football team will be obtained from this afternoon's clash at Fordham Field with Villanova. Last year the locals defeated the Pennsylvanians by a score of 12 to 6. If the Maroon warriors again succeed in beating Villanova, they will be conceded an even chance against Lafayette, which they meet next Saturday at the Polo Grounds.

The Bronxites, however, will have no easy time this afternoon, for the Villanova aggregation is an extremely heavy and aggressive outfit. Their two games of the season have resulted in easy victories over Ursinus and Pennsylvania Millitary College, two of last year's strongest "small college" teams. Finn, Villanova fullback, is declared by competent critics to be one of the best all-round playing backs in the East. In the game against Pennsylvania Millitary College he made two successive runs, one for 90 yards, the other for 110 yards. Two other Villanova men of whom much is expected, are Lynch, an end, and McDonald, a halfback.

The Fordham line-up as announced yesterday by Joe DuMoe is as follows:

Seitz and Woodward, ends; Larkin and Brennan, tackles; Walbridge and Whitmore, guards; Bowler, centre; Connifff, quarterback; Meyers and Schlickenmeyer, halfs, and Thornton, fullback.

Western College Not Likely To Sever Athletic Relations

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—Sentiment in favor of shelving petitions circulated at the University of Minnesota calling for abandonment of athletic relations with Northwestern University was growing among students today. The petitions charged unsportsmanlike tactics by Northwestern players in last week's game with Minneapolis in which Arnold Oss, Gopher halfback, was injured. The change in student feeling was said to have followed a report that Oss and other members of the team were opposed to them. Oss is still confined to a hospital with his injured leg, but may resume football practice in another week or two.

KIECKHEFER VICTOR IN BILLIARD MATCH

Defeats Cannefax, 50 to 37, in Three-Cushion Title Tourney—De Oro Wins.

STANDING IN NATIONAL THREE-CUSHION TOURNEY.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — August Kieckhefer of Chicago was in good form this afternoon when he defeated Robert L. Cannefax of New York, 50 to 37, in sixty innings, in the three-cushion billiard championship tourney, which ends tomorrow. Kieckhefer's nigh run was 5 while that of the loser was 4. The Chicago man was trailing in the early part of the game, but he was more consistent in his shooting than his opponent, and soon went into the lead. He scored 9 points in the last six innings, and the issue was never in doubt after the thirtieth inning.

The score by innings:

Alfredo de Oro was also in excellent form, and easily disposed of Charles (Cowboy) Weston by a score of 50 to 36 in fifty-four innings. De Oro had a high run of 7, and, in addition, had a 5, a 4 and two 3s. He started with a 3, taking the lead, as Weston tallied but once in the first six innings. De Oro chalked up 21 points in the first eleven innings, and this seemed to take the heart out of Weston, who made some very poor shots. Weston seemed to grow careless toward the end of the game, when he saw that the Cuban was unbeatable. The latter ended the game with an unfinished run of 2.

The score by innings:

Weston—0 0 0 1 0 0 1 1 2 0 0 1 2 0 0 3 0 3 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 3 4 0 2 0 0 2 1 0 0 0 2 1—36.

Kieckhefer kept up his winning form tonight when he defeated Jiff Denton by a score of 50 to 33 in 47 innings. He had a high run of 5 and was a consistent scorer throughout, taking the lead in the first inning and never relinquishing it. Denton secured a high run of 4 and three times scored a 3, but was always far in the rear.

In the second game of the evening John Layton maintained his standing at the top of the column with Kieckhefer when he defeated Bob Cannefax 50 to 41 in a long drawn out game, 75 innings being required to complete the score. Layton's best was 5, while that of Cannefax was 4. The latter was in the lead by six points when they entered the forties, but the champion showed his form by scoring eight points in the last three innings and ran out a winner.

LEAVES FOR ANNAPOLIS.

Princeton Squad Given Noisy Send-Off by Student Body.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 14.—Princeton's football team left for Annapolis this morning while hundreds of undergraduates cheered them to the echo. A big crowd was assembled by '79 Hall as the members of the eleven climbed in the auto buses that took them to the station at Princeton Junction, and the send-off rivaled that at the time of a Yale or Harvard game.

There were thirty-two men, in addition to the coaching staff of six, two undergraduates managers and a trainer. The team practiced this afternoon at Johns Hopkins Field in Baltimore.

Lourie, who was injured in the Colgate game, was included in the squad but was walking with a cane, having discarded his crutches yesterday. Snively and Garrity both limped. There is not a possibility of Snively's playing, but some Princetonians are noping against hope that the line smashing Garrity may get into the fray before it is all over.

Both Snively and Garrity were in uniform yesterday for the first time in nearly two weeks, neither having been on the field since the Swarthmore game on Oct. 1.

All of the men are in good condition except the three mentioned above, and while all realize the difficulties ahead of them, they feel with the undergraduates here that Princeton will win by a very small score. The practice this week has been fairly light, with only two days of real hard work, on Tuesday and Wednesday. Just how much improvement has been made remains to be seen.

NAVY READY FOR TIGERS.

Coach Folwell Holds Final Practice for Princeton Game.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 14.—With the final practice of the week over, Coach Folwell of the Naval Academy football team was assured that the full strength of the squad would be at his disposal for the game against Princeton tomorrow, the big contest of the local season. The physical condition of the squad is prime, and an abundance of high-grade substitutes insures that the team will be kept at high speed under any contingency.

FISHERMEN'S TRIAL OFF HALIFAX TODAY

First Race to Select Challenger for Esperanto's Cup—Eight Schooners Entered.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 14.—Haddock and cod can make merry in Nova Scotian waters tomorrow, for the fishermen who make submarine life just one long chase have hung up their nets for a day of sport.

Jackknives were being wagered tonight against salty slickers on the results of the elimination trials which will determine the smartest schooner in Nova Scotian fishing fleets. For this lucky craft will meet the Elsie, out of Gloucester, off this port Oct. 22 for the blue ribbon of the North Atlantic. This bit of satin figuratively tacked to the foretop of the American schooner Esperanto, came fluttering into Massachusetts waters last year when the first races went to the Yankees.

Eight prospective Bluenose challengers will get away at tomorrow's gun for a 40-mile tussle. The challenger will be picked by a point system; eight for first place, seven for second, six for third, five for fourth, four for fifth, three for sixth, two for seventh and one for eighth.

But old salts are shaking their heads over the question of when is a winner not a winner. For if Canadia, skippered by Captain Joseph Conrad, or Independence, handled by Captain Albert Himmelman, should win the elimination trials, there is serious doubt as to whether either would be permitted to compete in the international race because of their waterline length. A limit of 117 feet has been set, and sailormen assert an elastic tape would be needed to qualify this pair of racers.

In case the winners should be disqualified, the Canadian Race Committee will pick as the challenger the schooner making the next best showing in the preliminaries.

In addition to a trophy emblematic of the Canadian championship, the octet will race for six money prizes; $1,000 for first place; $700 for second; $500 for third, and three prizes of $400 each for the next three boats. In the event of the two races resulting in a tie for any prize, the vessels tied must race off.

The ordinary rules of the road will prevail, the only stipulation being that if a competing vessel fouls a buoy making the course or any other competing vessel during the race, she shall be disqualified. There will be no complicated system of timing, such as prevails in other international races.

The course will be chosen from four possibilities an hour before the race. All these courses are triangular and have for their apex the inner automatic buoy off the mouth of Halifax harbor. Wind conditions at the start of each race will determine the selection of the course, the intention being to select the one that will give the greatest amount of windward work.

The names of the eight schooners entered in the race follow: Una R. Corkum, Captain Freeman Corkum; Bluenose, Captain Angus Walters; J. Duffy, Captain Spindler; Donald J. Cook, Captain William Cook; Independence, Captain Himmelman; Canadia, Captain Joseph Conrad; Alcala, Captain Roland Knickle; Delawana, Captain David Backman.

The second elimination test will be held on Monday.

STEVENS ELEVEN ON EDGE.

To Play Springfield College on Hoboken Gridiron Today.

After a week of stiff practice the Stevens football team will make its third effort of the season to break into the scoring column this afternoon when it engages Springfield College on Castle Point Field at Hoboken. Despite the two early season shut-outs that the Engineers have received, they are far from disheartened, and, with a strengthened line-up today, they expect to send the invaders back to Massachusetts on the short end of the score.

The acquisition of Johnny Bray and Edward Mowton, two of last year's stars, who had not appeared for practice until the past week, has greatly strengthened the back field. Herty is again at half and McCaffrey continues at quarter. Bowers, a freshman, is putting up a great fight for one of the end positions and Coach Durborow, breaking his usual reserve yesterday, said that he had high hopes for him.

The line has improved a great deal in the past week and Line Coach Clark for the first time this season expressed himself as satisfied with conditions.

The probable line-up for today's game follows:

Ends, Emerson and Provost; tackles, Capt. Busch and Moller; guards, Dillon and Emslie; centre, Laverle; halfbacks, Herty and Bajusz; fullback, Mowton; quarterback, McCaffrey.

INJURIES HAMPER RUTGERS.

Many New Faces in Line-Up That Will Face W. and L. Today.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 14.—A number of new faces will appear in the Rutgers line-up against Washington and Lee tomorrow, as injuries to his men have compelled Coach Sanford to save his regulars for the Georgia Tech game next week.

Kahle and Gardner are both out with injuries. Waite and Chandler, two new men who have shown promise, will be in the backfield with Captain Duffy and Maloney. Scudder will substitute for Kahle at centre, and Breckwith and Smith will be new men at guard. Raub and Feller will play the tackles, with Dickinson and Brennan on the ends.

The Washington and Lee team arrived here tonight with a squad of twenty-five men all in good shape. Rutgers will probably use the same plunging attack that almost proved successful against Lehigh last week, but it will probably be more varied with forward passes and open plays.

PENN STATE ELEVEN READY.

Holds Final Drill for Lehigh Game —Gov. Sproul at Mass Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 14.—With hundreds of alumni already on hand for the big alumni homecoming football game with Lehigh tomorrow, a huge mass meeting was staged tonight to instill pep into the Penn State eleven for the hardest home game of the season. Governor Sproul and other officials attended the meeting.

Coach Bezdek wound up the work of preparation for Lehigh late this afternoon, and announced that all of the Penn State players were in good shape. Signal work occupied most of the time.

The Penn State line-up will probably be:

SYRACUSE COACH INJURED.

Robertson's Ankle Broken When He Is Tackled in Practice.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Announcement was made at Syracuse University today that Harry Robertson, captain of the 1920 Orange eleven and coach of this year's freshman team, had suffered a fractured ankle when he was tackled in practice. Robertson, a former all-American centre, played high school, freshman and three years of varsity football without a serious injury.

IMPROVISED FARMER SENATORS.

Senator HARRISON of Mississippi has selected himself gadfly of the Senate. He is constantly darting at and stinging the Republican Senators. His taste is not always sure and his effectiveness is often questionable. But he was both humorous and pungent the other day when he twitted the Republican managers with their abject surrender on the Tax bill to the agricultural bloc. He drew a picture of Senator LODGE as the sudden leader of the embattled farmer Senators which must have provoked a smile even on the austere countenance of the Massachusetts Senator. And Mr. HARRISON'S account of Senator PENROSE discovering overnight that he loved the agricultural Senators passionately, and placing himself for guidance in the hands of Senator CAPPER, must have made the hardened official stenographers chuckle as they took it down.

The real point of this raillery lies in its truth. The hearers who laughed at the idea of the severe Boston aristocrat placing himself at the head of the sons of toil must have asked themselves as soon as they quieted down whether Senator HARRISON'S main charge was not well founded. The Republican majority of the Finance Committee have, in fact, been forced to surrender. They introduced and urgently pressed the Tax bill upon which they had agreed as the perfection of the wisdom of the best minds. It was to be the party measure, for which all Republican Senators must vote or lose their good and regular standing. This was the haughty attitude of the Senate leaders for several days. But then they took fright at a revolt which broke out against their leadership. A meeting of the agricultural bloc was held at Senator CAPPER'S house, and issued an ultimatum to Senator PENROSE, Chairman of the Finance Committee. It was that he must withdraw his bill for repairs and shove up the income surtaxes, or else the rebellious Republican Senators would join with the Democrats and defeat the bill altogether. Instantly PENROSE and LODGE climbed down.

Now, it is one thing to be compelled to give in to an organized revolt within the party, but quite another to pretend to like it and to be perfectly happy about it. Yet that was the course of self-stultification which Senator LODGE chose to follow. Both he and Senator PENROSE described the taxes which the bloc rammed down their throats as exactly the sort of thing they had been longing for all the time. It was this unedifying spectacle that invited Senator HARRISON'S jesting comments. But serious protests will reach these Eastern Senators who quit ignominiously before the threats of the Westerners, abandoned positions which they knew to be vital to business recovery, and turned their backs on the solemn and specific pledges of the Republican platform.

MR. HARDING ON POSTMASTERS.

Only to a sudden exuberance caused by the fact that he was speaking to a convention of Postmasters and postal employes can be attributed Mr. HARDING'S curious language and return to bygone political customs. He knew all about Postmasters, he said, long before he came to the Presidency. He "used to help pick them in the good old days." "I want to say that I'm not adverse to Postmasters being interested in politics. If any one ever comes to me and says he is seeking a postmastership and has no party affiliation, he is going to be wiped off the slate right away. I'd rather have a hard-boiled Democrat than a yellow Republican." Mr. HARDING must have been suffering from a queer relapse into the past. What has a postmastership to do with party affiliations? Does Mr. HARDING ask in regard to the directorship of a corporation in Marion if a person is a hard-boiled Democrat, a yellow Republican, a professional prohibitionist?

He takes the best man he can find without regard to political considerations. So, essentially, he does, or is getting on the way to doing, in regard to first, second and third class Postmasters. Last Spring Mr. HARDING modified to a certain extent Mr. WILSON'S executive order of March 31, 1917, placing first, second and third class Postmasters under the civil service. The only ground for disapproval that the National Civil Service Reform League could find in this modification was the requirement that, after the examinations had been rated and the results certified by the Civil Service Commission to the Postmaster General, he "shall submit to the President the name of one of the highest three qualified eligibles for appointment." It was the fear of the league that selection from the first three on the eligible list might be regarded by Democrats and Republicans as a sort of official notification that only Republicans with the ancient "influence" or "pull" would be appointed.

That fear has not been justified. Postmaster General HAYS has shown no tendency to resort to the old system of favoritism. Mr. HARDING wrote in an entirely different sense from that in which he somewhat hastily talked. He said that an act of Congress was necessary to make the postmasterships actually what in legal intention they are, "business agencies of the Government." Obviously, business agencies can have nothing to do with hard-boiled Democrats or yellow Republicans. Mr. HARDING properly said that his order was "a step forward." The Republican platform of 1920 renewed the "repeated declaration that the Civil Service law shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable." The Republican Party and Mr. HARDING are thoroughly committed to civil service reform and to its enlargement. Mr. HARDING'S amiable remarks must be attributed to the former prejudices of "the great rural community" in which he is proud that he began life. But not even in rural communities has the fact failed to penetrate that postmasterships are properly business agencies.

THE CONTRACT AND THE PLAN.

Controller CRAIG'S criticism of the Transit Commission's plan for the settlement of the city's transit troubles is intellectually more respectable than the previous official declarations that no plan from that source would be considered. The Controller takes the position that the city's written contract completely covers the situation, and that no modification of it is practicable. If that is the case, equality of reasoning would require him to make a like concession regarding the commission's substitute contract under its plan. But the Controller wanders far from the commission's plan, and, even when he confines himself to it, he puts forward possibilities of misadventure under it as conclusive arguments against it. As the Mayor is to name three of seven members of the Board of Control, and as the balance of power is to be held by a member not appointed in the interest of the companies, the assumption that the city will be victimized is gratuitous. The assumption that past victimization of the public by security juggling may be repeated by the Board of Control is offensive rather than merely gratuitous. Certainly the errors of the past could not have happened under the proposed contract.

The Controller is entitled to his views upon the city's debt margin. Others are entitled to their differing views. Many who are puzzled by the differences of opinion would rather see the tractions put on a self-sustaining basis, and the city's borrowing capacity enlarged by a quarter billion, than see the city plunged further into debt in an investment which now involves a tax burden on interest account of ten millions. Fair-minded people will regard as indefensible the Controller's refusal to consider anything except the contract. There have been 625 cases in which contracts have been modified in favor of tractions under as many differing sets of conditions. None of them is exactly like New York's position and therefore decisive of it. But when New York stands alone against 625 others there is a suggestion stronger than any of the Controller's that he is as much in error as the city itself. Modifications, of course, call for mutual concessions to fit the altered conditions. The commission's plan gives and takes. The Controller emphasizes the city's doubtful losses, omits consideration of the city's by-profits outside the contract represented in billions of taxable values, and disregards the sacrifices by the companies. The tractions' claim to relief does indeed lie outside the contract. They were ordered to raise wages, and did so. Permission to raise fares was refused, although that was officially recommended. They are suffering now less for their misdeeds than for their patriotic obedience to orders in the national interest. That has been recognized in hundreds of other cities which have acted accordingly. New York is unique in contrary action. Only haters of the tractions can think that creditable to New York, or can follow the Controller's argument.

DEBORAH'S LAST CALL.

Mr. BANNARD'S reported—or invented—statement to the effect that it would be a miracle if Mr. CURRAN, though the best man that could possibly have been nominated, were to win, seems a severe reflection upon democratic government. But Mr. BANNARD evidently thought that the women might work the miracle.

Those who have biblical memories would do well to recall the story of DEBORAH and BARAK. Things had come to such a pass in their little land that it seemed impossible to get rid of the ruler into whose hands the people had been "sold." But a woman arose. Her name was DEBORAH, and she was a prophetess. She called upon BARAK to go out against the enemy. And the man said: "If thou wilt go with me, then I will go; but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go." And DEBORAH replied: "I will surely go with thee." So it was that the battle was won and a new song of triumph given to literature.

We suggest that Commissioner WALLIS turn to this scriptural story and refresh his memory, particularly as to what happened to the inhabitants of Meroz who perfidiously backed out and came not to "the help of the Lord against the mighty" only at the last moment. Meanwhile, it is to be remembered by all others that today is the last day in which BARAK can respond to DEBORAH'S call, and the last day in which DEBORAH herself can effectively say, "Surely, I will go with thee," for it is the last day of registration.

MYTHICAL RUSSIAN TRADE.

If confession is good for the soul, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer must feel morally improved. For he has just confessed that the famous trade agreement made by the English Government with Soviet Russia has come to nothing except weariness and vexation of spirit. The thing has been tried out for several months, but the sad fact is, now officially admitted, that the Russians have no goods to export, could not transport them from the interior if they had, and that what gold they possess the Soviets prefer to spend in foreign propaganda rather than in the purchase of supplies from abroad.

Parallel with this British governmental experience is that of private English enterprise. The head of a house with large trade connections, Mr. URQUHART, has been spending several weeks in Moscow endeavoring to make business arrangements with the Soviets. He had formerly had interests in Russia which he desired to reclaim and develop. He was also in a position to turn important trade in a Russian direction. But he finally threw over the whole negotiation in despair, and returned to London to announce to his associates that "it is impossible to do business with the Soviets."

So ends the perilous experiment upon which LLOYD GEORGE entered in order to appease the Labor Party in England, and for the sake of protecting Persia and India from Bolshevist seditious propaganda. The promises to refrain from the latter which he got from Moscow have proved false as diceys' oaths, as Lord CURZON recently informed the Soviet Government in a severe note. And the trade which was to give employment to English labor turns out to be entirely mythical. In view of this fiasco, now acknowledged, it is a satisfaction to recall the fact that in vain was the Soviet net spread in sight of the American bird. The firm and clear position taken by Secretary COLBY last year, and maintained by Mr. HUGHES this year, in refusing to deal with the Soviets, appears more than ever justified by the melancholy break-down of the plans foolishly adopted by the British Government.

A PASSIONATE AMERICAN.

It is a hopeful fact that an immigrant child should have become the most ardent in his manhood love of America and the most passionate in his desire to bring others to love as he the land which his parents adopted for him. FRANKLIN KNIGHT LANE was born on Prince Edward's Island in Canada. It was often said that he might have been President of the United States had he not been ineligible because of his foreign birth. As it was, he became, as Secretary of the Interior, the official and very practical and efficient guardian of all that America reserved to itself of its once vast public estates. He also became the embodiment and voice of an American idealism which clothes with a garment of praise every commonplace of its life. His apostrophe to the flag is already an American classic. His departmental reports were written with the accuracy of an engineer, but with the vision of a political philosopher. And he gave himself so unselfishly, so generously, so abundantly to the public service that when he gave up public office it was with the thought of making an income that would care for those who were naturally dependent upon him; but illness and death came upon him before he had barely begun. So it is that men and women of the America to which he gave such devoted and brilliant service are asked to contribute to a fund that shall provide for his widow during her lifetime, and then carry on the work of making Americans of all who live in America, whether native-born or foreign-born.

In Mr. LANE'S last days he was taking the leadership in the unique patriotic enterprise known as "America's Making," an exposition and festival to which he gave his name. In this exposition, to be held in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory beginning the 29th of October, these racial groups are to exhibit the contributions, so far as they can be visualized, which their ancestral countries have severally made to the development of what is now their common country: Armenian, Belgian, Carpatho-Russian, Czechoslovak, Danish, Dutch, English, Esthonian, Finnish, French, German, Greek, Hispanic, Hungarian, Icelandic, Irish, Italian, Jugoslavic, Lettish, Lithuanian, Negro, Norwegian, Polish, Portuguese, Rumanian, Russian, Scottish, Swedish, Swiss, Syrian, Ukrainian and Welsh. It is a pentecost of peoples, gathered under the impulse of the love of their adopted land, bringing the gifts which they have racially developed. New York, in giving its support to this festival, is also helping on a memorial to him who so notably illustrated America's highest aspirations.

PRAYERS FOR PEACE.

The churches of America are asking for the observance of the 11th of November, not only in remembrance of those whom the Unknown Soldier represents, but also in prayer that the hope which was in his heart may not be buried with him. Every official encouragement should be given to the free, full and ardent expression of the nation's heart in its petition for the success of the conference in which America has taken the initiative. Americans will not be alone in their prayers and their hopes, for like hopes and prayers will rise from every people touched by the great war.

It is significant that it was a Buddhist priest who followed a delegation from the churches of America in calling upon the President in this cause a few days ago. General PERSHING has said that, unless "some such move is made" as is contemplated in the conference, "we may well ask ourselves whether we are doomed to go headlong down through destructive war and darkness into barbarism." General TASKER BLISS has assured the clergymen that if they want to secure a limitation of armaments they can do it now; and that if it is not done, they and those whom they represent will be responsible for every drop of blood shed if another great war such as the last does come. This is no time for citizens whose vocations are those of peace to hesitate. It is a time for showing faith and hope. "Well have we need of many orisons."

LABOR UNION HONOR.

The national body of the United Mine Workers has suspended the district officers who ordered a strike in contempt of the laws and courts in Kansas and of the orders of the union. President LEWIS explains that the action is taken because the strike was in violation of the contract between the miners and their employers in Kansas by individuals lacking in "respect for the honor of their organization or the principles of fair dealing among men." That is honest unionism. Yet President LEWIS finds his action condemned within the union which he heads. The Kansas miners are split into two bodies, and the disaffection is spreading to adjoining districts. LEWIS'S presidential rival, FARRINGTON, denounces LEWIS'S "arrogance" and proclaims an intention to organize a rival miners' organization. The miners of FARRINGTON'S Illinois district are said to have contributed $100,000 in support of HOWAT'S strike against the Kansas Industrial Court law, and the dispute may split the strongest union in the country.

The nominal dispute in which HOWAT martyrized himself concerns a single individual on an issue too trivial to detail, and has been decided by the Industrial Court in favor of the miner. The real issue is the wrecking of the law or of the United Mine Workers. The union cannot afford to wreck itself on an issue without merit. It has on its hands an issue for which it needs all its strength. LEWIS contends that a contract binds both sides. The doctrine which he sustains in Kansas binds the operators to continue payments of coal miners' wages through the Winter and throughout the country. If the union splits over the Kansas contract, it risks the national contract which now hangs in the balance. LEWIS may rejoice that his rivals have raised an issue of the Kansas sort. Friends of the better sort of unionism must wish him a good deliverance from his present troubles.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

An American Soldier on "Three Soldiers."

An excellent article by CONINGSBY DAWSON on Mr. DOS PASSOS'S "Three Soldiers" was printed in THE MAGAZINE AND BOOK REVIEW section of THE TIMES last Sunday. In it the book was treated from the standpoint of a commissioned officer whose service had been with the Canadians, a force composed of men so little different from those in the American Army that knowledge of how they reacted to the war enabled an observer who had it confidently to assume that the reactions of our men were much the same. This assumption enabled Lieutenant DAWSON to express the indignation and disgust which "Three Soldiers" had caused him to feel, and to condemn it as false and slanderous—an insult to the American Army.

His comment, however, was from the outside, as it were, and THE TIMES therefore will print tomorrow a like condemnation which is not open to that sort of criticism from those who have been praising "Three Soldiers" as a true picture of war as it was encountered by young Americans. The writer of this second review was in the A. E. F. from the time of his enlistment a few weeks after we entered the war; he went overseas in May, 1918, and from then until the armistice he was an active participant in the fighting on the very front line—in Lorraine, Champagne, the Aisne-Marne and the Argonne. He had no commission, but served first as corporal and later as sergeant, so that his was the closest possible view of our soldiers during the hardest and most terrible of their experiences abroad. He not only saw them—he was one of them.

His testimony differs from that of Lieutenant DAWSON only in that his condemnation of "Three Soldiers" is more emphatic, less restrained. He admits the vividness of the descriptions in it, as every reader must; he does not deny the accuracy of the details as possible or actual happenings in any army in time of war; but he insists that its spirit, its implications, its conclusions, are all utterly wrong—that the characters in the book are exceptional, not typical—that the truth in it is not true because it is not the whole truth nor even a large part of it.

What Makes True Sensitiveness?

Defenders of the "Three Soldiers" will say that its author, a more than ordinarily sensitive man, naturally gave his hero a like quality and that its assailants lack it. That claim is obviously absurd as regards Lieutenant DAWSON, and it is really not less absurd in regard to Mr. DENNY. Both of them are quite as capable as Mr. Dos Passos of hating the horrors of war, of fretting under the sternness of discipline, of loathing the promiscuity of barracks, the mud of the trenches. As a matter of fact, they are not less, but more, sensitive than the John Andrews who fairly can be taken as expressing the feelings of Mr. Dos PASSOS himself. They were sensitive, as he was not, to the larger meaning of the war; they saw its object, they realized that the alternative to it was submission to German aggression and domination, and they paid the price of victory, whatever it might be.

This is as far as possible from being callous—from being "militarist"—from delighting in slaughter—from failing to appreciate the superiority of peace to war.

A Stupid Plot Has Failed.

Conviction was the only possible end of a fair trial for the woman who tried to get $69,000 from Colonel ROOSEVELT'S executors on the claim that he had borrowed that amount from her in 1912 and signed a note for it. To anybody who knew the Colonel and the conditions that existed at the time when this transaction was said to have taken place, it was as evident before the trial as now that the note was a forgery, and that no such loan ever had been asked or made.

Mrs. BURKETT'S counsel wanted to enter in her defense the plea of insanity, but she refused to let him.

The Judge said in his charge to the jury that there is a "kink" in the mind of every criminal, and that, of course, is true. Perhaps this woman's mind is a little more "kinked" than that of some other evildoers, for the forging of this note was not the first attempt at swindling of which she has been convicted. But mad, in any ordinary sense of that word, there is no reason for supposing her to be. Abnormally stupid she must be to expect such a plot as hers to succeed, but her stupidity did not reach the point of irresponsibility, and the jurymen could have asked "extreme mercy" for her only because she is a woman and because she made nothing out of her scheme.

The Roosevelt executors are to be commended for not trying to avoid annoyance and expense through compromise, and for fighting the case through, exactly as the Colonel would have done.

Allied Debts and Disarmament.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Has the suggestion been made, in connection with the forthcoming disarmament conference, that America might entertain a plan by which cancellation of the Allies' debt to her might be made progressively with world disarmament? This cancellation would be America's gift to the world of the best guaranty of future peace in the laying down of arms.

IN THE TENDER IRISH WEATHER.

Oh! the calm, brown mountain and the endless miles of heather,
And the rugged, grave horizon where the white clouds roll;
And my cheek against the soft cheek of
the tender Irish weather,
And in all the space around me not a soul—not a soul!

There the skylark and the blackbird and the linnet sing together,
With ne'er a one to still them, nor human voice to speak—
Oh! 'tis long since I have lulled me in the tender Irish weather,
And my heart is hot within me for the touch of her cheek!

But they say that on the mountain
where I've lain among the heather,
With the plover's note a-mourning
thro' the haze of blue,
That the cold and dead are lying in the soft-cheeked Irish weather,
And oh! my heart is breaking for the mountain that I knew!

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS.

Lessons Taught by the War Should Be Heeded Now.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is indeed refreshing to read, in this morning's issue of THE TIMES, your excellent editorial dealing with the Lasker (Hoover?) proposal to hand over public property to private interests, in the form of Shipping Board vessels at $1 per vessel per month, in the deluded hope that by so doing a permanent American export coal trade may be established against foreign competition. Your warning of the inevitable result of such a procedure is timely.

You cite, as the most modern example of the failure of such policy, the incident which took place in 1871-73 between France and this country.

May I call your attention to the fact that there happened a much more recent incident of this character, particulars of which you may consider it advisable to publish and comment upon?

Some fifteen or twenty years ago, Germany took umbrage at Canada for the making of some sort of reciprocal trade agreement with France and, in retaliation, placed an import duty upon Canadian wheat.

Canada "came back" instantly with what was known as the "German surtax," consisting of the imposition of an additional duty of 33 1-3 per cent. on all goods of every nature entering Canada from Germany.

The net result of this discriminatory legislation was the ruination of German-Canadian trade and, after the quarrel had lasted some two or three years, discriminatory trade legislation was abandoned as between Canada and Germany to the advantage of both countries.

By all means let us have less Government interference in business affairs. During the late war, the business men of every allied country had ample opportunity to observe failure after failure on the part of Government departments attempting to replace the ordinary business man in the conduct of the simplest business problems.

Wages and the War.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In some unaccountable way there seems to have become fixed in your mind the idea that the working people of this country benefited largely as the result of the changed relations brought about by the war. With this obsession as a starting point, you proceed to denounce organized labor for being unwilling, at a time when all other classes are making sacrifices, "to concede a jot of what it won during the war." "Labor alone," you say, "will not share the common sacrifice necessary to bring back prewar conditions." After all the assurances he received from those in high places that a new world was forming, the workman may doubt that he altogether wishes pre-war conditions brought back. Aside from this point, however, may I point out that results based on a careful collation of figures do not justify your assumption that the workingman fared so well because of the war. An article in The American Economic Review says: "All the evidence seems to indicate that at the termination of the Great War the return in commodities which the American workman received for actual length of time worked was from 10 to 20 per cent. less than it was in the decade 1890-1899, and from 7 to 17 per cent. less than it was before the sharp upward movement of prices in 1916. The purchasing power of the established week's work, moreover, was from 20 to 30 per cent. less than in the 90s, and from 10 to 20 per cent. less than in 1915. American labor as a whole cannot legitimately be charged with having profiteered during the war. Rather, like Alice in Wonderland, it was compelled to run faster in order to stay in one place."

The foregoing conclusion was based upon a mass of figures taken from a wide field of industries. The publication has a high standing among economists and cannot be regarded as "radical" or "pro-labor" in its character.

An article in The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science for September, also after presenting carefully collated statistics, expresses the following view: "During the last six years the workers in the United States were in as favorable a position as they are likely, from present indications, to enjoy in many years. The war witnessed a period of the most intense industrial activity. Great numbers of workers were withdrawn for military service and immigration was practically suspended. Everywhere there were more jobs than men to fill them. In spite of these favorable conditions, the above statistics seem to indicate that the lot of the wage earner witnessed little material improvement. The facts available seem to bear out the contention that wages are the last to follow the rise in prices and are first to come down when the slump begins."

Transfers His Fortune.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have just completed transferring my entire fortune of $500,000 into tax-exempt bonds, netting me 5 per cent., and now feel that I don't care what the politicians at Washington do to the taxpayers. Owing to the pre-election promises of both Republican and Democratic Parties to reduce the cost of Government and taxes, I held off for a while to see what our "statesmen" were going to do after they got into office. Now I am convinced that the taxpayer will get no relief from the present lot at Washington, and have made up my mind to take no chances in any business with my capital. If you engage in any business and happen to make good Uncle Sam is a preferred partner; if you lose Uncle Sam shares not in your losses. That the taxpayers of this and other countries stand so meekly for all this outrageous taxation is a mystery to me.

If the taxpayers were organized like the farmers or the workers perhaps there might be a taxpayers' bloc as well as a farmers' or labor union bloc. One thing is sure, however, there will be no "good times" or full dinner pails in the country as long as we have surtaxes and profit taxes.

Any man who would risk his capital and contribute his time and energy to make money and then have to give up to the Government from one-third to a half of his earnings ought to have his head examined.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me, through you, to express my appreciation of the letter of Albert R. Gallatin in your issue of the 9th. His analysis and warnings are sound, wise and unanswerable. May I suggest that he accept the addition to his recommendations of the vital necessity of the inclusion in all education of a sense of moral responsibility as a basic principle, coupled with the correction of what Dr. William S. Rainsford many years ago declared to be a menace to civilization, namely, "a light regard for the law," from which spring graft, greed, deception and unfairness?

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

Opposition to Introducing the British System in the Industries of This Country.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A recent article on "Unemployment," by Ernest G. Draper, President of the American Creosoting Company and member of the Committee on Industrial Relations of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, published in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sept. 11, 1921, calls for some comments. When, in reference to unemployment, Mr. Draper says, "the responsibility for corrective action lies, in large measure, on the managers of industry," he hits the nail on the head. When he goes on to advocate particular measures for the prevention of unemployment, he is still on safe ground. But when he comes to deal with the subject of unemployment insurance, he wanders off into a field of uncertainty and danger.

He advocates a plan of compulsory unemployment insurance, "under the supervision of a State board," concluding that:

"The simplest way to characterize it as a whole is to say that in its own field it would operate much as the workmen's compensation laws now operate to cut down the number and severity of accidents."

But that conclusion is an assumption, contrary to experience. In Great Britain, for some nine years, they have had compulsory unemployment insurance, "under the supervision of a State board," but certainly that insurance, so far from tending to reduce unemployment, has materially increased it. It is true that the insurance has palliated the evil; but it has propagated the evil it palliates, until now, after wasting vast sums in insurance and doles, the British Government has at last awakened from its delusions and is seeking to cure unemployment.

Mr. Draper complains that, in this country, the opponents of his plan of insurance are very numerous, including a majority of employers and "curiously enough, Mr. Gompers of the American Federation of Labor." And he goes on to say:

"It is Mr. Gompers's opinion that such insurance will make pensioners out of the unemployed laborers, that in hard times it will create a class who will look upon the State as a huge charitable agency and that this attitude will gradually break down the keenness and aggressiveness for which union labor has been so well known in the past. The argument is as specious as it is misleading."

But in truth that argument is neither specious nor misleading. The testimony is overwhelming that compulsory, State-managed insurance does create pension mania, does foster a spirit of dependency on the State as a charitable agency, and does tend, to some extent, to divert the wage workers' movement away from its proper goals into a scramble for political spoils. Mr. Draper may legitimately argue that the advantages of his plan of insurance outweigh its disadvantages; but he forfeits all claim to confidence when, in effect, he flatly denies its unquestionable disadvantages.

Mr. Draper goes on to say:

"It is no more a 'charitable' act for a worker out of employment to accept unemployment insurance than for the same worker to accept fire insurance when his house burns down or accident insurance when he breaks his leg. And even if all Mr. Gompers says is true, would be better for any human being to be aided in time of acute distress than to be left to starve, even if the aid comes from such an impersonal source as the State."

In this passage Mr. Draper indicates a purpose that his plan of unemployment insurance shall be used by the State as a medium for the distribution of poor relief when and as needed. But there are strong grounds for the belief that insurance and poor relief do not mix to advantage, that it is better to keep insurance for the self-sufficient workers clean and pure from all taint of poor relief, and to help the necessitous by separate systems of relief. A worker who accepts unemployment insurance for which he (or his employer, as part of his remuneration) has paid the fair premium, like the worker who accepts fire insurance when his house burns down, receives no "charity." But, contrary to Mr. Draper's contention, a worker who accepts benefits from an insurance fund that is State aided, at the expense of the taxpayers, does receive "charity." And it is certainly pauperizing to force the self-sufficient wage workers into a position where they must forego the benefits of an insurance to which they have contributed or accept of such charity. The alternative is not, as Mr. Draper implies, to leave the unemployed to starve. They can be helped in other ways. Indeed, even with Mr. Draper's plan of insurance in operation, large proportions of the out-of-works would have to be helped in other ways, anyhow. For, as British experience demonstrates, a normal plan of unemployment insurance cannot provide for the lower grade casuals and the unemployable, for the soldiers and surplus workers in war industries demobilized after great wars, or for the large masses of workers who are thrown out of employment in periods of extraordinary industrial depression.

In the discussions of this subject in America too little attention has been given to a vital feature of insurance. Where workers (or workers and their employers) voluntarily contribute to establish workmen's insurance funds, they own the funds and can prescribe the conditions to the right to benefits to suit themselves. But where the funds are maintained by compulsory contributions—i. e., by taxation—the State, in effect, owns the funds and prescribes the conditions to the right to benefits and can and will change such conditions as party expediency or political pressure may from time to time dictate. It is the conditions to the right to benefits that American labor is rightly alarmed about. Those conditions can be made such as to interfere seriously with the independence and dignity of the wage worker and with his power to organize. With sickness, old-age and survivors' insurance established on the same plan, and a large percentage of the workers' earnings taken over by the State to maintain such insurances, the workers can be reduced to the position of highly dependent wards of a paternalistic State. To those who like that sort of thing that prospect is not unattractive. But those who are imbued with the American principles of individual initiative and responsibility rightly look askance at any step in that direction.

TEXTILE UNION'S PLANS.

New Federation Will Seek to Promote Collective Bargaining.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you grant me a little space in which to try to correct a false impression which some of your readers may have received from the article which you published yesterday about the Federation of Textile Unions, which is now in process of formation? As your representative interviewed me at the headquarters of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, and as the Amalgamated is sponsoring the movement to federate all the independent textile labor unions in the United States, the fact that the new federation's purpose is at the present time primarily for "offense and defense" and for support in strikes, may be taken by some of your readers as an indication that the aim of the Amalgamated Textile Workers, as well as of the new federation of unions, is to foment strikes in the industry.

Such an understanding of the purpose of the Amalgamated, being untrue, would be most unfortunate. The new federation of unions will not, as plans stand at present, undertake negotiations with employers or enter into agreements with them, but it is now and will continue to be the policy of the Amalgamated Textile Workers to enter into agreements with employers wherever possible, to establish collective bargaining for the purpose of protecting the interests of the workers and safeguarding the welfare of the industry by which the workers gain their living. Our aim is to establish such machinery for bargaining and adjusting disputes between the workers and employers as will reduce the amount of actual economic warfare to a minimum.

We are a radical industrial union, but we are a union, not a propaganda society, and we are practical enough to realize that peace is better than war whenever peace can be maintained without the surrender of vital interests or principles. For example, in the New York silk ribbon industry we have been conducting for more than a year, and with a remarkable degree of success, the impartial chairmanship plan of collective bargaining, with a trade council composed of an equal number of representatives from the union and the employers, presided over by the impartial Chairman, who renders the decision in questions which the council cannot agree upon. The expenses of this machinery are paid equally by both sides. The chief difficulties that have arisen in the working of this plan are due to the fact that not enough of the silk industry is covered by it as yet. Our aim is to extend this plan wherever possible, which means in effect wherever the workers and employers are ready to assume the responsibilities of this step toward industrial democracy.

But this much being said as to our desire for peace in the industry, I would not, on the other hand, have anybody draw the erroneous conclusion that the Amalgamated Textile Workers will not fight when necessary. It should be hardly necessary to state this, as it is common knowledge that employers in most instances refuse to deal with labor unions—refuse to acknowledge the principle of collective bargaining—until they are forced to by the strength of the union, demonstrated on the field in economic battle. Wherever employers are of that mind we are prepared to meet them on their level until such time as they get ready to come up to ours. In other words, while we urge amicable discussion and peaceful adjustment of the workers' grievances, we are ready, whenever necessary, to fight for justice and for peace. There can be no lasting peace without justice.

RUSSELL PALMER,
Assistant General Secretary.

WHERE TO TAX.

Sales Should Bear the Burden Rather Than Income.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Both those who think and those who say that taking taxes off of income, corporate and individual, shifts the burden from the rich to the poor ought quickly to get another point of view.

It ought to be apparent to all that income is the source of capital required, to keep the railroads going and give employment to men; to help industrial to carry on and give employment to men; to start new enterprises and give employment to more men.

Why then should the Government absorb the actual money that makes the mare go?

It would seem that a tax is a tax no matter where it is applied, but it makes a vast difference where it is applied. If applied to income it kills the goose that lays the golden egg. If applied to a sales tax it leaves income free to take the form of capital and furnish employment for men.

Taking the tax from incomes is very far from putting a burden on the poor. It is releasing money to keep the poor. Income is the only source of capital for employment. It is the only means of making labor scarce and in higher demand.

Putting properly a tax on sales is very far from shifting the burden onto the poor. The average rich spends vastly more than the average poor and pays in proportion to his expenditures, which makes a sales tax an equitable tax, and it could release income for the benefit of the well-being of the whole people. No sound, economic mind would tax income, because it is the material life of the nation, and in the proportion that it is destroyed the nation is destroyed. It is the pole star of every effort, the goal of all mankind.

It is the expedient politician exploiting ignorance who tells us that a reduction in incomes tax is shifting the burden from rich to poor. Perhaps he does not see that it is not the income that is rotten but the man behind the income, and the politician behind the idea that is rotten. Concentrate all scorn and contempt and the law on the war profiteer, the special privilege man and the expedient politician and they will not receive more than they deserve. Go to the root of the matter and lay a restraining hand on these individuals, but do not destroy income.

Let any man ask himself the question, What would the nation be like without income? The answer immediately leaps at him: Bolshevist Russia. Russia without railways, without industry, without agriculture, with stagnation and death by starvation. Money is worthless in Russia, and there are no incomes. Ask again, What is the line of least resistance to Bolshevism? The answer is plain: The destruction of incomes.

The tax on incomes sucks the life-blood of the nation, cuts down employment and impoverishes the people. It is a stupid tax.

BISHOP INVITES PREMIER.

Dr. Manning Asks Lloyd George to Make Address in Cathedral.

Premier Lloyd George, who, it is expected, will attend early meetings of the conference on limitation of armaments, has been invited by Bishop William T. Manning to make an address in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine on any Sunday during his stay here. The invitation, which was cabled to the British Premier, reads:

"Most warmly invite you to address American Christians and your fellow-countrymen in New York Cathedral any Sunday during your stay in this country."

OPPOSES DRIVES IN SCHOOLS

Teachers' Council Disapproves Schemes to Raise Funds.

The Teachers' Council, at its meeting yesterday, adopted a motion expressing its disapproval of holding any more drives in the public schools. Timothy D. Poucher, a teacher of shopwork in Public School 51, the Bronx, referred to the recent drive among the pupils of that borough on behalf of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. He said that about $70,000 had been collected by the children for the society.

The pupils, he declared, turned in fifty cents each. The drive lasted for a week. Not until the last day of it were orders received from headquarters, stopping the begging for dimes by the children in the streets and elsewhere. He said the drive was demoralizing to the children.

It was a simple case of begging, he declared, and the parents of the pupils were opposed to such methods, although the cause for which the money was asked was a laudable one.

Pope Knights Ovide de St. Aubin.

Official notification from Rome in the person of Mgr. Bernadini came yesterday to Ovide de St. Aubin of 840 Park Avenue, that he had been appointed by Pope Bendict XV. to the order of the Knights of St. Gregory. MISS MORGAN JOINS EAST SIDE COLONY

She Is Having House in Exclusive Sutton Place Improved for Her Occupancy.

OTHER NOTABLES THERE

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Started Movement in Direction of East River a Year Ago.

Miss Anne Morgan has joined the society colony in Sutton Place, a little street on the edge of the East River, between East Fifty-seventh and East Sixtieth Streets. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt started the movement eastward a year ago, and her house at 1 Sutton Place now is nearly completed.

Miss Morgan's new home, which will be her permanent residence in this city, will be at 5 Sutton Place. A four-story and basement building, it is to be remodeled by Mott B. Schmidt of 14 East Forty-sixth Street, the architect who designed the new Vanderbilt home and has remodeled several other houses in the neighborhood.

Among those now living in Sutton Place are Mrs. Stephen Olin, Mrs. Vanderbilt's sister; Mrs. Lorillard Cammann, Francis B. Griswold, Miss Elisabeth Marbury and Miss Elsie De Wolfe. Chauncey Olcott is having a house improved.

Miss Morgan's new home is being altered to conform somewhat to the Colonial style of Mrs. Vanderbilt's house, after which type most of the houses in this exclusive little nook have been patterned. The front will be of Colonial brick. Above the third story a slate roof will pitch back to form the top floor. On the edge of this will be a white wooden railing and a hedge, like that designed by Stanford White for the Colonial building of the Colony Club when the club was on lower Madison Avenue. There will also be a roof garden.

Many of the rooms will contain rare old paneling and furniture. Some of these furnishings will be brought from abroad, but much of it will be Colonial. It is expected that the cost of the site and the remodeling will be about $125,000.

PRISCILLA MITCHELL WEDS.

The Bride of Samuel William Meek Jr. in Christ Church, Rye.

The marriage of Miss Priscilla Mitchel, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby MacKnight Mitchel of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Samuel William Meek Jr. of Richmond, Va., took place yesterday afternoon at Christ Church in Rye. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. William Cabel Brown, Bishop of Virginia and father-in-law of the bridegroom's sister, with the Rev. Dr. William Henshaw of Rye assisting.

Mrs. John W. Hanes, a sister of the bridge, was matron of honor and her daughter, Agnes Hanes, was flower girl. The bridesmaids were the Misses Dorothy Meek, a sister of the bridegroom; Ailsa Mellon, a daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury; De Witt Chatham of North Carolina, Elsie and Margaret Armour of London, England; Elizabeth Weston of Pittsfield, Mass.; Juliana Gerguson and Margaret Starr of this city.

Wilson Meek acted as his brother's best man, and the ushers were Ormsby MacKnight Mitchel Jr., brother of the bride; John W. Haynes of Rye, Hugh Kelleher, Kenneth O'Brien, Henry E. Coe Jr. and Dickinson Richards Jr., all of New York; George D. Scott of St. Louis, Fred Valentine Jr. and Michael J. Traylor of Richmond, Va., and Heliger Church of Washington, D. C.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Anchorage, the home of the bride's parents, at Mamaroneck.

West-Boyd Wedding Tonight.

Miss Ann Holding Boyd, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Boyd of 890 West End Avenue, and Alonzo Minor West Jr. of New Orleans, La., are to be married this evening at the bride's home, the Rev. Dr. S. DeLancey Townsend officiating. Randolph West is to be the best man and Miss Josephine Hutton of Tennessee will be the bride's attendant.

Miss Esnay to Wed C. R. Chase.

The engagement is announced of Miss Helen Eldredge Esnay, a sister of Albert Eldredge Esnay of New York and Englewood, N. J., to Charles Robertson Chase of Petoskey, Mich., and this city. Mr. Chase is an Amherst graduate and served abroad with the French and later with the American Army as an ambulance driver and was decorated with the Croix de Guerre. The wedding is planned for Jan. 14.

SOCIETY AIDS A BENEFIT.

Appears in "The Garden of Youth" in New Ballroom of the Plaza.

Society had its first glimpse at the new ballroom of the Plaza Hotel last evening, when a pre-reelase showing of "Peter Ibbetson" took place under the auspices of the Film Mutual Benefit Bureau. The proceeds of the evening will be divided between the American Committee for Devastated France and the New York Maternity Centre.

A costume prologue, "In the Garden of Youth," in which a number of prominent society women appeared, preceded the picture. Among those who took part in this were Miss Helen Isabel McMillin, Miss Grace Hendrick, Miss Catherine Okie, Miss Marie La Marche, Miss Virginia De Haven, Mrs. Van H. Cartmell Jr. and Mrs. William J. Warburton. Dancing and supper followed the showing of the film, in which Wallace Reid and Elsie Ferguson are starring.

Among those in the box party were Mr. and Mrs. William G. McAdoo, Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs. Leland Cofer, Mrs. Meredith Hare, on whose estate on Long Island many of the pictures were taken; Mrs. John Sloane, Mrs. Willard Straight, Frank Crowninshield and Otto Kahn.

JAPANESE CADETS COMING.

Two Cruisers, With 600 From Naval College, Expected Oct. 28.

Word was received at the New York Navy Yard yesterday that the Japanese cruisers Idzumo and Yakumo, under command of Vice Admiral Tetsutaro Sato, director of the Japanese Naval College, and carrying a class of more than 600 naval cadets, would arrive here Oct. 28 for a week's stay.

The warships will be received by representatives of the commandant of the New York Navy Yard and assigned to an anchorage in the Hudson River. While here, the officers and cadets will be entertained by consular representatives of their country and by the Japanese Society.

Goldberg Bequest Held Void.

By a decision of Surrogate Foley yesterday a clause in the will of Morris Goldberg, who died in 1908, leaving his residuary estate to build a home for girls bearing the name of his wife and himself, is held to be void. The bequest would have required at least $200,000 of the residue of the estate, and since the residuary clause also established trust funds for members of the family the Surrogate held that the gift for the home cannot be carried out.

BARONESS VON HUTTEN HURT IN A RUNAWAY

Novelist's Right Eye Is Nearly Cut Out When Carriage Overturns Near Danzig.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Baroness von Hutten, the novelist, met with a serious accident while traveling with her children in Germany.

She was driving at Neustadt, a Baltic town near Danzig, with her two children and a nurse, when the horses of her carriage bolted and, to save himself, the coachman jumped from his seat. The carriage overturned and the Baroness was seriously injured. Her right eye was nearly cut out and two ribs were broken. The shock of the accident has revived her former heart trouble.

An American-born woman, she married Baron von Hutten, Chamberlain to the King of Bavaria, in 1897. Twelve years later there was a divorce by mutual consent.

ZR-2 HERO COMMENDED.

Sailor Wins Denby's Praise for His Gallantry in Rescue.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Secretary Denby today commended Charles Harrison Broom, a chief machinist's mate in the American navy, on duty with the naval rigid airship detachment at Howden, Yorkshire, England, for gallant and heroic conduct after the accident to the big dirigible airship ZR-2 on Aug. 24, 1921, at Hull.

After the explosion, to which Broom was a witness, he proceeded to the scene in a tugboat and on arrival swam to the wreckage, entered the sinking ship, which was filled with explosive gases, by means of the after gun tube, and searched for members of the crew. After struggling through the wreckage, partly swimming and partly clambering over girders, he succeeded in recovering the body of Flight Lieutenant Montague, Royal Air Force, which he passed outside the ship to a small boat. Returning inside, he again took up the search for others and it was only by great presence of mind that he managed to jump clear of the ship as she was turning over and swim to a small boat.

Undaunted, Broom continued his search for bodies until, becoming exhausted from his exertions and exposure, he was ordered on board a tug, not, however, before the tide had risen and the wreck was submerged.

Broom re-enlisted in 1919. His wife, Doris Broom, lives in Atlantic City, N. J.

General Charles Hernandez, who was President of President Menocal's Cabinet and Minister of the Interior, in Cuba, is at the Hotel McAlpin, making his first visit here since his youth. He has retired from politics, and said yesterday he would devote his time entirely to hunting and plant raising.

GOTTHARD DEUTSCH, GREAT SCHOLAR, DIES

Dean of Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, Could Quote the Bible From Memory.

NOTED DIVINE AND WRITER

He Left a General History From a Jewish Standpoint, Compiled by a Card Index System.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 14.—What was described as one of the most remarkable minds in America was stilled today in the death of Dr. Gotthard Deutsch, dean of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati. Dr. Deutsch, 62, died of pneumonia at his home, 3,600 Willson Avenue. He had been ill a week.

His mind was called encyclopedic. It was a perfect storehouse of world history, especially Jewish history. It carried a vast quantity of historic facts and dates. It had at ready command quotations from classical Jewish and secular literature. Dr. Deutsch could quote the Bible, chapter and verse, from memory.

For many years he had in preparation a history. In order that he might leave to posterity the vast collection of historical data he carried in his mind he carefully preserved it in a card index system that in latter years grew to immense proportions. These data will be made available to any historian who may wish to complete the work Dr. Deutsch began.

Dr. Deutsch was one of the most profound scholars in America. He wrote equally well in English, Hebrew, French and German. He was the author of works on history, religion, language and also completed two novels.

He also found time to take an active part in civic affairs. He formerly was a member of the Board of Education. On several occasions he was a leader in public movements against undesirable franchises.

Born in Kanitz, Austria, in 1859, Gotthard Deutsch lived his younger years abroad. He was educated in Europe and received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the Royal University of Vienna. He came to the United States in 1891 to become Professor of History at the Hebrew Union college here. For thirty years he had been a professor at this college. Had he lived he would have started his thirty-first year with the reopening of the college tomorrow.

The general history from a Jewish standpoint compiled by Dr. Deutsch by the card index system is the only work of its kind in the world, there is but one copy, that being the original possessed by his family. The history is made up of clippings from periodicals dating from 1850 to the present time. There hardly a newspaper of note published in the world that has not contributed some article toward the compilation of this history.

In 1905 Dr. Deutsch planned a tour of Russia to study conditions there, but met interference when the Russian Consul refused to grant him a passport because of his being a Jew. Dr. Deutsch took his case to President Roosevelt and the United States Government prevailed upon the Russian Government to grant Dr. Deutsch a passport. This case caused a stir in diplomatic circles.

Dr. Deutsch is survived by his widow, who was Hermine Bacher, and five children—three sons and two daughters. Dr. Deutsch will be cremated by his own request made in a memorandum dated August, 1913, which contained also a prayer to be read at the services. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 1 P. M.

Rev. George Dugan Dies Suddenly.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 14.—The Rev. George Dugan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, died early this morning at the age of 46, following two attacks of heart disease. Overexertion is believed to have induced the attacks. He sang at a luncheon of the Rotary Club yesterday and last night, while driving his automobile from Burlington, he found the road blocked by heavy logs which he removed unaided. Before he came here three years ago he had held pastorates in Albany and Philadelphia. A wife, now recovering in Albany from an operation, and four children, survive.

FOOD RIOTS IN VIENNA.

Disorders Attend the Protest Parade of 3,000 Housewives.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

VIENNA, Oct. 14.—Vienna housewives held a meeting last night to protest against the rise in the prices of foodstuffs and other necessaries of life. Their indignation gradually worked up into stormy scenes. There were angry shouts of "Down with the Government!" and "Hang the profiteers and gamblers to lamp posts!"

Then 3,000 women marched in procession through the Ringstrasse to the Parliament buildings, calling out that life had become insupportable and their children were starving. Several ministers tried in vain to pacify them. Well-clad passersby were insulted and threatened. Motor cars were stopped and their passengers dragged out and ill-treated.

Finally the police interfered and found that suspicious characters of both sexes had mixed with the housewives, while numerous communistic elements had appeared in the streets, apparently taking advantage for their revolutionary purposes of the woes of the poor. In the end the crowd was dispersed. Rioting continued today in one suburb. The market stands of dealers in foodstuffs asking enormous prices were attacked and robbed, and dealers were ill-treated in other suburbs by angry crowds who gathered around the shops. Protection, however, was given by the police.

The situation is becoming serious, as the rise in prices continues.

FOUR INJURED ON ELEVATED

One Taken to Hospital After Passenger Hits a Garbage Train.

A south-bound passenger train on the Third Avenue elevated bumped into a work train at the Forty-second Street station at 1 o'clock this morning.

Four passengers were hurt—David Seach, 30 years old, of 236 East Forty-second Street; Charles Malino, 21, of 60 Forsyth Street; Isidore Weiner of 118 Eldridge Street, and Mrs. Susan Holder of 743 McDonough Street, Brooklyn. Seach was taken to Bellevue Hospital and the others went home after treatment by an ambulance surgeon. None was seriously hurt.

Traffic on the south-bound track was tied up for about three-quarters of an hour. Part of the wreckage fell into the street and a fire alarm was sent in.

The Club Royal to Open Monday.

The Club Royal, the newest private supper club, will open next Monday evening. The club has its headquarters in what was formerly Mr. Ogden Goelet's stable. The building has been remodeled and the interior made to represent a Spanish garden.

Among those to entertain at the opening will be Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Terry, Mrs. Eiddle Duke, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. David T. L. Van Buren, Mr. and Mrs. Esmond O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll L. Wainwright.

Senator Dunnigan Suffers Relapse.

State Senator John J. Dunnigan of the Bronx will not be able to take part in the present political campaign. The Senator had been ill with grip for a fortnight when he ventured out of the house about a week ago and suffered a relapse. He was in a critical condition for several days. At his home, 1,951 Bogart Avenue, he is now on the road to recovery, his wife said last night.

NATION'S NOTABLES AT KNOX'S FUNERAL

Simple Episcopal Service With Only Organ Music Is Said Over the Senator's Coffin.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—With simple but impressive services and with the attendance of the President, Vice-President, Justices of the Supreme Court, Cabinet officers, diplomats, Senators and Representatives, the final rites over Philander C. Knox, Senator from Pennsylvania, were held at 11 A. M. today in St. John's Episcopal Church.

There was no funeral oration extolling the virtues of the dead. There was no music except the subdued strains of the organ.

The Right Rev. Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington, assisted by the rector of the church, conducted the services which consisted of scriptural reading and prayers prescribed by the ritual of the church.

The auditorium is small and pews were reserved for those in official life who came to pay their last tribute to the dead Senator.

President and Mrs. Harding occupied seats in the front pews. The President was accompanied by his aide, Col. C. O. Sherrill.

The Pennsylvania delegation in the House came in a body to the funeral.

Few of the many floral tributes sent to the Knox home were at the church. Upon the casket was a bunch of red carnations. There were floral pieces sent by the Senate and House and another from the White House.

Following the services President and Mrs. Harding left the church first and the audience dispersed in silence. Early in the afternoon the body was taken to the railroad to be transported to Philadelphia.

During the period of the funeral services Government business was practically suspended. After the Senate met a recess was taken until 2 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. J. J. Muir, chaplain of the Senate, in his invocation referred to Senator Knox's splendid devotion and high patriotism.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—The body of Senator Knox arrived here late today, accompanied by his widow and other members of the family. The coffin was covered with a simple spread of rosebuds, the tribute of President and Mrs. Harding.

Several hundred persons, the men with uncovered heads, were at the station when the train drew in.

The body was taken by motor hearse to Valley Forge, the country home of Senator Knox, where services will be held tomorrow.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—General Pershing has asked General Allen, commanding the American troops on the Rhine, to send to London on Sunday the composite battalion of soldiers which took part in the ceremony in Paris attendant upon placing the Congressional Medal on the unknown poilu's grave.

General Pershing will leave Paris for London on Sunday and will return on Tuesday night.

PERSHING VISITS NEUILLY.

Thanks Hospital Officials for Work During and Since War.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—General Pershing, accompanied by Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador, today visited the American hospital at Neuilly. He thanked the officials for the care they have given officers and men in the service during and since the war.

He examined the plans for the proposed addition to the hospital, in which there will be one hundred beds. He afterward played with the babies in the maternity ward.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—General Pershing will be tendered a luncheon on Monday next by the Duke of Connaught, at which a number of other distinguished persons will be present.

The Duke will represent King George on Monday morning at the ceremony of laying the Congressional Medal of Honor on the grave of the British unknown warrior in Westminster Abbey.

CANNOT HOLD LAURA ON CRIMINAL CHARGE

Lewis Fails to Prove That Suspended Aid of Leo Tampered With Court.

CLASH OVER PHONE CALL

Accused Denies He Told Savarese to Telephone—"Lie," Is Retort—Inquiry Alarms Politicians.

The investigation into the circumstances surrounding the alleged attempt of Michael Laura, suspended Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner and Democratic candidate for Sheriff of Kings County, to "reach" a Police Court Magistrate, may be the beginning of a campaign to discourage the practice by Brooklyn politicians of trying to influence court decisions, it was intimated yesterday.

District Attorney Harry E. Lewis of Kings County, who continued his investigation of the Laura case yesterday, admitted that no evidence has been uncovered yet to prove Laura guilty of criminal charges. The fact that efforts from outside sources have been made in a defendant's behalf is not in itself illegitimate, he said, adding, "but there are other moves on behalf of the defendants that constitute an interference with the administration of justice."

Mr. Lewis gave out yesterday extracts of his examination Thursday afternoon of Laura and his confidential political assistant, John Savarese, which took place in the presence of Street Cleaning Commissioner John P. Leo. The District Attorney questioned both men concerning what they knew of a telephone message which William Hunter, Clerk of the Fifth Avenue Police Court, said purported to come from a man representing Laura. Hunter was asked to request Magistrate Gasper J. Llota to grant an adjournment in the case of Philip McManus, charged with an assault on Michael Kellner, another Street Department employe. Hunter said that he did not deliver this message to Magistrate Llota, and the Magistrate himself confirmed this yesterday afternoon in a conference with District Attorney Lewis.

Denies Permission for Phone Calls.

"Was Savarese accustomed to make telephone calls in your name and without your knowledge?" Mr. Lewis asked of Laura.

"Yes, he was," Laura replied, "about six years. I always called him down when I found out."

Savarese was sent for and admitted that he had telephoned the Flatbush Court last Tuesday.

"I didn't speak to anybody," he said, "because the line was busy."

"Who told you to call?" Mr. Lewis demanded.

"There was a note on my desk telling me to make the call."

"Did you make the call without permission from Deputy Commissioner Laura?"

"I did not."

"Were you accustomed to making calls in Mr. Laura's name without his permission?"

"I never did; I only called when he asked me to."

"But," continued District Attorney Lewis, "Laura has said that you were accustomed to making calls in his name without his permission."

"That's a lie," Savarese exclaimed.

It was at this point that Commissioner Leo interrupted and said to Laura, "You are suspended for the good of the service."

"Do you think you are doing the right think?" Laura asked, taken aback.

"Yes," answered Commissioner Leo. In view of the conflicting statements of Savarese, who said that the Court House wire was busy, and Clerk of Court Hunter, who said that he had received but had not delivered a telephone message to Magistrate Llota purporting to come from Laura, the indications are that the investigation of the circumstances leading up to the Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner's suspension will be abandoned for lack of evidence.

Laura's suspension, however, has given concern to Brooklyn Democratic politicians. Mr. Laura could not be found either at his campaign headquarters or his home at 265 Union Street, Brooklyn, yesterday.

Matter Still Under Inquiry.

Commissioner Leo declined to discuss the matter yesterday beyond issuing the following statement:

"As the matter now stands, it is still under investigation by the District Attorney of Kings County, and it would not be fair to the public, to Deputy Commissioner Laura, to Magistrate Llota, to the District Attorney, or to myself to make any statement while the matter is in its present status."

There was no evidence at City Hall yesterday that the Mayor or any of his political associates would inject themselves into the controversy between Commissioner Leo and Deputy Commissioner Laura, whom, Mayor Hylan at a meeting of Italian voters in Brooklyn Wednesday night praised as a "faithful and efficient public servant." It appears to be the disposition of Democratic politicians to let well enough alone and not stir up a political controversy over what at present seems to be personal differences in the Street Cleaning Department.

Instigation for the District Attorney's investigation of the affair came from Commissioner Leo, who burst into Mr. Lewis's office Thursday in an excited state of mind and is said to have announced:

"My deputy is trying to undermine what I am trying to do."

Commissioner Leo for many months has fought attempts of street department employes to form a union. Last Winter a number of employes were dismissed on the grounds that they had failed to report for duty after a heavy snowstorm. These former employes were represented by Milton Speiser, who was the attorney for McManus, charged by Commissioner Leo with assaulting Kellher because he refused to join the union.

Mr. Speiser asserted that Commissioner Leo with Deputy Commissioner Laura attended the hearing Tuesday morning in which Magistrate Llota reserved decision until Oct. 28. He denied having any knowledge of whether Laura was interested in McManus's case and he said that the first time he had heard of an attempt to reach Magistrate Llota by telephone was yesterday when he read of Laura's suspension.

"I saw Laura only once before," he said, "and that was several months ago when I went to him in regard to street department employes dismissed for seeking to organize."

McManus's attorney ascribed Laura's suspension to pique because Commissioner Leo was unable to obtain an immediate conviction against McManus.

"The whole thing," he said, "is due to the fact that John P. Leo is a sore loser and sought to place the blame for failure on some one aside from himself."

SERIES PAYS U. S. $90,023.

This Amount Collected as War Tax on Eight Baseball Games.

The Government collected $90,023 from the world's series baseball games, according to a statement yesterday by Frank K. Bowers, Collector of Internal Revenue.

Twelve field inspectors, shifted daily, were in attendance at the games, Mr. Bowers said, and kept a record of the ticket sales. The record day was Oct. 7, when 36,509 persons packed the Polo Grounds and paid $119,007 to see the game.

The Carpentier and Dempsey fight brought in $158,994.77 in war tax for the Government, Mr. Bowers said.

DEEDS OWNERSHIP OF BOY.

Florida Officials Say Transaction Recorded There Is Illegal.

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 14.—A warranty deed formally transferring ownership of a small boy from one woman to another has been placed on record here. The deed shows that the transaction took place last January in Hardin County, Texas, Mrs. Nettie Davis deeding her three-months-old son to Mrs. Norma L. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson recently moved to Tampa and had the deed recorded to prove her ownership.

Court house officials declare that in their opinion the deed is illegal in that it is unfair to the child and deprives him of the rights of heritage as provided in papers of adoption. In the event of the death of Mrs. Wilson before the boy is of age, officials say, he would pass as a chattel and become part of the estate, if the transaction was held legal.

Life in Prison for Killing Wife.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 14.—Herman F. Rademacher, a patrolman, who confessed that he murdered his wife, Gertrude, by throwing her from the Belle Isle Bridge into the Detroit River, was sentenced today to life imprisonment in the State House of Correction at Marquette. Rademacher pleaded guilty and waived a jury trial. He confessed throwing his wife from the bridge on Oct. 6. Her body was recovered two days later.

Kentucky Mayor Is Indicted.

NEWPORT, Ky., Oct. 14.—Mayor Joseph Herrmann of this city was indicted today by the Campbell County Grand July on the charge of nonfeasance in office. The indictment was brought about by a ministers' alliance that began a crusade against gambling and other forms of vice that are said to have flourished unimpeded in Newport for two years. Chief of Police Brigel also was indicted.

GOMPERS SEES GOOD IN PLANS FOR IDLE

Says Unemployment Conference Has Already Stimulated Increase in Work.

LABOR APPROVES MEASURES

Leader Asserts All Proposals Hostile to Interests of Workers Were Defeated.

RESULTS PLEASE HARDING

Contractors to Start Nation-Wide Campaign to Awaken Communities to Need of Building.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Samuel Gompers made public a statement tonight in which he said that representatives of the labor movement were able to give their hearty support to the pronouncements of the National Unemployment Conference because they were in the main in accordance with the principles and with the long-established program of the American Federation of Labor and because they already had proved to be of benefit by the test of actual operation.

"Material progress for the benefit of the great army of unemployed was achieved by the National Conference on Unemployment," said Mr. Gompers.

"While it is true that certain interests, actuated by motives of a selfish character, prevented the accomplishment of more signal results, the conference was able to agree on important measures and already has stimulated an increase in employment in many sections of the country."

Mr. Gompers approved the selection of Arthur Woods by the conference to coordinate the relief work in communities through a central agency.

"In the committees of the conference, and particularly in the Committee of Manufacturers," Mr. Gompers continued, "many proposals were offered which were purposely hostile to the interests of the working people, but not in a single instance was a report of that character finally adopted by the conference. Every hostile activity was defeated. This is a credit to the judgment and wisdom of the conference, and it is of tremendous benefit to the country.

Approves Part Time Work.

"The recommendation of the conference that Mayors of cities hold themselves responsible for the organization of unemployment relief in their cities, is bringing results and it is fair to assume that these results will increase rapidly within the next few days.

"The recommendations for the providing of part-time employment, where it is possible to increase the number of employes by that device, will be helpful, but it should be remembered in that connection that the conference also was of the opinion that such devices as this should not result in the imposition of higher costs for the finished commodities.

"In calling attention to the need for merchandising practices that will result in lowering prices wherever possible, the conference performed a distinct service to the public. Retail prices have not declined in proportion with the decline in wholesale prices, or in proportion with the decline in production costs.

"More employment in the aggregate will be furnished by a systematic development of the practice of doing regular and continuous work immediately, as recommended by the conference.

"The recommendations of the conference in favor of limitation of armament and in favor of immediate settlement of tariff and tax legislation are of the utmost importance.

"The development of a program for more regular employment in seasonal industries is a vital necessity. The trades union movement has always endeavored to secure a greater stabilization of seasonal industries and has always recognized the fluctuating employment furnished by such industries as one of the principal industrial evils.

"In recommending the expansion of the Employment Service of the United States Department of Labor and the expansion of the work of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the conference supported two demands for which the American labor movement has continuously contended.

"The recommendation for the undertaking of public works and for energetic development of immediately possible reclamation work is one to which the working people will give particularly enthusiastic support.

Contractors to Open Campaign.

"The recommendations to which I have called attention are generally of a constructive and progressive character. They endeavor to meet the needs of the situation without charity and without paternalism. In addition to this, the calling of the conference and the manner in which the conference undertook its work settles definitely for all time the question of social responsibility and of employer and management responsibility for the failure of industry to function in such a manner as to prevent periodical, acute unemployment."

Announcement was made by the Associated General Contractors of America that a nation-wide campaign to stimulate construction and awaken communities to the necessity of eliminating conditions which are holding up construction work would be undertaken. A tour of the nation will be made by W. O. Winston, President of the organization; F. L. Cranford and Eli A. Garber of New York and others. A statement issued tonight contained the following announcement:

"That this construction program cannot be gotten under way without the organized effort of community and construction interests, will be the message carried by these leaders. While the construction of homes, schools, buildings, highways, streets, railroads, public works and repairs of all kinds, reclamation projects and hydro-electric development, as urged by the National Conference on Unemployment, will undoubtedly directly set to work a million men who will in turn give work to millions more, there is needed first a thoroughgoing analysis of present construction costs in every city, including costs of finance, insurance and bonds, materials, labor, transportation and management. Moreover, there must be adequate provision for settling questions in dispute without the great loss of time caused by strikes and lockouts; and there must be sincere co-operation between organizations representing every element of the construction industry."

Bore Rich Reward, Says Harding.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—President Harding told newspaper correspondents at their regular conference with him today that he regarded the results of the unemployment conference, which closed here yesterday, as very beneficial.

"The unemployment conference," said Mr. Harding, "has borne rich rewards to the unemployed of this country."

The Citizens Employment Committee of the District of Columbia issued a statement tonight advising those seeking employment in the Government service not to come to Washington unless they were prepared to maintain themselves until such time as they were employed by the Government. They were warned that they could not expect employment in any other channel in the interim.

The statement pointed out that the Government had already discharged thousands of employes, many of whom were still out of work. "There is no assurance," it added, "that the situation will be changed for months to come; rather that there will be still further separations."

Recommendation was made to employers of the district that preference be given to men and women of the district, first to the needy and second to those having dependents.

GAIN IN FACTORY WORKERS.

Increase in New York State 3½ Per Cent. Over August.

ALBANY, Oct. 14.—The most pronounced gain in manufacturing activities in New York State since the close of 1919 was shown in September, Industrial Commissioner Sayer made known tonight.

Notwithstanding the fact that substantial reductions in employment were still reported by a number of factories, the total number of factory workers employed last month was approximately 3½ per cent. greater than that employed in August.

5,000 MINERS BACK HOWAT.

Kansans Refuse to Obey Lewis's Order to Return to Work.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Oct. 14.—Between 4,000 and 5,000 Kansas coal miners, meeting at Franklin today, adopted resolutions upholding the administration of President Alexander M. Howat, suspended yesterday on order of John L. Lewis, President of the International Mine Workers' Union. Resolutions also were adopted declining to recognize the provisional administration created under Lewis's order, to be headed by George L. Peck, local member of the International Executive Board, and refusing to compiy with instructions sent out today by Acting President Peck that all striking miners return to work immediately.

About 12,000 miners have been on voluntary strike over the commitment to jail recently of Howat and August Dorchy, union Vice President, for violating the criminal section of the State Industrial Court law. Howat and Dorchy are serving six months' sentences in the Cherokee County jail at Columbus.

Supporters of the provisional régime asserted tonight that the Franklin meeting was attended only by friends of the suspended administration and that resolutions recognizing the new administration and voting to return to work would be adopted at a mass meeting of miners of the southern end of the field to be held at Scammon later.

IDLE DECREASE IN ILLINOIS.

Survey Shows Conditions in Several Cities Are Approaching Normal.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Unemployment was shown to be decreasing in a number of the more important cities of Illinois, with several reporting conditions approaching normal in returns from a survey received today. Construction work was reported in full swing at several points, while factories and railroads were said to be adding to their forces. Work for many of the unemployed also was provided by extensive municipal improvements.

Reports from agricultural communities indicated that the demand for corn huskers exceeded the supply. Aurora and Galesburg, railroad centres, reported additions to railroad shop forces, which were said to be nearly normal.

At Elgin dry industry was operating at virtually the normal rate, while at Dixon only one plant was closed, and considerable construction work was in progress. Champaign and Moline reported heavy building operations. Danville, Decatur and Peoria indicated a marked improvement in employment.

TOO MANY SEEK CHICAGO.

Unemployment Conference Will Discourage Influx of Outsiders.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—To relieve the unemployment situation here the Chicago Conference on Unemployment will attempt to discourage the influx of thousands of men who annually come to Chicago during the Winter months, it was announced today.

Police Chief Fitzmorris said that men are drifting into the city at a rate of 700 to 1,000 daily.

MILWAUKEE IDLE FEWER.

Number Reduced From 50,000 to 40,000 in a Month.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14.—Fewer men are out of work in Milwaukee today than a month ago. Estimates today place the number idle at approximately 40,000, against 50,000 a short time ago. Chalmer B. Traver, Secretary of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, announced that jobs on public works, new buildings and repairs had been furnished to 5,000 men in the last month.

Replies to a questionnaire to members of the association indicated an improvement in the general situation with the exception of the metal trades, Mr. Traver said. Throughout the State, workers, reports say, have little difficulty finding employment.

CHILEAN UNEMPLOYED RIOT.

Several Are Injured in a Demonstration in Santiago.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Demonstrations by this city's unemployed were staged in the streets facing the Congressional Building yesterday, in which hundreds of idle men participated. The disorder broke out when several Senators attempted to address the demonstrators, who threw stones and other missiles, so that mounted police had to intervene and disperse the crowds by firing several shots into the air. A number of the unemployed as well as policemen were injured.

The unemployed recently petitioned President Alessandri to expedite pending legislation providing for the erection of public works with the object of relieving the distress.

EX-KHEDIVE ELUDES BRITISH

Escapes From Constantinople, Possibly to Go to Switzerland.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Abbas Hilmi, former Khedive of Egypt, to whom recently the British authorities here refused a passport visé for a journey to Europe, has escaped from Constantinople, despite the watchfulness of the British. It is believed here that he intends to join the Turkish Nationalist delegation at present in Switzerland.

Lewis Sees Rum as Issue In Congressional Elections

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Returning from a trip through the South and East today, former Senator James Hamilton Lewis predicted that the Dry law will be the one and only issue in the Congressional Districts next year.

"In the next Congress," he said "you will see a dozen or twenty Representatives sent there to vote for the repeal of prohibition, and for no other reason."

EUROPE'S ECONOMIC STATUS UNCHANGED

Month's Reports to Commerce Department Show a Balance Among the Nations.

BRITISH EXPORTS ADVANCE

Increased Industrial Activity in Germany Is Offset by Panic Symptoms in Unsettled Austria.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Economic conditions in Europe during the past month remained practically unchanged, improvement in some countries being nearly balanced by unsatisfactory developments in others, according to a summary of cabled reports issued tonight by the Commerce Department.

There were no real changes in general economic conditions in England during September, said Commercial Attaché Dennis at London. Toward the end of the month a slight stringency developed in the money market, he declared, and even the decline in prices of some commodities was interrupted for a time by rather sharp fluctuations, but these soon leveled out. Exchange had risen, he added, as a result of a considerable advance in British exports.

Increased industrial activities in Germany were reported by H. A. Adams at Berlin. The stock exchange was very active, he said, and both wholesale and retail establishments were doing much business. There was, however, he asserted, great concern over the fact that the present boom did not so much indicate an economic recovery, as it showed the result of the mark depreciation and the rush of buyers who feared a further increase.

Unsettled conditions prevailed in Austria during the month, W. F. Upson at Vienna informed the department. Government finances were in even a worse condition than formerly, he reported, while prices were soaring and supplies in general were inadequate. There were symptoms of a panic, he said, and runs were being made on stores.

A substantial improvement in the textile industry of Czechoslovakia, especially in cotton and knitted goods for Rumania, Poland and the Balkans, was noted by Trade Commissioner Geringer at Prague. The unemployment situation was improving, he declared, and while there was considerable wage reduction efficiency was increasing.

The general situation of the Italian industries showed very little change during September, according to Commercial Attaché MacLean at Rome. While the usual activity was maintained in the textile mills, very little encouragement could be gleaned, he declared, from the conditions prevailing in the other major industries of the country.

A large budget deficit, diminution of foreign trade totals and abnormally large purchases of foreign grains constituted the outstanding features of the economic situation in Spain during the month, as reported by Commercial Attaché Cunningham at Madrid.

PROPOSES ALBRECHT FOR KING OF HUNGARY

Mother of the Hapsburg Prince Is in Budapest to Urge His Claims.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Oct. 14.—The ex-Archduchess Isabella, wife of ex-Archduke Frederick, has arrived in Budapest and is reported to intend starting propaganda for placing her son Albrecht on the Hungarian throne.

Ex-Archduke Frederick, who is one of the greatest landed proprietors in what was the Dual Monarchy, has been negotiating to sell his estates to an American syndicate. The Czechoslovakian Government has confiscated the estates, declaring them State property, so that the American deal, amounting to $200,000,000, may not be carried out.

VIENNA, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—News of the settlement of the controversy between Austria and Hungary over Burgenland, the narrow strip of territory given Austria by the Trianon Treaty, through the signing of a protocol yesterday in Venice, was received here with satisfaction. It is believed that the settlement will avert a threatened crisis and allay the fears which have kept this city in a state of excitement all the week. The ratification of the protocol by the Austrian Parliament is regarded here as certain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Economic and financial conditions in Austria continue to grow worse, according to the latest official reports reaching the American Government. One of these reports, sent by cable under date of Oct. 9 to Secretary Hoover by W. F. Upson, representative of the Department of Commerce, gives a graphic picture of the plight of the Austrians.

"The Austrian crown continues to fall," Mr. Upson cabled, "and New York exchange has risen from 1355 to 3030 crowns in Vienna. Finances of the Government are in an even worse condition than formerly, as it has to pay largely increased salaries and wages, and also food subsidies of large proportions. The Government supplies food to the extent of 500,000,000 crowns per week, but it is hoped that a saving can be effected by exchanges in the breadstuff rations. Prices of both domestic and imported goods are soaring, and it is reported by the merchandise exchange that supplies in general are inadequate.

"The cost of foodstuffs is rising markedly. At the beginning of July one ton of American wheat cost 54,000 crowns at Vienna, while at the end of September the cost was 130,000 crowns. The rise in flour prices during the same period was from 79,000 to 190,000 crowns. One month's total supply of breadstuffs cost in July 2,600,000,000 crowns, whereas now it costs 8,000,000,000. The meat situation is easing up somewhat, and the Government has discontinued meat rations.

"At the present time the supply of breadstuffs is sufficient only for one week, and of fats for not more than two weeks. Government foodstuffs contracts will not cover needs after November. There is at the present time in transit from overseas 43,000 tons of wheat, 3,000 tons of flour and a quantity of corn, while 1,000 tons of wheat is in transit from Jugoslavia."

IRISH INDEPENDENCE URGED

Friends of Freedom Insist Nothing Less Will Be Acceptable.

The National Council of the Friends of Irish Freedom at an executive meeting held last night in the Hotel Astor unanimously passed a resolution holding that the experience of the people of Ireland "in their enforced relations" with England demonstrated that the end of strife could only be accomplished by England's recognition of the independence of Ireland.

"We fully recognize the right of the people of Ireland to decide without interference, even from their expatriated kindred, their own political status and their relations with other States and peoples," the resolution said. "While congratulating Dail Eireann on having compelled Lloyd George to agree to the holding of the peace conference without the withdrawal on the part of Ireland's representatives of their rightful status as spokesmen of an independent republic, we call attention to the fact that the present negotiations are being conducted under an open threat by England of a renewal of the savage warfare by her on the Irish people for the last year and the devastation of their country, if Lloyd George's terms of settlement shall be rejected."

House Rejects Bill for More Members By 146 to 142, After Nine-Hour Debate

WASHINGTON, Oct 14.—The House recorded its opposition tonight to any increase in its membership, recommitting to the Census Committee by a vote of 146 to 142, the Siegel bill to increase its size from 435 to 460 members.

The vote was taken on a motion to recommit, offered by Representative Fairfield of Indiana, a Republican member of the Census Committee, after nine hours of debate and wranglink over Parliamentary procedure.

Previous to recommitting the bill, the House rejected, 140 to 148, an amendment by Representative Barbour, Republican, of California, to authorize reapportionment without any increase in membership. Another amendment, offered by Representative Tinkham, Republican, of Massachusetts, to decrease the membership to 425 was smothered under an avalanche of "noes." Eleven Southern States, which Mr. Tinkham charged had disfranchised negroes, would have lost thirty-three seats and Massachusetts one under his amendment, while a gain of twenty-four seats would have been split among a dozen States which made considareble gains in population during the last decade.

It was the second time within a year that the House has blocked efforts to increase its size, during the last session a bill to fix the membership at 483 being defeated. At that time another bill providing for reapportionment under the 1920 census without increasing the number of members was passed but no action was taken by the Senate.

Opponents of the bill tonight contended that the House already was an unwieldly body and that it would function less efficiently with an increased membership. Chairman Siegel and Representative Larsen of Georgia, a Democratic member of the committee, pleaded for the measure, while Representatives Fairfield and Rankin, Democrats, of Mississippi, directed the attack against it. Party lines were disregarded in the final vote.

Announcement by Representative Mondell, the Republican leader, that, although he had opposed an increase in the size of the House at the last session, he favored the Siegel bill brought criticism from several Republicans opposed to the measure, Representatives Cooper, of Wisconsin, and Beedy, of Maine, being particularly emphatic in their remarks.

IRISH CONFERENCES ADJOURN TO MONDAY

Some Sinn Fein Delegates in the Interval Will Go Home for "Departmental Business."

NO HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS

Committees on Special Subjects Hold Many Meetings and Progress Is Reported.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—The adjournment today of the Irish conference until next Monday afternoon has no political significance, it was understood tonight. The postponement of the sittings of the conference which aims at a solution of the Irish question was attributed by the Sinn Fein delegates to the "Englishmen's passion for weekending."

Some of the Irish delegates are taking advantage of the interval to visit Ireland in order to deal with what was described by the Sinn Fein publicity department as important departmental business. They will return Sunday night in ample time to attend the resumed session.

Considerable currency was given here today to a sensational report of the ordering of uniforms for the Irish Republican army and the formation of a company to come to London to escort the Dail delegation back to Ireland upon the conclusion of peace. The story, however, was ridiculed by Sinn Fein leaders, who say no uniforming of the army is going on and that there is no question of any detachment coming to London at any time.

Since the truce there has been no interference by the military with the Irish Republican Army, uniformed or not, and its existence has been officially recognized for truce purposes, with the co-operation of liaison officers of the Irish Republican Army and the British Army.

The conference convened at 11 o'clock this morning in Premier Lloyd George's official residence in Downing Street, and adjourned at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon until 3:30 P. M. Monday.

As the Irish delegation was leaving the conference chamber Michael Collins, Commander-in-Chief of the Irish Republican Army, noticed a rifle standing in a corner. Turning to his colleagues he humorously asked: "What is the meaning of this provocative display?"

Mr. Lloyd George at this moment stepped from the conference room and one of his secretaries repeated Mr. Collins' query. The Prime Minister laughed and, picking up the rifle, explained that it was the first American rifle made for the late war.

Mr. Collins then suggested that he should sit in a chair with the rifle in his hands and that Mr. Lloyd George should send for a photographer. The Prime Minister, however, politely declined to do so.

Desmond Fitzgerald, Sinn Fein Minister of Propaganda, said that no hitch in the negotiations has thus far occurred and that the Sinn Fein delegates anticipate prolonged proceedings.

All the Irish representatives are members of the committees to which speecial subjects have been submitted and these committees have been conferring with different members of the British Cabinet and Government experts. A general agreement, except on some points of detail, has been reached on the truce question by the committee dealing with it.

Commandant Barry, the Irish Republican liaison officer for Munster, where a great deal of friction has occurred, has been summoned to London for consultation with the Irish delegates.

The Sinn Fein representatives have formulated complaints as to conditions in the internment camps, especially that on Spike Island in Cork Harbor, where allegations of harsh treatment have been made against the British troops. These complaints have been referred to General Sir Nevil Macready, Commander of the British forces in Ireland, who is investigating them.

Charges Irish Are Breaking Truce.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—It is understood that the sub-committee of the Irish Conference, which is considering matters relating to the truce, has had the establishment of Republican courts brought to its notice.

These courts, says the Daily Telegraph, are sitting openly, an effort is being made to compel people to attend them and threats are published that persons who ignore the courts do so at their peril. The morning Post says in an editorial:

"While Michael Collins and his friends are engaging Mr. Lloyd George in earnest conversation or in elaborately reported pleasantries, the real business, as it seems to us, is being done by De Valera over in Ireland, for there the Irish Republic is actually being got under way. We reported a few days ago that Republican courts had been opened in Dublin and that the magistrates and the lawyers present had taken the oath to the Irish Republic. Prisoners were then brought up and punished for various offenses for better administration of Republican law. A Republican prison has been started in Shelbourne Park. The law being administered is, or so we are informed, not British law, but the code Napoleon with Irish variation.

"According to the Dublin correspondent of the Westminster Gazette tailors are busy making uniforms for a company of the Irish Republican army which is to be sent over here 'to escort the Irish delegates back to Ireland when the conclusion of the present negotiations has been reached. It appears to be accepted that peace terms will be arrived at and that a display in London by the Irish Republican force is intended to mark the event.'

"This correspondent adds that the British authorities in Dublin are giving quasi recognition to the I. R. A. and are not interfering with the Republican courts. If such is the situation in what was once the British capital in Ireland, it is easy to imagine what is going on in the country. But we do not need to imagine it, for we know from trustworthy reports that the rebels control every local body outside and some inside of Ulster, that they have seized several great houses for headquarters of their armed camps, that they have conscripted young men of Ireland and that they are drilling them and arming them with new weapons which they have imported during the truce."

SPANIARDS CAPTURE MOORS' STRONGHOLD

Drive Them From Zeluan and Other Important Posts, Inflicting Heavy Losses.

AMERICAN RECRUITS SUFFER

Many Who Enlisted in the Foreign Legion Reported Destitute in Spanish Ports.

MADRID, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Spanish troops fighting against the Moors have occupied the City of Zeluan, an important point about seventeen miles due south of Melilla, according to an official announcement made here today.

An official commiqué on the operation reads:

"The columns of Generals Berenguer, Cabanellas and Sanjurjo captured Zeluan after a fight in which the enemy made strong resistance. Spanish cavalry pursued the enemy, who suffered heavy losses."

Further official messages from Melilla report that the Spanish troops at 11 o'clock this morning occupied the position of Buguenzain. Between Tauima and the fort, the ground was covered with the bodies of Spanish soldiers who perished in the July disaster. It will require a number of days to clear the ground.

Consolidation of the captured positions is proceeding rapidly without molestation by the enemy, the Moors being in full flight. Their columns are returning to their original stations without disturbance of any kind.

CEUTA, Morocco, Oct. 14.—A regiment of native regulars belonging to this city returned from Melilla yesterday with only 140 soldiers left from the original strength of 800. The entire population greeted the soldiers on their arrival, and the city was covered with bunting.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Many of the adventurous Americans enlisted with the Spanish forces to fight the Moors, having found that service with the Spanish troops was not such as they expected, are now reported destitute in Spanish ports. Others have been rejected by the Spanish medical authorities, and they, too, are left stranded.

The Americans were recruited mostly in New York. Some of them came from the ranks of the unemployed, some were former service men and not a few were former commissioned officers in the United States Army in the World War. They were enlisted by officers of the Spanish Army for a foreign legion in the Moorish campaign. As some question arose over whether the recruiting was in contravention of the neutrality laws, it was discontinued, but not until after many Americans had shipped for Spain.

According to advices reaching Washington, the Spanish Government has not offered to return these Americans to their own country.

LONDON HAD WARNING OF COMMUNIST RISING

This Explains Unprecedented Police Preparations for Wednesday's Unemployment Parade.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—Information obtained by police emissaries several weeks ago that noon yesterday had been fixed for the beginning of a "revolution" under the Communist banner accounted for the unprecedented preparations for dealing with any emergency by Scotland Yard, it was learned today.

After what The Daily Herald, the Laborists' organ, terms "the battle of Picadilly," yesterday, when hundreds of mounted and foot police charged into the crowds of unemployment demonstrators and bruised a few heads, all was quiet today. There were only a few idlers in Trafalgar Square, which yesterday was rimmed by hundreds of police. Scotland Yard authorities expressed the belief that there was little danger of an early recurrence of yesterday's scenes.

Inquiry today elicited the fact that yesterday's police preparations included the commandeering of the metropolitan underground railways and the omnibus lines, if found necessary, which would have enabled the concentration of 15,000 police at any center of trouble within half an hour.

Last Wednesday, on the eve of the monster demonstration, the unemployed of one of the London suburbs were addressed by a leader, who told them: "You must not break your lines to get drinks; take a bottle of water with you."

When asked by one of his hearers what should be done with the bottles, the leader winked and said: "I don't care how you get rid of the bottles." He then added: "You probably will have a long walk, and will be on your feet a long time; so take with you a good stout stick—it may be useful."

After the clash with the police yesterday in Shaftesbury Avenue, a number of pieces of iron bars with sharpened ends, made into a form of pocket weapon, many bits of lead and other missiles were found on the pavement and inside of shops where windows were smashed.

The police quietly kept "an ear in" at all of the meetings held by the unemployed. Throughout the metropolitan area these listeners frequently dressed in the guise of the unemployed.

Beatty to Be Pilgrims' Guest.

Admiral Earl Beatty of Brooksby, First Sea Lord of the British Admiralty and Commander in Chief of the British Grand Fleet in the latter part of the war, who sails today for New York on the Aquitania, will be entertained by the Pilgrims of the United States at dinner at the Waldorf on Thursday, Oct. 27. Chauncey M. Depew, President of the society, will be the Chairman.

Believes She Will Lose 86 Per Cent of Anthracite Deposits There.

63 PER CENT. OF INDUSTRIES

Hope of Revision of Council's Decision Has Been Practically Given Up.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—There will be no crisis, Cabinet or otherwise, for the present. After three days of hysteria, frantic protesting and gloom, Germany's Upper Silesian Katzenjammer today took a turn to sober consideration and statistical analysis of just what Germany loses with the slice of the Upper Silesian periphery presumably awarded to Poland, and equally sober speculation of what economic, financial and other difference it may make to Germany. Few papers today had the courage to print a map of Upper Silesia showing the territory lost by Germany to Poland.

Germany has practically abandoned all hope of a revision or a stay of execution of the League Council's decision. Discounting their loss and counting it up in advance, Germany, on the authority of their own experts, believes it is losing 86 per cent. of the Upper Silesian anthracite coal deposits, or 42 per cent. of all Germany's anthracite deposits. The situation may be stated thus: Germany loses 64 per cent. of the Upper Silesia anthracite production, to wit, sixty-seven anthracite coal mines which last year produced about 32,000,000 tons. She also loses all her Upper Silesian zinc production, or 60 per cent. of Germany's total zinc production. There is less statistical certainty regarding the industrial loss, but it is believed to be about 63 per cent. of the Upper Silesian iron industries' porduction, or approximately 1,500,000 tons of iron and steel products.

In the Pless district Germany loses, it is estimated, 44,000,000,000 tons of anthracite, and in the Rybnick district 27,000,000,000, these estimates being based on coal veins having a minimum depth of 1,500 meters.

Although Germany is the loser by the decision, there is interest in the persons and corporations most affected. The list is a long one, but the most popular interest is felt in the fact that the bulk of the vast coal and industrial estates belonging to Count Guido Henckel-Prince von Donnersmarck and other members of his family all fall to Poland's share. There is intense speculation as to the fate of properties close to the supposed new line.

After many sessions, conferences, interviews and protests the Wirth Government has finally decided to do nothing but pursue a policy of watchful waiting pending formal notification of the decision and then to pass the question to the Reichstag. It has likewise been decided for the Reichstag to do nothing until it receives formal notification.

The Nationalists wanted the Reichstag summoned immediately for "a flaming protest" against the decision without awaiting the formal decision. The Nationalists wanted the Reichstag to follow the example set by the Prussian Assembly yesterday. But in the Reichstag "Committee of Elders" it developed that the independent Socialists refused to join in such a blanket protest with the bourgeois parties, the radicals charging that the Nationalists merely wanted to exploit the opportunity for nationalistic, militaristic and monarchistic agitation. On the contrary the independent Socialists served notice that if a protest session were held they would join the Communists for a lot of Nationalistic political dirty linen washing. The Communists backed up the independent Socialists. Fearing a scandal the majority of the Committee of Elders decided not to summon the Reichstag. Members have been warned, however, to be in readiness to hiurry to Berlin any time from Monday on.

Except for procrastination and clinging to jobs the Wirth Government now has no progressive policy about the lost upper Silesia. It is expected, however, that by the time the Reichstag meets the Wirth Government will hatch out a revised "reparation futfillment" policy along the lines that the lost Upper Silesian assets make it impossible for Germany to fulfill the reparations obligations in full. The Wirth Government, or any other Government, can be counted on to plug doggedly along that line for revision.

In addition to purely political conferences in parliamentary circles conferences took place all day between members of the Government and political leaders and the financial and industrial interests immediately affected by the decision.

Junkers Seek to Exploit Decision.

GENEVA, Oct. 14.—The division of Upper Silesia decided upon by the League Council, roughly speaking allows Germany two-thirds of the disputed area and Poland one-third. The mediation committee of two Germans, two Poles and one neutral expert, whose business is to settle disputed points and regulate economic and technical conditions, will be presided over by the neutral members, who will have what amounts to the casting vote. This neutral member will be chosen by Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labor Office.

A tempest of rage is passing over Germany and the Germans are giving vent to all manner of exaggerated and bitter statements. The feeling among impartial persons is that the League of Nations could hardly have given any other decision and that the whole of Upper Silesia could not have been left to Germany, despite the raging propaganda for this end financed by the German Government and the mining and metallurgical industries.

According to trustworthy information received here the Junkers are trying to exploit the Upper Silesian decision for the purpose of stimulating reaction and turning out Chancellor Wirth. If he should resign the decision might portend European complications far worse even than those now existing. One assertion can me made positively: In making its decision the Council didn't allow itself to be influenced by either party or by any European power affected.

CRITICISES COUNCILS ACTION.

Writer in London Chronicle Says It Begged Whole Silesian Question.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Daily Chronicle's diplomatic correspondent criticises the procedure of the Council of the League of Nations in handing over the Upper Silesian question to a sub-committee of representatives of secondary nations, two of which are non-European and one Asiatic.

"At best, and with the utmost respect, the members of this sub-committee," he says, "could hardly be described as having experience, training and authority commensurate with the enormous task imposed upon them. Moreover, all the vast mass of evidence available has been ignored; the experts have not been heard; the Germans and Poles have not been allowed to present their case and to undergo cross-examination.

"The crux of the problem was that of the divisibility or indivisibility of the industrial area. To decide that was to decide everything. This critical, all-important issue was in turn handed over by the sub-committee to a secret sub-committee, which, we now hear for the first time, consists of a German Swiss and a Czechoslovak, both of them as yet unknown; or rather, to be exact, the issue was not really put to them but only the hypothetical question: 'Supposing the industrial triangle is divided, how may the evil consequences be minimized?' And this was not the question at issue.

"We are told that this sub-committee heard German and Polish evidence; but what evidence? Who were the witnesses? How were they selected, and on what principle? What were they asked? Were they, too, faced with the same question-begging hypothesis?"

SAYS BRITAIN CONCURS.

French News Agency Reports Her Acceptance of Silesian Decision.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Great Britain has accepted the Upper Silesian decision of the League of Nations Council, according to the Havas Agency. It is said also that the Allies, after an exchange of views, are in accord as to the procedure to be adopted for carrying out the decision.

KAPLAN LAUDS HYLAN, ASSAILS UNTERMYER

Declares Lawyer Is Not Opposing Transit Commission's Plan Except in a Few Details.

Abraham Kaplan, President of the Civil Service Commission, and who as a Democratic State Senator was a member of the Lockwood Legislative Investigating Committee on Housing, yesterday issued a statement resenting Samuel Untermyer's attack on Mayor Hylan in connection with the transit situation. He asserts that Mr. Untermyer is not opposed to the Transit Commission's plan for a reorganization of the transit systems of the city, but merely disagrees with the plan in incidental details.

Commissioner Kaplan, who had several clashes with Mr. Untermyer during the sessions of the Lockwood committee, further asserts that Mr. Untermyer "is evidently in favor of the plan of reorganization which would give the city the opportunity of issuing bonds to pay for bankrupt properties," and expresses a willingness to debate the transit issue with the lawyer in the event Mr. Untermyer disagrees with his assertion.

"There is nothing in Mr. Untermyer's statement which opposes the plan of taking over some of these bankrupt organizations at the expense of the city," Commissioner Kaplan says. "On the contrary, Mr. Untermyer takes issue only with the method of valuing the property of these defunct organizations. He is willing that they should be taken over and that a franchise should be returned to the private interests to operate them, all at the expense of the city, but wishes to debate the method by which this can be done.

"The operating companies are in a position wherein they are demanding concessions. In return for these they are not only unwilling to grant concessions, but are demanding additional concessions. With some of these demands Mr. Untermyer seems to be in accord, and yet he has the audacity to criticise Mayor Hylan for fighting the battle of the people in protecting them against the invasion of their vested rights.

"He says that the present Transit Commission is in existence due to the policy of Mayor Hylan. In a way this is true. The railroad interests of this city have found in Mayor Hylan a champion of the people. His policies were the policies of protecting the people in the right to a five-cent fare and in their inalienable right to home rule.

"The record achieved by Mayor Hylan in his campaign to protect the rights of the people of the city against the invasion of the principle of home rule and against the unreasonable and improper demands on the part of the traction interests cannot be injured by invective or billingsgate uttered by a dealer in this method of expression."

TO OPEN BIDS FOR SUBWAY IN 41ST ST.

Commission Aims to Start Work Soon on Tube From Grand Central to Eighth Avenue.

Bids for constructing the extension of the Queensboro subway from the Grand Central Station to Forty-first Street and Eighth Avenue will be opened on Nov. 9 by the Transit Commission. As quickly as possible after the contract is awarded work will be begun. This is considered one of the most important bits of new work, ranking with the Fourteenth Street-Eastern District line. It is expected to relieve to the point of disappearance the congestion on the shuttle operation between the Grand Central and Times Square.

Plans call for a two-track subway, beginning near Vanderbilt Avenue at a level below the shuttle tracks, extending west through Forty-second Street to a point east of Sixth Avenue. Then the line will bend south, passing underneath Bryant Park into Sixth Avenue and thence run beneath Forty-first Street to a terminal just west of Eighth Avenue. Stations on the line will be located at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street and beneath the Times Square station of the Interborough Subway.

One reason for extending the line as far west as Eighth Avenue is that eventually it will connect with a new subway through the latter thoroughfare, which it is believed will be among the first to be built when new work begins. It is estimated that the Queensboro extension can be completed in two years, provided the Board of Estimate does not delay in approving the contract.

The commission pointed out that when the Queensboro line is in complete operation passengers will be able to board trains at Seventh Avenue and ride direct to Queens, and that passengers traveling west can continue as far as Seventh Avenue, Manhattan. Counts made by the commission's transit inspectors indicate that 100,000 passengers daily use the shuttle and that about 24,000 of these transfer to and from the Queensboro trains.

When the contemplated extension of the Corona branch of the Queensboro subway across Flushing Creek into Flushing is completed it will be possible, with the aid of the Manhattan extension of the line, for passengers to travel direct between Flushing and the heart of the theatrical and hotel district of Manhattan without change.

LAST DAY TO REGISTER

Today is the last day of registration for this year's election. Registration places will be open from 7 A. M. to 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

Bank Bandit Foiled One Day, Calls the Next, Gets $2,000

HAMILTON, Ontario, Oct. 14.—A robber who was foiled in an attempt to rob the Bank of Hamilton yesterday after a pistol duel with an official of the institution, tried his fortunes again today with better success.

He walked into the Union Bank, said to a clerk, "They stopped me yesterday, but won't today," pointed a pistol at him, grabbed $2,000 and escaped.

M'ANENY SEES FLAW IN UNTERMYER PLAN

Says Constitution Forbids Use of Public Money as Suggested in Transit Scheme.

BARS INTEREST GUARANTEE

Asserts City Could Not Take or Hold Bonds of Consolidated Company.

VITAL POINT OF PROPOSAL

Constructive Criticism Welcomed and Suggestions Will Be Considered, Commission Chairman Declares.

Chairman George McAneny of the Transit Commission, commenting yesterday on the traction plan suggested by Samuel Untermyer, pointed out that the State Constitution forbids the use of public money in any enterprise not solely for city purposes and in the city's interests. He admits that provision for transit is a city purpose, but suggests that the city is prohibited from guaranteeing interest upon securities that would be issued in exchange for the properties to be acquired. No other part of Mr. Untermyer's plan was commented upon for the reason that the point touching a likely violation of the Constitution was considered to be the very heart of it.

Mr. Untermyer, in his speech before the City Club, made these statements:

"My proposal does not mean municipal operation. To that I am opposed. It means private operation, with the city's money, but with municipal participation and co-operation. It is a small part of that to which the city would be entitled and which it would exact if it were a private interest, and it is entirely workable.

"If as thus reorganized the maintenance of a 5-cent fare involves temporary deficits in operation, it would be by far fairer in such a very remote event to have the city temporarily advance the money to meet any such deficits, but on a prior lien security to be amortized and repaid out of future profits."

Suggestions Welcomed.

Mr. McAneny says that the Transit Commission "welcomes constructive criticism and suggestions of the kind embodied in the address of Mr. Untermyer," and that most of the points made by the latter "have already been carefully considered by the commission in connection with the preparation of the report." Nevertheless, he says, every serious point made by the critics of the commission's plan will be carefully re-examined in the course of the public hearings. Then Mr. McAneny's statement reads:

PAVLOWA DISCARDS AMERICAN PARTNER

She Sails From England to Dance Here, Leaving Stowittz Behind in Paris.

HE CHARGES JEALOUSY

Declares She Could Not Stand His Success and the Recognition He Received.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Hubert J. Stowittz, the young American who danced so well with Anna Pavlowa last year in New York, will not dance with her this year. The former California student is in Paris today, while the famed dancer is on the ocean bound for Quebec, and subsequently for New York, where she will dance in November. Her partner this season will be Novikoff, who, it will be remembered, danced with her in 1911. But the success of Novikoff in renewing professional acquaintance with Pavlowa means Mr. Stowittz's sorrow and regret. Joining Pavlowa's company in 1916, he had worked up until last year he appeared as her leading man at the Manhattan Opera House, and afterward came to Europe with her, appearing at the Trocadero in Paris, and at Queens Hall, where the engagement ended in July. Then the whole company, according to Stowittz, went on vacation. He traveled through Central Europe, always, he says, counting the days until he should sail back for more triumphs in the United States.

He arrived with all his baggage in Paris Aug. 26. Straightway, he recounts, he went to the Plaza Athenee Hotel, where he was to meet Pavlowa, only to find that Pavlowa was in London. But her husband, M. Dandre, was at the Plaza and told Stowittz, so Stowittz says, that it would not do him the slightest good to see Pavlowa because the dancer was through with him and was going to sail with another dancing partner.

Stowittz says that having only a verbal contract, he saw he was really through.

The youthful Californian, so far away from home, recalled wistfully that the last dance he danced with Pavlowa was the Baccnanale, at Queens Hall, which he said was the last dance Pavlowa performed with Mordkin before breaking off with him. Stowittz blames his trouble on exactly the same circumstances he says caused Mordkin's difficulties.

"Look," he said, lifting a big scrapbook from beneath his arms and showing numberless published pictures and articles about him. "Pavlowa can't stand that. I was too good. I had too much success. She only wants second-raters with her and so she fired me.

"Well, I shall never starve. I have so many offers I am puzzled to decide which one to take. Perhaps I shall dance at the Opera with Ida Rubenstein, and Pavlowa can have all the spotlight over there."

COHAN MAY PRODUCE HIS PLAYS IN LONDON

He Is to Sail Next Wednesday for England, Where He Has Never Acted.

George M. Cohan will sail for London next Wednesday on the Berengaria, and it was declared last night that he might enter the London theatrical producing field. Mr. Cohan, although he has made a number of trips abroad, never has acted there, nor have any of the Cohan plays ever been presented there under his own direction. His announced resolution to make "The O'Brien Girl" his last production here, however, may result in the transfer of his activities.

Mr. Cohan will be accompanied on the Berengaria by his wife and children, as well as his business representative, E. W. Dunn.

Edna Mampell, Contralto, Sings.

Edna Mampell, possessor of a bell-like contralto voice that she contrives to make the vehicle for delicate shades of expression, gave pleasure to a large audience at Aeolian Hall last evening in a score of songs for which accompaniments were played by C. V. Bos. The singer notably avoided the conventional "organ tone" effects of deep voiced Amazons of old. She sang wholly modern lyrics, in German by Brahms, Strauss and Reger, and in French by Delibes, Duparc, Laparra and Chausson, with a Russian folk song and c s by Rachmaninoff and Moussorgsky. MacDowell's "Sunrise" and C nter's "Slumber Song" were among her English pieces, as were an Irish tune arranged by Fisher and others of Mowrey and Bantock.

Francis Macmillen Plays to Throng.

Francis Macmillen, cited like Schelling, Spalding and other Americans who served as interpreters in the war, and except for two appearances with the National Symphony last season practically unheard here in five years, gave a violin recital last evening, the first of five he plans in New York, that filled the Town Hall to overflowing and left no doubt of the player's welcome. Mr. Macmillen has gained during these silent years in stature as an artist. He played with an authority, sincerity and vigor delightful to observe, assisted at the piano by Richard Hageman in classics of Mozart, Handel and Lalo, as well as fiddler's show pieces by Valentini and Wieniawski and lighter airs of Pierne, Sinding and Arensky.

Marriage in "Dulcy" Today.

Norma Lee and Elliott Nugent, both of whom are members of the cast of "Dulcy," at the Frazee, will be married at noon today. The ceremony will be performed at the Chapel of Notre Dame, Morningside Drive and 114th Street. Nugent is the son of J. C. Nugent, well known in vaudeville.

"The Six-Fifty" at Hudson Oct. 24.

"The Six-Fifty," a play by Kate L. McLaurin, will be produced at the Hudson Theatre on Monday night, Oct. 24, by Lee Kugel. The cast will include Lillian Albertson, Lolita Robertson, Lillian Ross, Hazel Turney, Leonard Willey, John Merkyl and others.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Belasco-Erlanger production of "The Wandering Jew," which comes to the Knickerbocker on Oct. 25, was seen for the first time in Wilmington last night. The play is the work of E. Temple Thurston, and the cast includes Tyrone Power, Helen Ware, Howard Lang, Belle Bennett, Albert Bruning, Sydney Herbert and Thais Lawton. Governor Denny of Delaware and Mayor Harvey of Wilmington attend the premiere.

Ian Maclaren is now being featured in the cast of "The Fan," in which Hilda Spong is appearing at the Punch and Judy.

McKay Morris, now appearing in "Main Street," will be seen later in the season in special matinees of Dunsany's "Alexander."

Lionel Barrymore gave a special matinee of "The Claw" in Boston yesterday in honor of Ethel Barrymore, who is appearing in that city in "Declassee." Julia Marlowe, E. H. Sothern, Margaret Anglin, Madge Kennedy and Genevieve Tobin were among those present.

Frances Starr will begin a long tour in "The Easiest Way" in Cleveland on Oct. 31. "The Grand Duke," with Lionel Atwill as its star, will be the next attraction at the Lyceum.

THE SCREEN

The Italian motion picture, "Theodora," brought to this country by the Goldwyn company, opened an engagement at the Astor Theatre last night As a spectacle this picture is truly magnificent. The stories of the millions of lire it cost, of the thousands of people in it, of the stupendous reconstruction of Byzantium undertaken by Armando Brasini are easily believable. Most of the Hollywood products seem like small-town stuff beside this tremendous production from Italy.

And the picture has something more than size. Its numerous sets, apparently constructed without regard to cost, seem also to have been constructed with regard to history, though in this matter only the experts are qualified to pass judgment. The fact remains, however, that the sets and also the costumes and general appearance of the scenes, satisfy the imagination. Spectators are convinced that they are seeing Byzantium and its people on the screen.

There are dramatic thrills in the picture, too, not only the excitement of battles and murders and masses of men in motion, but the more telling effect of contrast, the contrast of cold, indifferent marble and hot, impassioned humanity. To see a mad mob racing through a court of oblivious columns and unconcerned statues, is to feel momentariness, if not the irony, of life and its most passionate efforts. Arturo Ambrosio, who directed the production, seems to have sought this effect consciously. At any rate the picture again and again achieves it, and only occasionally misses it when it might have been possible. Sometimes the statues are misplaced, as in one scene in which a marble Uncle Sam seems to loom in the foreground, but for the most part the scenes are strikingly composed.

So "Theodora" as a spectacle has seldom, if ever, been surpassed. As a photoplay—that is, as a story, it is not so successful. It is an adaptation of Victorien Sardou's drama of the courtesan who was Empress of the Roman Empire as Justinian's wife, of her power in the Emperor's court, and of her downfall through love of a Greek, whom she met on the streets of Byzantium. A smaller picture could have told this story more dramatically. "Theodora" is so vast that any single plot would probably be lost in it. But even so the story might have had more body and coherence than it has.

In the first place, it is told very largely in words, of which the pictures are merely animated illustrations. Katherine Hilliker, who wrote the titles, has written them well, but she had to write too many of them and wrote more than she had to. Also the picture, especially the first few reels, is jumpy. Each scene is so short that it is gone before the spectator has time to grasp it. And the acting is stagey where it is not merely posing. Only occasionally do the individual players stand out as what they are supposed to be. In some of the scenes Rita Jolivet, in the title role, is emotionally expressive. In others she looks, rather than acts, her part.

In the second part of the picture the story gains in interest, but more through mass action than the concentration of interest on individuals. Rebellion breaks out in Byzantium. The people pack the arena to howl at the Emperor. Theodora orders the lions loosed upon them. They storm the castle. The Emperor's armies are rallied to put down the insurrection —here is action, the clash of tempestuous forces, and the people in the theatre swept along with it. They no longer contemplate splendid architecture. They are part of a teeming world.

Theodora, therefore, will probably be remembered as an impressive, but sometimes tiresome, spectacle, that finally gathers momentum and rushed to an exciting end.

"Miarka, the Daughter of the Bear," an exceptionally interesting photoplay made in France, was shown yesterday afternoon at Town Hall by the Commonwealth Centre, which has arranged a series of Friday afternoon and Saturday evening entertainments consisting of motion pictures and music. According to this schedule, the photoplay will be repeated tonight at the same place.

Mme. Gabrielle Rejane, the celebrated French actress who died last year, is the featured player in "Miarka." It is said to be the only motion picture for which she acted. This means that the screen suffered a distinct loss in her death, for Mme. Rejane was one of those comparatively rare players who had mastered the technique of pantomime. Her performance in "Miarka" shows this. One might think from watching her that she had been playing before the camera all her life. She seldom wastes time going through the motions of talking, which are usually without meaning on the screen. Instead, she acts. She uses her body, her face, her limbs to reveal herself to the spectators, or rather, not herself, but the old gypsy woman she impersonates in the story. She makes the character vivid. It is a keen pleasure to watch her performance.

The others in the cast, whose names are not given on the program, and who, being foreign, are not widely known in this country, are also suited and equal to their parts. They help to vivify the story.

But the story as such owes much perhaps to Louis Mercanton, who directed it. Deprived of the latest equipment and, perhaps, some of the experience which gives an advantage to American directors, M. Mercanton has nevertheless been able to produce a photoplay marked by dramatic photography and expressive moving pictures. For one thing, he seems to be endowed with an imagination. Many of his scenes are eloquent because in making them he thought more of what they might mean to spectators than of their literal resemblance to reality. The result is that they seem real. His settings, for example, are not crowded, and each scene emphasizes the point it is meant to emphasize. The picture also seems truthfully, as well as effectively, staged and costumed.

M. Mercanton's work has not been circulated in this country since 1918, when his "Mothers of France," with Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, came over as a war picture, but it is to be hoped that he will be numbered among the regular producers from now on.

Of the story of "Miarka," it need be said only that it is an old gypsy legend, with the elements of mystery, romance and conflict demanded by the public at large.

BOOTBLACK A BARON, SHINES ON ONE NIGHT

Lambs Club Members Disguise Shoe Polisher in Dress Suit and Take Him to See Leon Errol.

HE ALMOST SNUBBED ACTOR

But Errol Recognized Murph' and Impostor Was Overcome by Emotion at Dinner That Followed.

It was a large night in the life of Murph', the Lambs Club bootblack. Murph' had been scrubbed and manicured, attired in gaudy raiment, his hair oiled and combed back into a distinguished wave, and hurried forth into that gay life with which he was familiar only through the words caught while polishing the shoes of eminent Lambs.

It was Andy Callahan who discovered that there were times when Murph', an Italian despite his name, aspired to that more brilliant life of which he had heard. It was Callahan who had seen Murph', flanked on either side by a little Murph', with a flower in his buttonhole, hurrying on his afternoon off to the movies where he might revel in a brief glimpse of Broadway from the inside. Murph' at times rested on his brushes, as it were, while he dreamed of white lights and lobster suppers.

A few nights ago Callahan called up his friend Leon Errol.

"Say, Leon, there's an Italian Count here at the club, says he's a friend of yours," said Callahan. "I'm bringing him over to see your show. He says he can remember you by your legs. Met you first in Paris."

"I don't remember any Italian Count," said Errol. "Hold on; is he a little chap, black hair, parted in the middle?"

"Sure, that's the man," Callahan told him.

"Why, he's not a Count, he's a Baron," exclaimed Errol.

Murph' Arrives in State.

Just before the curtain went up that night a foreign-looking person walked into the theatre, wearing an Inverness cape, four-quart hat, white gloves and a red ribbon across his shirt front. An order hung about his neck. His escort, several jovial Lambs, lined up and bowed low as he took his seat in the front row. The spectators were properly impressed—a distinguished foreigner, a nobleman!

As Errol came on the stranger lifted a monocle and regarded him critically. He stared obviously and paid no attention to Errol's amusing remarks. He regarded the educated legs with disfavor. His nose went up and his countenance was more impassive than ever. And always he stared through his little round window.

"Hang the fellow," quoth Errol, tripping over a rug. Then he caught a good glimpse of the Baron's face, and let out a gasp of joy that upset the cast for a moment.

"So help me, it's Murph' Shine," he said, and several Lambs almost tumbled into the orchestra pit. But not a waver of the monocle. The Baron did not understand English and laughter was foreign to his principles. It was his night and he meant to stick to it.

After the show Baron Murph' was taken upstairs and formally introduced. His nonchalance was delightful, as he pressed the tips of Mr. Errol's fingers. Marilynn Miller was introduced to him, and after gravely kissing her hand, Murph' almost lost his composure as she kissed him on both cheeks. This was life!

Later that night there was a dinner at the Lambs for the Baron. He sat at the head of the table, smiling over his ribbon, beside Jimmie Crane, who acted as interpreter. There was no mistaking the face of Murph' then, despite the monocle. Too often had it leaned over a pair of shoes and given them the final gloss that made a Lamb glance down with placid satisfaction.

What the Baron Said.

"Murph,' you rascal!" exclaimed Errol.

"Beg pardon, Leon—the Baron," corrected Crane.

"My error," admitted Errol, and shook hands with the Baron, who insisted on wearing his gloves to dinner.

It was a merry dinner. There were times when Murph' forgot that he was not to laugh.

"My side, they sore," he confided to Crane. "I laugh or I bust."

"Then bust," he was told.

"The Baron is full of memories of his friend Errol and would like to make a little speech," said Crane. "Unfortunately he speaks no English. I will translate for him."

"Misterioso mustacchi sepolcrale carbone subitamente doloroso e felice contagioso de capo spaghetti, si," said the Baron.

"The Baron, he say," translated Crane, "he thinks Errol is funny as a crutch."

"Arrotino arnia parcita ricearsi rivoltoso allegro furioso sambalone tossico sapristi mostarda lattato cavolfiore," said the Baron, slapping his chest.

"I must refuse to divulge what the Baron said, but he meant every word of it," announced Crane.

Some time later they found the Baron down in the barber shop. The habit of a lifetime was too much for him. He was skating about the slippery floor, overcome with emotion. They put him in a cab and sent him home, and as his feet reclined on the seat opposite they heard him sigh joyfully and murmur: "Tonight a Baron, tomorrow a bootblack."

SENATE TO EXAMINE RESERVE BANK PAY

Overman Resolution Asking Light on Charges of 50 Per Cent. Salary Rise Is Adopted.

AUTHOR DENIES HOSTILITY

Says Time Is Opportune to Find If Allegations Already Made Are Based on Facts.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—That the personnel of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York has increased only 10 per cent. while the payroll has increased 50 per cent., or more than $1,500,000, since the close of the war, is the allegation recited in a resolution introduced in the Senate today by Senator Overman of North Carolina.

The resolution, which was unanimously adopted, calls upon the Federal Reserve Board to submit to the Senate at the earliest opportunity the number of employes of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York, as well as of the Reserve banks in other sections of the country, the salaries paid these employes, amount of money expended in building construction and how much of the net earnings of the various banks have been paid into the treasury as a franchise tax.

The resolution states that it has been charged in the public press and upon the floor of the Senate that the Federal Reserve Bank has been guilty of an "amazing waste" of public money in increasing the salaries of officers and employes. In the Federal Reserve Bank of New York it is alleged the number of officials and employes has been increased since the war by 279, or about 10 per cent., and that these officials and employes receive "all the way from $10,000, $12,000, $25,000, $30,000, and one as high as $50,000, and that prior to 1918 60 per cent. of these officers never received over $1,500 to $2,500, but are now drawing salaries as high as $10,000."

It is further alleged that "the official reports of the Federal Reserve Board show that in the calendar year 1920 the Federal Reserve Bank of New York's payroll amounted to $4,639,273 and for the calendar year 1918 the payroll was $3,104,830, showing an actual increase since the close of the war $1,535,443."

The resolution concludes as follows:

"Whereas it is charged that the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board has stated that the employes of the Federal Reserve Banks are not paid by the Government nor paid out of the revenue derived from taxation, but are private business men and in the banking business to make money; and

"Whereas, under the provision of Section 7 of the Federal Reserve act a large per cent. of the net receipts made and saved by the Federal Reserve Board shall be paid into the Federal Treasury, and if the allegations herein made are true the Treasury of the United States has been deprived of a vast sum of money, therefore, it is further

"Resolved that the Federal Reserve Board, as early as practicable, be, and it is hereby directed to furnish to the Senate the number of employes, together with their respective salaries, employed by the Federal Bank in New York, as well as the other Federal Reserve banks in the country, and the expenditures made by each branch bank in the erection of public buildings and the general expenses in the administration of each Federal Reserve Bank, and how much of the net earnings have been paid to the United States as a franchise tax."

Senator Overman explained that he was not making any charges against the Federal Reserve Bank. These charges, he added, have been made in the most public fashion and for that reason he considered the time opportune to find out whether or not the allegations were based on facts.

DENIAL BY GREEK LEGATION.

Statement Says Constantine Did Not Slur Harding in Interview.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The Greek Legation today issued an official statement, on instructions from its Government, denying certain statements alleged to have been made by King Constantine of Greece to an American magazine writer, in which, the Legation declares, Constantine was made to appear to have made "highly discourteous remarks about the American political regime."

"The Greek Legation," the statement read, "is in receipt of instructions from the Hellenic Government to deny outright certain statements alleged to have been made by the King of the Hellenes to an American journalist, Mr. Kenneth Roberts, who, in the Saturday Evening Post of Sept. 10, published an article mentioning an interview with King Constantine, in which the King of the Hellenes is made to appear as having uttered certain highly discourteous remarks about the American political regime.

"By the expressed desire of his Majesty, the Hellenic Government denies in a most categorical way that King Constantine ever made, either to Mr. Roberts or to anyone else, any remarks about the American form of government, or about the former Premier, Mr. Venizelos.

"The words attributed to his Majesty have never been uttered."

RABBI FOR DIPLOMATIC POST

Joseph Kornfeld of Columbus Accepts Harding's Offer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Rabbi Joseph Kornfeld of the Congregation Israel of Columbus, Ohio, has been offered a diplomatic post by President Harding and has accepted. The State Department has taken the usual course of inquiring whether he will be acceptable to the Government to which the President contemplates appointing him, and an answer from that Government is awaited.

The identity of the Government is not disclosed. Turkey, with which the United States is expected to resume diplomatic relations soon, was mentioned, but it was learned that the mission was to another country.

Rabbi Kornfeld is a close friend of President Harding and gave him enthusiastic support in the campaign last year. He is a member of the Columbus School Board and takes an active interest in civic affairs.

TO PUNISH DRAFT EVADERS.

Wadsworth Introduces Bill to Avert Escape by Treaty Ratification.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Measures to prevent escape from punishment of deserters or slackers under the draft law are provided in a War Department bill introduced today by Senator Wadsworth, Chairman of the Senate Military Committee.

Secretary Weeks wrote to Senator Wadsworth that the deserters might escape as a result of the termination of the military emergency through ratification of the German peace treaty, and that legislation to extend jurisdiction over the deserters was desired.

LAST DAY TO REGISTER

Today is the last day of registration for this year's election. Registration places will be open from 7 A. M. to 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

WANTS PROSPERITY BOOMED

J. J. Jones Tells Advertising Convention Press Should Feature It.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—"If the newspapers of the country would pay more attention to the psychology of improving business than to murders and scandals and the petty details of life, this country would get back to normal business conditions far quicker," declared John J. Jones of New York in an address today before the convention of New England Advertising Clubs.

"The real trouble with business is that the American people and American business is sick spiritually and morally," he said. "If the newspapers would turn over their front pages to booming business for two months this country would be swept by a wave of prosperity. Congress can do or say what it may but the American people are the real makers of peace and prosperity."

Other speakers included O. C. Harn and Charles W. Hoyt of New York and Guy M. Peterson of Springfield, Mass.

"Coming events, such as an international yacht race, should be used in planning for your advertising campaigns," said Mr. Harn. "Such events may be used to great advantage by keen advertisers whose merchandise plays a part in events brought before the public."

Herbert S. Houston, Vice President of Doubleday, Page & Co., made a plea for international co-operation. He said:

"America is in and of the world and we can do much to have this country see that great fact. It is now becoming clear to the farmer in the West with wheat on his hands and the planter in the South with piled-up cotton that there is such a place as abroad. And we can carry on this work by molding favorable public opinion toward our international duties in the broadest spirit of American citizenship. * * * Right now a great disarmament conference has been called by President Harding. It should have tremendous popular support because 88 cents of every Government tax dollar goes to war purposes. And what is true of America is true of all countries. The world is having its back broken by war burdens. These should be relieved and a broader basis of equity should be established. Personally, I believe the League of Nations is making good in tremendous fashion. It has just now settled the question of Silesian boundary when the Supreme Council utterly failed. Some day, in my judgment, this country will take its proper place in the League and meet its full international obligations."

WIZARD TOO ILL TO APPEAR.

House Hearing on Ku Klux Is Put Off Until Simmons Improves.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Because of the illness of William J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, the House Rules Committee hearing on resolutions calling for a Congressional investigation of the order went over today until Monday.

A Washington physician, called in last night to attend the wizard at a hotel after his collapse at the hearing yesterday, reported that he was in bed suffering from an acute attack of bronchitis, exhaustion and an affection of the throat, but that he would be in shape to undergo examination by committeemen the first of the week.

There was no indication as to whether the committee would summon other witnesses before making a report to the House. The suggestion that Edward Young Clarke, Imperial Kleagle and head of the Klan's propaganda department, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, his assistant, be called to testify, has not been discussed by the committee, it was said.

FATHER KELLEY IS NAMED.

He Will Conduct Catholic Services at Grave of the Unknown Soldier.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Rev. Francis A. Kelley, Chaplain of the 27th Division during the war, and now pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, this city, has been named by Secretary of War Weeks to perform the ritual of the Catholic Church at the ceremonies incident to the burial of the body of the unknown soldier at Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C., on Armistice Day.

Father Kelley was selected from a large number of other Catholic chaplains who served with the Army and Navy during the recent conflict. He was formerly National Chaplain of the American Legion.

Right Rev. Charles H. Brent, Chaplain-in-Chief of the Chaplain Corps Overseas, and Bishop of the Episcopal Church, will conduct the Protestant services.

SEEK BOYS IN SHOOTING.

Two Who Wounded Motorists Face Second-Degree Assault Charge.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, Oct. 14. — Warrants charging second degree assault were issued today by Judge Thomas MacPherson of Peekskill for the arrest of Charles Martin Jr. and Galvin Dale, 16 and 17 years old, respectively, of Annsville, Westchester County, who are charged with having shot and wounded Mrs. Linia Clark and her chauffeur, Daniel W. Barrett.

A trooper of the State Constabulary told Judge MacPherson that one of the two defendants told the police that Mrs. Clark's automobile nearly knocked them down when it grazed them on the State highway in Annsville. One fired, according to the police, to frighten the automobilists. The shots wounded Mrs. Clark and Barrett.

TREATY VOTE NEXT WEEK.

Final Action in the Senate Is Expected Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Because of the death of Senator Knox the Senate agreed today to defer until Monday final consideration of the treaties of peace with Germany, Austria and Hungary.

Votes on ratification of the treaties are expected not later than Tuesday, and the Senate will then resume consideration of the tax revision bill.

COURT UPHOLDS NEWSPAPER

Rules Publication of Story of Mistaken Arrest Was Privileged.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—Alexander P. Macauley of Toronto, Ontario, today withdrew, with the privilege of reinstituting within a year, a $200,000 libel suit against The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, on account of the publication of his arrest here on Jan. 3, 1917, on suspicion of forgery.

The withdrawal followed peremptory instructions of Circuit Judge Falkenhainer to the jury for a verdict for the defendant, on the ground that the publication was privileged and that no malice had been shown.

Macauley's arrest resulted from his being mistaken for a man who had cashed several forged checks here. He was exonerated after being held several days by the police.

Gets $30,000 Because of Her Name.

The will of Mrs. Hannah Tannenholz, who left an estate of more than $100,000, gives $30,000 to Rosa M. Ringel because Miss Ringel was named for her mother, but she gives only $500 to each of the three children of her husband, Elias Tannenholz. Her own sons, Jonas R., Albert and Arthur Goldstein, share the residuary estate. The Home of the Daughters of Jacob gets $2,500, and $500 each is left to the Hebrew Kindergarten, Day and Night Nursery, the Montefiore Talmud Torah and the Hebrew National Orphan Asylum.

You Can Buy Fall Topcoats

For Less Than the Cost of Making

These garments are tailored as finely as the custom clothes that Fifth Avenue puts its label in. They were all made up for the most discriminating trade. They have the cut and the swing that the well dressed man looks for. You get them at less than wholesale—at the bare cost of making. These new Fall coats would be big values at $47.50 to $70—and you would pay that to the retailer for this grade of apparel.

Handsome Woolens

Thes topcoats come in the popular fabrics of the season, including Caledon and O'Brien, from across the Atlantic, and Hochanum, Princeton, Metcalf, Dunn, Kunhardt, Standish and Worumbo, domestic cloths of character.

Custom Models

Styles with the proper cut and the right swing to them; styles that reveal the hand of a master designer — Frank Laura, who for ten years was connected with those famous Fifth avenue tailors, Schanz and J. F. Lanigan.

Why We're Retiring

For years the house of Samuel Blum has made none but the finest of ready-to-wear attire. We have won a reputation for Rochester Art Clothes which we insist shall always remain untarnished. Rather than cheapen our line to meet today's conditions in the retail field, we have concluded to retire. And that we will do as soon as our stock of more than one million dollars worth of high grade clothing has been disposed of.

Suits and Winter Overcoats at Less Than Wholesale

Sack suits, 1, 2 and 3-button styles; topcoats and overcoats, quarter silk lined, hand tailored. Sizes 32 to 44, including shorts and stouts. The retail prices would be $30 to $35.

Sack suits and English sport suits; topcoats and overcoats; all in popular fabrics; all finely tailored. Sizes 32 to 44, including shorts and stouts. The retail prices would be $37.50 to $45.

KAHN SAYS SURTAX BLIGHTS INDUSTRY

High Rate Drives Capital Into Tax-Exempt and Conservative Investments.

CHIEF CAUSE OF DEPRESSION

Deprives Business Man of Incentive for Enterprise—Senator Urged to Support 32% Maximum.

Unemployment and business depression throughout the country are due largely to the high rate of surtaxes on incomes, according to Otto H. Kahn, because the surtax drives capital into tax-exempt and conservative investments, penalizes the working capitalist as against the idle ones, and puts a stop to the use of capital in starting new enterprises. Mr. Kahn's views are set forth in a letter to Senator Lenroot, arguing in favor of the reduction of the surtaxes to a minimum of 32 per cent.

Mr. Kahn says that the high surtaxes do not fall heavily on the very rich man, as is commonly believed.

"From the merely selfish standpoint," he said, "the man of means need have little quarrel with the existing schedule of surtaxes. If he chooses to avail himself of the lawful opportunities at hand he can invest a greater or less portion and, in some cases, all of his capital in tax-exempt securities at an attractive rate of interest, and to the extent that he does so the income tax and surtaxes will cease to trouble him.

"The higher brackets of the surtaxes have ceased to be productive. They have, in fact, largely abolished themselves, but in the wrong way. To the extent that they are collected they penalize the working capitalist, the man engaged in enterprise and active business, as against the idle capitalist."

Considered merely as a revenue-producing measure, Mr. Kahn asserted that "surtaxes which (including the normal tax) do not claim more than, say, as a minimum, one-third of a person's income, will produce a larger revenue than the present rates, which claim up to nearly three-quarters of a person's income."

Refused to Invest

"Not now," is the reply of the financier to applications for funds for financing attractive, sound and promising propositions. Even investment in mortgages and building operations has largely stopped. The reason for this is as follows, according to Mr. Kahn:

"The principal direct cause is clumsy and destructive taxation, which has violently interfered with the normal flow of capital, has prevented the accumulation of funds necessary for industry and enterprise, has appropriated the cash reserves needed for the conduct of business and has largely removed the stimulus of reward.

"If the rules of a game are that one party takes upon itself all the risk of loss, all the care, worry, venturing and effort and the other party takes the bulk of the eventual winnings, in the shape of surtaxes, excess profits taxes and inheritance taxes, the inevitable result will be that the former party will at least reach the conclusion that the odds are too heavy against it and will abstain from playing."

Money tken in taxes by the Government and put in circulation has not the invigorating effect on industry that is produced by the investment of private capital, stimulated by the hope of profit and the fear of failure, according to Mr. Kahn. The capital of those of small and moderate means is usually ot invested in such a way as to reinvigorate industry, Mr. Kahn argues, because their money is largely in savings banks and life insurance.

"But the funds so held," he continued, "are not, generally speaking, and ought not to be available for starting and financing new and untried enterprises. The man of small means ought not, and as a general rule will not, and savings banks and life insurance concerns, &c., do not, and indeed under the law must not, place funds otherwise than in seasoned investments.

Ineentive Taken Away.

"The capital which can afford to take, has an incentive to take, ought to take and heretofore has taken the risk of starting and financing new enterprise and doing the pioneer work of the country is that relatively small percentage of the nation's total capital which is represented by the surplus funds of corporations and well-to-do individuals. That is a most valuable function for the nation, and that function has been woefully crippled by the existing surtaxes, both because they have prevented the accumulation of capital and because they have taken away the incentive to risk-taking. The source of the supply of funds for pioneering and for developing the country has run dry under the withering action of these taxes. It will so continue until surtaxes are reduced to an adequate extent.

"In faulty taxation and its result in throwing the economic equilibrium of the country out of gear and putting barriers across the old-established routes of trade and industry, must be found one of the main explanations for that stagnation and depression which keeps millions of men idle.

"I am engaged in the business of financing enterprise and I know from personal experience," Mr. Kahn says, "how continuously projects, the execution of which would aid in turning the wheels of industry and creating employment, are running up against the impediments of taxation and are broken by them and discarded."

Even if our surtax rate is reduced to a maximum of 32 per cent. it will still be in excess of the highest surtax in most European countries, according to Mr. Kahn.

"I speak from practical knowledge," he continued, "when I say that good times and abundant employment cannot return so long as enterprise is lamed and the natural flow of capital retarded by oppressive and exorbitant taxation."

BETTER STILL IN DRY GOODS

Reports Indicate Decided Increase in Retail Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods showed a marked improvement over the past several weeks. Orders from salesmen on the road reached a figure considerably above that of last week and very much greater than for the same period last year. There was a greater number of customers in the market than during the same period a year ago.

"Collections remain satisfactory.

"Reports from merchants throughout the country point to a decided increase in retail business."

Canadian National Shows Surplus.

The Canadian National Railways show a surplus of earnings over operating expenses in August, the first month this has been reported since the roads in the system have been operated under the present board. The company's gross earnings were $10,356,461, while operating expenses were shown at $10,489,230, making net earnings $47,231.

STEAL PROSECUTOR'S SUITS

Burglars Get District Attorney Lewis's Garments From His Tailor.

Two new suits of clothing ordered recently by District Attorney Harry E. Lewis, candidate for election to the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, were part of loot valued at $4,000 obtained by burglars early yesterday morning in the tailoring establishment of David Eskin, at 924 Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn. When Eskin opened the store at 8 A. M. he found that the robbers, evidently aware that the place was wired with a burglar alarm, had cut a hole about fifteen inches square in the centre of the floor and removed six suits, two women's fur coats and about two dozen rolls of valuable cloth.

"They must have had a boy climb through the hole and pass the stuff down to them in the cellar," Eskin said. "No man could squeeze through that hole. This is the second time in a year that I've been robbed. The police don't seem to be able to catch such thieves, even though it requires the use of a truck to cart the stuff away.

"When I was robbed about a year ago I had the burglar alarm installed. The wires ran all around the place except the spot where those thieves got through this morning. Everybody around here knows that I am Mr. Lewis's tailor, and I believe those darned burglars took his two suits of clothes for spite."

Imperial Oil Surplus $801,215.

Gross income of the Imperial Oil Corporation for the seven months ended June 30 is reported at $1,452,305 and net after taxes of $1,080,104. Dividends of $278,888 were paid, leaving a surplus before reserves of $801,215. This compares with gross of $1,287,954 and net of $1,004,604 in the eight months, April 1 to Nov. 30, 1920. The corporation's report shows cash on hand of $312,542 and notes and bills receivable of $766,300. Total assets are placed at $12,877,530 and surplus $7,078,490.

FRENCH DIVORCES INCREASE

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Statistics just compiled show an enormous increase in the number of divorce cases judged in the French courts. In 1885, the year after the French divorce laws were modified, the courts pronounced 4,120 decrees. In 1913 the figure had risen to 16,335. The statistics for the years following the war have not yet been published, but inquiry shows that more than 19,000 decrees were pronounced by the courts in 1919, the first year following the armistice.

The average number of marriages in France being 300,000 annually, this means that about 7 per cent. of these unions are subsequently annulled. Of course, 1919 was an exceptional year. Many cases had been held up since before the war. Then the war produced abnormal conditions, resulting in a great rise in the divorce figures of all the belligerent countries. The figures for that year must, therefore, not be taken as indicating the normal state of things.

Another observation made regarding the divorces of 1919 is that the number of proceedings instituted by husbands is nearly double that of proceedings instituted by wives, whereas previously the proportion was exactly the contrary. Unlike American and English newspapers, French newspapers never publish reports concerning divorce proceedings, rarely even reporting the pronouncement decrees in the case of prominent people.

Detroit Edison's Net Earnings.

The Detroit Edison Company reports for nine months of 1921 net income of $1,693,456, compared with $1,038,303 in the corresponding nine months of 1920. Total gross business was $16,778,876, compared with $15,474,218 in 1920; total expenses were $12,560,973, against $12,705,745 in 1920.

MANY PUPILS GET FIRE ESSAY MEDALS

CEREMONY AT CITY HALL

Two Hundred and Two Children of Public and Parochial Schools Winners.

Mayor Hylan distributed gold, silver and bronze medals yesterday to 202 children of public and parochial schools, who assembled on the steps of City Hall to be rewarded as the authors of the best essays on "Fire Prevention."

The medals were the gift of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters, who established the prize essay contest as part of its campaign of public education against the carelessness which makes the loss of life and property by fire far greater in this country than in any other. Addressing the prize winners, Mayor Hylan said:

"Fire prevention is the greatest service that can be performed for the good of our city, by doing away with carelessness. Carry your campaign of precaution into your homes and schools. We are building more schools where you can to better advantage secure a fundamental education, which is the basis for higher studies.

"You may aspire to the high honor of being Mayor of this city. Even the girls who are willing to admit that they are 21 years old will be eligible for that or any other office in the gift of the people."

The winners of the gold medals were as follows:

John W. Davis Admitted to Bar.

John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain and prior to that Solicitor General of the United States, was admitted to the practice law in New York State, yesterday, by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. In his petition Mr. Davis gave his home address as Locust Valley, L. I., and his office address as 15 Broad Street, Manhatten. Those who sponsored the admission of Mr. Davis were William D. Guthrie, Allen Wardwell and Paul D. Cravath.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

Most of the Foodstuffs Were Higher, Though Flour Declined.

The influence of the holiday this week was seen in narrower price movements in different markets, but a number of commodities developed renewed strength. Evidence of this condition appears in Dun's list of wholesale quotations, which disclose forty-seven advances and twenty-eight recessions, as against thirty-nine reductions and thirty-seven increases last week.

Despite continued large receipts, prices of wheat and rye rose sharply for a time during the current week, in response, among other things, to additional foreign buying; but the gain in the former was subsequently lost. On the other hand, corn, oats and barley, although helped by the early strength in wheat, lacked the resiliency of the leading cereal.

Beef displayed a somewhat firmer undertone, and a larger consumptive demand imparted firmness to hogs and sheep. Provisions fluctuated within a narrow range, but for the greater part of the week tended downward. An active inquiry for the best grades, with arrivals very little above requirements, supported prices of dairy products, and higher levels were established on choice butter, cheese and eggs.

Gradually increasing price stability is noted in iron and steel, although the question of further yielding is being discussed in connection with the possibility of lower freight charges. The minor metals were firm, and seem to be developing a stronger tone. Prices of some cotton goods continue to advance, reflecting conditions in the raw material, and the hide and leather markets are firmer.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

†Nominal.

Among the foodstuffs changes in the local markets were further declines in flour. Spring patents dropped 15 cents a barrel to a point fully $4 a barrel lower than the corresponding price in 1920. Winter soft straight flour was 10 cents a barrel off. Middle Western lard also declined here, but there were no changes in hams and bacon. Chicago all of the live meats advanced, with mess pork unchanged and short ribs lower.

The feature in the dairy products was a rise of 7 cents a dozen in the price of fancy nearby eggs. They are still substantially below the corresponding price of a year ago, however, which was $1.03 a dozen. Butter, cheese and first quality fresh-gathered eggs were all slightly higher.

The vegetables market all of the changes were upward, the feature being the advance of $1.25 a bag that took place in onions and which set them at a price more than twice as high as at this time a year ago. Potatoes went up 25 cents a barrel and cabbage 50 cents. Scotch peas were higher. Teas and coffees were bare of changes, but a lower price was quoted on fine granulated sugar.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

Sales Exceed Production.

"Better business in almost every line began five weeks ago and, as time goes on, it is improving each day," said a big petticoat manufacturer yesterday. This is especially true of our line. If women discarded their petticoats during the warm weather, recent sales show that they put them on again when cold winds began to blow. We are putting display advertisements for labor in the newspapers in our factory town, but we cannot get enough help to meet the demands of buyers."

American Paper Designs Better.

Paris may determine America's styles in wearing apparel, but wall paper manufacturers will have nothing to do with the French capital's designs for wall coverings. At present, according to information reaching this country, the French cannot get enough color into their papers. There are purples and reds and greens and yellows, used individually and collectively, making designs that will "strike you dead," as a local manufacturer's representative put it yesterday. In direct contrast, people on this side are using very little paper, some of them going so far as to buy the same color for every room in the house. Whether the paper is perfectly plain or it has a design, it is light in color.

Attractive Packing Helps Sales.

Realizing that gift articles are made more appealing by exercising care in boxing, a brush and toilet goods importer has put up some hair brush sets which, he asserts, are selling very well. He places a set of ebony-top military brushes and a black rubber comb in a chamoisette case and ties it up with yellow silk cords having tassels. The case is then put in an attractive pasteboard box bearing the name of the importer in gold letters. The sets have been made to retail for from $5 to $10 each, and similar ones for women can be sold for from $5 to $7. The latter have a hair brush instead of military brushes.

Clothing Does Not Vary Much.

The difference in cloth weight and the amount of lining used in lightweight clothing is being put forward by some retail clothiers as a reason why Spring prices should be lower. This is not considered a very strong argument by manufacturers. They point out that clothing for Fall and Spring usually show a cost difference of an appreciable sort, but, since the development of practically the same weights of fabric for both seasons, there is little saving as between so-called lightweight and heavyweight suits. The same is practically true of linings, it is said, the half and quarter lined styles now appearing in Winter models.

Overcoat Demand Is Foreseen.

Within a week or two the manufacturing clothiers expect to see quite a little activity develop on overcoats. Retail stocks are considered to be too light to withstand any great amount of buying by consumers. Topcoats might supply the deficiency for a temporary period, it is explained, but even these garments are none too plentiful in retail stocks. There does not appear to be the same price resistance for overcoats as on suits, according to the retailers, for the reason that the difference between the current quotations and those of last year is more apparent. This fact and the common idea that the country is due for a cold Winter will, it is believed, stimulate sales.

Womens Suits to Be Popular.

According to the forecasts now being made in the garment trade, women's suits will regain their popularity next Spring. Quite a tendency in this direction is noted both here and abroad. Some manufacturers state that the early months of the year are the logical season for suits, and there seems to be a feeling that the suit houses should concentrate their efforts on that period. One development in the suit branch of the garment trade which is pleasing to the manufacturers is that many of the weaker elements have been forced into other apparel lines. It is pointed out that this leaves the field to the more substantial concerns, who are better able to maintain the standards necessary for the successful exploitation of suits.

Fur Offerings Announced.

Details were announced yesterday of the collection of raw furs, valued at between $800,000 and $400,000, which will be disposed of at auction on Thursday next in the warehouses of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, 550 West Thirty-sixth Street. The sale will begin at 10 A. M. and the goods to be sold will be placed on show on Monday morning. A good part of the collection is made up of Northern skins which arrived here too late for inclusion in the recent annual Fall sale of the corporation. The quantities run from 11 cross foxes to 180,000 moles.

Gray Goods Continue Dull.

Gray goods continued very dull in the local market yesterday, even the slowly easing prices failing to stimulate interest on the part of buyers to any extent. Some first hands continued to hold their goods firmly, but this was said to be truer of those who had no immediate goods to sell than of those who did. The latter were said to be showing more signs of meeting second-hand figures than has been the case since the present dull period began. Some second hands also showed a willingness to let goods out more cheaply, and there were reports of offerings of 38½-inch 64-60s from that source as low as 9¼ cents. Sheetings were inactive, but appeared relatively stronger in price than printcloths.

Retailers Oppose Valuation Plan.

A canvass among leading retail merchants in different sections of the country, made by the National Council of American Importers and Traders, Inc., shows that the stores are unanimously opposed to the American valuation plan in the proposed tariff. The store owners and executives claim the system will revive the conditions of wartime monopoly and give official sanction to profiteering and price fixing. Before national prosperity can be revived the retailers feel it is necessary to bring down prices all around, according to prominent business men among them, the American valuation plan would bring prohibitive prices on many lines of merchandise.

Small Change in Coal Demand.

The few moderately cold days of the last two weeks have not served to spur on the slow-moving anthracite sizes to any noticeable extent. Stove coal continues to be in good demand, Saward's Journal, will say today, and chestnut has been moving well since last month. Consumers of egg coal stocked up during the Summer, for the most part, and they will not be in the market again for several weeks at least. One thing causing comment by dealers here is that the railroads are taking tonnage in much smaller lots than usual. This is interpreted both as an indication of a lack of ready money and the hope of lower prices. Chestnut seems to have been helped most from a price standpoint, as independent operators are now quoting $8.25 to $8.50 for that size, an advance of about 25 cents. While the bituminous market is far from being active, it is by no means dead as it was during the Summer.

BUSINESS RECORDS.

Failures for the Week.

BRADSTREET'S reports 379 failures in the United States for the week, as compared with 360 for the previous week and 173, 95, 175, 254 for the corresponding weeks, 1920 to 1917. The New England States had 37, Middle 91, and Western 64, Northern 24, Southern 114, far western 19. Canada had 51, against 63 for the preceding week. In the United States about 72.5 per cent. of the concerns failing had from $5,000 to $20,000, and 16.8 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Irregular, Generally Lower—Call Money 5 Per Cent.—Another Rise in Sterling.

The outstanding occurrence on yesterday's markets was the renewed advance in sterling exchange, to the highest rate since remittances of the German reparations money to New York began last June. Money on the Stock Exchange declined to 5 per cent. for the first time since last Monday, but the stock market was not affected by the easier rate. It remained altogether irregular, with the trend generally downward, but with many conflicting movements and a prevalent atmosphere of indecision.

Attention was naturally attracted to the fact that, notwithstanding the "strike vote," the urgent discussion of lower freight rates, and the obstacles in the way of a further wage reduction, the railway shares held comparatively firm. Nobody has imagined that the vote of the railway union members not to accept the recent Labor Board reduction was anything more than an expression of feeling; but it may conceivably complicate the controversy if a move is made just now for further wage cuts. The truth seems to be that both the managers and the unions have been manoeuvring for position, and that neither party has been doing it tactfully. Apparently the Labor Board is now yielding on the question of working rules, in which the board's recent position was quite untenable; but it remains in doubt whether further wage readjustment can be satisfactorily effected unless urged by Government agencies themselves as the necessary price for lower rates.

Sterling at $3.87½ was 20 cents above the early September rate. All the predictions of London experts, based on the expected sales or bills to pay for our Autumn exports, have been upset. Yet the case is really simple. The London market, which understands foreign exchange as our own has not yet learned to do, undoubtedly provided for its Autumn needs in connection with the large remittances of German funds to New York City. German marks touched Thursday's low level again; another Reichsbank statement shows a further currency inflation of 1,000,000,000 marks within a week.

The Government's report of yesterday, on last month's export and home consumption of cotton, has the particular interest which attaches to a month in which the violent recovery in cotton prices occurred. On Sept. 1 the Department of Agriculture published its sensational estimate of a prospective crop barely one-half that of 1920. From 16 cents a pound the New York spot price of cotton rose to 21½ in the last week of the month. The Washington "consumption figures" show what had actually happened. Exports of cotton in September were not only more than double those of the same month in 1920, but they have not been equaled by any September shipments since the war began, excepting only 1916. Purchases by home spinners were not only much greater than in any month since July of 1920, but they were only a few thousand bales below the largest September takings since we went to war with Germany.

In view of this reviving demand, and of the statistical possibility that the curtailment of the crop will leave the supply deficient even after absorbing the lately unwieldy "carry-over," the persistent reaction in the cotton market has excited some surprise. That reaction, following every rise of cotton to the 20-cent level, is in reality an exact embodiment of the situation. It is plainly evident that cotton manufacturers, distrusting the willingness of the public to accept any sudden marking-up of finished goods, have at present fixed that price as the level above which they will not buy freely. Reasoning similarly, Southern holders of last year's unsold cotton seem to have figured out that to sell at 20 cents will cover the costs of raising their stored-up cotton and will get them out of debt. At the moment, therefore, we have something like an arbitrary dead-line at which the large accumulated surplus will be sold, and above which the home consumer will not buy.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, OCT. 14, 1921.

Call loans on the Stock Exchange opened and renewed at 6 per cent., but with funds freely offered rate declined successively to 5½ and 5, with latter the closing figure. Time money market is quite, renewals being arranged at about 5½ per cent. on average, for both classes and all dates. Demand is not heavy. Discounts on both merchants' paper and bankers' acceptances were firm and unchanged. Both departments are experiencing little activity due to pending disbursement of Government funds.

London Market.

Money on the London market was unchanged at 3¼ per cent.; short bills down ⅛ at 3⅞ per cent.; three months' down ⅛ at 4 per cent.

Gold bullion on the London market down 9d, at 106s 5d. Taking the British Mint's standard of 85c per fine ounce as par, the market quotations would represent a price of 123¾ for gold at London. On the same basis the highest London price for gold this year was 136⅝, on Jan. 3; the highest of the period 149⅜ on Feb. 6, 1920.

Clearing House Exchanges.

Exchange of checks at the New York Clearing House, $780,400,000; balance $75,400,000; Federal Reserve Bank's credit balance, $61,400,000; clearings this day a year ago, $924,744,582.

Chile Government Bonds Listed.

The New York Stock Exchange has admitted to the list Republic of Chile $9,500,000 external loan five-year 8 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds, due Oct. 1, 1926, to be traded in on a "when issued" basis.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Market Strong, Rates Show Sharp Upturn From Thursday —Sterling Up 3⅛ Cents.

Where the European exchanges had been depressed on Thursday by the unsettling political decision of the Supreme Council, at least so far as Germany alone was affected, and which brought heavy selling and lower rates generally, the trading yesterday was quite the reverse. Offerings were not as promiscuous, while the absorption was very good, the demand coming principally from the more prominent of the large banks and institutions. Rates started off much higher than the previous night's closing, and finished the day at good-size net advances.

Sight checks on London got up to $3.87½, for an overnight gain of 3⅛ cents, making up its loss of Thursday; French francs started at 7.24 cents, with a final of 7.28, compared with 7.20½ the previous day. Rome, Amsterdam and the Scandinavians all moved higher in sympathy, with Swiss francs at 19 cents, up from 18.49 on Thursday, establishing a new high for the year. The offering of German marks was not as heavy as previous, but they sold down to 70 per cent. of one cent during the day, equaling the record low, but recovered at the close. Of the mid-Europeans, Austria was weakest, dropping to a record low at .05½ per cent. of one cent. The South Americans were generally steady, excepting Uruguay, which got down to 65¼ cents, against 67⅝ on Thursday.

CUBAN LOAN COMING, $50,000,000 IS LIKELY

Agents of Six Banking Houses in Havana Seeking the Business —Some May Combine Offers.

ADVANCE BY MORGAN DENIED

Believed Flotation Can Be Easily Taken Up on Favorable Basis—To Supervise Way Money Is Spent.

A loan of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 by the Republic of Cuba will be offered to investors in the New York market within thirty days. Sharp competition for the loan has developed and representatives of six investment houses are in Cuba, looking over the situation, with loan negotiations in mind. The six houses are J. P. Morgan & Co., the City Company, Dillon, Read & Co., the Guaranty Company, Blair & Co. and Speyer & Co. It is possible that there will not be six direct offers, but that some of these institutions will combine. It appears certain that two or three bids will be offered.

According to reports the Cuban problem will be handled in a new way for a foreign loan. There will be more or less supervision of the expenditure of the money by American interests. The present plan is to form a corporation in Cuba, the duties and limitations of which will be similar to that of the War Finance Corporation. This corporation will receive and handle the funds and make advances to planters through their own Cuban banks.

It was reported yesterday that an advance of $5,000,000 had been made by J. P. Morgan & Co. through the Trust Company of Cuba to care for the situation until the final loan has been negotiated. This was denied by one of the partners of the Morgan firm. Dwight W. Morrow, a member of the firm, has been in Cuba for several days, and will return to New York Monday morning. He was in telephonic communication with the New York office on Friday and no advances of any sort were reported by him.

General Enoch Crowder, representative of the American Government in Cuba, who is thoroughly familiar with the financial situation there, will sit in at the negotiations, and it was considered probable that no final papers would be signed until the loan had again been referred to Washington.

Banking interests have been ready to sell a Cuban issue for several months. Several times it has been on the verge of completion, when each time was held up awaiting final word from Washington. It has been the position of the American representative in Cuba that the country's budget should more nearly balance before large advances were made through a loan here.

Bankers who have representatives in Cuba ready to negotiate the loan would not comment yesterday on the development other than to say that in their opinion a Cuban loan could be sold here on an advantageous basis.

PLAN CANADA MATCH WORKS

Leading Companies in America and England Are Interested.

Prominent match manufacturing concerns of the United States and England have become interested in a plan for the formation of a new match-manufacturing company in Canada. Those interested in the undertaking include the Diamond Match Company of the United States, the Maguire, Paterson & Palmer Co. of Canada, who also manufacture matches in England and Ireland, and Bryant & May, Ltd., of Great Britain, as well as prominent capitalists in both England and Canada.

At the general offices of the Diamond Match Company it was announced that the company was interested in the organization of the new Canadian company and would give the concern the full benefit of its experience, processes and machinery.

Sir Alexander Maguire Chairman of Maguire, Paterson & Palmer, before sailing for Europe confirmed the report that his company was interested in the new undertaking and that the site of the first factory will be on the property of the company located at Pembroke, Ontario.

FEDERAL RESERVE ELECTION

To Choose Successors to Charles Smith and Leslie R. Palmer.

The terms of Charles Smith, a Class A Director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and of Leslie R. Palmer, a Class B Director of the institution, will expire on Dec. 31, 1921. Pierre Jay, Chairman of the bank, sent notices yesterday to member banks in this district that the Federal Reserve Board has directed that Thursday, Nov. 17, be designated as the day for the opening of the polls for the selection of their successors, who will serve for three years.

Nominations will be made on or before Nov. 14 and the ballots will be mailed on Nov. 16. Announcement of the result of the elections will be made on or about Dec. 5.

URGE NO INVESTMENTS IN PHILIPPINES NOW

Manila Commerce Chamber Says Political Status Must Be Determined First.

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—The American Chamber of Commerce today officially approved a cablegram sent by its officers to John S. Hord, the chamber's representative at Washington, advising against further investment of American capital in the Philippines until the permanent political status of this islands is definitely settled. The cablegram said:

"Give publicity to the fact that further American investment in the Philippines is unadvisable until the political status of the islands is fixed as a territory of the United States."

This message brought a cabled protest from the Swift-Pardee Company, of New York, owners of the Manila street railway, deprecating "authorisation of propaganda in the United States against American investment of capital in the Philippines."

The reply of the American Chamber of Commerce to this cablegram was dispatched today to its Washington representative.

"Political conditions in the Philippines," the cablegram read, "and individual and governmental antagonism to American investments after being made justify propaganda of non-investment of American capital until the permanent political status of a territorial Government is obtained.

"Business protection is possible only in the large business centres, Manila, Cebu, Iloilo, Zamboanga. The provinces no longer are available for American investment or business operation owing to lack of protection from political antagonism to American interests generated during the Harrison administration, which cause territorial government would eradicate. The American community is now fighting for fixed territorial status and asks support of a non-investment policy until the change can be effected."

RETAIL TRADE INCREASING.

Good Reports Coming for the First Time This Year, Says Bradstreet.

Retail distribution of general merchandise has further expanded during the last week, according to the reports of the leading mercantile agencies. Good reports are coming from the retail trade for the first time this year, according to Bradstreet's, with the best reports from the South and West.

Manufacturing as a whole shows a further slight gain, resulting in numerous reports of small decreases in unemployment. In agricultural lines the saving and housing of the late crops still engross attention, but the generally low prices received for the year's reduced crops indicate that employment in this line, once crops are cared for, will soon begin to diminish.

The wool trade in Boston reports one of the most active weeks of the year, but renewed weakness in raw material has seemed to quiet trade in big staple lines of cotton goods. The silk manufacturing trade is quiet and raw silk is easier. Mail order sales were larger in September than in August, but those of chain stores reported were smaller in the aggregate.

Dun's Review says that "with the increase in confidence which is essential to progress, there is rather less hesitation in entering upon forward engagements, although the disposition to operate conservatively continues a prominent feature.

"After many months of restricted demand from dealers, the point has been reached where supplies of merchandise in different channels are in need of replenishment, and moderate sized orders for re-stocking purposes are placed more frequently. In certain important basic lines, moreover, new buying has gathered sufficient momentum to permit of some expansion from recent low levels of production, and the industrial outlook is more favorably regarded."

DISCOUNT RATES DECLNE.

Drop 1 Per Cent. for Prime Bankers' Acceptances.

Discount rates for prime bankers' acceptances have declined 1 per cent. during the last four months, according to the American Acceptance Council. The rate on June 15 for all maturities up to ninety days stood at 5½ per cent., compared with 4½ per cent. at the present time.

"It is also significant," says the council, "that in the last six months the reductions in the market rate for prime bills preceded by from ten days to two weeks the marking down of the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Following the same process it might be logical to look for another drop in rediscount rates."

The following is the four months' record of acceptances:

Date	Rates on 60-days' Bankers count Acceptances	Re- dis- Rate
April 15 to May 1	5⅞–5¾	6½
May 5	decreased
June 1 to June 15	5¾–5½	6
June 16	decreased
July 1 to July 15	5½–5¼	5½
July 20	decreased
Sept. 1 to Sept. 15	5 –4¾	5
Sept. 21	decreased
Sept. 23	4¾–4¾
Oct. 7	4¾–4½
Oct. 11	4½–4¼

AMERICAN T. & T. CO. EARNS $55,552,831

Undivided Income for 9 Months Shows $1,600,000 Increase Over Last Year's.

WHOLE BELL SYSTEM GAINS

President Says $4,000,000 More Has Been Disbursed in Dividends, Leaving $10,000,000 to Divide.

The report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1921, shows net earnings of $55,552,831 and a balance after deducting $14,765,219 for interest, of $40,787,612. This is equivalent to $7.65 a share on the $532,988,024 of capital stock. For the corresponding period last year the balance was equivalent to $8.85 a share on $442,178,000 stock outstanding. Gross earnings for the nine months' period are shown at $81,474,608, compared with $77,365,806 for the same period in 1920, while expenses, including provision for Federal and other taxes, increased from $24,056,229 in 1920 to $25,921,776 in 1921.

The outstanding items in the statement, issued yesterday, are shown in the following table:

	9 Months Ending Sept. 30, 1920.	*9 Months Ending Sept. 30, 1921.

*Subject to minor changes when final figures for September are available.

†Includes dividends at 9 per cent. for second and third quarters.

President H. B. Thayer, in his statement to the stockholders, said in part:

"The business of the Bell System as a whole continues to show a healthy growth, in spite of the fact that business in general has been comparatively quiet. The net earnings of the Bell System show substantial improvement over last year.

"The company on May 10, 1921, offered to its stockholders of record on May 20, 1921, shares of new stock for cash at par. Subscriptions amounting to $83,775,000 were received under this offer, thus putting the company in funds for profitable investment in extensions to the business.

"It will be noted from the statement that the earnings of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which do not include the company's interest in the undivided earnings of the associated companies, show an increase for nine months of this year over the same months last year of $1,600,000 in the amount available for dividends. Approximately $4,000,000 more have been disbursed in dividends through the increased dividend rate and upon the larger capital, leaving undivided earnings for the period of more than $10,000,000."

To Be Vice President of Chandler Co.

G. M. Graham on Nov. 1 will become a Vice President of the Chandler Motor Car Company, in charge of sales, service and advertising. Mr. Graham was formerly a Vice President of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company.

Schulte Company Sales Increase.

The Schulte Company for September reports gross sales of $1,668,000, an increase of $124,000, or 8 per cent., as compared with the corresponding month last year.

WESTERN UNION INCOME LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

Report for First Nine Months of 1921 Shows $6,279,000 Net, Against $10,545,000 1920.

For the first nine months of the year the Western Union Telegraph Company reports a net income of $6,279,900, compared with net earnings of $10,545,000 for the corresponding period in 1920. Gross revenues, including dividends and interest, are shown at $78,925,600 for the nine months, against $81,544,678 for 1920, and the company spent more than $1,000,000 more on maintenance and repair work in 1921 than it did in 1920, the figures standing at $13,677,100 and $12,671,277, respectively.

The report shows the following main items:

	1921.	1920.
Gross revs., inc. divs. and int.	$78,925,600.00	$81,544,687.00
Maintenance: Reps. and res. for dep.	$13,677,100.00	$12,671,277.00
Oper op. exp., inc. rent of leased lines and taxes	57,910,130.00	67,329,523.00
Total expenses	$71,587,230.00	$80,000,800.00
Balance	$7,338,370.00	$11,543,887.00
Deduct Interest on bond debt	1,058,470.00	998,887.00
Net income	$6,279,900.00	$10,545,000.00

In the above statement the returns for September are estimated, the management explains.

INDIA ENDS GOLD EXPORTS.

$1,000,000 Received Yesterday Final Shipment on Present Movement.

The steamer Robert Dollar yesterday brought from Bombay forty-nine boxes of gold consigned to New York bankers, valued at approximately $1,000,000. This, it is understood, will be the last shipment of gold to reach New York from India on the current movement. The metal is in the form of Indian mint bars, Turkish lire and English sovereigns and is consigned as follows: Guaranty Trust Company, thirty-three boxes; Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, fourteen boxes; National City Bank, two boxes.

Gold in India is now at a premium, and bankers here were not surprised to receive notification that the shipments will cease immediately. During the nine months ended Sept. 30, gold imports from India to the United States amounted to $27,287,530, and in that period only $55,000 was exported. There have been unconfirmed reports of other exports. The big movement of gold from India to the United States started about one year ago. In the years previous no gold came from India to this country and we sent over $6,500,000. In 1919 our gold exports to that country were more than $27,500,000, which about equal the gold imports from India to this country this year. During the past two months India has had a favorable trade balance for the first time this year.

CHIEF CO-ORDINATOR

Included in Dawes's Plan to Eliminate Federal Duplications.

Two plans devised to prevent overlapping and to make possible new economies in the handling of Government business, are explained in circulars sent by Director of the Budget, Charles G. Dawes, to the heads of the Government departments. The first is a Federal Traffic Board, to be under the general supervision of a chief co-ordinator for general supply. Each department head is instructed to send a representative to serve on the board, which is also to have the advice of other Government officials and a committee of practical railroad men, who will represent the carriers.

The other centralization plan suggests a Federal Specifications Board, to be headed by a chief co-ordinator for general supply, with the director of the Bureau of Standards as ex officio Chairman. The board will be charged with compiling specifications for material and services from existing specifications and adopt common tables suitable for all departments where more than one now exists.

Member Banks Report Larger Totals In Loans and Both Classes of Deposits

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Aggregate increases of $42,000,000 in loans and of $28,000,000 in investments, accompanied by considerably larger increases in demand and time deposits, are indicated in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly consolidated statement of condition on Oct. 5 of 809 member banks in leading cities.

All classes of loans show larger figures than the week before—loans secured by United States obligations, by $15,000,000; loans secured by corporate obligations, by $22,000,000, and all other loans and discounts, mainly of a commercial and industrial character, by $5,000,000.

Larger increases are reported for the member banks in New York City. Loans secured by Government obligations at these banks increased by $19,000,000, loans secured by corporate obligations by $24,000,000, and all other loans by $8,000,000, the aggregate increase in loans and discounts being $50,000,000.

Member bank holdings of United States bonds and of Treasury notes declined by $10,000,000, and certificates of indebtedness by $6,000,000. On the other hand, an increase of $43,000,000 in corporate securities on hand is shown.

New York City banks report a reduction of $5,000,000 in Government securities and an increase of $21,000,000 in other securities.

As a consequence of these changes, total loans and investments of all reporting banks are shown $70,000,000 larger than the week before, the corresponding increase in New York City being $65,000,000.

Accommodation of member banks at Federal Reserve banks shows an increase from $575,000,000 to $580,000,000 for the week, the ratio of accommodation to the banks' total loans and investments remaining unchanged at 5.9 per cent. In New York City accommodation at the local reserve bank increased from $150,000,000 to $181,000,000, and the ratio of accommodation from 3.2 to 3.8 per cent.

As against a reduction of $15,000,000 in Government deposits, other demand deposits (net) show an increase of $60,000,000, and time deposits an increase of $31,000,000. In New York City Government deposits declined by $7,000,000, while other demand deposits increased by $10,000,000, and time deposits by $2,000,000.

Reserve balances of the reporting institutions with the Federal Reserve banks are shown $26,000,000 smaller than the week before, the decrease for New York City alone being $41,000,000.

Cash in vault declined by $4,000,000, $2,000,000 of which is shown for the New York City members.

SAY SUGAR CUT MET SECRET REDUCTIONS

Federal Company Officials Give Their Reasons for Dropping Price to 5.30.

GERMAN INDUSTRY UNIFIED

Raw and Refined Production to Be Controlled by the Zucker-Wirtschaftsstelle.

Secret price cutting and other inducements for attracting trade on the part of its competitors caused the Federal Sugar Refining Company to make the price reduction which has created such a stir in the sugar industry, the company says in its weekly review of market conditions. The statement says that "in order to obtain its share of the available business and to combat the competition of those refiners who were openly naming a 5.50-cent basis but who were secretly offering one or more inducements to attract business, the Federal Sugar Refining Company on Oct. 10 reduced its price 20 points, to the basis of 5.30 cents. The Federal's competitors did not openly meet the 5.30-cent basis until Oct. 13, though it was known some were quietly doing so."

The statement of the company further adds that "the sugar industry will be back on a supply and demand basis before long, and those interests naming the right price will move supplies, whether of cane or beet sugar. The declaration of the domestic beet industry that it will not enter Eastern refiners' territory east of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo line, and the Cuban Committee's announcement that it will market its stocks without undue haste or undue inflation assume ideal conditions do not exist, and it is wrong to believe that reduction of stocks is a secondary matter."

"Extreme dullness continues in the sugar markets of the world," reports the Federal's correspondent in London. "The British Government's arrangements with the British refiners have ended, and it is believed that about 40,000 tons of white sugar held by the Government will soon be placed on the market, and the work of the Royal Commission thus be completed. Europe's beet crop is now estimated by Federal correspondents at 3,900,000 tons, compared with 3,695,000 tons last year. Germany's crop for 1921-22 is now placed at 1,330,000 tons, as conditions are, on the whole, considered favorable. Reports from France, Holland, Belgium and Czechoslovakia also announce improved conditions, although more rain is needed."

All the German raw sugar factories and refineries have joined in one big combination, he reports the Federal's German correspondent. The whole sugar industry of the country is to be merged from one central office in Berlin, called the Zucker-Wirtschaftsstelle. Germany is not exporting sugar, declares a Government statement, contrary to reports. Before the war large quantities were exported, especially to England, but Germany is not in a position to resume this business now. In 1920 only 1,375 tons of raw and 4,552 tons of refined were exported, compared with 530,000 tons of raw and 590,000 tons of refined in 1913."

PORTO RICO SUGAR CO. DEFERS STOCK ISSUE

Plan to Put Out $5,000,000 Preferred Postponed After Shareholder Gets an Injunction.

The South Porto Rico Sugar Company, through President F. A. Dillingham, has announced a change in its plans for the purpose of raising new capital. The Directors recently authorized an issue of $5,000,000 new preferred stock and called a special meeting of stockholders to ratify the increase. A vote on the increase was delayed by the action of one of the stockholders obtaining an injunction. As a result officials of the company have indefinitely postponed the plan.

A circular has been mailed to stockholders which said that the "company has arranged with its banks for a short extension of its loans upon the condition that it provide forthwith an issue of bonds, to be deposited with the banks as collateral for such loans, the banks having the right to sell the bonds and pay over the loans from the proceeds at such time as they deem expedient. Directors are now considering the question of this bond issue and terms upon which it will be made, if authorized by the stockholders. The matter will be laid before the stockholders at the annual meeting Nov. 10."

The circular added that the adjourned special meeting which was to be held on Nov. 10 would be further postponed if required by continuance of the injunction. It also is planned to authorize the new preferred stock when possible in order that it may be available for issue in the future in the discretion of the Directors.

MUST GIVE UP GERMAN BONDS

Insurance Firms Told to Deliver Them to Alien Property Custodian.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 14.—Bonds deposited with the State Superintendent of Insurance by German and Austrian insurance companies as guarantee of payment of liabilities against the companies, must be turned over to the Federal custodian of alien property, Federal District Judge John E. Sater ruled today. The ruling involves $205,000 face value of bonds belonging to two German insurance companies.

The question of whether bonds deposited by Bulgarian companies also must be turned over to the Alien Property Custodian still is to be determined.

Raw Sugar Cut to 2½ Cents.

SUGAR REORGANIZATION PLAN COMES UP TODAY

Question of Whether Bankers Advance $10,000,000 Depends Upon Amount of Bonds Deposited.

This is the final day for the deposit of 7 per cent. debentures of the Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation to make operative the financial reorganization by which the bankers will extend $10,000,000 to aid the corporation. Announcement was made last night that up to the closing hour the deposits amounted to $13,256,000. This is slightly less than 54 per cent. of the total issue. It had been planned by the bankers to declare the plan operative on the deposit of 65 per cent., or between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000.

Under the plan, the debentures, which draw 7 per cent. interest, on assenting to the arrangements by deposit, are increased to 8 per cent. interest, but become secondary to the $10,000,000 advanced by the bankers. It is entirely within the discretion of the bankers whether sufficient debentures have been deposited to make the plan operative.

The question has been raised in the financial district, "What standing have the 7 per cent. debentures which are not deposited, in case the plan is declared operative?" Officials of the corporation and those interested in the financial reorganization say this is a problem for the future. It is expected that a meeting will be held on Monday afternoon to determine the plans for the immediate future.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Wheat Advances, but Corn Is Heavy and Makes Another Low —Markets Quiet.

Wholesale markets, except for an opposite movement in two of the principal grains, were firm and steady yesterday. A better tone was evidenced in wheat, with a consequent advance of 4 cents a bushel, while corn was depressed and lower, No. 2 yellow dropping 2½ cents to another successive low level. The only other change was a fractional advance in lard. Middle West, while the groceries, dairy products, metals and textiles held at previously prevailing prices.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Friday, a week before and a year ago:

COTTON CONSUMPTION AND EXPORT LARGER

Substantial Increase in Home Spinners' Takings and Foreign Shipments During September.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Cotton consumed during September amounted to 484,647 bales of lint and 56,428 bales of linters, compared with 457,967 of lint and 47,885 of linters in September last year, the Census Bureau announced today.

Cotton on hand Sept. 30 in consuming establishments amounted to 1,016,032 bales of lint and 165,011 of linters compared with 901,373 of lint and 260,399 of linters a year ago, and on hand in public storage and at compresses 4,309,893 bales of lint and 204,360 of linter's compared with 2,797,338 of lint and 342,731 of linters so held a year ago.

September imports were 6,362 bales compared with 18,816 in September last year.

September exports were 522,839 bales, including 9,057 bales of linters, compared with 228,068 bales, including 1,445 of linters, in September last year.

Cotton spindles active during September numbered 33,898,415 compared with 34,072,389 in September last year.

Stocks of cotton in bales, exclusive of linters, were as follows on Sept. 30 and at previous dates:

	Sept. 30, 1921.	Aug. 31, 1921.	Sept. 30, 1920.

COTTON RECOVERS AFTER NEW LOWS

Foreign Conditions Exert Depressing Influence, but Trade Pressure Turns Market.

New low records were made during the early trading yesterday, but so much cotton was wanted on the decline that prices recovered half a cent later in the day. Foreign conditions exerted a depressing influence and May contracts sold at 18 cents, compared with 22.38, the high point of the season. Steady trade purchases, with reports that actual cotton was not obtainable on a contract basis, finally turned the market. Trading was more active. Both spinners' takings and exports made a favorable showing, bringing better support from many quarters. Final quotations showed an advance of 1 to 17 points.

Weakness in Liverpool brought considerable pressure at the start. Cable advices reflected nervousness in foreign circles over industrial conditions in England and political developments on the Continent. This carried Liverpool prices so low that January there sold only 570 points over New York, compared with more than 800 points recently. Differences narrowed so that a large arbitrage business was put through, houses selling January here against purchases abroad. Several professional operators also put out cotton. The dragging tendency of the market and absence of aggressive demand encouraged room selling. For a time demand for December, around 19 cents, absorbed contracts that were sold. But when New Orleans weakened Southern houses sold heavily. December broke to 18.83 and January to 18.54. March sold at 18.37. This was within 2 points of the low level of Sept. 17. May sold at 18 cents, or 18 points below the lowest level since the advance after the September report.

Below 19 cents for December, contracts disappeared rapidly. The decline below that price came a point at a time, thousands of bales changing hands during the first half hour. Resistance was evident.

Buying in Liverpool by interests from this side caused a sharp recovery of 60 American points before the close there. Outside of a few scattered selling orders for Southern account pressure was not significant after 11 o'clock and had rallied 20 points. A line of December came out breaking prices back to 15 points. Again support came from trade purchases, and during the early afternoon the entire early loss had been recovered.

Spinners took 277,000 bales for the week, against 156,000 bales last year. Of this American spinners took 150,000 bales, against 97,000 bales a year ago. For the season takings aggregate 2,428,000 bales, against 1,618,000 bales in 1920.

Census report on domestic consumption in September showed 484,000 bales, against 457,000 last year and 489,000 two years ago.

MONTREAL AND WALL ST. RIVAL STOCK BIDDERS

Canada Seeks to Recover Its Lost Market for Canadian Pacific Issues.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Oct. 14.—It is understood here that certain Canadian financial interests are planning to get back from Wall Street at least a section of the market for Canadian Pacific stock.

Today the stock sold here at 125, and was then bid up to 127 without bringing out further offerings. At the same time it was selling at 112 in New York. This would indicate a discrepancy in price, exchange taken into consideration, of about five points. If the market is made attractive here it is argued trading will come here.

Some years ago Canadian Pacific was the leading issue in the Montreal market. War-time financial operations served to practically clear out the Canadian floating supply of the issue.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REALTY FIELD

Investor Buys Featherbed Lane Apartment — Bronx Lots Are Bought for Apartment Sites.

DOWNTOWN LOFT SOLD

Investor Acquires Ten-Story Building in Great Jones Street, Held at $120,000.

Apartment house trading and the purchase of vacant properties for improvement with multi-family buildings featured yesterday's realty market.

The six-story apartment house recently completed at the southwest corner of Featherbed Lane and Macombs Road, on a plot 100 by 105, was purchased by an investor from the Harbrog Construction Company, B. Brodsky, President.

The building returns an annual rental of $42,000 and was held by the owners at $325,000. It is directly opposite the House of Calvary.

The entire block front of fourteen lots on Mosholu Parkway, from Hull to Perry Avenues, was purchased by J. O Peterson, the builder, from Samuel Brener. The buyer will improve with an apartment house.

The property was used for many years by the Bedford Park Tennis Club and has a frontage of 340 feet on the Parkway, and measures 150 and 125 feet, respectively, on Hull and Perry Avenues. Charles B. Van Valen negotiated the transaction.

A client of Goldfein & Welfisch bought the corner on the northerly side of Clarke Place and the westerly side of Grand Boulevard and Concourse, running thence northerly along the westerly side of Grand Boulevard, and being about 150 by 100 feet. The buyer intends to erect an apartment house costing about $300,000. Negotiations are also in progress with several builders for the resale of the plot.

For improvement with a five-story apartment house, A. Blumenthal purchased from the Benenson Realty Company the plot of eight lots on the west side of Valentine Avenue, 100 feet north of Fordham Road.

Samuel Cowen sold to a builder for improvement the southeast corner of Hoe Avenue and Jennings Street, a plot 50 by 100. The buyer filed plans for the erection of a business building.

Slawson & Hobbs sold for Wesley W. Burden the three lots, 75 feet front on Kingsbridge Road at the junction of Fordham Road, to Daniel B. Freedman, who recently purchased the immediate corner at the junction of these two thoroughfares. Mr. Freedman has been very active in this section recently. His latest purchase gives him control of about six lots in area.

A plot of eighteen lots, measuring 100 by 100 feet, at the northwest corner of Burnside and Morris Avenues was sold by the Burnside-Jerome Lot Corporation to Aaron Muller. The new owner will erect a taxpayer.

Mr. Muller owns the adjoining plot which he intends to sell to builders who will improve with apartment houses.

Mr. Muller also recently bought the northwest corner of Burnside and Walton Avenues, a plot 100 by 100 feet, which he has re-sold to a builder who will improve the plot with a one-story taxpayer. E. Osborne Smith was the broker in these transactions.

The vacant plot, 100 by 108.4, at the southeast corner of Jerome Avenue and 170th Street, was sold by the Davber Contracting Company to Jacob Berman.

Antonetta Barraghini sold to John B. Orlando the vacant plot, 75 by 100, on the east side of Park View Place, 183.6 feet north of 256th Street.

Great Jones Street Loft Sold.

The ten-story loft building, on a plot 25 by 100, at 30 Great Jones Street was re-sold by the Benenson Realty Company to an investor. The property has a rent roll of $19,500 and was held at $120,000.

It adjoins the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin at the northeast corner of Lafayette and Great Jones Streets. The sellers recently acquired the property from the Clitter Realty Company.

New Jersey Buyers.

S. Corneille Bens purchased a residence at Mountain Lakes Residential Park, Mountain Lakes, on a plot 100 by 186, on Prospect Road. It is understood the purchase price was about $13,000.

Another recent purchaser at Mountain Lakes Residential Park is D. Stanley Bloom, who bought a residence on a plot having a 100-foot frontage on Kenilworth Road and extending in depth 160 feet. It is understood the purchase price was $10,500.

H. S. Connolly & Co. sold for Mrs. Helen A. Ingersoll to Edwin Windson a Colonial house on Midland Avenue, Montclair. The house is on a plot 100 by 200. The property was held at $18,000. The same brokers sold a plot of ground, 173 by 200, on Park Street, Montclair, to O. A. Peterson. The plot was held at $10,000.

Commercial Leases.

A store in the newly constructed Earle Building, northeast corner of Fifty-second Street and Broadway was leased for Walter J. Salmon by Gordon & Co. to Fernando Sanchez, men's furnishings.

The Haggstrom-Callen Company leased the three-story and basement building at 31 West Sixtieth Street to Journal & Tirone.

Folsom Bros., Inc., leased for N. S. DeForest Company the parlor floor store at 117 East Thirty-fourth Street to the Jack Horner Thrift Shop, for a term of years at $3,000 per year.

Louis Schrag leased for Fred W. Marks the two buildings at 139 and 141 West Twenty-second Street, on a lot 42 by 100, for a term of twenty-one years, to Horwitz & Karpel, who will reconstruct the same into stores and lofts.

Builders Buy in Westchester.

L. Ward Prince purchased from Joseph Tooker, a plot of two acres on Tompkins Road, Scarsdale, and has completed plans for a ten-room Colonial dwelling which will be built at once for his own occupancy.

Chauncey B. Griffen & Co. sold for Thomas F. Graham a large plot on Davis Avenue, in the White Plains Highlands section of White Plains, to Mrs. Matilda Townsend, who will immediately start the erection of a private dwelling.

Prince & Ripley sold for the Gedney Farm Company two plots approximating one acre of land, to W. W. Widmayer. The land is on the corner of Park Drive and Gedney Esplanade, opposite the Gedney Farm Hotel at White Plains. A hollow tile and brick house designed by Harold E. Padden will be started at once.

To Improve Long Island Properties.

The Lewis H. May Company sold for the Long Beach Auto & Storage Company, H. M. Susswein, President, a plot of lots on the southeast corner of Park Street and Riverside Boulevard, Long Beach, L. I., to George Kantor and Dr. Max Nisselson, who will immediately improve with six stores and eighteen apartments.

Herman Frankfort resold for the R. S. S. Corporation the business property on the east side of Central Avenue abutting the Strand Theatre property, to the Atla Syan Company, Inc. It is the purchaser's intention at the expiration of the lease to place a large business building upon the property.

PARK AVENUE BUILDING.

Big Office Structure for Old Grand Union Hotel Site.

Final arrangements for improvement of the westerly portion of the old Grand Union Hotel site with a twenty-two-story office building have been completed. The entire plot was purchased by Henry Mandel last July from the City of New York, who later formed the Pershing Square Building Corporation, of which S. D. Leidesdorf is President, for the purpose of improving the westerly portion of this site. The easterly portion was sold by them to the Bowery Savings Bank, which is now improving its plottage with a fourteen-story office building and Grand Central branch banking room.

Financial arrangements have been completed which enable the Pershing Square Building Corporation now to go forward without delay with the construction of a twenty-two-story office building covering the block front on the east side of Park Avenue from Forty-first to Forty-second Street and extending in an easterly direction 125 feet.

Plans are now being prepared by York & Sawyer and John Sloan, associate architects, for this large improvement. The building is planned to accommodate stores on the ground floor and in the basement, which connect with the subway and the Grand Central Station; a banking room on the second floor, thirty feet in height, and twenty office floors above the banking room, which provide for executive offices for large corporations. Negotiations hav been completed for a long-term lease with a large insurance company for three of the floors, which aggregate approximately 67,500 square feet net area.

Recent announcement by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of, the United States of the proposed construction of a permanent home opposite the Pennsylvania Station, and the fact that there is a demand for space of the type planned for the Pershing Square Building, indicate a tendency on the part of large corporations to locate their permanent quarters in this section and thereby facilitate the transit needs of their executives and employes, and at the same time secure more modern and specially planned space at prices not possible in the downtown sections where many of these institutions are now located.

Apartment Deals.

Charles Reutlinger sold to A. Sanders the Nonpareil, a six-story apartment house at 87 St. Nicholas Place. It occupies a plot 51.6 by 111, adjoining the Ashley & Booth garages at the southwest corner of 155th Street. B. Ehrlich negotiated the deal.

The estate of Eleanor Glassford and others sold to Isaac Lowenfeld and William Prager, 208 West 148th Street, a five-story new law apartment, on a plot 37.6 by 100, housing fifteen families with a rent roll of $7,500. The property was held at $40,000. E. H. Ludlow & Co. negotiated the sale.

James H. Cruikshank resold to the Carneval Realty Company, James Carneval, President, 50 and 52 Grand Street, being the northwest corner of West Broadway and Grand Street, a five-story and basement tenement with store on the ground floor, and on a plot 28 by 60. Charles E. Moore was the broker.

D. Kempner & Son sold for a client to an investor the five-story flat with stores at 69 Amsterdam Avenue, on a plot 17 by 75.

The Fischer Realty Company sold for Y. Greenhood, 20 East 118th Street, a five-story apartment house, to H. Cohen.

Brooklyn Activity.

The new two-story dwelling at 6,803 Sixth Avenue, between Sixty-eighth Street and Bay Ridge Avenue, was sold by Realty Associates to S. A. Chase.

J. Lacov sold for Fannie Soodak to Ida Glantz a two-family house with a double garage, on a plot 35 by 100, on the east side of East Fourteenth Street, 96 feet north of Avenue L, for $19,250.

Charles C. Stelle sold for Anna M. O'Leary the three-story house at 28 Berkeley Place to John Nelson.

Two lots, each 20 by 100 feet, on the east side of East Thirty-eighth Street, 265 feet north of Church Avenue, were sold by William P. Jones for James J. Coachman to May O. Stevens.

Moriarty & Hollahan sold a plot of nineteen lots on the north side of Seventy-ninth Street, beginning 120 feet east of Third Avenue, being 380 by 100 feet, for the Ely estate and the Misses Righter to a builder for immediate improvement.

William E. Harmon & Co. made sales as follows: Northeast corner of Ditmas Avenue and East Eighty-eighth Street, to Antonette Milleteri; southwest corner of Ditmas Avenue and East Eighty-eighth Street, to Pasquale Franco; southwest corner of Clarkson Street and East Forty-eighth Street, to Joseph J. Vicari; northeast corner of Avenue I and East Forty-ninth Street, to Hyman Bookbinder; northeast corner of Schenectady Avenue and Avenue I, to F. D. Slato; southwest corner of Kings Highway and Schenectady Avenue, to L. Devine; northeast corner of East Fifty-first Street and Avenue J, to J. G. Macri, and the northeast corner of Avenue K and East Fifty-eighth Street, to F. Nastro.

The Henry L. Nielsen Offices sold the two-family brick dwelling at 425 Vanderbilt Street for H. Smith to F. Canavan.

A. J. Murphy, as broker, sold for I. V. Miller to the Abelur Realty Company a lot 20 by 100 on the north side of Forty-sixth Street, 82 feet east of New Utrecht Avenue, and adjoining the large corner which they recently acquired, and will erect on this plottage three-story brick stores and apartments for forty families.

Sale of Gravesend Race Track.

William E. Harmon & Co., Inc., have made an offer to purchase the property of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, known as the Gravesend race track, at a price approximating $750,000. The offer has been formally accepted and contracts are being prepared completing the purchase. The buyers will place the property on the market in the Spring after demolishing all of the buildings, fences and encumbrances thereon. The property will be developed as a whole in much the same way as Midwood Manor and East Midwood. All city improvements will be installed and the property embellished with parking places and parked sidewalks filled with trees and shrubbery.

Queens Lots at Auction Today.

The Jere Johnson Jr. Company, auctioneers, will sell at auction at 2 o'clock today sixty-five lots in the Newtown Creek industrial section of Maspeth, close to the Brooklyn line, in the Borough of Queens.

The lots to be sold are largely in an unrestricted area with frontages in Grand Street, Old Flushing Avenue Garrison and Furman Avenues and Milton Street, and are suitable for the erection of factories, garages, other commercial buildings and one and two family houses and flats.

New Canaan Auction Today.

One of the estates in New Canaan of A. H. Mulliken of Chicago will be sold at auction this afternoon at 3 P. M. on the premises on Oneoke Avenue, Ponus Ridge section of New Canaan, Connecticut. It consists of a large new mansion, outbuildings and fifty acres adjoining the New Canaan Country Club and also opposite Mr. Mulliken's 700-acre private estate. Arthur C. Sheridan will be the auctioneer.

$110,000 Loan Placed.

Lawrence, Blake & Jewell have placed a first mortgage of $110,000 at 6 per cent. for five-years, for the 17 East Ninety-seventh Street Company on the northwest corner of Ninety-seventh Street and Madison Avenue, a six-story co-operative apartment house, on a plot 95 by 100.

SEEK DRUGS AND FIND CHINESE STOWAWAYS

Fifteen Taken From Tanks of Freighter, Some Ill From Beriberi—One Died on Voyage.

While searching the British freighter Helenus for drugs yesterday as Pier 6, Bush Docks, South Brooklyn, Customs Inspector Albert Hokensen and his staff discovered fifteen Chinese stowed away in the ballast tanks, sand lockers, hardtack tanks and other dark places in the hold. Some of the Chinese were suffering from beri-beri. It was learned from one of them that originally there had been sixteen, but the missing man had died from disease and been thrown overboard while the vessel was coming from Boston to New York.

One of the smuggled Chinese was so weak and ill from beri-beri that Hokensen carried him up from the 'tween decks on his back. A customs launch conveyed the man to Ellis Island in a serious condition, where he was put in the hospital. Another man was left in the hospital on the ship.

Before Hokensen searched the Helenus he mustered the Chinese crew, numbering forty-four, and put a guard over them. Those of the smuggled Chinese who were not suffering from beri-beri were half starved. A few of them were able to walk. They were sent to Ellis Island and locked up. Questioned by the immigration authorities, some of the Chinese said that Pong Yow, one of the number on board the Helenus, had stowed them away at a Chinese port and agreed to land them in the United States for $1,000 each, which they had paid. Pong Yow was detained on the testimony given by the stowaways.

Choi Bow, the Chinese bo'sun of the British freighter Bowes Castle, who was found guilty of smuggling Chinese, was sentenced yesterday to five months in the Penitentiary by Judge Frank Cooper in the Federal Court, Brooklyn.

COCKRAN ACCUSES HARDING.

Says He Violated House Rights in Addressing Senate on Bonus.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The House Judiciary Committee would be directed "to inquire whether it is within the scope of the President's constitutional authority to address either House of Congress without notice to the other, and in its absence, whenever he may please, on any proposal of legislation actually pending or likely to come before it." under a resolution introduced tonight by Representative Bourke Cockran, Democrat, of New York.

"If such power be found to exist," the resolution continued, "the Judiciary Committee is hereby directed to inquire whether the language of the Constitution conferring it on the Executive should be made more specific and whether the manner in which it is to be exercised should be regulated by law."

Mr. Cockran declared that President Harding, in addressing the Senate July 12 on soldier bonus legislation, had "violated the constitutional right of the House to share in all communications which the President may address to Congress respecting legislation."

SEEKS CORNERSTONE THIEF.

Spring Valley School Board Offers $25 Reward for Vandal.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRING VALLEY, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The School Board here today offered a reward of $25 for information which would lead to the arrest of the person who several days ago cut a hole through the cornerstone of the high school and stole a copper box containing about $10 in coins, historic school records and copies of the local papers of this community, which were placed in the box the day the cornerstone was laid in 1916.

George M. Brewer, head of the School Board, said that the thief broke through a concrete background from the basement of the high school and then cut a hole the size of the box through the granite cornerstone. The thief then cemented the hole to hide his crime.

Hotel Embassy's Manager Says She Evaded $1,239.87 Bill.

Catherine Dunvin, 52 years old, of the Hotel Embassy at Seventieth Street and Broadway, who claims the title of Princess Catherine Radziwill of Russia, was held in $2,500 bail yesterday by Magistrate Max S. Levine in the West Side Court for examination Oct. 21, on a charge of defrauding the hotel of a bill.

Robert S. Maffitt, the hotel manager, is complainant against his former guest. He declares that from April last to Oct. 7, when she left, she had run a bill of $1,239.87 which she had evaded paying by saying that she had not received expected funds from her bankers in London.

Mme. Dunvin styles herself a journalist and says that she came here from Russia.

NEED NOT TELL INCOME.

Wife of H. H. Frazee Sought to Ascertain Possible Alimony.

Harry H. Frazee, owner of the Boston Red Sox and interested in a number of theatres, need not testify as to his income before the trial of the suit by his wife for divorce, under a ruling by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday. Mrs. Frazee wanted her husband questioned in order to determine how much alimony he is able to pay her, but his attorneys contended that she should not be permitted to pry into his financial affairs before she had applied for alimony and had shown that she had some ground for a decree.

Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel decided that Mr. Frazee must testify, but the Appellate Division reversed his order.

MARINE GETS HONOR MEDAL.

He Is Decorated for Rescuing Naval Aviator From a Burning Plane.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—For an act of extraordinary heroism in the rescue of a naval aviator from a burning seaplane, a Medal of Honor was today forwarded to Private Albert J. Smith, United States Marine Corps, by Major Gen. John A. Lejeune, Commandant of that organization.

The act took place at Pensacola, Fla., in February last, when a plane crashed to the ground near the post where Private Smith was stationed. The plane contained Machinist's Mate P. M. Phelps, who was rendered unconscious by the fall and was pinned under the wreckage, which took fire when the gasoline tank exploded. Smith made his way under the burning wreckage and cut Phelps loose and dragged him out, during which both were severely burned, while a second gasoline tank exploded just as the rescue was effected and scattered flaming liquid on both.

Smith is stationed in Santo Domingo, where he is with the First Marine Aviation Squadron. It will be presented to him officially by Brig. Gen. Harry Lee, who is commanding the Marines in Santo Domingo.

EVANGELIST RIGHTS SLUR ON MRS. HYLAN

"Gipsy" Smith Apologizes for Repeating Story of "You Said a Mouthful, Queen."

CULTURED WOMAN, HE SAYS

Praises Grammatical Speech of Mayor Before Rotary Club—Retraction Pleases Hylan.

"Gipsy" Smith, the well-known Scotch evangelist, made a public apology, which was sent to the newspapers yesterday, to atone for his act in repeating a false story that Mrs. John F. Hylan had uttered the words, "You said a mouthful, Queen," to the Queen of the Belgians, or had used any other similar phraseology in conversation with any other visiting celebrity.

This tale, which has had a wide whispering currency, is "a malignant and cruel falsehood" against a cultured woman, according to the evangelist, who made his retraction and apology in the Hanson Place M. E. Church in Brooklyn on Thursday night.

"Before I give my message tonight," he said, "I want to make this statement: I had the privilege today to be a guest at the Rotary Club luncheon in Brooklyn, and to listen to an address given by Mayor Hylan. Just before the Mayor came in I was talking to my friend, Herbert F. Gunnison of The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, about the Mayor and of different things I had heard concerning him. Incidentally, Mr. Gunnison told me that he knew Mrs. Hylan personally and that she was a very cultured woman, and that a few years ago, at Palm Beach, Mayor Hylan had told him that he, the Mayor, had had little education and that all he was he owed to his wife, who had helped him all his lifetime.

"I then told Mr. Gunnison of a joke which has gone all over Great Britain and, I believe, America too, about Mayor Hylan's wife; how that, when the Prince of Wales was in New York, in his best Oxford English he spoke in glowing terms of this great city and that Mrs. Hylan had answered, so the story goes, 'Gee, you said a mouthful.'

"Mr. Gunnison was indignant and and said on the spot that it was a lie, and that when the story reached him, it was to the Queen of the Belgians the Mayoress was supposed to have said it, and another man present at the table said that he heard it was to the King of the Belgians, and that Mrs. Hylan had said, "King, you said a mouthful.'

"I myself have been guilty of telling that story, and as I listened today for twenty minutes to Mayor Hylan's talk I was greatly struck with his honest message. I never heard one ungrammatical phrase in his entire talk, which was given without notes. As the Mayor was talking I leaned over to ask Herbert Gunnison what he (Mr. Gunnison) was in politics. He answered, 'I voted against Hylan. I am a Republican.' And as I listened to the Mayor's perfect English, and remembered that his wife had helped to educate him, I at once saw that Mrs. Hylan had been the victim of a cruel and malignant falsehood, and that she is a good and cultured woman, and could not possibly have made the statement which has been maliciously attributed to her, and in this evening's service I apologize as one who heard the lie and passed it on.

"As for Mayor Hylan, I am no politician and hold no brief for him. Many of the things he has done I do not like, but I am bound to say, after hearing him today make the honest confession that he was not a university man, but had had the best education that his poor father and mother could give him, and that he had tried to do his best on the poor start he had been given in life, and remembering that I, too, have had little start as a gypsy boy, in a gypsy tent, I said to myself:

"'Well, Hylan, you are different from me in religion and politics, but I believe you are an honest man, and you have a wife that any man might well be proud of.'"

Mayor Hylan made the following statement yesterday:

"I am pleased that time, through the utterance of the great Scotch evangelist, has dispelled the false statement alleged to have been made by Mrs. Hylan to prominent foreign guests of the City of New York."

DAUGHTER IS ORDERED TO AID AGED PARENTS

Must Contribute $40 a Month for Support of Blind Father and Feeble Mother.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Because it was alleged that her parents, Cahen and Bertha Davis, aged 84 and 80 years, respectively, are liable to become public charges, Supreme Court Justice Morschauser directed here today that their daughter, Mrs. Amelia Karlin of 434 Central Park West, Manhattan, contribute $40 a month toward their support. According to a representative from the office of Corporation Counsel Walsh of Yonkers, who appeared for Commissioner of Charities Gaul, Mrs. Karlin spends $200 a week for the maintenance of her own home, and it was stated that she had not aided in the support of her aged parernts. Davis is blind and was led into court by a nurse from the Jewish Charities Aid Association, and his wife was carried in.

Another daughter, Mrs. Fannie Abeloff of 2,077 Clinton Place, the Bronx, contributes $10 a month toward her parents' support. Mrs. Lena Zimmerman of Mount Vernon, gives $5 a month, and Mrs. Marcellia Davis has been furnishing the couple with a home in Yonkers for fourteen years. Two other children live out of the State, one in Paris, and could not be summoned into court. Mrs. Karlin was not in court and was not represented by counsel.

MAGAZINE MANAGER RUN OVER IN SUBWAY

Harry J. Brown Jr. of McCall's Seriously Hurt After Fall From Platform.

Harry J. Brown Jr., business manager of the McCall Company, publishers of McCall's Magazine, of 236 West Thirty-seventh Street, fell from the platform of the Sheridan Square subway station yesterday morning and was run over by four cars of a northbound local train. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital where it was found he was suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, a fracture of the left arm, and other minor injuries. Four toes on his right foot were amputated. His condition is serious.

Mr. Brown served in the army, and since his return from France three years ago has been business manager of the publishing house. According to Robert C. Wilson, Vice President of the firm, who identified Mr. Brown in the hospital, he had probably been the victim of an attack of vertigo, which frequently overcame him. Mr. Brown is 42 years old and lives at the Hotel Brevoort, Fifth Avenue and Eighth Street.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLS FRIEND, THEN FLEES

Member of Hunting Party Exonerated by Dying Man, Threatens Suicide and Disappears.

While preparing to start on a hunting trip in the Adirondacks early yesterday morning, William V. Geis, proprietor of the Hewlett Inn at Hewlett, L. I., was accidentally shot by Paul Weidman of Woodmere, L. I., one of three friends who were to have accompanied him. Geis was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital at Far Rockaway, where he died several hours later. When dying he made a statement to Justice of the Peace Raisig exonerating Weidman from all blame.

Weidman, dazed at what had occurred, ran from the house after the shooting, muttering that if his friend died he would end his own life. Up until late last night Weidman, who is a prosperous bus owner, had not returned home and his family were apprehensive. Mrs. Elsie Geis, widow of the dead man, also exonerated Weidman.

Sheriff Charles Smith, after an investigation, said he was entirely satisfied that the gun had been accidentally discharged by Weidman during an exhibition as to how he would handle a hold-up men if the occasion arose. Geis was a member of the Freeport Lodge of the B. P. O. Elks and was also a Mason.

Two Fliers Killed at Revere, Mass.

REVERE, Mass., Oct. 14.—Everett Foster of Winchester and Fletcher Anderson of West Lynn, respectively pilot and passenger, were killed today when an airplane crashed after doing stunts over the Lynn marshes. The machine, a monoplane of special construction, was being tested by Foster. The plane had made one full loop, according to witnesses, and was turning over for the second time when a wing gave way.

Reduced Insurance Rates On Sprinklered Premises

THE fire insurance rates for our clients who occupy lofts or offices in buildings equipped with automatic sprinklers are already being looked after under the new rulings as promulgated by the Exchange, and reductions are being secured for them.

If you are not a client of this office, our representative will be glad to call on you to explain just how you can save money under the new method of rating.

than any other store in the city. Why? Because other stores are using their reputations to get big profits, whereas we're using small profits to get our reputation!

THE FASTEST GROWING MEN'S CLOTHING BUSINESS IN NEW YORK

"—an investment in good appearance"

The vital thing about clothes this fall

Price and value—to put it in two words. The biggest thing we can say to you about the values we are offering this season—and about prices—is this

We present Kuppenheimer good clothes at prices one-third lower than last fall, with same quality standards which have been maintained through half a century.

That tells the whole story—and we are mighty proud of it.
